TOM RIORDAN'S Long AND Short

Young poets seem to be blooming in the area.

For Christmas, we printed an offering by Cathy Brown, an eighth grader at Tecumseh Junior High.

Now, there is Gene Heavener, eight-years-old and a third grader at Tecumseh Acres School, who has composed a verse for New Year's. It appears on the back page of the second section.

Gene, who lives at 1101 Russell Rd., tells me this is his first poem.

Who's next?

A great deal of drama was packed into a few moments last week when a 55-year-old man suffered a heart attack while driving on W. Chicago Blvd.

Collapsing at the wheel, he ran off the road at Greenwald's Laundry.

The motorist, Harold Dayton of Manitou Beach, died as a result of the heart seizure, minutes after his car went wild.

Clayton Greenwald happened to be looking out the big front window of his laundry when the Dayton vehicle suddenly veered off the road.

He watched it slow down, then ram into the Greenwald auto, which was parked in front of the building.

As Clay dashed out the door, he saw Mr. Dayton slumped across the steering wheel and heard the motor start to race violently — the victim's foot had jammed down the accelerator when the cars collided.

The impact had smashed the Greenwald car into one owned by Mrs. Charles Clutter. Mrs. Clutter had just left it and was inside getting a load of dry cleaning. She narrowly missed being in the mishap.

Mr. Greenwald pulled the door open and realized that the driver was having a heart attack. He flipped off the ignition switch and felt Mr. Dayton's pulse.

"Call an ambulance," he shouted to fellow workers "And get some oxygen."

Mrs. Clutter, who is subject to asthma attacks, said that she had a small oxygen tank in her car. She got it out and within seconds Clay was administering it.

However, the attack had already taken its toll and Mr. Dayton died.

Everything possible had been done for the motorist which is a credit to Mr. Greenwald and the fact that oxygen was so close at hand.

Mrs. Clutter thanks her lucky stars that she was inside the building, rather than walking to her car with an armload of clothing and maybe not even notice the out-of-control auto.

Townships Win Lower Dump Rate

by JIM LINCOLN

Neighboring townships won a victory Monday night at the Council session when local officials drastically cut the townships' costs for use of the city dump.

Mill Swick of Macon Township, Chet Baker of Franklin Township and Al Merz and Wilfred Waldron of Tecumseh Township, voiced opposition to the city's request that the townships pay the city $35 a month of $420 a year for rural residents to use the dump.

Council approved $200 a year for the townships — Franklin, Tecumseh, Raisin, Ridgeway and Macon.

At a recent meeting, Council based its cost for the townships on about a 50-50 basis with the city. City Manager Ed Nelson estimated cost to operate dump at $3,900.

☆

COUNCILMEN, Postmaster Jack Metcalf and City Attorney James Beardsley discussed the transfer or exchange of lots with the government and the erection of a new postal building.

Most of the discussion centered on the government's plan to erect the new building with a 20-foot setback. The city's master plan calls for a 45-foot setback in the block. Council has agreed to a 35-foot setback.

Attorney Beardsley and the postmaster were to call Chicago officials Wednesday to determine if the government would accept a 35-foot setback.

A motion to accept the post office plan was defeated by a 3-3 vote among the councilmen.

It was pointed out to the local postmaster that even with a 35-foot setback, the government would have more space than it would have by building on the smaller lot behind Adrian Federal on Pearl St.

☆

COUNCIL adopted a lease plan for those needing access to properties through improved parking lots. Installation of meters in the lots have presented problems to several residents and businesses.

The lease plan calls for renting space required at $4 per month per parking stall for the rest of 1961 with a 90-day cancellation clause for both parties, effective Jan. 1, 1962.

Faye Whelan's request to lease parking stalls for John Deere Day, Jan. 10, was denied. The problem was turned over to City Manager Nelson to determine how the city will handle approximately 200 cars that day.

Karl Schneider, chairman, and Jack Osburn of the Tecumseh Industrial Development Committee, discussed ways the city could help in inducing outside industry to locate here.

Chimney Burns at Kelso Home

The Tecumseh fire department answered two alarms this past week.

Saturday at 9:14 p.m., firemen were summoned to the home of Ben Sercombe, 1071½ South Maiden Lane, when a sofa caught fire.

Fire damage was confined to the sofa with smoke damage to the home.

Monday at 5:25 p.m., they were called to the home of Hal Kelso, 4089 Aebersold Rd., when a chimney was burning out. There was no damage.

Increase Over '60

Dun & Bradstreet's Reference Book for January, 1961 shows that Lenawee County has 1,200 manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers in this area as compared with 1,152 in 1959 — an increase of 4.2 per cent for the period.

Library Idea Up for Vote on Tuesday

A decision on whether or not Tecumseh will get a new library will be made at Tuesday evening's meeting of the Tecumseh Community Fund Foundation.

Open to the public, it is being held in United Products Workers Union Hall at 7:30 p.m.

Trustees of the Foundation have agreed that they feel a library is the first project which should be undertaken by the group.

Their thinking is based primarily on the report compiled by FACT—Foundation Action Committee of Tecumseh—which was named by the board to determine public feeling last spring.

Before the final decision is made, Trustees want approval of Tecumseh citizens and they're seeking this Tuesday.

Other business will be election of three Trustees, and reporting of the year's activities.

Other events are being planned the chairman said.

A Mothers March on Jan. 31 will conclude the 1961 effort.

Goal for Lenawee County is $30,000. Among other items, the county is trying to erase a $14,000 debt, which was amassed in recent years from medical care of polio victims.

There will be a pancake supper Wednesday, Jan. 11 at the Adrian American Legion Home. Serving will start at 5.

HAPPENED IN BORDER TOWN

Incident Helps With Resolution

By Gloria Calhoun

This time of the year makes me think of a story, not because it did happen in January, but simply because once again resolutions for the new year are supposed to be made.

Once again, my main resolution is based on what took place many years ago in a border town between my old country of Mexico and the United States, where my father was Chief of Customs at the time.

One night, a stranger was brought into his house by some of the employees that were on duty in the office at the divisory line.

The man was an American, without any identification papers, desperately ill and delirious with a high fever.

My dad didn't speak any English and what the stranger mumbled did not mean a thing to him.

With infinite compassion, dad gave instructions to the guards to put the stranger in his own bed while he summoned his doctor.

For days he took care of the stranger as if he had been his own brother and finally nursed him back to health.

The man continued his journey to Mexico City and one day he came to my oldest brother and told him this story.

His heart was full of gratitude towards my father and he was anxious to repay what he called the biggest debt in his life. And indeed he was generous and he helped my brother to an excellent start.

The years have gone by and dad is no longer here. He never mentioned this to us and all we knew about it came directly from the mouth of that grateful man.

I now find myself in his homeland, my country also, wondering many times if my father's action is responsible for the kindness, love and affection that I find in everyone, everywhere.

Oh, yes, my resolution: "My door is opened to the world and my heart full of love, respect and devotion for everyone regardless of race, color or creed."

Goodwill Ambassador Is This Gal's Title

(Editor's note: One of Mrs. Leslie Calhoun's biggest boosters as a Spanish teacher is Mrs. Robert Murray, so the Herald asked Mrs. Murray to write this piece about Mrs. Calhoun.)

By GIN MURRAY

Gloria Calhoun, Latin America's goodwill ambassador to the United States, was educated in Mexico.

She is now working towards a degree in language education at Adrian College, at the same time teaching Spanish there and in adult classes here.

She has been married 14 years to Leslie Calhoun, who operates the family dairy farm at 5403 Rogers Highway.

In addition to her teaching chores, Mrs. Calhoun does private tutoring in her home, as well as raising two children.

The results of Mrs. Calhoun's ability as a language teacher were shown at a recent Christmas Party for her Spanish classes at Adrian College.

Some 50 language students, Adrian College professors, high school Spanish teachers and members of her Tecumseh class, as guests, ate a potluck dinner, sang Spanish Christmas carols, looked at slides of Grenada, Spain.

They also saw movies of Mexico City taken and shown by Leslie Calhoun, and conversed in Spanish the entire evening.

Area residents are grateful to Mrs. Calhoun for her generosity in sharing with local groups experiences of her girlhood in Mexico City.

While in a border city, where her father was chief of customs her home was filled with fascinating visitors from many lands.

The Calhoun home in Tecumseh is now a mecca for visitors from south of the border, where Gloria continues her family tradition of making strangers feel welcome and at home in a new land.

304 Acres Get Trees in County Through Program

Farmers cooperating with Michigan's 76 soil conservation districts, assisted by the U. S. Soil Conservation Service, planted 18,067 acres of trees in fiscal year 1960.

To plant this acreage required over 18 million trees, which included such species as white, pine, red pine, scotch pine, Austrian pine, jack pine and white spruce.

In addition, they planted 66 miles of field windbreaks and 23,762 rods of hedgerows, and they completed 7,623 acres of woodland improvement. A total of 8,251 acres were improved for wildlife.

"In Lenawee County since 1946, soil conservation district cooperators have planted trees on 304 acres, fenced and otherwise protected 1,803 acres of woods from grazing, planted three miles of windbreaks, planted and protected 502 acres for wildlife habitat and planted 6076 rods of hedgerow mainly multiflora rose.

There is still considerable acreage to be planted.

One of Ohio's foremost portrait painters having painted many Toledans prominent in society and industry, Mr. Chapman has been honored in New York, Cleveland, Dayton, Columbus and in many cities of Michigan.

According to J. Arthur MacLeon, Curator Emeritus of the Toledo Museum of Art, "Chapman's Korean Girl is a painting which would be difficult to match in the broad field of character portraiture and obviously shows the maturity of Mr. Chapman's accuracy in perceptive, his sense of true color values and his decorative approach in dealing with subject matter."

An election of officers will be held and reports from the librarian and treasurer will be heard.

Some important decisions regarding the future operation of the library will be made.

When the library was opened to the public Nov. 16, 1887, it served a large area including the Village of Tecumseh.

Letter at Christmas Tells of His Brother

Among his Christmas mail, Doug Aylesworth, 616 W. Chicago Blvd., received this letter from an Air Force officer.

Dear Mr. Aylesworth

I am taking this opportunity to let you know how your brother, Raymond, is getting along in the Air Force. We find that he is a truly fine young man and have, on 1 October 1960, recognized his outstanding performance by promoting him to the grade of Airman First Class.

His selection, over other men of longer time in grade, indicates that he is moving ahead of his contemporaries at this early stage in his career.

You, as a close relative, are to be congratulated. It is no doubt through your unselfish efforts that Raymond has achieved this advancement. This wing, and this squadron in particular, is probably the most strict in the Air Force where quality of work and off duty behavior is concerned. Raymond ranks high in both.

In the Strategic Air Command's mission of keeping peace in the world, we need men of Raymond's caliber. We hope that he sees fit to stay with the Air Force and reap the many benefits which await him in education, leadership development and those concerning care of his dependents during, and after, retirement.

When one considers that he can retire at a relatively high income in his late thirties or early forties, twenty years of service, dedicated to preserving our way of life, is a very short time.

We, in the Air Force, wish you a very happy and peaceful New Year. If I can be of service to you, please allow me the privilege of doing so.

Sincerely
WILLIAM W. FOREHAND

Income Tax Time Offers Farmer Option

Farmers, another year has passed and it is just about income tax filing time again.

To find out when your income tax return is due, answer the following two questions:

(1)—Is at least two-thirds of your gross income from farming?

(2)—Does your taxable year begin on Jan. 1?

If the answer to both these questions is YES, you have two choices:

(1)—File your return and pay the tax by Feb. 15.

(2)—File an estimate of the tax due and pay it by Jan. 16 then you have until April 17, to file the tax return itself.

So, if you file the estimate and pay the tax by Jan. 16 you have an additional three months to file your income tax return. If not, both the tax return and tax are due Feb. 15.

Read about special filing dates in the "Farmers Tax Guide" which can be obtained free of charge from the county Agricultural Agent or an Internal Revenue Service Office.

MICHIGAN IS EVERYTHING FOR INDUSTRY

The people of Michigan are proud of their state's industrial accomplishments. Its manufacturing plants produce everything from automobiles to xylophones. One reason is that Michigan has so much of what industry needs.

Michigan has abundant sources of both raw and semi-finished materials. Michigan possesses unmatched production know-how in both management and labor. Michigan has great market advantages. Michigan has livability! Water? Michigan is rightly named the Water Wonderland.

This is the first in a series of advertisements to be printed as a public service by this newspaper, each advertisement to describe one of Michigan's advantages for industry. The series will show the attractions our state offers, what it personifies for industry; in reality, what MICHIGAN IS.

Help carry Michigan's message to the nation. Clip these ads and mail them to people in other states with your own comment. Let's talk up Michigan and its advantages for industry. Together, we can assure a greater future for all of us.

Card of Thanks

CARD OF THANKS — May I in this way express my thanks to my many friends, church and fraternal, relatives and neighbors for the many kindnesses tendered me while in the hospital and since returning home. The flowers and plants brightened the room and the many cards and cheerful notes, and most of all the frequent calls re-shortening the tiresome hours and are so greatly appreciated. May God bless you all in this year 1961.

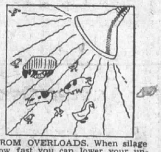
DOLLAR and SENSE FARMING.

PROVIDE PLENTY OF PIG FEEDER SPACE. You should have enough feeders so there are no more than four pigs per feeder hole. If you're finishing in confinement you may also want to house fewer pigs per pen in winter. Too many pigs in a pen along with too few feeders can cut gains and feed efficiently considerably. A recent test showed that pigs given 13 square feet of floor space gained 11% faster with 6.5% less feed than pigs limited to 9 square feet of floor space.

NOT MUCH CHANGE IN FARM INCOME IN 1961. But the best farm prices will come during the first half of the year. Increasing slaughter during the later months will force hog and cattle prices lower. Farm costs will hold steady—with the possibility of discounts, some items may even slip off a bit. The current general economic recession will have little or no effect on farm prices.

USE HEAT LAMPS SAFELY. Plug no more than 7 bulbs in a No. 12 wire circuit having a 20 ampere fuse. Always use heavy duty cords with porcelain rather than metal or composition sockets. Hang the lamps by a chain rather than by the electric cord. When using heat lamps for brooding purposes, place the bulb a safe distance above animals — 18 inches for chicks; 24 inches for pigs; and 30 inches for lambs



PROTECT YOUR SILO UNLOADER FROM OVERLOADS. When silage is frozen it's rather difficult to tell how fast you can lower your unloader without pushing the motor beyond its rated capacity. One way of making sure is to wire an ammeter in the circuit. This will tell when the rated full load of the motor is reached and you can operate it accordingly.

THE STREET OF THE LAUGHING CAMEL by Ben BURMAN — This is the story of a latter-day Huck Finn — African style. Here are the irresistible adventures of Yance Collum, Texas cowboy and ex-GI, who opens a laundry in Algeria.

EARLY HAVOC by June Havoc — June Havoc made her professional debut at the age of two, on her toes, her first Hollywood movie at three. At five she was headlining in vaudeville as "Dainty Baby June." While her contemporaries were snug in bed with their Teddy bears June could be found talking shop with her colleagues, hiding in the wings, and dreaming of one day being booked at the Palace. Her story gives you an inside look at American show business.

SOME ANGRY ANGEL by Richard Condon — This shattering account of Dan Tiamat's doom-haunted rise from proverty to international renown as a newspaper columnist is the story of a man with an almost religious worship of fame and success. Despised, feared, loved, or pitied, Dan becomes the intimate of politicians, the confidant of gangsters and actresses, never able to forget his theadbare youth or believe he really deserves the adulation and vast salary he receives.

THE FIG TREE by Aubrey Memen — This novel is concerned with a young Nobel prize-winning scientist who has come up with a chemical substance which when injected into plant life enormously increases its size and yield. The first of his experiments is with a fig tree in Italy. And sure enough, both the tree and its fruit respond enthusiastically. The only trouble is that the fruit becomes a most effective aphrodisiac and both the scientist and friend suddenly find themselves involved in some undreamed of situations.

1876 Stone Turns Up in Drive

Last week's mystery farm is operated by Don Murphy and is located on N. Adrian Hwy., two miles north of Billington's corners. The farm was purchased 10 years ago by Earl Murphy, father of Don and is known to most people as the Lester McComb place.

Don is married and his wife's name is Pauline. They are the parents of two daughters, Donna, 8, and Patricia, 5.

Mr. Murphy, a dairy farmer, with a herd of Purebred Holsteins, is a member of the National Holstein Friesian Association.

He and his family attend the Congregational Church in Britton and are members of the Tecumseh Grange.

When the Murphys paved their barnyard recently, stones were hauled from throughout the farm.

After the work was finished, it was discovered that there was a stone used with the inscription "1876 Spring-Vale Farm."

Apparently, it served as the hitching post several years ago. Perhaps some senior citizen can recall this.

Cynthia Calhoun, age 11, was the first to call in the identity of the farm and receive two passes to the Strand Theatre.

Why we see more of you

■ Surveys will prove most anything, we guess. We just read one that said people visit the neighborhood pharmacy more than any other store.

Well, we can believe that . . . we see our friends lots more often than, say, the folks at the shoe store. That's because of the variety of products we sell and the extra hours we're open.

And, of course, in time of illness we're your source of medication . . . prepared to the highest professional standards.

Care Prevents Silent Deaths to 'M' Hunters

Not a single death in Michigan from carbon monoxide poisoning due to defective heating systems in trailers occurred during the hunting season this year, the Michigan Department of Health reported today.

Last year there were nine fatalities.

The 1959 deaths were attributed to an improperly designed heater vent, which permitted deadly carbon monoxide fumes to remain inside the trailer.

This year, according to health department engineers, most heaters had their heaters inspected before starting out and any faulty parts repaired or replaced.

Students Taught to Speed Their Reading Skill

Dr. Russell Cosper, director of departmental reading at Purdue University spoke to members of the Rotary.

He used a film to illustrate how many stops untrained eyes make in ordinary reading and how it is possible to reduce the number of stops from an average of five per line to two per line of an ordinary book.

Approximately 1,400 freshmen at Purdue take the training each semester, thus reducing reading time by at least half.

Dr. Cosper was careful to point out that while speed was essential flexibility was also important and that a person should know when to read rapidly and when to reduce speed in favor of understanding.

Another benefit of developmental training is the fact that perception also tends to improve about 10% in one semester of training.

The wedding took place at the Teegarden home at 416 E. Logan St. Tuesday, Dec. 27, at 5 p.m.

The Rev. Edgar Owen of the Tecumseh Missionary Baptist Church performed the double ring ceremony in the presence of the immediate family.

Attendants were Gloria and James Teegarden, sister and brother of the bride.

The young couple will make their home in West Branch where the groom is employed at the Evans Products Co.

Air Force Still Needs Teachers for Overseas

Elementary and secondary teachers and administrators will be needed by the Air Force to help staff its dependent schools, in foreign countries.

The recent presidential directive concerning the reduction in dependents authorized to remain with or accompany military personnel on foreign duty will undoubtedly effect the overall school program.

However, recent releases indicate that the normal turnover of teachers returning to state-side positions as well as the eventual return of married teachers will create a number of overseas teacher vacancies.

These vacancies must be filled by fully-qualified teachers who do not have family responsibilities.

It is anticipated that teachers will be needed for schools located at American bases in North Africa, Turkey, Labrador, Newfoundland, Iceland, the Azores, the Phillipines as well as Japan and Europe.

Minimum requirements include a teaching certificate, bachelor's degree, 18 semester hours of education courses and two years full-time teaching experience.

Interested persons should contact the Oversaes Placement office at Selfridge Air Force Base, near Mt. Clemens.

VOICE of THE HERALD

Everything for Industry

When we look at Michigan, as proud citizens, we admire its verdant forests, its myriad lakes, its miles of smooth highways, its ever-growing tourist attractions.

In our praise of the state, we naturally regard as the finest of them all, we sometimes forget, however, that natural resources have made Michigan economically great in the past and can make her even greater in the future.

These are the resources imperative in attracting industry here, the resources that assure industrial growth today; the vital ingredient that has made Michigan a dynamic industrial giant for so many years.

The resources are here — all we need to do is to make sure everyone knows it.

For instance, when you see the "Water Wonderland" that is a part of Michigan's natural beauty, remember that the water of which we boast is just one of industry's greatest needs. Water is indispensable, and Michigan has lots of it, as well as an abundance of other resources to fill the needs of industry.

The Herald, proud to be a Michigan citizen, will publish a series of public service advertisements. The series, telling the story of Michigan's advantages for industry, has been prepared as a cooperative effort of the Michigan Press Association and the Michigan Economic Development Department for state-wide use throughout 1961.

This is our contribution toward reminding our readers that "Michigan is Everything for Industry"—that it has everything industry needs.

You can help, too, in telling the Michigan story to the nation by sending these advertisements to people in other states. This is one way to let them know that which we already know—that Michigan is the greatest.

Was Decision Inadequate?

A concession to Meadowridge Dairy, regarding room for semi-trailers to maneuver over one, probably two, off-street parking stalls while delivering milk here, was asked of Council.

The request came as preparations were begun to meter all such spaces.

Instead of metering these two, Meadowridge asked that meters not be installed.

It seemed to us a most logical request.

Councilmen Monday night said OK — but in a way which left us wondering.

Council did agree to lease at $4 per month per parking stall the right of access the dairy needs for the large semi-trailers. This lease runs for the balance of 1961 — and then can be cancelled on a 90-day notice.

How many businesses would continue to operate on a three-month notice? Can Tecumseh afford to lose over $1,000 annually in tax money if the dairy moves out of town?

Ken Blumerick, Meadowridge owner, said that he was dropping his plans to expand and remodel the front section of the dairy, and would proceed with plans to relocate outside the city.

Parking meters in the downtown lots are necessary for financing the improvement and maintenance. However, for just two meters and less than $100 a year revenue from a lease, Council was not justified in refusing Meadowridge Dairy access privileges as long as those privileges are necessary.

Other cities make similar needed concessions to businesses, why not Tecumseh?

THROUGH MY WINDOW

'60 WAS BUSY, HOW ABOUT '61?

Before the year, to which we just bid a fond farewell, slips too far into the dim, dark distant past, let's review some of the '60 bird happenings.

We were entertained by all the regulars, of course—cardinals, bluejays, woodpeckers and the like.

The bonuses for any bird-watcher, however, are the little extras, the newcomers, which unexpectedly pop up every now and then and are so exciting.

Last month's "first" was, if you remember, a yellow-bellied sapsucker; he, by the way, has still not returned, but is I understand taking regular meals with Ella Brown and occasionally Beth Satterthwaite.

Before the yellow-bellied it was the brown creeper, who kept our window pictures busy.

And although not new, the yellow-shafted flickers were better this year than ever before. We saw more of them and they seemed to display their colors better.

☆

THREE BIG bird thrillers came on vacation. Of course we saw many different birds and some, like the meadow-lark, were "different" only because of their great numbers.

Every post and utility pole seemed to have a meadow-lark, a red winged blackbird and, occassionally, even a yellow-headed one.

Flocks of lark buntings fed along the roadside. These were all fun, but the western states had another bird, more exotic, much less like anything we have around here—the magpie!

Big birds, measuring some 21 inches in length, with long slender sweeping tails and, although the ranchers consider them something of a pest, we thought they were great.

Predominantly black and white, they were pretty to see and their big size—well, we're not accustomed to having birds that big as common, everyday sights.

☆

THE SECOND of the threesome, while not strictly a Rocky Mountain bird, we had never seen before. In fact, we had never even hoped to see one.

A raven—the same as Edgar Allen Poe had knocking on his door "once upon a midnight dreary." Huge birds, twice as big as our crows. We saw ours in Yellowstone Park. The same morning we came out of our cabin and saw a monstrous black bear not 20 feet away—and believe me, that was quite a thrill —we also saw the raven. Black but dull, almost dusty looking, he was a ragged unkempt fellow.

It is easy to understand why he has such an unfortunate reputation. He does look a little foreboding and evil.

☆

THE LAST of the vacation bird trio is, again, not an unheard of Michigan bird, but once more it was our "first" meeting. Often, when we stopped at a roadside park or picnic table for a cup of tea and a bit of cheese and crackers, we noticed a lovely bird, shiny black and pearly gray, sitting on the fence. With almost savage concentration, he would be looking for dinner.

Spotting a grasshopper or some other insect he would streak from his perch, catch the hapless victim in his mouth, carry it back to the fence and proceed to dine.

So intent upon insect-catching were the birds that several times we parked close enough to hear the click of their bills as they snapped at the bugs. I'm still not real sure, but I believe we were watching kingbirds.

☆

BUT LET'S get back to Michigan. Several times late last winter and early in the spring, fair sized flocks of the beautiful cedar-wax wings silently invaded our trees and bushes.

We have seen more lately but understand thay are around. Friends who live in Newburg reported seeing 54 or 60 in one of their crab-apple trees. Just imagine having a flock that large.

But here I have run out of space and only begun to scratch the surface of the '60 bird happenings. It's fun to think back but it's more fun to look ahead and wonder what '61 has in store for us.

School May Face $150,000 'Cash Crisis'

By JIM LINCOLN

Problems continued to mount for the Tecumseh school system and all centered on the schools' finances.

The school board Monday night delayed making any decisions for ending deficit school spending until the University of Michigan survey is received.

Supt. James McDowell told the board that increasing expenses could push the indebtedness to $150,000 by the end of the school year.

He reported an additional 100 pupils next year could mean employment of four more teachers and the possibility that teachers here will ask for hikes in their salaries.

A meeting with the board by the teachers will probably be held in the near future.

Offsetting these possible expenses are the possibilities that state aid might be increased eight or 10% and state equalized evaluation be increased 10 to 15%. A resolution from the Michigan Education Association and the Department of Public Instruction requests an increase in state aid of eight percent.

The Tecumseh superintendent said raising state equalized evaluations is now just "talk" at Lansing.

If Federal aid is forthcoming, Supt. McDowell says is could be as high as $225,000. The government undoubtedly would limit its aid for building construction and salaries.

While money may or may not be coming from these sources, the board discussed eliminating and reducing some school costs, and the need for additional millage and asking the electorate for more money at the spring election.

McDowell presented figures with savings of $50,000 in teachers' salaries alone by placing grades one, two and three on half-day sessions.

Savings of $88,000 could be obtained by half-day sessions for grades four, five and six and eliminating vocal and instrumental music and physical education.

Cutting the Junior High to five hours of instruction, eliminating vocal music, band, foreign language, reading, art and some group guidance, would save approximately $16,000.

Eliminating driver training for the high school would save about $1,500.

TOM RIORDAN'S Long AND Short

Trying to do three days' labor in two is for the birds.

That was our lot in getting out the last two issues, since the Mondays following Christmas and New Year's were both holidays.

Everybody enjoyed the three-day weekends, but the poor old Herald suffered.

We muffed several stories in the haste to get into the post office in time for the regular mailing.

Like . . . Leo Bishop taking a position at Red Run Country Club in Detroit.

Leo, who built the local country club course and nurtured every blade of grass and each grain of sand in the pesky traps for 14 years, accepted the Red Run greens keeper job.

This post carries a great deal of responsibility, especially where there are so many top-flight linksmen.

Leo won't neglect his golf, probably playing as much or more than he did while here.

Another . . . in reporting candidates for Tecumseh Township's primary last week, we inadvertently left out hopefuls for the post of supervisor.

They'll be Art Eaton and Faye Van Valkenberg. Both are Republicans.

☆

Jim Lincoln and I attended a press workshop at Wayne State University Friday.

Royal Welch, councilman and dry cleaner, went along as our guest.

It seemed pretty uninteresting for Royal as the speakers droned on about newspapering—absorbing to those in it, but probably yawn-producing to folks outside.

But then we had a merry moment, thanks to Royal.

One man on the program was asking for a show of hands on different phases of the mechanical end.

"How many set your own pages?" he asked. Many responded with an extended limb.

"How many do your own press work?" came next.

And, suddenly, there was Royal joining us with his right arm shooting into the air.

☆

Most heard topics of conversation in town: parking meters.

The city now has 414, with all off-street lots in full operation.

As you can imagine, some folks are a little peeved at having to pay for what they got free for many years.

But there is sense to the project, if you'll bear along for a few more paragraphs to find out why.

In order to expand greatly downtown parking, pave off-street lots, line and light them, will cost $65,000.

You can see this is no penny-ante operation.

It has to be big league if we want top-flight parking facilities while we shop.

Look back to a spring day, following a thaw. The old areas were often seas of mud and water. There was no organization in the lots and cars pulled up to a halt where ever it looked the least gooey.

Those days will be a thing of the past — thanks to parking meters, which will provide the needed $65,000.

You may be curious about the different colors of the meters.

Red—12 minutes for a penny.

Bronze—range from a penny for 12 minutes to 10c for two hours.

Blue — one hour for 5c with the option of going up to 10 hours at one stoking. (Some blue meters, at the extreme ends of lots, are two hours for 5c.)

Post Office Wins Approval

It's official — Tecumseh will have a new post office on land immediately across from the city hall.

City Council Monday OKed the plan submitted by the Postal Department.

It calls for a building, 82x82', set back from the Chicago Blvd. sidewalk 36 feet and from the Maumee St. sidewalk 42'.

The government has acquired the Adams Park site by trading with the city property formerly owned by the Federal government on S. Pearl St., where the post office had planned to build some years ago.

The city has been using and will continue to use that land for off-street parking.

There had been a minor tug-of-war about the building plan over the past two weeks between city and postal officials.

Councilmen said the structure must be at least 36 feet from the Chicago Blvd. sidewalk, rejecting a 24-foot Postal Department proposal. The post office finally agreed to change.

Now that the basic idea is mutually satisfactory to all parties concerned, exact specifications for a Tecumseh post office will be drawn up and bids from contractors invited.

After a bid is accepted, the contactor will work with an architect, who will make final drawings. These then must be given final approval by the city planning commission.

The exterior of the building will probably conform in general appearance to the city hall, thus working toward the long-range idea of a civic center "campus".

Many of the trees in Adams Park will have to come down, but an inspection trip through it Tuesday morning indicates that a great percentage are in extremely poor condition.

Most of the trees in the 74' open space west of the new post office will remain, as will some along the front.

A large, paved area, about 80x140', will serve as maneuvering space behind the building for trucks to deliver and pick-up mail sacks.

A driveway on the east side, with perpendicular parking spaces for nine cars, will take care of patrons driving to the post office.

No construction schedule or dollar value of the building have been determined as yet.

CORNER OF BUILDING—Gale Fisher, local Pontiac dealer, stands next to spot (note cross at bottom of dotted line) where northeast corner of post office will be. Ray Ernst is on other end of tape, which shows 36' from sidewalk. City hall is directly across Chicago Blvd.

Highwaymen Like Plan

State highway officials in Lansing were overwhelmed by Tecumseh's Master Plan when it was shown to them last week by City Manager Ed Nelson and City Planning architect Jim Smith.

They said few cities this size have done such a job of advanced planning.

The thing which affected the highway group was the proposed east-west traffic pattern through the city.

The drawings show that eventually Logan St. will be one-way, going west.

Logan would become westbound M-50. Extension would be made to the Talon, Inc. plant on the east and from the present western dead end to the Kroger Store.

Chicago would be one-way east bound through town.

Eventually, Pottawatamie St. would serve this purpose and Chicago be turned into a mall in the four blocks downtown.

Highway officials told Mr. Nelson and Mr. Smith that the Logan change would probably go onto the department's work schedule sometime after 1963.

Nominations Are Sought

Two young men of this area will be given distinguished service awards by Tecumseh Jaycees next month.

1. Outstanding Young Farmer.
2. Young Man of Year.

Presentations will be made at the annual Bosses Night program, Feb. 2, in Tecumseh Country Club.

Nominations are now being accepted in both catagories.

In the first, names and qualifications of candidates should be sent to Jerry Miller of Macon.

For the second, they should go to Cal Zorn, 806 River Acres Dr.

Basic qualifications are similar. Candidates must be between 21 and 35 years of age. They must have shown outstanding abilities in their respective fields

Library Plan Gets Public OK

By TOM RIORDAN

"How many favor the library?" folks attending Tuesday's public meeting of the Tecumseh Community Fund Foundation were asked.

Nearly every one of the 140 in the Products United Workers Union hall raised a hand in agreement.

"Looks just about unanimous", mused Vern Manwaring, Trustee president.

Thus concluded an hour and one-half discussion on the topic of having the Foundation build a new library for Tecumseh.

With assets totaling $98,532.32, Trustees of the Foundation have decided that it was time to begin gathering all details for one major project.

From the FACT report, they chose the library. Before making it official, the board wanted public approval.

This they got—in spades — Tuesday.

Now, the Trustees will select a library steering committee of about five or six persons to dig deeply into every aspect of the plan.

It will be chosen Feb. 14, next Trustee meeting night, states Mr. Manwaring. Represented will be the library board, school board, Trustees, City Council and City Planning Commission.

The building site will be an important part as will the needs of adults and young people throughout the entire school district, which the library serves, in addition to the city itself.

Dr. Bob Laidlaw, who chairmaned FACT, said he hoped the Foundation would draw up some sort of an over-all plan, incorporating all nine proposals which citizens want.

These include an auditorium, a civic center, teen club, year-around recreation program, among others.

"The library would be first, with others completed in later years," he stated.

☆

IN RESPONSE to questions from citizens, these points were brought out about the library:

1. There are 3,800 active adult and 2,600 juvenile cards now being used.
2. Crowded conditions during evening hours often prohibit presence of adults.
3. Library receives about $24,000 annually for operation ($11,0000 from .32 school tax, $11,000 from state aid and the balance from fines.)
4. School owns and co-administers with library board present setup. This will be continued because without school tie-up, Tecumseh citizens would be forced to pay about 1.5 mills in taxes to run library, due to loss of state aid.

☆

TRUSTEE Jim McKenna told the group, "This plan is the beginning of many projects. Remember we'll need a lot more money. Don't forget when next

GOPs Eye County Changes

Interesting things are happening to the Republican party in Lenawee County.

Tecumseh-area GOPs are active in the move to beef up county leadership, map plans for the future—now, not a few weeks before election time.

Attention currently is focused on the county convention, which will be Wednesday, Jan. 18 in the courthouse.

This Thursday, Tecumseh's 18 delegates and other interested Republicans will gather in the city hall at 7:30 to solidify local thinking and objectives.

☆

RUMBLING among Lenawee GOPs began several months ago.

Complaints were leveled at county chairman, John Keller, Jasper Township, farmer who is also a supervisor.

Bob Perry of Adrian, who worked in Paul Bagwell's state headquarters, fired a tremendous blast at Keller right after the election, stating that the "Lenawee organization was weak and ineffective."

The county was regarded a "laughing stock in state circles," according to Perry.

You can never beat the Democrats by coasting and sitting back in a rocking chair, thinking of better years," Perry added. "That's what happened in Lenawee."

Mr. Perry pointed out that Lenawee and five other Republican counties, were sore points on the state level because, even though GOP candidates won there, the margin of victory has continually shrunk in recent years.

☆

THIS BLAST partially prompted several men, not members of the official GOP county ruling circle, to meet three weeks ago and discuss the problem.

They decided to poll active Republicans in all parts of the county to determine if these people were satisfied with the current leadership.

The response was almost unanimous—"dissatisfied."

Another session was called, with these folks invited to gather in Adrian on Jan. 5 and map a concrete program, which would go to the committee.

Either by a strange coincidence—or from discrete listening past activity—the county's four-man committee met quietly on Jan. 4.

Mr. Keller submitted his resignation as chairman, but stayed on the committee. He helped name his successor, Howard Faust of Adrian.

The 30 people gathering the following night learned of the action from a story in the Adrian Telegram.

Jim Hadden of Adrian and Mrs. Margaret Fritz of Blissfield, county committeemen were asked to the Jan. 5 meeting and explained the previous night's action.

Mr. Hadden pointed out that a complete reorganization was underway and read a list of people who had been appointed to a county advisory group. There

You Told Us

BY DOROTHY GRIGG
Herald Society Editor

That nerve-shattering "nightmare" became reality for this gal reporter last Friday. It served its purpose and taught this lesson well: though one is in the right following rules, regulations and traffic lights, circumstances sometimes alter the situation.

As I crossed Tecumseh's main intersection, from Wright's Drug Store to the D & C Store, a huge truck coming from the north turned east and bore down on me, accelerating every second.

Then as if in a dream, my feet were rapidly moving up and down, but I wasn't going anyplace.

Some way I reached the curbing, my frail old body still intact.

"Why didn't that driver stop?" I asked myself.

Then like a light it dawned on me that the sun was reflecting off his windshield and he couldn't see me.

Moral: "Always be alert."

had been a tough job holding year's drive rolls around."

Mr. McKenna pointed out that many refused to donate last fall when no program had been made public at campaign time.

Bob Ries of Ridgeway reported that no one had solicited his community. Macon, Tipton or Holloway and he was certain there could be up to $5,000 collected in the four.

It was explained by Virgil Tucker, a Trustee, that this was territory of the Lenawee County United Fund and the Tecumseh Foundation had carefully avoided collections outside the immediate community and Tecumseh Township.

Mr. Tucker also noted that it onto funds in the bank. If charitable groups would have had their way, he said, last year's donations would have topped $40,000.

Actually given: $23,000.

Besides this, there were requests for smaller amounts.

☆

TREASURER Merlyn Downing presented a complete financial report, showing donations, pledges, disbursements and the ultimate total asset topping $98,500.

One interesting figure was the $1,915.75 in interest which the Foundation's savings account has earned to date.

In the annual election, John Thompson was re-elected to his position on the board. Two newcomers were added, Mrs. Oscar Bryan and C. F. (Bill) Sage. All will serve three-year terms.

All board officers were again named to their posts, Mr. Manwaring as president, Mr. Tucker, vice-president; Mr. Downing, treasurer and Mrs. Fero, secretary and assistant treasurer.

Mrs. Fero's post is the only salaried one on the board and pays $500 annually.

Other Trustees are Mrs. Joe Galazzi and Mr. McKenna, who was appointed last fall to fill the unexpired term of the Rev. James Nixon.

Out-going boardmen are Owen Partridge and Mrs. H. H. Hanna. She is in Greece with her daughter and family on an extended vacation.

were none representing Tecumseh. These were to be added later.

Next step, he said would be to form a 48-member county committee, which would have the power to pick the county chairman. Until now, this choice has been up to GOP candidates who have won their party's nomination in the primaries.

☆

A DINNER-MEETING was called by the present county group Monday at the Adrian Eagles. It was attended by about 40, including eight Tecumseh-area residents.

Larry Lindemer, state Republican chairman whose four-year term ends this month, spoke of party members all across Michigan who are swinging into action now.

He pointed out several things which should be done within all county organizations:

1. Keep the lines of communication open.

2. Hold regular meetings.

3. Educate party workers, help them learn "easy" way of doing their job.

4. Have an organization in every township.

5. Make a complete precinct vote analysis. Find where majority is slipping, get new life into these areas.

6. Have a broader base of finance. Possibly start a $1-per-month dues plan. Half of this would go to county, half to state.

In the open discussion which followed, several persons stressed the need to make the GOP "a party of the people".

Following the session, the names of Karl Schneider and Dr. Robert Murray of Tecumseh were added to the advisory committee.

Ridgeway Library Will Be Continued

At the 73rd annual meeting of the Hall-Memorial Library Association in Ridgeway Monday evening, it was voted to continue the operation of the plant.

Action was due to many letters pledging financial assistance and to several groups of young people who offered their cooperation in raising funds at the session.

Angela Lopez was the spokesman for one youth group and Ann Marks represented several 4-H Club members, who had helped to distribute literature prior to the library meeting.

New officers elected:

President—Robert Ries

First vice-president — Mrs. John Slick

Second vice-president — Mrs. Albert DeJonghe

Treasurer—Norman Johnson

Secretary and librarian—Mrs. Gerald Miller

Assistant librarian—Mrs. William Skelton

Guests at the meeting included Jeanette Roberts, Lenawee County librarian, Harold Reynolds and Jay Ferman, both members of the County Library Board and Charles Benedict, township supervisor.

☆

PRESIDENT RIES made this information available for Herald readers:

The Hall Memorial Library of Ridgeway became a branch of the Lenawee County Library Jan. 1, 1958, making available to the community the 40,000 books, magazines and film strips in the County Library collection.

The Hall collection includes 2,000 books and an average of 1,000 books from the County Library are on the shelves.

During the past three years, Hall Library has been open for an average of 12 hours per week and has circulated 5,000 books and 300 magazines.

The Librarians are paid by the County Library system.

The Hall Memorial Library was presented to the community in 1887 by the Rufus Bush Family in memory of Jonathon Hall, who settled in Ridgeway in 1827.

Leonard Falcone, who has headed the MSU band for more than 20 years.

"The Tecumseh Rotary Club feels honored and fortunate to be able to present this great band to the people of Tecumseh and Lenawee County as a public service project," states Maynard Lucas, who is helping to organize the concert.

HERE MARCH 24 — Shown rehearsing, the MSU concert band performance could be one of the outstanding musical events in recent years.

Tecumseh Auxiliary Affiliated

1½ Million Women Serve

The Herrick Memorial Hospital Auxiliary is affiliated with the Southeastern Michigan Association of Auxiliaries.

The association was started in 1950.

According to Mrs. Harold Mack, president, the association has as its prime purpose the development and education of existing hospital auxiliaries.

The idea of all hospital auxiliaries is to interpret the hospital story to the community.

One and one-half million women form the vast legion which serves hospitals throughout the land and in farflung areas of the world, including Alaska, Hawaii, Canada, Porto Rico, and in Mexico City, where a bilingual group assists natives in the out-patient clinic.

Auxiliary members attend annual conventions, institutes and workshops, where they discuss different techniques and projects that could be of service to the hospital.

The last four years the workshops were held at Hidden Valley in Gaylord. Other years they convened at Michigan State University.

A three-day institute on community relations will be held in Chicago, Feb. 8 through 10, under the auspices of the American Hospital Association.

On March 21, a workshop meeting will be held at the David Whitney House, with Mrs. John Detwiler serving as chairman.

☆

ON THE LOCAL scene the groups exchange successful projects, in either service, public relations or fund-raising. These are the three purposes of all hospital auxiliaries.

The state association of hospital auxiliaries works under the executive director of the Michigan Hospital Association for their special emphasis for programming.

For example, last year's program, "The Hospital — Many Skills and Many Hands," was devised to inform people about the many skills that are used in the hospital for the care of the patient and the many hands required to exercise that care.

The Southeast District Council has a legislative chairman, Mrs. J. William DeLisle, whose duty it is to keep the council members aware of pending legislation, as it affects hospital and medical bills, care of the aged and medical health plans.

The Southeastern District of Michigan Association of Hospital Auxiliaries embraces 33 auxiliaries, covering seven counties.

There are approximately 6,000 supporting members in the district, with about 2,000 active volunteers who give supplementary service to their hospitals, according to Mrs. Oscar Zemon, publicity chairman.

The guilds and auxiliaries employ many ingenious methods to raise funds and give service to their respective hospitals.

☆

MRS. RALPH DABE, president of the Auxiliary to Herrick Memorial Hospital, states that their membership is now 300. One of their special projects is the Annual Holiday Ball. All funds are used primarily to purchase hospital equipment.

On Tuesday, Jan. 17, the Southeastern District of Michigan Hospital Association of Hospital Auxiliaries will hold a luncheon meeting at noon in the David Whitney House.

Dr. Harry Pearse will give an address on "Hypnosis in Modern Medicine." Dr. Pearse is chief of the Department of Gynecology and Obstetrics at Crittenden General Hospital and is assistant professor of Gynecology and Obstetrics at Wayne University.

City Manager Reports

Articles written in the past have been concerned for the most part with the projects completed in 1960.

Perhaps a story about individual departments in the city operation would be of interest to the community.

The average citizen knows little about the sewer department or the sewage disposal system unless he has had sewer trouble.

The sewer department rods all of the mains each year. This project avoids considerable trouble.

Tree roots are the biggest problem, but sometimes we find everything but the kitchen sink in the mains.

During the past eight years, our sewer system has doubled in size. The new type of sewer pipe which we are now installing, will not permit roots getting into the mains, consequently little trouble is experienced in the new system.

☆

EIGHT YEARS ago this month, the sewage disposal plant went into operation. We have had very little trouble in keeping the plant in good condition up until now. It is obvious that replacement parts will be needed this year.

In 1959, both digesters had to be cleaned out. It was necessary to purchase pipe to pump the sludge into the bed south of the plant.

We also needed a pump replacement which cost approximately $1,200, a new flight chain, shift and sprocket which were purchased at a cost of $1,4000.

As there are three of these flight chains being used at the plant, we will no doubt have to duplicate this order sometime during the next two years.

We keep a substantial amount of money on hand for this purpose, as we never know when it will be necessary to make emergency repairs. Our plant is among the highest in efficiency in the state. The plant was designed to give 88% efficiency, but we are getting 90%.

☆

EVERY NOW and then, the State Health Department requests a new test. Last year, it was necessary to purchase laboratory equipment to make coliform tests. This equipment cost $400.

The plant is fully automatic in its operation. However, it keeps one man busy making the tests, pumping sludge each day and doing general maintenance.

A light is left on during the night and the police checks the plant during these hours, in case of current failure.

The plant was built in 1952 at a cost of $285,000. The payment on the principal each year has been $15,000. The interest is now $3,396.

In eleven more years, the bonds will be paid up. It is our hope that expansion will not be necessary until after this date.

☆

LAST SUMMER, we installed three new sanitary sewer mains. One on Shady Lane and Adrian Sts., another on W. Sunset and Occidental, and the third, a 21" main was installed at Maumee St. and Evans Creek.

Although, most of this work was done as special assessments, the total cost was $16,800. This amount does not include street replacement.

Our big objective now, is to complete a new 15" sewer main to the industrial area.

'Raising Children' Is Subject

Mrs. Gibbs Barber presented a program on "Raising Children" for members of the Child Study Club 1, Monday evening when the group met at the home of Mrs. Donald Parrett.

The program opened with prayer, followed by the playing of a Sam Levenson record pertaining to the theme.

Mrs. Barber led a discussion of the group on "From Babies Through High School."

The roll call was answered by members giving their "Most Effective Discipline."

Pencil-case favors were made and distributed by Mrs. Neal Brazee and Mrs. Orrie Gilbert.

A cranberry dessert, with ice cream and beverages, was served by Mrs. Proctor Pace and Mrs. James Quigley.

Family Night will be held Feb. 13.

Pro Grid Great Ollie Spencer Appearing Here

Veteran Detroit Lion linesman Ollie Spencer will be featured speaker at the Methodist Church Father and Son Sports Night Supper Wednesday, Jan. 18.

Other Lions players are expected to accompany Mr. Spencer, who is an old friend of the Rev. Allen Wittrup, minister here. The big pro tackle is a member of the Birmingham Methodist Church at which the Rev. Mr. Wittrup formerly served.

Tickets are now on sale. They will not be available the evening of the banquet.

They can be obtained from Ron Dillingham, Maynard Lucas, Carlos Jones or other members of the Men's Club.

Sherry Osburn Is Invited To Sing at Banquet Jan. 18

Sherry Osburn has accepted an invitation to sing at the Holstein Breeders banquet Jan. 18 at the Michigan Producers Building in Adrian.

Miss Osburn a member of the Country Hi-Steppers 4-H Club, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Osburn of rural Tecumseh.

The club will hold an interesting meeting that same evening at the home of Mrs. Edwin Gove at 7:30.

In connection with the Career Project, Mrs. Gove will speak about her work as a beautician and Rae Henkel will talk on barbering.

$50 for Migrant Work

Ruth Daniels, former missionary in Bengal Orissa, used "Heritage and Horizon" as her topic as she spoke to 35 ladies of First Baptist Missionary Society Monday night.

Mrs. Blair Bashore carried the same theme in presenting devotions.

Miss Daniels was given a gift of appreciation and the group voted $50 to migrant work, $10 to Baptist Missionary Training School, $10 to the Baptist Refit Fund and $10 to the Lake Louise Maintenance Fund.

Mrs. Charles Beland reported on the White Cross progress.

Mrs. Claude Sebring and Mrs. James Danforth volunteered as the January calling committee.

Banquets to be served by the members are the Layman's Banquet and the Rotary Ann banquet.

The World Day of Prayer was announced for Friday, Feb. 17.

A love gift of $20 was received by the chairman, Mrs. Stanley Cook.

Mrs. John Surratt and Mrs. Stanley Dermyer served from a lace-covered tea table, centered with a rose floral arrangement.

Mrs. Vern Manwaring and committee were hostesses.

Mrs. Max Elliott will be chairman of hostesses in February. Mrs. James Danforth will be in charge of the program, "Music With Understanding."

Speaks at Siena

Dr. Glenn E. Smith, chief of guidance services, Michigan Department of Public Instruction, is coming to Siena Heights College to speak on "The Future for Guidance Personnel in Michigan Secondary Schools", Tuesday, January 17, at 7 p.m. in the lecture room of Angelicus science building.

Dr. Smith is coming as guest lecturer to the graduate class in Principles of Guidance. High School and college teachers of the area interested in guidance practices are welcome to attend.

TO the EDITORS

I can see no occasion for alarm in connection with the appointment of Soapy Williams to take the position so ably occupied by Mr. Satterthwaite.

If Mr. Kennedy will create the office of Assistant to The Assistant Secy. of State for Africa, give the job to Mr. Satterthwaite with power to tell Soapy what to do we would then have two men occupied with what they are by experience best qualified to do.

Mr. Satterthwaite has demonstrated his ability to meet the problems of the office and Soapy has mastered the art of taking orders having served under Walter Reuther's leadership for many moons.

Sincerely submitted

FOR ALL WE HOLD SACRED . . . ATTEND CHURCH!

Johnny built a snowman! From white, cold snow he made it. It was hard work, and Johnny was justly proud.

Johnny built a snowman—in a day! He packed the snow hard, put in coals for the eyes and nose, and Daddy's hat was placed on top.

But far more of Daddy than just his hat went into this snowman. Just as Johnny worked hard to build the snowman, his father is hard at work too . . . building Johnny. Daddy's greatest dream is to see Johnny moulded into a man of strength, vision, and character.

Luckily for Johnny, Daddy is a wise father. He realizes that the most important single influence upon his son's life is the teaching of Christ. Daddy will see to it that his son receives that teaching by sending him to Church services regularly. In making certain that Johnny knows the beauty of God's words, father will see his greatest dream come true.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

1961 MERCURY MONTEREY 2-DOOR HARDTOP

TRADITIONAL MERCURY COMFORT Only Mercury has Cushion-Link Ride (standard on Monterey and Meteor 800)—a unique suspension system that absorbs jolts and jars that come through to you in other cars. It "gives" backward and forward as well as up and down. And Mercury has a longer wheelbase (120 inches) and greater weight (up to 241 pounds heavier) than other cars in its price range. Result: you enjoy a smooth, solid, steady big-car ride you'd expect to pay much more for. There's plenty of stretch-out room in Mercury, too—even more rear seat hip, shoulder and head room than in last year's spacious Mercury. Wider doors and more trunk space, too.

TRADITIONAL MERCURY VALUE There's extra value in Mercury's engine choice—all the way from the Super-Economy "6" (Mercury's first "6") to the powerful Marauder V-8's. And even the top-performing V-8's deliver up to 15% better gas mileage. There's extra value in Mercury's seven self-servicing features. From self-lubricating chassis to self-adjusting brakes, they save you money every mile you drive. Everywhere you look, the 1961 Mercury offers you traditional Mercury values. Now, for the price most people pay for a new car, you can own a Mercury. Take your pick of Mercury's three great series and drive it today!

FUN ON FROZEN SURFACE — Young men found an ideal place for hockey with the cold weather. It's the stretch of Evans Creek near Brooksi de Cemetery.

Coach Gets Gray Hairs in Defeat

If Doug Mudock has sprouted a few gray hairs in the past week there's good reason.

The Tecumseh High basketball coach can blame a youngster named Lonnie Head, who calls Milan home.

It was Lonnie who managed a basket-at-the-buzzer as the Big Reds nipped Coach Murdock's Indians, 52-51.

From victory within grasp to defeat in the game's last second was the mentor's fate.

But even more shaking to Mr. Murdock than the defeat was the loss of steady senior forward Mike Tucker. Mike broke his arm in two places, will be in a cast for nearly three months.

This will really hurt the THS chances during the balance of the year.

Even with the loss at Milan—and the gray hairs—the coach still had reasons to be proud of his charges.

THS trailed 46-35 with three minutes remaining. Turning on the steam the Indians really caught fire.

Climax came when Jerry Breitenwischer stole the ball, dribbled into the hoop and gave Tecumseh a 51-50 lead. Five seconds showed on the clock.

Breitenwischer was awarded a foul shot, which he missed. Milan took the rebound, drove down court and in a wild melee under the hoop, Head got the ball and dunked it—as the buzzer sounded.

John Britton tagged 15 and Larry Titley 12 for the scoring honors.

Other scoring: Breitenwischer, 8; Norman Tucker, 8; Mike Tucker, 4; Tim Sisson, 4.

THS is now 2 and 4 so far.

☆

FOR THE JV contest, Craig Rosacrans returned, after varsity bench duty for several games.

He popped in 14 points to pace the Tecumseh win over Milan, 40-30.

Rosey contributed seven markers in the fourth stanza to help ice the game.

Coach Jim Hoffman was pleased the way scoring was spread among eight players.

His club's record now stands at 3 and 3.

One of his steady performers, Dan Greene was moved up to the varsity.

Other scoring: Kent Lucas, 6; Clark Nichols, 5; Jerry Hebb, 4;; Roy Rodriguez, 4; Eugene Martin, 3; Tom Smith and Bill Bailey 2 each.

MIKE TUCKER

It's another "Tough-Luck Kid" role for Mike Tucker, senior athlete at Tecumseh High. In the basketball battle with Milan Friday, Mike was up-ended while leaping for the ball and crashed to the floor, breaking his arm. He'll probably be out for the year. A mishap in football during mid-year did the same thing to Mike, a regular end, closing his grid career prematurely.

Square Dance Class Starts

New classes in square dancing are being formed for Tuesday evening at 7:30 in the Tecumseh High School cafeteria under the instruction of Bonnie Mattis of Adrian.

The cost is $1 per couple for this course. It is under the Adult Education program of the high school.

'Dad' Montgomery Celebrates No. 91

William R. Montgomery, better known to many residents as "Dad" Montgomery, celebrated his 91st birthday anniversary Sunday.

A dinner, complete with decorated cake and candles, favors and even paper hats, was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Stephens where Mr. Montgomery has made his home for the past five years.

The honored guest is quite active, taking his dog for a walk occasionally when weather permits.

He enjoys his radio and having friends drop in.

He received a great number of birthday congratulations, including one from his nephew, Bob Currie, in the Fuji Islands.

Those attending the celebration were his daughters, Gertrude Montgomery of Ypsilanti and Alice Montgomery of Monroe, Martye Verda and Marguerite Grilles, of Ypsilanti; Emily Reams and son, William, of Dearborn, Beth Satterthwaite and Frank McDowell of Tecumseh.

Pictures were taken of the festivities and some slides made at the party last year were shown.

Benedicts Hit Net in Win

BRITTON—The Benedicts are clicking.

That was a big part of the story here last week as the Tories won their first basketball game of the year, beating Adrian CC, 53-49.

The two Benedict cousins — freshman Phil and senior Neil —each contributed 14 points.

Rich Seagert was also very much in the act, neting 11.

Besides their scoring, the three controlled the backboards along with 6-4 Ken Southwell, a sophomore. Phil stand 6-5, Seagert 6-4 and Neil an even 6.

"This victory will give us a big boost," grinned Coach Sam Hamilton after the game.

VOICE of THE HERALD

How about 'Music Week'

Two exceptional musical events are already scheduled for Tecumseh in March. By an odd coincidence, they fall on consecutive nights.

March 23, the Jaycees are bringing the University of Michigan's Men's Glee Club here.

March 24, the Rotary Club is staging a performance of the 100-piece Michigan State University concert band.

At the outset, neither group realized the other was making plans. It would seem a bad break.

However, we regard it as just the opposite.

This could be the beginning of an exceptional "Music Week" in Tecumseh. There's plenty of time for planning, if someone should seize upon the theme within the next few weeks.

Besides the two university groups, both rated among the nation's best, there might be some sort of high school activity, possibly competition between area schools all day on March 25.

Another aspect might be decoration of store windows using a musical theme, including posters to advertise the various events of the "Week."

We're all for it.

TAR

Our Choice: the Lions

Honestly, now, don't you agree with us that the Lions are the class of professional football?

As with most Tecumseh male residents, we've gotten our share of TV-eye-tiz this fall from viewing galloping gridiron gladiators.

Of special interest have been the amazing Lions.

Getting the bonus look at the Detroit club Saturday in the special "second place championship" bout in sun-drenched Miami, Fla., convinced us.

This became especially apparent as the performance of the Philadelphia Eagles NFL crown-winning tilt over Green Bay came to mind.

The Eagles looked good—but the Lions were great.

When the Lions edged Cleveland, it was under extremely trying conditions. The mercury on the field stood at 88 degrees. Sweat drenched the players, their heavy gear probably felt like a fur-lined parkas in the middle of the desert.

They moved more sluggishly than during regular games in cooler weather.

Yet, the class of the Lions couldn't help but glimmer through. The club has some tremendous football players and they dove-tail together beautifully.

If Detroit had been sharper in the opening rounds and made the playoffs, we're sure the Eagles just couldn't have come close.

But, even so, the Lions still get our vote as the best grid team in the land for 1960.

DAR Selects Good Citizens

Inez Boltz, Mary Ellen Millyard and Jill Rainsberger are the three Good Citizens selected in the 25th contest sponsored by the Abi-Evans Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution this year.

On March 10, the girls and their mothers will be honored at a tea and program to be held at the home of Mrs. J. Floyd Elliott.

The local chairman, Mrs. F. C. Dickinson, will present them with gold pins at that time.

They will be escorted to the State Conference at Benton Harbor where the winner of the $100 bond will be announced later in March.

☆

INEZ BOLTZ, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvyn Boltz of 112 E. Kilbuck St. and a senior at Tecumseh High school, is president of the Future Nurses Club this year and vice-president of the Senior Class and the Chorus.

She is a member of the Girls Ensemble and Girl Scouts and treasurer of the Teen Club.

Inez has worked on various committees for the Teen Club during her high school years.

When a junior, she was voted the most valuable member of the Student Council.

She is a member of the Presbyterian Church. During her freshman and sophomore years she was a member of the Girl's Athletic Association.

☆

MARY ELLEN MILLYARD, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Millyard of Britton, is an all "A" student in the 12th grade at Britton-Macon High School.

She has been a member of the band all four years, a member of the Math Club two years and the Bowling Club two years.

In her freshman year, Miss Millyard entered the declamation contest. She was in the cast of the Junior play and business manager for the Senior play.

This year she is a member of the saxophone quartet in connection with her band activities.

☆

JILL RAINSBERGER, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theron of Evans Lake and a senior at Clinton High School, has been a member of the varsity cheerleaders, the marching band, the Girl's Athletic Association, the high school choir and the Clinton Youth Club for the past four years.

In her freshman and sophomore years, she was class treasurer and Student Council representative and a member of the Pilgrim Fellowship.

Class president this year, she is also second highest magazine salesman, a member of the concert band, the National Honor Society, the Pep Club and editor of the annual staff.

She was president of the Student Council in her junior year, a member of the school paper staff and Toledo Blade reporter.

THROUGH MY WINDOW

SUET PLUS BIRDS EQUAL GOOD LOOKING

Ever since we started feeding birds, so many years ago, corn, scratch-feed, sunflower seeds and suet have been the staples, the basic foods.

Sometimes the suet has been the fancy, commercially prepared blocks with field bird seed mixed right in, but more often it is merely a chunk obtained at the meat market. Do the birds have a preference? Really, I think not. Some people have found otherwise but at our feeders they don't seem to know or care whether it is 'filet mignon or hamburg' they are eating. They just want food.

For a long time suet was eaten almost exclusively by the woodpeckers and the nuthatches. The perky tufted titmice and the little tough chicka-dees occasionally sampled but few of the other birds even looked at it. The word has gotten around now however and everybody is a suet eater—even the sparrows.

Speaking of sparrows, although they are usually pesky nuisances and so monotonously quarrelsome, they are rather fun at times. Regular copy cats. Not only do they eat what the woodpeckers eat, some even try to eat as the woodpeckers do. We actually have sparrows who try to cling to and perch on the sides of the Y-shaped limb which stands at the corner of one feeder.

The tree climbers, the downeys and nut hatches, love the rough bark of this limb and crawl all over it searching for the suet which we put into the holes and crevices. It certainly is ridiculous to see a sparrow try to imitate such actions—they are just not built for it.

The bluejays are fun to watch too—they are regular gluttons. In true bluejay-like manner they are most happy with the suet which breaks off in quite good sized pieces; how hard they will work to pull and tear away pieces so large that it is a surprise to see the birds fly away with them. Cold weather stops this little game and the jays cannot be quite so 'grab and runnish'. With everything frozen hard they have to work a bit.

However, unlike the other birds who more or less chip away in a hit and miss fashion and are content with whatever happens to fall off, the bluejays have a method. Deciding what size bit they want, they open their bills just so and then proceed to bang away. Pounding with an open bill is, of course, twice as fast and also lets them cut out very neat bites. Just leave it to the jays to be so efficient.

So it is that the birds, each one in their own way, put on quite a show. Suet plus birds equal good looking.

An election of officers was held and the ladies voted to hold a rummage sale Feb. 2, 3 and 4 in the Youth House.

Money from the sale will be used to repair floors in the church basement, where church school is being held.

Feb. 5 at 7 p.m., fellowship discussions will be held in the sanctuary of the First Baptist Church. They will be based on the Book of Revelations.

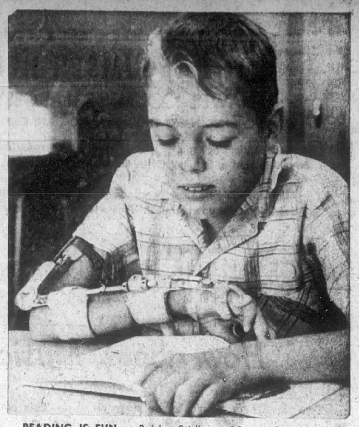
SHE TEACHES — Mrs. George Abraham, instructor in the room for physically handicapped, watches kindergarten pupil Cheryl Frownfelder use an abacus to learn about numbers. Cheryl's folks are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Frownfelder of rural Adrian. Photo at top right shows Cheryl concentrating on the assigned project, giving no indications of orthopedic braces which she must wear, as revealed from other side of Cheryl's desk.

PHOTOS BY HERALD

CHERYL FROWNFELDER IS GETTING TO BE AN EXPERT WITH THE ABACUS



READING IS FUN — Bobby Stidham, 10, resides with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Stidham, in their home near Birdsall. His weakened right arm is made functional by a brace

One Theme — Enthusiasm

(Editor's note: This is the first in a series of four articles about the special education room at Adrian's Michener School for physically-handicapped youngsters of Lenawee County.)

By TOM RIORDAN

It looks like any other classroom in Michener School.

There are the greenboards, the artwork on bulletin boards. The children are busy, they seem happy in their work.

The teacher goes from one to another, correcting mistakes, offering comments, giving assignments.

Then, the visitors notice the braces, the Porta-Lift in the corner, the crutches beneath a desk.

This is the class for physically handicapped youngsters of Lenawee County. It is different, much different, than the school's other rooms.

County taxpayers voted one-half mill for special education two years ago. Actual operation began with the start of classes last fall.

The room for physically-handicapped is just one facet—and one of the most difficult to organize and run—of the new special education program.

Other areas are the visiting teacher program and classes for mentally handicapped, both discussed in previous Herald articles.

Mrs. George Abraham of rural Adrian is the orthopendic teacher of the class at Michener. She's a graduate of Siena Heights and took special training at Eastern Michigan University for her work here.

She has 12 students, ranging from kindergarteners to fifth graders. The boys and girls she instructs have had polio, cerebral palsy, muscular distrophy, asthma, Perthy disease, rheumatoid arthritis.

They have one thing in common—enthusiasm.

These youngsters, for the most part, are getting an opporunity to attend class in a group for the first time.

They're happy about this and dig right into their work with vigor.

Mrs. Abraham is assisted by Mrs. Norm Schoonover of Blissfield, who has three sons in the class.

In coming stories on special education for physically handicapped, the hard-of-hearing room and the therapy program will be discussed.

Next week: All three sons of a Blissfield family, victims of muscular distrophy, are members of the class.

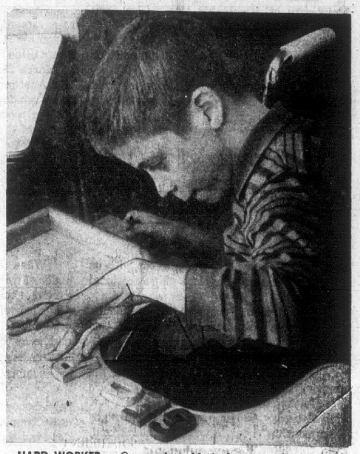
Cloth Books Are Made for Patients

Boys and girls of the fifth grade class of the Tecumseh Friends Sunday School made six cloth books for the children's ward of Herrick Memorial Hospital.

The group used pictures from Christmas cards for this in-class project.

Members of the class who helped with the project were: Elizabeth Fielder, Judy Robinson, Peggy Bryan, Diana Stites, Belinda Hoekstra, Angela Fritz, Sandra Sterling, Kathy Hammack, Bill Curtis, and Phil VanValkenburg.

Mrs. Catherine Sell, nurse at the hospital, accepted the books.



HARD WORKER — George Iott, 11, is from Deerfield. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Emil T. Iott. George, a spastic, is confined to a wheel chair and has great difficulty using his limbs, but he keeps right at the job of mastering skills, which to the average child seem simple.

New March Helps To Pay for Old Cases

MARCH OF DIMES Ls' MaeH-

Ten Tecumseh area polio victims were among 82 "old" cases aided by the Lenawee county chapter of the National Foundation in 1960.

On top of this 320 "active cases" were also being assisted. Seven of the victims were from Tecumseh, two from Raisin Township and one from Macon Township.

In the past five years $134,074.84 in aid has been given Lenawee County polio victims.

The local chapter of the National Foundation paid the bills until it ran out of money. Then other chapters forwarded loans to the local chapter.

Now the local chapter is $14,000 in debt.

Recently a $3,250 loan from Oakland County chapter was needed to pay a bill for just one victim from Clinton. A $1,000 loan from Ingham County was used to assist two surgical patients.

The cost of defeating polio in Lenawee County is large.

Rotary Hears of Hunting in 49th State

Bob Moore presented J. K. Touborg to members of the Rotary Club Tuesday evening. He told of his big game expedition to Alaska in 1958.

His comments on the weather and the area in general were interesting.

Mr. Touborg also showed a movie that gave a good idea of the size of his trophys, the largest of which may be seen in Tecumseh High School. The area he visited is about 500 miles from Ancorage.

President Glenn Kohler announced Maynard Lucas as the general chairman for the presentation of the Michigan State University concert band at Tecumseh High School March 24.

Mr. Lucas has selected his full committee and started them on their duties.

Roger Bortel Is Selected as Director

Lenawee County sheep breeder Virgil Bortel of Britton was elected a director of the Michigan Sheep Breeder Association at the annual meeting.

Warren Phillips, lamb feeder of Blissfield, gave a short report regarding the activities of the council which receives funds from the sheep incentive check-off program.

The council is providing funds for promotion of lamb and wool.

Among 4-H Club sheep breeders attending besides Roger were Gale Robinson and Dennis Avery.

The Association passed two resolutions.

1. The group opposed federal grading of imported frozen lamb coming into the states. This provision would prevent marketing the imported frozen carcass as U.S. Prime, U.S. Choice, U.S. Good, or U.S. Utility, but would still allow inspection of the meat for health standards.

2. To continue the wool incentive program, which provides incentive for wool production in the United States if a national emergency arises.

The wool incentive program allow dried payment to the farmer and permits farmer unprocessed wool to compete more favorably with synthetic fibers.

What's Going on at Boysville

By LOUIS CIAVONE

The Junior Class of Boysville is sponsoring a talent show at 8 p.m. on Feb. 4 in the Boysville gymnasium.

There will be two divisions:

1. Group talent.
2. Individual talent.

The judges, impartial individuals from outside Boysville, will pick winners in each class.

The possible prizes will be a weekend home for first prize, dinner and a movie for second prize, and either a two-pound box of candy or a carton of cigarettes for third prize.

Last year's talent contest winner was the instrumental combo, the "Satan Chauffeurs," and a trumpet trio, "The Polish Trumpeteers."

Third prize was taken by a pantominist. This year there should be a terrific show of talent.

√

The Infirmary is being moved into the old science rooms, more recently the photo shop and storage rooms.

The purpose of the move is to vacate the present undersized infirmary building, which will be moved to make room for the construction of a new dining hall on the west side of the campus.

The "new" infirmary building will be able to hold 17 beds, 13 of which will be in a single, general ward and the other four in an isolation ward.

√

Michael Liskey, a Boysville graduate of 1960, has advanced in one short year from editor of the CAMPUS INFO, Boysville's weekly school paper, to editor of the COTTAGE NEWS, the official council publication of the Father James W. Cotter Council of the Knights of Columbus in Detroit.

Liskey was a member of the CAMPUS INFO staff during his four years at Boysville.

√

Three Boysville football players were named to radio station WOIA's All-Area Team recently.

The boys, John McGeshick, Pete Mata and Bill Gagner, were honored at a dinner in Ann Arbor.

All three boys also made the River Raisin honorary team last fall.

√

Boysville students and faculty members were happy to read in The Herald recently that Airman Edward Dalga, a graduate of Boysville and former staff member, was honored by being named "Airman of the Month."

√

Sometimes around Easter, the Boysville band is planning a combined concert with the band of Monroe Catholic Central High School.

Both Brother Philip Armstrong, CSC, director of the Boysville Band, and Brother Leonard Leary, CSC, director of the CC band have agreed on four combined numbers, one of which will be "Birth in the Blues."

Probably each band will present a few numbers of its own.

Board Names New Teacher

BRITTON — Larry Goodes of Adrian College and Palmyra has joined the staff at Britton-Macon School, replacing James Nelson as teacher of English.

There was to be a discussion at a school board meeting regarding foreign language Wednesday, Jan. 11, which was too late for this week's edition.

The board feels if local property taxes, which are beginning to be received by the school district from the townships continue to come in, that bills and payroll can be met without additional borrowing.

So far this year it has been necessary to borrow $36,000 for operating expenses.

The Britton-Macon Area Teachers Club co-sponsored with the school a Reading Workshop Friday in the school library.

Richard Elden a reading specialist worked with the teachers discussing and answering questions as to how we can improve the reading ability of all grade levels.

Mr. Elden pointed out that this question is being raised in many schools throughout the nation.

He also complimented the faculty for their interest and suggested they continue with many of the present teaching methods now being used.

Further study of individual areas of reading will be studied by the teacher group.

Race in Derby

BRITTON — Six car loads of Scouts, leaders and parents attended the Annual Klondike Derby at Camp Kanstake, Saturday.

The event attracts units from two counties and this year an estimated 600 to 700 boys participated in the rugged course.

The boys are entered as patrols, with a minimum of five boys each.

Scouts build their own Klondike sled, which is fashioned like those used by dog teams in the Klondike. They are pulled the same way with one boy as an injured passenger.

The course winds along the lake shore, into the woods and hills and at intervals there are stations where certain skills must be passed.

These are judged on a point basis at each stop.

Various outposts include:

1. Grub stake, where the patrol starts their course by registering and where everyone eats.

2. Knots Hole — where knots have to be tied and ropes inspected for whipping.

3. Lost Valley—one of the requirements here is inspection to see that all are clothed warm for the remainder of the trail.

4. Broken Back Bend and Latitude 42 N, Longitude 83 W — where skill with the compass and measuring of weights, distance and heights are tested.

5. Ice Floe — where each patrol rescues one of it's members from the frozen ice floe, performs first aid and rushes on towards the end of the trail.

6. Valley Forge — sleds stop, Scouts build a fire and prepare enough soup for each member of the team.

Probably the most difficult task is that of the judges at this outpost. They must taste each pot of soup to judge its quality.

7. Trails End — after a rugged three—mile course, the boys are ready for a hot cup of chocolate milk, which is served to each Scout.

Results will not be known for a few days.

The Britton group was proud to have their Fox patrol place first last year.

☆

BRITTON BOYS taking part in the Klondike Derby were:

Fox Patrol—Carl Bower, Dick Sommers, Sid Forsyth, Walter Anspach and David Reeck.

Eagle Patrol — Perry Auten, Bill Kahle, Steve Eldred, Douglas Fairbanks and Gordon Henning.

Daniel Boone Patrol — Tom Yarchow, Randy Fergus, Larry Henning, Norman Auten and Danny Shepard.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

TO THE EDITORS:

I noticed by the last issue of The Herald that you spoke of Roy Prichard as one of Tecumseh's real old timers.

I won't dispute that, but he was not very old when I was born on the southwest corner of N. Maumee and E. Logan in what was known as the Teluff house.

There used to be a large south wing on the building which housed three families. Before I was three, my folks moved to West Brown St. where the Freckeltons now live and this was our home for nearly forty years.

I do not remember the bicycle races at Bill's old track, but I remember attending a circus there and there I was introduced to Punch and Judy.

Roy speaking of Guy Davidson being a champion bicycle rider, reminded me of how Guy crossed my boyhood path.

We used to buy special paper for our monthly exams. The stationery was a requirement. There was a heading that had to be filled in, subject, date, time used, pupils name and teacher's name.

Guy Davidson was paying a great deal of attention to our music teacher, Miss Minnie Stephenson

Guy owned a fine team of driving horses and a fancy buggy. Well, Miss Minnie often didn't have to walk from one school building to another.

Some of the boys dared me to fill in the space opposite — "teacher"—Mrs. Guy Davidson.

That surely worked, but I think it worth the punishment I received. I can still chuckle over the incident, and Guy lived and died a bachelor.

Christmas Day here was very mild and pleasant. Elmer Pocklington and Clarence Gilmore, who are wintering in Eustis, were our guests for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. Raynor Scudder of Macon, but who winter here in St. Cloud, were also our guests.

From the morning service at the Baptist Church to the end of the day, the Spirit of Christmas filled our hearts and we were indeed able to say, "Thanks be unto God for His unspeakable gift".

Monday was a warm, sunny day and we returned "the boys" to Eustis, where daily they play four games of shuffle, and with many other senior citizens enjoy the warm sunny days.

your sincerely
Alvin C. Brazee

Don Benedict Takes Post in Chicago

The Rev. Donald Benedict, former Tecumseh resident, has accepted the position of general director of the Chicago City Missionary Society and has moved from Cleveland to that city.

He was installed in the down town Congregational Church in impressive ceremonies by ministers from Harvard University, New York City Congregational Church and the assistant editor of Christian Century publication.

The Elmhart College Glee Club sang and following the ceremonies a banquet for 700 guests was held at the Palmer House when the Rev. Benedict gave the address.

His work will be mostly in the executive line with an office in the YMCA building.

An article in the May 1960 issue of "Presbyterian Life" magazine entitled "Glimpses of Cleveland" tells what has been done by Mr. Benedict and others in that area concerning the restoration of protestant worship in churches which had shut their doors.

The Rev. Benedict is a well known graduate of Tecumseh High School and Albion College. He is married and has four daughters.

Gerald and Charles Benedict of Britton are cousins of the Rev. Benedict.

Newest Farm Gear Will Be Featured at Farmers' Week

Use of power and machiney on the farm will highlight the program of Agricultural Engineering Day, Tuesday, Jan. 31 during Farmers' Week on the Michigan State University campus.

Michigan farmers will learn about the latest machines and power equipment.

New machinery and equipment let farmers do present jobs more economically, safer, faster and easier. They permit higher production with less manpower and improve quality of farm products.

Safety is getting top consideration in design of new equipment, according to Carl Albrecht, MSU agricultural engineer in charge of the program. New auger bunks and self-unloading wagons are making livestock feeding faster and easier.

C. M. Hansen, agricultural engineering, will open the Tuesday morning program in the Agricultural Engineering building. He will review the latest farm machinery research results.

Other discussions on the same program will include:

1. New ideas in farm machinery—
2. Bunk feeder systems—
3. "Must Tractors and Automobiles Meet?"
4. "Hay Wafering Machinery—Farmers and Cows Like Pellets.

Use of electricity on the farm for power and newest labor-saving equipment will be the topic for discussion on the Tuesday afternoon program.

The annual agricultural engineering banquet will be a highlight of Tuesday evening, starting at 6 p.m. in the Big 10 Room at Kellogg Center.

Featured speaker will be nationally-known Dr. Harvey C. Hahn of Dayton, Ohio.

Two citations for outstanding service and leadership in the application of engineering to agriculture will be presented by Dr. A. W. Farrall, head of the department of agricultural engineering.

☆

ONE SOLUTION for liquid manure disposal becoming more popular is through use of lagoons. Answers to questions about the design and operation of such a system will be the subject of the Wednesday morning program.

Thursday morning's program will center around a joint agricultural engineering and home economic approach to some problems of engineering in the home.

Starting the session at 10 a.m. will be John Rulison, Michigan Department of Conservation, talking about quality water problems.

On Thursday afternoon, the Michigan Rural Safety Council will hold its annual meeting and program session on "Farm Safety Goes on Trial."

Featured will be a mock jury trial with the case of farm accidents versus the people of Michigan charged with neglecting the safety of their fellow men.

VOL. 110 — ONE HUNDRED ELEVENTH YEAR — NUMBER 14 | TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY, JAN. 19, 1961 | 14 PAGES — TEN CENTS A COPY

TOM RIORDAN'S Long AND Short

Next week: watch for the story of why Hillsdale College left the MIAA league after 72 years, as told by its president, Dr. Don Phillips at Tecumseh Rotary.

☆

The other morning I overheard daughter Carol telling her mom, "If I were mayor of Tecumseh I'd . . . . "

I didn't catch what she's do because the opening had me thinking, ". . . here's an idea for next week's column . . . an 'If I were mayor' contest."

So, here it is, the first (and maybe last) "If I were mayor of Tecumseh for one day, I would . . . " contest.

Let's limit it to about 50 words and break it into three divisions:

1. Children up to 12
2. Young people 13 to 18.
3. Adults from 19.

A one-year subscription to The Herald will be given winners in each catagory.

Send your entries to the If I Were Mayor Contest in care of The Herald. Include your name, address and age. ("Over 19" will suffice in classification No. 3)

A lot of Americans think of politics as dirty business.

Unfortunately, some of its practitioner over the years have brought this unsavory connotation to the word.

Maybe, the science of selecting candidates for public office and having them elected should be given another handle.

Anyway, the point is, politics is far from being all bad.

It's a vital segment of a democracy. Even with its missteps, the system has paid off handsomely during the history of our nation.

This may seem an odd time to be writing about politics, but the pattern of many things is changing today. Politics is one.

It used to be that folks got out and hustled just before elections. Now we find the work of each party is growing into an almost year-around proposition.

Already there are county conventions (Republicans this week, Democrats next). These will be followed by state party gatherings.

Programs for the coming primaries will be welded, long-range planning for fall voting will come under consideration.

As for myself, I've decided it's time that I got active in the party of my choice—which, as you might suspect from past offerings, is GOP.

Whatever your political philosophy is — Republican or Democratic—it might be well if you considered personally working into the program of your group.

The more minds on each side of the fence, the better each party will become. Our nation will the winner.

Come on in, the water's fine.

Parking Meters Get Going-Over

By JIM LINCOLN

A concession to Meadowridge Dairy for a loading zone entrance for large milk trucks was granted Monday night by Council.

The concession eliminates two meters in the large off-street parking lot in the northwest business block.

At the Jan. 9 meeting, Council had agreed to lease the access area for the balance of 1961 and then included a 90-day cancellation clause.

Councilman George McCombs first spoke for a longer lease plan, saying: "the dairy needs protection and a five-year lease should be offered."

The lease idea was dropped and the area labeled a loading zone. Council unanimously approved.

☆

COUNCILMAN Arthur Schwartz proposed removing the parking meters immediately in front of the post office.

Colleague Royal Welch opposes the plan, voicing an opinion that "the post office is not different than any other business, and we should keep the meters in for a trial run."

The discussion was tabled to the Feb. 6 meeting.

☆

OTHER PARKING complaints, one from Dr. Ralph Helzerman and another from Dave Mack, were delayed for further study.

City Engineer Cal Zorn was requested to investigate Mr. Mack's complaint about the nickel and dime meters in front of his restaurant in the northwest business block. He wants penny to nickel meters.

Dr. Helzerman requested the city leave him a space in front of his medical office on S. Ottawa St. and not install a meter. Action on the request was postponed.

☆

A PROPOSAL to construct a mall between Adrian Federal Loan and Savings and Pickard Floral was favorably accepted by councilmen. The city engineer was instructed to proceed with the plan.

Mr. Zorn said there was no reason why the alley could not be closed and suggested council table this action.

Part of the area is owned by Adrian Federal and the other possibly by Louis Schneider, president of the Schneider Bros. auto agency. There is some question as to Mr. Schneider's ownership.

John Surratt, manager here for the Savings and Loan, said his company would construct the mall on its land regardless of what Mr. Schneider does.

☆

IN OTHER action, Council:

1. Re-appointed E. M. Campbell to the Board of Review.
2. Re-appointed Perry Satterthwaite and Mrs. Lillian Service to the Election Commission.
3. Heard from Police Chief George Kilbourn that the department's morale is low due to small fines handed out by the local Justice of Peace Ernie Oliver.
4. Learned that Ridgeway Township wants to use the city dump at $200 a year (now paying $25 a month to use Dundee dump.)
5. Authorized action to remove violations of signs and junk at two residences on N. Union St.
6. Passed a motion abating the Jennings property at 303 W. Pottawatamie as nuisance, due to unsanitary conditions there.

Proposed AND Present

New Doctor Opens Practice In Tecumseh

Another doctor, whose specialty is surgery, has established a practice in Tecumseh.

He is Dr. Harold D. Ocamb, 33-years-old and originally from Denver, Col.

During the past six years he has been on the staff of Detroit Receiving Hospital.

He interned there for one year, then spent a five-year residency in surgery.

Dr. Ocamb took both his premed and medical work at the University of Colorado.

He came to Receiving because of his interest in surgery and the excellent program offered in the Detroit Hospital, which also is affiliated with the Veterans Administration Hospital in Dearborn.

☆

AN AVID hunter and fisherman, he soon acquired a great affinity for the Water Wonderland.

During his work at Receiving he met several Tecumseh folks, including Dr. Bob Larsen, who has a surgery practice in Detroit. Dr. Ocamb heard glowing reports of this community and came to take a look for himself. He soon decided Tecumseh was where he would like to go into practice.

Dr. Ocamb (pronounced "O-cum") and his wife, Jan, have four youngsters, Andrea, 8; Kathy, 5; Michael, 3½ and Cynthia, one.

The family is now living at 603 Center Dr. and the two eldest children are students in Herrick Park School.

The Ocambs are Methodists and plan to affiliate with the local church.

Dr. Ocamb's office will be located in the Mull Bldg. at 900 W. Chicago Blvd.

Ayling Paving Firm Seeks To Put Plant in Township

Ayling Asphalt Paving Co. would like to move its plant into Tecumseh Township, but strenuous local opposition has developed.

The firm is seeking a three-acre site on N. Adrian Hwy., three-quarters of a mile north of Billington's Corners. It is along Evans Creek on property owned by Dean VanValkenburg, adjacent to the Wendell Frost farm.

Ayling, which is now in Rollin, is willing to sign a five-year lease with an option for 10.

Offering seasonal employment, it will have a work force of between 40 and 50 during peak operations.

The Tecumseh Township location looks good to Ayling because of three up-coming paving jobs on which the firm wishes to bid next month.

The trio includes:

1. A portion of US-112.
2. Rogers Hwy.
3. The new Inner-State 92, from 112 to M-50.

Rollin is nearly 35 miles from 112. By cutting this distance, Ayling figures his bids could be sliced $1 per yard.

☆

AREA RESIDENTS are leery mainly because of Ayling's recent operation in Raisin Township, where the firm admits it made no attempt to control smoke.

However, an Ayling representative told the Tecumseh Township Board that a new approach would be made if it landed the N. Adrian Hwy. site:

1. All smoke and dust would be completely washed with creek water before being released.
2. In turn, the water would be purified before being released back into the creek.

At Tuesday night's Board session, in which the Ayling proposal was tabled, one of the local objectors to the plan said he would be willing to drop his opposition if Ayling would post a performance bond backing up its promises.

Mrs. Irelan spoke of future plans for the leathercraft project. Meetings will be held at her home each Saturday.

Dean Kirkland moved that some entertainment be held once each month, other than the club meeting. It was tabled until the next session.

Mrs. Starkey explained the automobile project. Cooking will be a summer project.

Mrs. Starkey explained started seeds for the County Fair.

Talon, Inc. announced Wednesday that it is closing its Tecumseh plant on or about Sept. 1, 1961.

The decision affects 39 employees, who were notified Tuesday. Only one or two will be transferred.

The company's announcement follows within a year the second company to leave Tecumseh. Quaker Oats closed its operations here last year and the plant is still vacant.

The zipper and button company started operations here in July 1956, mostly packaging zippers and buttons trucked into the local plant.

The building and property will be placed for sale Sept. 1. The plant has approximately 15,000 square feet.

Terry Mackin at Gathering

EAST LANSING — Terry J. Mackin of the Kuhlman Cement Co., was among those attending a conference of the Michigan Ready Mixed Concrete Association Jan. 9-10 at Michigan State University featuring an evaluation of the business outlook for 1961.

Dr. Leonard Rall, of the MSU department of economics, predicted that the first half of the year would be somewhat slow, much like the second half of 1960.

However, Dr. Rall said, the second half should see an upturn in the economy, with the gross national product rising $15-18 billion, or three to four per cent.

Leading the upsurge, he stated, will be consumer spending, government spending and residential construction, while business expenditures are expected to be on the weak side.

Living Daily by Golden Rule

Dr. Richard Coak was the guest speaker at the Blissfield Kiwanis luncheon Jan. 12.

He spoke on the constitutional objectives of Kiwanis International, stressing importance of their application to the daily lives of Kiwanians.

These objects include:

1. To give primacy to the human and spiritual, rather than to the material values of life.
2. To encourage daily living of the Golden Rule in all human relationships.
3. To promote the adoption and application of higher social, business and professional standards.
4. To develop by precept and example a more intelligent, aggressive and serviceable citizenship.
5. To provide through Kiwanis Club a practical means to form direct friendships to render altruistic service and build better communities.
6. To co-operate in creating and maintaining that sound public opinion and high idealism which make possible the increase of righteousness, justice patriotism and good will.

Others attending from Tecumseh were Richard Myers, Dave Ousterhout, Gene Tuckey and Dr. George Burkhard.

What's Going on at Boysville

BY LOUIS CIAVONE

The Fighting Knights beat the Ida Bluestreaks in a onesided battle on the Knight's court Friday, 56-27.

The Knights started off with good shooting, which put them ahead at the end of the first half, 23-10.

The Knights used a tight press most of the game.

It was in the second half that the Knights started getting really hot. The end of the third quarter showed the Knights leading, 41-20.

Near the end of the game, Coach Mike Gendzwill put in the second team. This move gave the boys a chance to see some action for the first time this season.

√

The Junior Knights lost to the Ida JV, 51-38. It looked like the Friday the 13th "superstition" worked in favor of the Ida five.

Talk on Hypnosis

The Raisin Green Bees Extension Club held a joint meeting with five other extension clubs from Tecumseh at the VFW Hall.

Twenty members and guests of Circle 1 heard a book review by Mrs. Fred Dickinson, Sr. at the January meeting at the home of Mrs. M. R. Blanden.

The book, "Her Christmas at the Hermitage" by Helen Topping Miller, is a delightful story about Rachel Jackson, wife of Andrew Jackson.

The review revealed the thought "That famous or not we all experience, to a greater or lesser degree, the same loves and heartaches, joys and sorrows in a lifetime."

Mrs. Neville Hart presented Mrs. Dickinson. New president, Mrs. Stanley Kruse, conducted the meeting.

Mrs. Hart and Mrs. Kruse also assisted as co-hostesses.

The Circle will be guests of Circle 2 for the February meeting when Dr. Laszlo Gero will speak on his experiences with religion in Europe.

Mrs. Smith spoke to the group of her experience in hurricane Donna shortly after she and her husband moved to Florida to make their home.

She said that although they secured their trailer home as recommended, wind snapped it from its moorings and considerable damage was done.

Mrs. Jennie Temple was presented a white sweater by the group to honor her 90th birthday anniversary, which occurs Feb. 4.

A decorated birthday cake was served following the potluck supper to the 17 members present and guest, Mrs. Fay Hindes, prsen matron.

Postal Rates on Educational Material Is Low

"The exceptionally low rate of postage on books and certain other educational materials makes them inexpensively available to millions of our people," postmaster Jack Metcalf states.

Under the present rate, parcels weighing 16 ounces or more, containing books; 16-millimeter film catalogs (except films and film catalogs mailed to commercial theaters); printed music, printed objective test materials, phonograph recordings, and manuscripts for books, periodical articles and music, may be mailed at the rate of 9c for the first pound 5c for each additional pound.

Thus, five pounds of books may be mailed from New York to Los Angeles for just 29c, while the ordinary parcel post rate would be $1.05.

"When depositing books or other educational materials in the mails, be sure to tell the accepting postal employee," says Mr. Metcalf, "so that he may see that your parcel is correctly endorsed and charge the proper rate of postage."

Tecumseh Episcopalians, attending the annual parish meeting of St. Peter's Church last week elected four new vestry members and two wardens.

They heard reports from the guilds and organizations, approved the budget for 1961, and learned of the progress to date of the repair and restoration program for the church building.

The meeting was conducted by retiring Senior Warden Philip Colgrove, who was introduced following the invocation by the Rev. Frank W. Hawthorne, rector.

Church News

+ Lofty Peaks Are Symbolism of Religion

Mountains with their lofty peaks were a form of religious symbolism to people of ancient times.

Mountains have challenged men to try to reach the highest peak, which has called for deeds of daring and bravery.

"Climbing Mountains" will be the subject of the Rev. Allen Wittrup's sermon of Tecumseh Methodist Church, Sunday, Jan. 22 at 10 a.m.

The Church School meets at 11:15 with classes for all ages.

The Commissions of the Church and the Official Board will meet on Wednesday, Jan. 25. The commissions will meet at 7:30 p.m. and the Official Board at 8:30 p.m.

+ Power from God Needed To Live

The fellowship service of the Seventh Day Church of God held last Saturday was well attended and was enriched by the sermon of the guest speaker, Elder Vernon Patchen of Toledo.

He urged members of the congregation to be constantly in possession of enough power from God to be able to live victoriously through up-hill experiences when called upon to do so.

Following a potluck supper a color film was presented.

Next week services will be at 10 a.m. in the Pythian hall Saturday, Jan. 21.

Prayer meeting will be Wednesday evening in the home of the Friddles of La Salle, Mich.

+ Missionary from Africa Speaking Sunday

Speaker at both the 11 a.m. service and the 7:30 p.m. service Sunday at the Grace Bible Church will be the Rev. Sam Burns.

Mr. Burns is on furlough from missionary service in Africa, where he has served three terms under the Sudan Interior Mission.

Mr. Burns, with his wife, have been working in the Sudan itself, although the mission has work in other areas in Africa.

Mrs. Burns is the former Mary Helen Fish, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fish of rural Tipton. Mr. Burns is a native of England.

+ Vital Question

"What is Truth?" is a vital question to be considered at Christian Science services Sunday.

Notaries Public Named for Area

Secretary of State James M. Hare released the names of citizens residing in Tecumseh who have been appointed or reappointed as Notaries Public during the last quarter of 1960.

"These commissions," Hare said, "are valid for four years unless sooner revoked by the governor. The governor may revoke a commission issued to a Notary Public upon presentation to him of satisfactory evidence of official misconduct or incapacity."

Those receiving a commission from this area are: Pauline Elliott, Jack I. Hanna and Carl R. Powers.

Model Planes Topic of Talk

Bill Engle of Hobbyville presented a program on the local model Airplanes club, to the Kiwanis Club last week.

St. Elizabeth NEWSETTES

By DEBI CRAWFORD

New officers were elected in the sixth grade last week. Two previous officers were re-elected.

The results are as follows:
President—Mary Mudgett
Vice-president—Tom Neidlinger
Secretary—Karen McKenna
Treasurer—Nicky Hebert

The seventh graders presented a play concerning the life of Mother Cabrini to the eighth grade class Monday afternoon.

The narrator was Chrisitne Daachan and the leading character, Mother Cabrini, by Sharon Boudrie.

Fourth graders have completed booklets in geography. The theme was our own state Michigan.

Date set for receiving of the ever-important report cards was set for the week of Jan. 23.

It's appeared that the next week will show an increased interest in studying and homework by many students.

Sunday was the day for St. Elizabeth's second basketball action of the season.

The Cubs played two games with Hudson, one with the first team and one with the second.

Unfortunately for the first team lost its game, 18-9.

There was plenty of action, but the only two scorers for St. Elizabeth were David Mueller and Eric Wilkins.

The second team had more luck. Although the club trailed at the half, it picked up and won by a close 19-17 score.

Almost everyone that played on the second team scored.

Murph Reports

By DON MURPHY
Chamber of Commerce Secretary

The Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce proved that the trend in today's elections is "closely contested."

Elected to the board of directors of the Chamber were three new members, Karl Schneider, Harry Beland and Louis Schneider.

These three members were chosen, through a membership election, from a slate of six candidates submitted by the nominating committee.

Unique part of it was that until the last ballot was counted, the election was a toss-up with only one vote separating the second, third and fourth candidates.

I thought that the presidential election this year was close, but after going through our own election the presidential election would have to take a second place as for being closely-contested.

At the first meeting of the new Board the following officers were elected:

President—Royal Welch, now serving his second year on the Board.

Vice-President — Gale Fisher, now serving his third year on the Board.

Treasurer — Bill Powell, now serving his second year on the Board.

Length of tenure in office is three years with one stipulation. In the event that the president is in office his third year, then he is asked to serve an additional year so that the board can call on his experience during his year as president.

Search Is Launched for Mother of Year

(Editor's note: An interesting aspect of this annual contest is that the first Mother of Michigan was Mrs. Perry Hayden of Tecumseh, who received the award several years ago.)

Search for the 1961 Mother of Michigan has been launched.

Nomination blanks are now available upon request.

They are available by writing to the:

Michigan Mothers Committee
Post Office Box 444
Pontiac, Michigan

Completed nomination blanks—filled out exactly as required — must be submitted to the above address, not later than March 1.

Standards that must be met by nominees for State Mother have been set up by the American Mothers Committee as follows:

1. That she be a successful mother, as evidenced by the character and achievements of her individual children.

2. That she be an active member of a religious body.

3. That she embody those traits highly regarded in mothers: courage, cheerfulness, patience, affection, kindness, understanding and a homemaking ability.

4. That she exemplify in her life and conduct the precepts of the Golden Rule.

5. That she have a sense of responsibility in civic affairs and that she be active in service for public benefit.

6. That she be qualified to represent the Mothers of America in all responsibilities attached to her role as the National Mother.

Other qualifying conditions require that the youngest child should not be less than 15 years of age since achievement, conforming with qualification No. 1, cannot be judged at an earlier age.

A divorcee cannot enter.

We have the plans, directions, and wide selection of West Coast lumber to make your project better.

THS Plays Poorest Cage Game of Year

Ypsilanti Lincoln smothered the Indians here Saturday night, 71-44, leaving Coach Doug Murdoch's cagers with a 2-5 record for the season.

The tilt unquestionably was Tecumseh's poorest of the season, especially from the floor where the Indians collected only one field goal in the initial quarter.

Two free throws enabled the Indians to collect only four points while Ypsi was cashing in 19 points in the first period.

During the middle two quarters, Tecumseh battled the visitors on equal terms but then succumbed to a weak fourth stanza to let the game turn into a rout.

Tecumseh's top scorer, John Britton, paced both teams with 19 points.

The Jayvees evened the count with a hard-fought 51-42 victory in the opener. Clark Nichols tallied seven goals and five free throws for 19 points. Bill Bailey was outstanding on the boards.

Coach Jim Hoffman praised his team, saying it was one of its best this year.

Gross Ile Next

Grosse Ile's basketball squad comes to Tecumseh Friday evening. JV games starts at 6:30.

Area Cagers In Top Ten

Britton-Macon's Rich Seagert and Tecumseh's John Britton are ranked among the top high school basketball scorers in Lenawee County.

Seagert holds second spot with 114 markers, for a 16.3 point-a-game average.

John ranks No. 10, has tossed in 97 for a 13.9 average.

Frosh 5 Remains Unbeaten

The freshman team of Tecumseh High School remains undefeated after seven straight games.

The first victory was over Mason Consolidated, 44-40, in an overtime, with John Oberlin scoring 16 points and Clark Nichols, 14.

Against Chelsea it was 62-16. Every boy had a chance to play with Jerry Hebb netting 12.

In the 41-28 win over Boysville, Jerry was again the high scorer with 13 points.

Against Clinton, John Oberlin scored 16 points and George Moricz 10 points as THS won 33-30.

Blissfield almost upset the streak, but Tecumseh scored the 29-28 victory as Jim Newell and Jim Baker were high scorers.

In the Manchester game, Oberlin was again high scorer with 17 points. The final score: 38-28.

The second tilt with Blissfield, 46-44, saw the scoring honors shared by Jim Oberlin, Jim Newell and George Moricz.

There are five games left to be played and so far John Oberlin with 79 points and Jim Newell with 51 points are top scorers.

Dutch Spills Wood for His Second 300

For a second time, Dutch Creger, 404 W. Brown St., has clicked for a sanctioned 300 game over the Airport Bowl lanes.

Dutch pitched 12 straight strikes — every one on the pocket — to open a three-game series last Thursday while bowling with McCoy & Powell Real Estate in the Preston Classic League.

His previous 300 came two years ago, Jan. 24, 1958.

An employee of Tecumseh Products Co., Dutch carries a sparkling 197 average in the Classic.

THROUGH MY WINDOW

THE SKATER'S WALTZ

Actually, there wasn't much waltzing, but during the holidays there were certainly many torrid games of hockey played on our creek. For the first time in I don't remember how long, the creek froze over in mid-December and was just perfect for the new skates Santa delivered.

And believe me, all those skates received good workouts. Now of course vacation is over and the skating is confined to after-school hours and weekends.

It was a treat for us and as long as the ice holds, it will be a continuing pleasure to have so much excitement on the creek.

The skaters are great fun to watch, they are obviously having such a good time. The air is full of happy voices, while each and every face is full of laughter and smiles.

Red seems to be the dominant color, jackets, sweaters, scarfs and mittens, how bright they are against the blue-white ice and snowy white ground. Blue, green, tan, black and white are seen too, but red is by far the favorite.

☆

WITH THE creek so full of skaters there is, of course, every degree of expertness but they all have one thing in common.

From the little tot who struggles so hard on her double runners to keep up with the older kids, to the tall lanky teen-ager with the professional looking hard toed hocky skates, to the little blond with the bright red parka who skates with easy grace, to the boys who can't make up his mind whether to skate on his blades or ankles, but usually decides upon the latter—the one thing these and all the others share is the good times they are having.

What the young hockey players lack in skill they make up for in the enthusiasm. And by the way, here is something that warmed my old tom-boy heart. A couple of the most energetic puck chasers are girls. Three cheers for them.

I grew up in the Sonja Heinie era — she was the idol of all who with numb fingers laced up white figure skates. Seven of us had a Sonja Heinie fan club but that's an article in itself.

Today the girls are still wearing white figure skates but they don't seem to spin, jump and twirl as we did. As we tried to do would be more accurate.

ONE THING hasn't changed though and how glad we are to see it. Whole families are skating together—mom, dad and all the kids, even down to the ones so small that they are bundled up and tucked onto sleds.

I hope their parents realize that in addition to fun, they are giving their children long lasting memories of happy times. Experience talking.

I remember when mom, dad and I used to go skating. Big parties were held at the Red Pond and what fun.

Most of the men had sails, big triangles of canvas and with even a slight wind how fast they went skimming across the frozen pond. One of the great "tragedies" of my life was that I was never big enough to handle one of these sails — it always looked like such good sport, but about the time I maybe could have managed one, we had several warm winters and by the time good skating returned, the skate-sailing fad was over.

SO IT IS that since mid-December there has been lots of fun for us and the kids. The ice on the creek has really taken a beating—actually at times it has been in pretty bad shape.

But somehow, no matter how chipped, cracked or rough, how littered with stones, limbs and other debris, there is always a spot here and there good enough for a little skating.

They are not waltzing much, but there are certainly having loads of good, clean fun.

Students Hear About Safety on School Bus

BRITTON — Ray R. Martinez, consultant on bus driver education from Eastern Michigan University, presented a program at the Britton-Macon School Tuesday.

The program was concerned with school bus safety and the responsibilities of school children.

For those in the lower grades Martinez took the pupils to a school bus and demonstrated safe loading and unloading procedures and showed the students how to use the emergency exit.

Martinez pointed out that the students leaving the bus should always take at least five paces in front of the bus and then wait for the driver's signal before crossing the street.

He also gave safe riding procedures including the importance of being absolutely quiet at railroad crossings so that the driver may listen as well as look for trains.

Similar procedures were given to upper grades.

A film entitled "Safety on the School Bus" was shown.

Variety of Clothes Among 'Lost' Items Left Around School

BRITTON—When the Britton-Macon PTA met Monday evening in the school study hall the parents were enlightened as to what happens to some "lost" belongings of their children.

They also saw a film strip showing what has been done, what is being done and what they hope to do with the funds which are collected every year by the New March of Dimes.

After a short business meeting, conducted by the president Paul Bailey, Aldun Pifer of Adrian was introduced and spoke briefly on the great need for the March of Dimes campaign

Mr. Pifer, a 1956 victim of polio, travels throughout Lenawee County in his spare time showing the film to all groups who are interested.

Ned Brown program chairman then introduced Mrs. Forrest Barrett, cafeteria manager, who told of the many responsibilities and duties of her staff.

☆

ART VANWORMER, head custodian, spoke of the duties of his staff and how it is possible for them to accomplish so many and varied jobs in one day's time.

He also displayed numerous items found in the girls and boys locker rooms and around the school in general.

Some of the items:

14 boys white T-shirts, collected since Christmas holidays.

Girls orlon sweaters.

Gloves galore.

Hankies, too numerous to mention.

Boys' wrist watch, which some parent no doubt thinks has been stolen.

Three boy's winter caps, two of them in good condition.

A variety of jewelry.

☆

SCHOOL PRINCIPAL William Saxton was next on the panel. His speech was short but to the point.

He told of the mis-treatment of books by some of the students, their careless use of gum and the distress it caused the school staff.

He also explained that he feels that 99½% of the pupils are well behaved and non destructive.

Viril Lidster, a school bus driver, then told of his experiences. He feels strongly that a watchman should be stationed at the railroad crossing on S. Britton Hwy. in foggy weather.

This is a dangerous crossing and recently he just missed being hit by a train because of dense fog.

Raymond Seagert was moderator and held a question and answer discussion with the panel.

The ninth grade won the attendance award with 51 of the Student's parents and teachers present.

AN EDITORIAL

Be Careful

Be careful to whom you give donations to the March of Dimes.

Several women, who said they were from Monroe County, have been collecting from rural homes near Britton.

They offered no identification, had no regular campaign cannisters, merely made notations in note books when given money.

Mrs. Elizabeth Spohr, local chairman, knows of no one authorized to collect here except members of her team. The Lenawee County chairman could cast no light on the situation.

Best bet for you is to make sure you know to whom you're giving. In case of doubt, call Mrs. Spohr.

LEG BRACES AND WHEEL CHAIRS — They don't keep these three sons of Trooper and Mrs. Norman Schoonover from rough-housing when they feel like it. They are about as bumptious as boys can be. Most frequent admonition of Gwen, their mother, is "Now, fellas . . . " and they quiet down. Such a mood is this one pictured at the Michener School in Adrian, where the boys, with their mother as a teaching assistant, attend special education classes from 9 to 2:30 each school day. Douglas, 9, at right, is working on arithmetic problems. "I got 'em all right, too!" he exclaimed. His brother, Alan 11, watches, at left, while Dennis, 7, surveys the scene from his end of the table.

SPECIAL EDUCATION

One Blissfield Family Has 3 Boys in Class

(Editor's note: Duane DeLoach, editor of The Blissfield Advance, tells Herald readers about the family from his town which has three sons, all members of the class for physically handicapped in Lenawee County.)

Physical handicap are the most obvious, because one can see them.

Intellect knows no boundaries, however and such limitations can be licked.

Take the Schoonover boys of Blissfield, for instance.

Alan, 11, Douglas, 9, and Dennis, 7, are the sons of Trooper and Mrs. Norman Schoonover.

When he was very young, Dennis had polio. The other two boys had muscular dystrophy.

They could get around, at first, often with no control, over direction, falling, getting up, and falling again.

Braces help Duane to master his awkward steps, but it was an unequal struggle for Alan and Douglas. They get about mostly in wheel-chairs.

They've kept up with their grades in school. None have dropped behind, because when it became difficult to get up and down steps to attend classes at Blissfield's Central school, they had a visiting teacher.

Now that special education offers classes in a ground floor level classroom at Michener school in Adrian, they go to school there everyday.

Alan Schoonover is in the fifth grade, Douglas is in the fourth, and Dennis in the second grade.

Mrs. Schoonover gets them up at 6 every morning, and by 8:30 they're dressed, had their breakfast, and are on their way to school.

Gwen, their mother, is not only the boys' chauffeur, but she also stays on the job at Michener as a helping teacher in the classroom.

In the room with these three boys with muscular dystrophy are other children with rheumatoid arthritis, two with polio, three asthma, one with a congenital hip dislocation, one with Perthy's disease, a carry-over from a childhood affliction.

In various ways, each is helped to carry on a regular schedule of classroom work.

Sometimes the assistance is temporary, and the child can go back into regular classes elsewhere in school as rapidly as they catch up with their grade level. Sickness or disability, which caused absence from school has set them back.

Mrs. Schoonover is thrilled at the opportunity to work with these boys and girls. She has a real knack for it.

The children go into the gym at noon for a half-hour of exercise with bowling, bean bags, or bows and arrows.

A PORTA LIFT — This is used at the classroom for special education to transfer Douglas Schoonover, 9, from his wheelchair to a classroom seat. He's husky, but muscular dystrophy has deprived him of the use of his legs. "Wish I had one of these," said their mother, "to get the boys in and out of the tub".

TEEN NEWS

By CAMILLA GRIGG and JANE HODGES

World traveler John Shiraef, spoke before the THS assembly Jan. 11.

He described life behind the iron curtain from experiences on his six trips to Russia. Born in Philadelphia, he was educated in Michigan and taught citizenship classes in Detroit prior to his lecturing career.

Mr. Shiraef gave 1,873 lectures from 1947 to 1959. He is a top speaker placed on the International Platform, Association's Who's Who Roster.

Mr. Shiraef said that at the age of 14 or 15 most Russian teenagers(volunteer for the labor corps, at 16 they apply for a passport to live in the USSR, and at 18 all boys volunteer for the army for two years, longer if needed.

On dates, teenagers may go to a dance, cinema, or a soccer football game. More likely the couple will spend the evening playing chess.

Russians feel that to smile without reason is foolish. The Americans smile often and are, therefore foolish.

Among the things a Russian can own are his house but not the land, a cow, two calves, two pigs, his clothes, a horse, bee hives, a one room factory using only his own labor, heavily taxed shoe store, and a bank account.

He must purchase war bonds which are not redeemable. In short a Russian may own anything which is easily movable.

Russian schools are now holding co-educational classes. Students attend school six days a week with three to four hours of study each night. Grade school pupils have 24 classes each week, and high school students have 34 classes a week.

Russia claims to spend $20 billion on education each year, while the US spends only $15½ billion on education. Included in Russia's figure is the printing of all books, magazines, newspapers, radio programs, television program, and educational courses given to soldiers.

"The Cold War," Mr. Shiraef said, "Is being fought in the class rooms. There is always room at the top. To keep America from becoming a second rate power, all students should strive to be scholars."

'What To Do After Preacher Comes' – Gresham

The Rev. Julian Gresham talked to the Rotary Club about "What To Do After the Preacher Comes."

Mr. Gresham is the pastor of the Presbyterian Church and while his approach to the subject was on the light side, there was no question as to the sincerity and earnestness of his message.

The point to all was the importance of including your personal pastor in all phases of your life so that he can best function as a true minister at all times.

Plans for the coming of the concert band of Michigan State University continue to unfold and an effort will be made to interest the many high school band fans in the area.

The appearance is scheduled for March 24.

FFA Projects Show Profits of $6,096

Forty-two Tecumseh high school's Future Farmers of America have just completed a busy year with 89 productive projects.

Instructor Paul Burns thanks the boys' parents for their cooperation in helping the school give the boy's the best possible education in agriculture and related fields by providing actual "practice" projects for them.

An average of 2.1 projects per boy was completed.

On these, the boys' expenses were $17,479. Their credits amounted to $23,575 which gave them a profit of $6,096.

This is an average profit of $145 per boy.

Of the 89 projects, 11 lost money.

Included in the efforts were potatoes, soybean, corn, oats, wheat, gardens, orchard, small fruit, poultry, birds, swine, sheep, stock feeding, dairy, and alfala.

A productive project is a business venture for experience and profit in which the boys have full or part ownership.

In addition to the productive or ownership projects the boys completed 110 improvements projects. This is an average of 2.6 per boy.

An improvement project is one which increases the real-estate value of the farm, the efficiency of the farm business or improves the home family living in some way. The boy has no ownership.

Home examples of improvement projects are landscaping home grounds, roofing a house or barn, tiling a field, or keeping a set of records.

☆

THE BOYS also completed 372 supplementary farm practices an average of nine per boy. The boys have no ownership.

The object is to learn small skills outside of the productive or improvement projects. Some examples are germinating seeds, dehorning an animal, docking sheep, or culling poultry.

There were seven boys placed for work experience on farms and in related occupations.

This part of the program is for city boys interested in related occupations in agriculture as well as for farm boys having limited facilities.

Some local related occupations are working for an implement dealer, feed mill, flower shop, green house or golf course.

What's Going on at Boysville

By LOUIS CIAVONE

The Fighting Knights defeated the Whiteford Bobcats, 46-45, in a fast and explosive game on the Knight's home hardwood on Tuesday.

In the first quarter the Knights captured a lead that saved them.

Boysville hit well and at the end of the first quarter led 16-10.

In the second frame, the determined Bobcats set up a tight press, which slowed the Knights somewhat, but the tricky dribbling of Ken Snooks got the ball past the press each time.

The score at half time was 26-22, in favor of Boysville.

The second half found the Knights not too far ahead of the Bobcats, who were putting up a hard battle to catch up. McGeshick fouled out in the third quarter for the Knights.

The last quarter almost upset the Knights when the Bobcats worked their way up to within one point of Boysville.

The score stood at 44-43 in favor of the Knights when Ken Snooks fouled a Whiteford player with only five seconds to play.

The Bobcat player made both foul shots, putting his team ahead 45-44. The Knights took a time out.

As soon as time was in again, Snooks hurried the ball downcourt to Bill Gager. Gager passed it off quickly to Gerry Klos, who threw it immediately to Snooks, who was near the top of the key.

With but one second remaining, Snooks lofted a soft one-handed shot. Just as the buzzer sounded, the ball swished cleanly through the net, giving the Knights the victory.

Ken Snooks was high-point man for the Knights with 13. Gerry Klos followed with 10, Bill Gager with nine, Rich Michniak with eight and Pete Mata with six.

The Boysville Junior varsity lost to Whiteford, 29-17.

The Juniors Bobcats were ahead, 11-10, at halftime.

In the second half the Knights couldn't keep pace. In the last quarter saw the Bobcats pumped in seven points, while holding the Knights to a single marker.

The big sound at Boysville these days is "OUCH!"

The boys, (180 volunteers), have been getting a new type of injection.

These shots are also being issued to the armed forces to prevent colds and flu. If these shots work, then everyone at Boysville will receive them next year.

The Boysville Biology Club is going to sell guppies on Sunday afternoons to any visitors on campus who would like to buy them.

They are going to be sold for 10¢ each. The purpose of this little project is to raise funds, if possible, for a new aquarium in the biology room to make room for more fish.

MYSTERY FARM

House Is Not Quite Complete

Gus Tiede, is the owner of last week's mystery fram located on Blissfield Hwy.

Mr. Tiede bought the farm in 1923 and married his wife, Edna, in 1929.

They are the parents of four children, Carl, married and living across the road, Mrs. Ronald Maschino of Macon, Wesley in the armed service and Donna, an eighth grader at Britton-Macon school.

Another son, Fred, died five years ago at the age of 13 as a result of a hunting accident.

All the buildings on the farm are new, except for the barn. The house is not quite complete as yet.

Gus was a member of the school board for 21 years in Ridgeway District and is now on the steering committee of the Britton-Macon school board.

He is also on the zoning committee for Ridgeway Township. They are members of North Blissfield Lutheran Church and Mrs. Tiede is secretary of the Band Booster's Club at Britton.

General farming, wheat corn and beans, leghorn chickens and some Holstein dairy cows are their prime interests, farming 285 acres including the 60 acres on this farm.

The farm was first identified by John Martinus of Holloway Rd., who was given two passes to the Strand Theatre.

Mrs. Ernest Gove Is Guild Member

Mrs. Ernest Gove was welcomed to the membership of St. Peter's Guild at the first meeting of the year Jan. 12 .

Arrangements for programs for the coming year were made.

Cookies and tea were served by Mrs. Harry Crosby and Mrs. C. B. Brock.

Forum Brings Together Five Ex-Ag Secretaries During '60 Farmers' Week

Michigan State University's 12,000-seat Jenison Fieldhouse will be the location of a special Farmers' Week forum by five former secretaries of agriculture.

The event is to begin at 1:30 p.m., Wednesday, Feb. 1.

Admission will be free to both a reserved section and a 6,000-seat unreserved section. Tickets for the reserved section, near the speakers stand, can be picked up free by any interested person at his County Extension office.

Seats will be held in the reserved section until 1:15 p.m.

The five secretaries are Henry A. Wallace, Claude R. Wickard, Clinton P. Anderson, Charles F. Brannan and Ezra Taft Benson. In 12-minute talks each, the five will discuss "Agriculture in an Uneasy World." After the talks, a panel of news men will direct questions toward the secretaries.

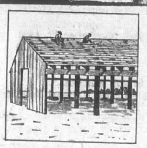
The questions will be on topics raised in the 12-minute talks and also on agricultural topics of special interest to Michigan farmers, says Byron Good, general chairman of Farmers' Week.

Anyone interested in hearing a discussion by one of the five on a particular topic should mail his question to Mr. Good at the Department of Animal Husbandry, Michigan State University.

Part of the questions asked by the panel of newsmen will be based on questions mailed to Good by Jan. 27.

Mr. and Mrs. William Luce, Roy Luce and Fern Luce attended the funeral of Mrs. Dan Mason in Flint Tuesday. Mrs. Mason was a sister-in-law of Roy Luce.

DOLLAR and SENSE FARMING.



MAKE MAJOR FARM IMPROVEMENTS this year if they are in your long range plans. Current situation suggests it may cost you less now than if you wait. Long-term interest rates are somewhat lower than may be expected in the next five years. Also, any pickup in industrial construction and residential housing will force material costs up.

REVIEW FARM PROPERTY INSURANCE COVERAGE THIS WINTER. The mistake most often made by farmers is to adequately insure buildings and overlook the contents. With higher investments in farm machinery, equipment, livestock and other items around the farmstead, you may have more tied up in these than in the buildings. Be sure your personal property as well as buildings are adequately covered. Insure buildings according to their replacement value.

KEEP BABY PIG LOSSES DOWN. About ⅔ of all pig death losses are caused by chilling and being crushed by the sow. During cold weather, make sure you are on hand when sows farrow. Dry pigs off immediately after farrowing and place them under a heat lamp. Make sure they suckle within the first few hours. Use of farrowing crates is a big help in keeping pigs losses to a minimum.

REPLACE DEFECTIVE OR LOW TEMPERATURE TRACTOR THERMOSTATS. Engine temperatures between 165 and 185 degrees give best operating efficiency and lower engine wear. Always be sure to use a permanent type antifreeze with a 165 degree thermostat. Ordinary alcohols will be lost through evaporation at these temperature levels.

Spaghetti Meal Will Be Feb. 1

Mrs. John Pollock is general chairman for the fifth annual St. Elizabeth's Altar Society Spaghetti Dinner Wednesday, Feb. 1.

She will be assisted by Mrs. Elmer Spreeman as co-chairman. Mrs. Eugene Rebottaro again is in charge of the spaghetti and sauce.

"Tickets will be available at the door and the public is cordially invited," said T. J. Wagner publicity chairman.

Residents may be interested in the huge recipe used by Mrs. Rebottaro to make the sauce for this succulent meal.

She uses:
200 lbs. ground beef
80 cans of tomatoes
40 cans or more of mushrooms
80 cans of tomato paste
30 lbs. of onions
12 lbs. of grated imported cheese.

Of course she has her own blend of spices, but it is promised that if any sauce is left over it will be sold on a first come, first served basis.

Cole slaw will be served and homemade angel food cakes for dessert.

Mrs. Elmer Spreeman will have charge of the cake making committee and Mrs. James Wallace, the cole slaw.

Since 400 half pints of milk was not enough last year, 600 have been ordered for this year's event, also 116 dozen hard rolls.

VOICE of THE HERALD

New Buildings Good Sign

Two announcements, which we feel are of great importance to this city, were made last week.

Tecumseh is getting a modern post office and a brand new library.

Both structures are badly needed.

Each helps add to the philosophy that we have long felt, "Tecumseh is a city on the move—forward."

At present, the general economy in town has hit a "soft spot", as the experts call it. To the fellow whose entire worth is involved, it may seem like a mighty "hard spot." But technically, it's a dip in buying.

But this is a temporary thing, which should right itself before many months of 1961 have passed.

The items which are positive and heartening to us are such reports as the new structures.

Buildings of this nature are b e g u n only in communities where there is a bright future.

As you can likely guess, we were pleased to see folks at last week's Foundation gathering in Union Hall underline the decision of the Trustees to bring our city a much-improved and larger library.

Many reasons brought about the plan:

1. The library is needed.

2. It is a cultural part of our lives, affecting all age groups.

3. Our school children made excellent use of these facilities.

4. The present building is badly outgrown.

5. There is income to operate a library (nearly $24,000 annually).

6. A library board, librarian and personnel to operate this service are already functioning.

So, the selection was relatively simple.

As to the post office, there is only one sad note to consider, the loss of many stately trees in Adams Park, site of the building. (Note picture below).

However, as The Herald story pointed out last week in the post office announcement story, "An inspection trip through it (the park) indicates that a great percentage (of the trees) are in extremely poor condition."

Thus, many would have come down anyway.

The accompanying photo looks north along the Maumee St. sidewalk. To the left will be the public parking area, adjacent to the post office. Driveways will be cut through the parkway at right, between sidewalk and Maumee.

Cal Zorn, city engineer, points out that as many trees as possible will be saved when construction begins.

Our Readers Write

TO THE EDITORS:

I am not directly involved in this issue, but my wife is. Regarding parking meters around Morris Garage.

(Editor's note: This two-car, cement block garage is located behind the Harry Morris home at 114 W. Logan St. and faces onto a city-owned off-street parking lot. The garage was constructed 15 years ago.)

It has never been for us to fight law and order, but to put a parking meter or leasing land o get into his own garage is quite an idea.

This garage was approved years ago, long before the pepole who voted on this isse. It seems to met that a man should not be punished for a new idea.

The cost will be $8 per month, that is about $100 a year. This is in addition to the taxes already paid.

This garage was built in good faith, and according to the word and the code, etc. of Tecumseh at that time.

I might add the elected and approved officials of Tecumseh gave no hint or no word about blocking this garage off.

On top of this the land paid for cannot be used just to get in the garage. We have been told not to park there. There are parking meters in front, so to have friends come, they must pay a nickel.

We just wanted to write this hoping some day Tecumseh will become a big city. Thanking all the council for the consideration they have given this, and who has only ever cooperated with the city of Tecumseh, such as improving his property, paying his taxes, and being an honest upright citizen.

Mr. and Mrs. James M. Parker
(formerly Margaret M. Morris)

TO THE EDITORS:

It is time, for me to write this letter. I feel like shouting "Tecumseh, wake up!". Here is my town way behind the times! To what do I refer?

Yesterday, I sat in on a conference session in Ann Arbor where s c h o o l administrators members of boards of education and interested people from all over Michigan were putting their heads together to strengthen the place of music within the public schools.

I fervently wished that just one of our administrators or board members had been there to hear Walter Reuil, vice-president of the Flint Board of Education, speak on, "The Importance of Music in Education Today" and heard the exchange of ideas.

These schools have had their financial problems too, somehow, they don't eliminate music from the curriculum!

As was also brought out, it should not be music rather than athletics, f o r example; art, music, physical education, and drama should all be included in the total educational program. If any cutting must be done, it should be done proportionately in all areas.

Vocal music, drama and art already have been cut down in Tecumseh and it disturbs me greatly to read of the great "savings" we would have by eliminating further. I feel certain the University of Michigan survey will show a lack in these areas as well as in present facilities and scheduling.

☆

AS A PERSON trained in child development, I am concerned about the children and youth we are developing in Tecumseh. As a lover of the arts, I am concerned with the wealth of knowledge and experience our children will miss if this part of their education is cut out.

I write mainly on behalf of the arts, for, so far, Tecumseh seems quite athletic-minded!

Why is education in the arts so important? We are not all cast from the same mold! Our children are not all going to be scientists or mathemeticians despite Russia's Sputnik. Each one is different, even as you and I.

They are entitled to an all-around education, to "try their wings" at various things while they are young.

One of our daughters, at the tender age of five, already shows artistic tendencies. Is this consuming desire to draw not going to be encouraged and developed during school hours? There's not much time left after a child gets home from school.

Our other daughter is so musical, she sings most of the day. When she's ready for school, is she not going to find any music there?

I, myself, was at a loss when I went to music school because my previous 12 years of schooling did not adequately prepare me.

☆

JUST AS IN reading or arithmetic, you must get your fundamentals in the grades—and build on these throughout the remaining school years. The classroom teacher is very seldom skilled or trained in these special areas, even if she had the time.

This is an age of specialists. The time to develop talent, abilities, and interests, is in the early years by people who know how!

And what of the child without any apparent talent? Expose him to sounds and to colors—for appreciation of the beautiful is important in our lives, even if we, ourselves, are not the artists.

Thousands of people in Hill Auditorium in Ann Arbor Friday night saw and heard what young people, barely out of high school, can do with voice and instrument.

It was a tremendously uplifting experience which we all need from time to time, but a certain amount of, in this case, musical education, needs to precede this, to make it the most valuable experience both to participant and listener.

☆

MOST OF US have within us the potential for some form of the arts—with the necessary background, this can be developed.

Education in the arts also influence outside interests and how leisure time is spent. In a choral group, band, or play production staff, teamwork is as necessary as on the football field, so there are other learnings which also take place.

Just as Tecumseh has a Master Plan for the city of the future, you parents grandparents, and residents of this community must plan NOW for the kind of educated person you want your grown boy or girl to be.

Action must be now—whether it be voting "YES" to the badly needed millage this spring — whether it be letting the school board and administrators know how you feel!

Dr. James Conant, who has done so much research in public education, says, "Your schools can be exactly what you and your community want them to be".

So, stand up and be counted!

TO THE EDITORS:

I see by the paper where the Superintendent of Schools is creating his annual "Cash Crisis" in the Tecumseh school system, and pointing out the possibility of half day sessions in the lower grades as a way to save money.

All this has a familiar ring. Last year he threatened to cut out bus service, curtail the school lunch program, and cancel all music and gymnasium instruction among other things.

These, of course are the levers he is using to get the district to raise the tax rate. And it is the old familiar method of threatening service cuts in the places where they are most noticeable to the public.

It doesn't seem as if the crisis last year could have been too bad though, as he gave all the teachers an average $300 a year raise, making this one of the highest paid systems in this area. And I note that he is getting ready to give them another this year.

I note also that he still has after school supervision of the junior high gyms, which costs $2 an hour for two or three people and would seem to be definitely a luxury.

There is in public affairs a well-known maxim, that an administrator can outlive his usefullness, and should be replaced after a certain number of years. The presidency of the United States is limited to two terms. Many states and municipalities vary the length of time an official can serve.

It would seem that this would be a reasonable method of procedure for a school district also.

And as the present administrator has been here too long, I suggest that it is time for a change.

This could be of benefit to everyone. Able executives are always in demand, and there always seem to be plenty of applicants for any vacancy.

TOM RIORDAN'S Long AND Short

If you read the sports pages much, you've probably come to the conclusion that Hillsdale College has built quite a football victory tradition.

Constant success has been sweet and heady heady stuff for Hillsdale students and alumni.

But it has also brought a bitter cup.

The wine for this was crushed from genuine sour grapes.

It seems tragic that a thing like this can happen in the world of higher education.

As Hillsdale's gridiron glories flowered, some of the schools in their league—the Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association—began to murmur against the Dales.

It was sadly reminiscent of the era when major league baseball mogues were yelping "Break Up the Yankees," because they were constant victors.

Some of the MIAA presidents put their heads together and in essence started an attempt to "Break Up the Dales."

They leveled charges that Hillsdale was vigorously and illegally recruiting talent, that certain persons were slipping the athletes cash under the table.

They even said Hillsdale didn't flunk enough football players.

They ended up by all but tossing the Dales from the MIAA, of which the school had been a member since its founding 72 years ago.

After official censure was handed out, Hillsdale quite the MIAA, reasoning that to stay and accept a probation was to admit guilt, which the school vigorously denies.

What the anti-Hillsdale clique didn't do was try to learn why Hillsdale reached the status of a glowing star in the heavens of small college athletics.

☆

TWO HILLSDALE College representatives were in town a week ago, at the invitation of the local Rotary Club, to give their school's side of the picture.

Hillsdale President Dr. Don Phillips said that, in the first place, Hillsdale does not seek athletes with promises of free rides.

All the school may offer is a tuition grant the same it gives to talented chemistry scholars or music students. Jobs are found for those who cannot meet the other expenses — and this includes most Hillsdale football players.

Athletic director and football coach, Frank "Muddy" Waters, who accompanied Dr. Phillips, told the Rotarians that nine out of 10 gridders arriving on the Hillsdale campus come as the result of hearing friends tell how much fun it is to play for Hillsdale.

"We try to build a spirit at Hillsdale," the coach said, "Making it an honor to wear the uniform, whether it be for practice or a game."

The boys who come to play do just that. In seven of nine games last fall, every man on the team saw action for goodly portions of the frays.

Academic abilities of athletes are considered right from the start. If the faculty admissions committee says "no" to a prospective student, because his high

Store Owner Dies Sunday

A heart attack Sunday claimed the life of James T. Osborne, one of Tecumseh's leading merchants and owner and operator with his wife of Osborne's Department Store.

Sudden death occurred shortly after 2:30 Sunday afternoon while he was with his dog in his yard at 4061 Aebersold Rd., just north of Tecumseh.

He was 65 years old, had been semi-retired the past few months, turning most of the operations of the store over to his wife.

JAMES T. OSBORNE

Services were held here Wednesday afternoon at the Collins-Corkery Funeral Home with the Rev. B. O. Bashore officiating. Burial was in Brookside cemetery.

Mr. Osborne came to Tecumseh in 1934 and worked at Tecumseh Products Co. He later operated a service station and the Tecumseh Poolroom.

He started Osborne's Dept. Store in 1949 and twice expanded its operations, the last expansion occurred just last year, making it the largest department store in Tecumseh.

He had increased the store's size by four times over the original size.

Tecumseh merchants in his honor closed their shops Wednesday afternoon during the service.

Born in Hillsdale, May 1, 1895, Mr. Osborne was the son of Willis and Ella Osborne.

Survivors are, the widow, Dorothy; two sons, James and Kenneth, both of Hillsdale; daughter, Mrs. Margaret Hall, Quincy; brother, George, of Allen; and six grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

County Convention Called 'One of Best'

A vigorous, new Republican Party is on the move in Lenawee County.

At last week's convention — attended by 200 and called the biggest in history—the re-shaped organization rolled smoothly.

Delegates and alternates to the Feb. 3 and 4 GOP state convention were elected. Included were delegates Del King and Wayne Reginall, representing the city and township of Tecumseh. Alternates are Mrs. Yale Kirby and Mrs. Royal Welch.

The group also approved six resolutions.

One of these, a commendation for Senator Elmer Porter and Representative Rollo Conlin for their work in the State Legislature, had an amendment added to it.

The tag-on comment: they should not work for a personal income tax.

When the delegates voted on a Con-Con resolution—promising to support it—the first count was a tie. A second was taken and the idea narrowly was OKed, 51-46.

Another resolution urged that labor unions be required to file financial statements annually.

☆

IN A significant vote by delegates to the state session in caucus, Bill Reid of Adrian was named to the state central committee.

This ballot, for all intent and purpose, ended control of the county GOP by John Keller, long-time chairman.

Mr. Keller's choice for the job, Charles Figy, was beaten in a secret vote, 11-7.

Two weeks prior to the county meeting, Mr. Keller stepped down as chairman in favor of Howard Faust of Adrian. The move was probably prompted by an organized effort from Republicans in all parts of the county to "beef up" leadership, which has been under attack since the election.

Tecumseh was named as the site for a Lincoln Day banquet and local chairman Charlie Trickey selected to head up the committee.

So it is with Bob Walter, who for the past two and one-half years has resided at 9103 N. Union St.

Bob was awarded his bachelor's degree in chemical engineering from the University of Michigan on Jan. 21.

He has accepted a position with Hooker Chemical Corp. of Niagara Falls, N. Y.

Bob and his wife, Janis, and their three sons will move there Sunday.

While living here, Mr. Walter worked as an orderly at Herrick Memorial Hospital as well as commuting to classes.

Film Highlights St. Louis Session for Girl Scouters

Forty-one attended the recent neighborhood meeting of Girl Scouts at the cabin to complete plans for the cookie sale.

Mrs. Julius Vincz, Mrs. Gordon Goldsberry and Mrs. Herbert Lavendar attended the annual board meeting of the Irish Hills Council at the First Congregational Church in Jackson.

Mrs. Don Creger was unable to go with the delegates, due to the illness of her daughter.

Following a potluck dinner a film, showing the highlights of the national convention held in October in St. Louis, Mo., was shown.

A phone call from Lady Baden Powell was featured in the film.

Herald readers may be interested in the fact that the Tecumseh Neighborhood of Girl Scouts is by far the largest in the Irish Hills Council with 27 troops.

Most groups have an average of 10 troops.

Pheasant Doctor

Editor's note: It is illegal to keep wild game, according to the Conservation Department, unless the bird or animal is injured. However, as soon as it regains full health, the animal or bird must be released into its natural habitat. The Robert Hunts have notified Lenawee County Conservation Officer John Boudreau about the pheasant for which they are now caring.

This is the story of a 14-year-old farm girl who nursed a bad-by-injured pheasant back to health.

Shirley Hunt, a freshman at Tecumseh High School, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hunt, who resides on Murphy Hwy.

Last Tuesday Shirley, who missed classes to care for her little brother, was gazing out the window of the family farm when a truck stopped 200 yards down the road.

She saw the driver get out, search around for a few moments, then climb back into the vehicle and motor on.

Shirley continued to watch and thought she spied a cat along the edge of the road, probably dropped there by the man.

Getting on her bicycle, she rode to the object.

It turned out to be full-grown hen pheasant, sitting half-conscious with a badly bruised neck, apparently struck by the truck.

Shirley reached out and gently picked up the bird. It offered no resistence.

Peddling back to the house, she made a bed in the kitchen for the injured bird. Shirley cleaned out the gravel in the wound and applied cold compresses to the hen's head to reduce the swelling.

Around the dinner table that night the family agreed that by morning, if the pheasant fully recovered, it would struggle to get back to the fields.

Instead, the next day the bird calmly got up and started to follow Shirley about the house.

At first the hen wouldn't eat or drink, but after a few days started accepting damp soy beans from Shirley's hand.

The pheasant is almost well now and will soon be released by the family.

Mr. Hunt is going to fashion a little nest in one of his fields and sprinkle soy beans about.

It's a sure bet that the Hunts will miss their house guest of the past 10 days.

Probably, Missey Phea will soon be yearning again for the life of a pet.

"MISSEY PHEA," AS SHIRLEY CALLS BIRD, STARES OUT AT BITTER COLD

She's Among Nation's Best

Helen Miller of Tecumseh High School has been recognized as one of the nation's outstanding students of high school English.

The National Council of Teachers of English named her a 1960 national winner in its annual Achievement Awards competition.

Last spring a committee of English teachers from the high school nominated Miss Miller to represent Tecumseh High School in the competition.

Two tests, three pieces of composition, and two supporting letters from high school personnel were the bases used by a committee of state judges for evaluating nominees.

Although students receive no direct cash award, finalists previously cited by the Council have often received preference in admission and financial grants from colleges of their choice.

This is on the grounds that excellence in English is one of the hallmarks of a potentially capable college student.

The NCTE sends to all winners and runners-up scrolls of recognition, to their high school departments certificates of merit for their effective instructional programs.

All colleges and universities in the country receive the list of achieving students with the recommendation that they will be considered for appropriate scholarships.

HELEN MILLER

The Council also sends the names of these students to their respective congressman and governors.

John Babcock, Mrs. Louise Patterson, Mrs. Mervyn Boltz and Mrs. Wyman Service have been Helen's English instructors at Tecumseh High School.

Principal Neville Hart said, in referring to NCTE findings that awards winners tend to come from superior English departments as well as from intellectually stimulating homes.

Helen's mother is Mrs. Jean Miller of 408 Outer Drive Tecumseh. Mrs. Miller is an elementary teacher at the Herrick Park school.

The National Council of Teachers of English has 63,000 members and subscribers among English teachers from elementary grades through college.

MUSIC WEEK

Violinist, Organist Perform

Members of the Tecumseh Music Club expressed interest in the "Music Week" idea as proposed by The Herald.

On Tuesday of that week, March 21, for its regular monthly meeting the club will present Mrs. Donald Bush of Tecumseh, organist, and Mrs. John Thorpe, of Jackson, violinist.

The club is inviting guests to share in this event, which will be held in the Methodist Church.

Mrs. Bush will offer selections which demonstrate the versitility of the pipe organ. Mrs. Thorpe, who is studying music at the University of Michigan, will play selections she is preparing for her graduate recital.

"Tecumseh Music Club members are delighted to lend their support to a week of outstanding musical events, such as the one being planned," states Mrs. Fred Oberlin, president of the club.

LONG & SHORT

school grades have been low, that's it. He doesn't get in, no matter how well he can run, kick or pass.

(This is brought close to home. A former Tecumseh all-state player applied. He was turned down for poor marks. Later the lad was admitted to another school in the state.)

Coach Waters follows an unique pattern once a football player is accepted at Hillsdale. He checks regularly with instructors of all his charges every month to make sure the fellows maintain pace with their classmates.

When one is doing poorly, he will get a hot needle from "Muddy."

The system pays off. As a group, Hillsdale athletes carry a B- all-college average.

There are few failures in the classroom—and few failures on the field of play in crutial game situations.

Does this whole system start to add up in your mind . . . careful screening from the beginning . . . if a kid is dumb in class, he'll be dumb in learning football.

The spirit angle is the capping factor.

Again, we fall back on the baseball comparison, the Spirit of the Yankees. Wearing that pinstrip uniform does something for a fellow. It's the same at Hillsdale.

So it's no wonder that Hillsdale has earned such a tremendous record in football—and Coach Waters hasn't been using mirrors or someone's bankroll, just top-flight tutoring with boys who want to do their very best for the team.

Why knock a school for this?

Central Agent Lives in Adrian

James E. Keen has been appointed Tecumseh and Lenawee County general agent for the American Hospital-Benefit and the American Community Mutual Life Insurance Co.

Keen joined the American companion companies in 1959 as a special representative in the Jackson area. He will headquarter at 118 N. Winter St. in Adrian.

The engagement of Doris Lee Smith to Norman D. Scott is being announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Smith of rural Tecumseh. Mr. Scott is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Scott of 419 W. Cummins St. No date for the wedding has been planned.

Jan Felton Surprised by Friends

Jan Felton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Felton, was pleasantly surprised Saturday afternoon when 20 of her classmates came to help celebrate her eighth birthday.

Since Jan was away when the guests began to arrive, her sister, Pamela, greeted them at the door.

The afternoon was spent in showing movies.

The basement was decorated with "Happy Birthday" streamers and balloons.

Refreshments of ice cream and a cake topped with a birthday angel made by Jan's aunt, Mrs. Carl Wilson of Deerfield, were served.

Cup cakes decorated with candles and sugar clowns and cinderella slippers for the girls and palamino horses for the boys were placed at each setting.

Cathy Wilson, cousin of the honored guest, was among the guests.

Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Duane Billmyer assisted Mrs. Felton.

Booklet Helps Plan Crop System

Crops and soils scientists at Michigan State University have worked out some standards to use in planning crop systems for Michigan farms.

Since different soils and regions are more adaptable to some crops than others, there is some real value in planning land use for maximum crop production.

The lowland loans of southern Michigan for example will commonly grow 100 bushels of corn per acre while a standard for the sandy soils of the northern part of the state will be only about 35 bushels.

The grouping of soil types can set some practical standards for average crop yields as well as for making general fertilizer recommendations.

The listing of the common soil groups in Michigan is published in Extension Bulletin 159, "Fertilizer Recommendations for Michigan Crops" available from all county extension offices.

Using the estimated standards, the MSU specialists point out that 100-bushel corn land in southern Michigan can be expected to yield about 3.7 tons of alfalfa, 45 bushels of wheat or 35 bushels of soybeans per acre.

Fifty bushel corn land in the same area will produce on the average of 2.2 tons of alfalfa, 29 bushels of wheat or 40 bushels of oats.

Junior Musicians Compete

Now is the time for music students, music teachers and music club presidents to prepare for the Junior Music Festival.

The Junior Division of the National Federation of Music Clubs will sponsor again this year, junior music festivals throughout the United States.

These festival contests are designed for both the exceptionally talented performer and for the average music student who seriously applies himself.

Festival entrants do not compete against each other but rather, each is rated on his own merits or degree of accomplishment.

This year's Michigan South-Central District Festival will take place on Saturday, March 25, in the Music Auditorium on the campus of Michigan State University.

To be eligible for entry in this festival, in the main, a student must be not more than 18 years of age and be affiliated with an Active Junior Music Club or become a Junior Special Member of the Federation.

Contestants in the Festival may enter in solo events or in ensemble in one or more of such catagories as piano, instrumental, dance, voice, composition and musicianship.

For further details, music teachers and Junior Club presidents are invited to write for the Junior Festival Bulletin and Application blanks from Mrs. Constance Tanner Eaton Rapids, Michigan.

Webster says in his dictionary that a family is "a body of persons descended from a common ancestor." This is true, but only touches on the real meaning of family for most of us.

His definition doesn't mention the love and happiness, loyalty, trust and security found in "these bodies of people."

Nor does he go into the wealth of pleasant memories that are stored up for future reminiscing when families get together for just such a happy time as the Lee Purkey descendants had Saturday evening.

The family of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Purkey delightfully surprised their parents Saturday evening when they gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Williamson for the celebration of the 38th wedding anniversary of their parents.

The Purkeys with Mr. and Mrs. James Purkey and Mark of Reed City, who were here for the weekend were invited to the Williamsons for dinner.

Shortly before the meal was served, two doors popped open simultaneously and in trooped the other 16 grandchildren with their moms and dads.

The families of Don, Richard and Robert Purkey and Bill Tilton were all present.

New Look for Tecumseh in Future

By JIM SMITH

In past weeks, we have shown locations of future neighborhoods and parks and recreation areas for Tecumseh.

Now, discussing the downtown development portion of the Master Plan for Tecumseh, we make recommendations about the heart of the City.

These recommendations and the Master Plan are a flexible guide or outline of a process with which we may control our welfare, maintain standards and otherwise make decisions that will assure good physical, social and economic growth of an orderly city. We expect the Plan to present the ideals and most ambitious aims of people who have the vision of human welfare, inspiration and the spiritual force to guide their own destiny.

The Plan should always present the pleasant balance of practical solution and aesthetic effort applied in an orderly way that will set standards for the future City.

☆

TO DEMONSTRATE this balance, the downtown development part of the Master Plan is based first, for practical economy, on the need to make continuing use of the existing facilities, and second, on the aesthetic desire to mold these facilities into an ideal, attractive environment for people.

(Again, population assumed at 25,000 to 30,000 in approximately 30 years for this plan would insure a community with the flavor and the small city character consistant with the history and nature of Tecumseh.)

The Plan shows commercial buildings between Pearl St. on the west and Maumee St. on the east.

The north and south boundaries of this commercial area are Logan and Pottawatamie Sts. Some of these commercial buildings are smaller shops and custom shops that would evolve from use of residences in this same area for ... type commercial activity.

Part of the northeast block of the area is reserved for development of city buildings.

☆

IN ADDITION, the Master Plan shows the area north of Logan, between Evans and Maumee, used for a library, civic center and other public buildings. This park-like civic area extends north and west to the school properties.

This location is ideal for use by the whole general public (which is as it should be) and also puts these facilities close to the schools for efficient use in their education program.

The periferry of the commercial area is parking space for both commercial and public or civic center use. This is efficient double-use of parking facilities, both night and day, and is a logical extension of the present off-street parking program.

The streets in this area, except Logan, would be limited to pedestrain traffic and would remain public space to become part of the parktype development.

Conversion of Logan and Pottawatamie to one-way trunklines will allow Chicago Blvd., between Pearl and Maumee, to be reserved for pedestrians.

This part of Chicago Blvd. could be developed as an arcade or mall and "air rights" buildings built above it. The walks would be covered and the area landscaped.

Second floors could be used for sales areas and pedestrian bridges over the mall would connect the buildings.

☆

DEVELOPMENT of the commercial center should be confined to the area shown until the presently obsolete buildings here are replaced. This eight-block area represents the maximum area needed for a complete shopping center and the entire development is located within an easy to walk 500 foot radius.

Commercial development should not take place outside this area until all activities not contributing to the commercial exchange are moved from this area and we are using the available space 100% instead of at the amazingly poor 50% use it is getting now.

The intent of this plan is to draw together amenities, commerce, community center, churches, schools and parks into a heart for the city and exclude activities which can perform their functions as well in other locations.

The several churches in the downtown should be encouraged and assisted in increasing their property and parking facilities. They are an important part of a good community center.

Finally, in the first tier of blocks around the area are indicated multiple dwellings, garden apartments and duplexes for higher density population within walking distance of Downtown.

Pick Name for Fair

"Patterson Easter Festival" is the name chosen by committee members for the Patterson School Fair.

At a recent meeting the group decided to feature an Easter basket walk at the annual event to be held March 25, from 12 noon to 5 p.m.

Prizes will be awarded to Patterson students for the best posters and the most tickets sold. There will also be door prizes.

Brookside To Have Catholic Section

A portion of Tecumseh's Brookside Cemetery is being set aside for use by members of St. Elizabeth's Roman Catholic parish.

The Cemetery Board approves the plan at its last meeting, explains Mel Partridge, chairman.

The area, known as Section 4, contains room for 150 lots or 820 graves and is on the extreme north end of the cemetery.

Mr. Partridge states that an interested Catholic man plans to beautify the approach and have an arch constructed at the north gate.

According to regulations of the Catholic Church, her members may be buried only in cemeteries or portions of cemeteries specifically consecrated by the Church.

Until now, for Tecumseh area Catholics, this has been a part of the Lenawee Hills Memorial Gardens at Billington's Corners.

Mr. Partridge says that Brookside still has eight unused sections, a total of 627 unsold lots with room for 3,135 graves.

Vagrant Is Given Term

Paul Hendricks, 48, was arrested by Tecumseh police for vagrancy last week.

He pleaded guilty before Justice Ernest H. Oliver and was ordered to pay $25 and $4.90 costs and spend 30 days in the county jail.

If the fine and costs are not paid he will serve an additional 30 days.

Mrs. Patterson Is Given Leave

Mrs. Louise Patterson, who has taught French, Spanish and English at Tecumseh High School for the past four years, has been granted a leave of absence for the second semester.

Her classes are being taught by Mrs. Edward C. Boss, Mrs. Leslie Calhoun and the Rev. Paul Frederick of Tipton.

In Same Family Over 129 Years

Lyle Whelan of 3450 Whelan Rd. in Tipton is the owner of last week's mystery farm, which has been in the family 129 years. In addition he farms 80 more in partnership with his son, Wesley.

Wesley lives in the big house on the same farm with his wife and three children.

In 1832, Lyle's great-great grandfather, John Whelan, came to Michigan from New York state and decided upon a section of land on what is known as Wall Street.

Starting out by foot for Monroe, to record his land, he came upon a stream, which is on the present farm. He changed his mind about the original site and chose this section of land.

John joined his family, consisting of his wife and two-year-old child, and brought them here in early 1833.

They crossed Canada by team to Detroit and then on to Tipton, where another child was born soon after Mrs. Whelan's arrival here.

John had a saw mill with the stream furnishing the power for the operation and soon a grist mill was built further up the same stream.

Eventually, John's brothers and sisters came west with their aged mother and all settled in Lenawee County except one, who went to Charlotte.

At present, the family is milking about 50 Holstein cattle and have a number of young head of cattle. They have built a milking parlor and specialize in dairying.

Lyle is a member of the Tipton Township Board, chairman of Onsted Local of North Western Co-operative Association and Wesley is director of Lenawee County Dairy Herd Improvement Association.

They are also members of the Community Church in Tipton, the Grange at Tipton and the Farm Bureau.

The farm was identified by Lois Kahle of Tecumseh, who won two passes to the Strand Theatre.

GERALD JANOUSEK

Special to The Herald

NEW YORK — Mr. and Mrs. Gerald J. Janousek, formerly of Tecumseh, were among 67 persons commissioned for Methodist missionary service at home and overseas Friday at Buck Hill Falls, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. Janousek will go to Liberia, he to do educational work and she to be a missionary nurse.

The commissioning service was the climax of the annual meeting of the Methodist Board of Missions and was attended by about 600 persons.

The new missionaries and deaconeses were commissioned by Bishop Richard C. Raines of Indianapolis, Ind., board president.

They will serve in the United States, Puerto Rico and almost 40 countires of Africa, Asia, and North and South America.

They will do a variety of jobs including nursing, teaching from kindergarten through college levels, agricultural demonstration work, medicine, business administration, social work, occupational therapy, Christian education, library science, dentistry and church development.

Born in East Grand Rapids, Mich., Mr. Janousek attended Olivet College and was graduated with a bachelor of arts degree in sociology.

For the last two years, he taught science in the Tecumseh Junior High School.

Previously he had been a camp director and boys work secretary for the Young Men's Christian Association in Bay City, youth director of the Adrian YMCA and assistant boys' work secretary of the Hannan YMCA in Detroit.

A native of Boyne City, Mrs. Janousek attended Central Michigan College in Mount Pleasant and the Butterworth Hospital School of Nursing.

She has had various types of nursing experience, including hospital nursing in Tecumseh and Adrian and office nursing for a physician.

Mr. and Mrs. Janousek are members of the Tecumseh Methodist Church and have two daughters.

Paging Xavier Cugat

"Our Neighbors from South America" were portrayed by the Cub Scouts from Pack 73 Jan. 18 at the Products Union Hall.

Flag bearers and color guards were Barry Carney, Billy Fielder, Christopher Finnegan and Larry Cote, Jr.

The "Arena" was filled with excitement as Mrs. Elroy Finnegan's Cubs from Den 5, complete with "matador", bulls and "picadors" on horseback, exhibited quite a bullfight.

"Gaucho's" from Mrs. Milton Meyers' Den 4 gave an informative geographical skit on the South American countries.

To the accompaniement of a three-piece "Combo", (a surprising likeness to that of Xaviar Cugat), Mrs. Kennard Wise Den 16 demonstrated games and sports of South America.

TO THE EDITORS:

I am writing to you about the parking meters in our little City of Tecumseh. I feel that the doctors who have served this community so faithful, should at least have a place to park in front of their own office and that is the least the City of Tecumseh can do in appreciation of their service to us. Thank you.

TO THE EDITORS:

What a wonderful pleasure it was for us to have as guest in our home 2/Lt. and Mrs. James Stutesman from Tecumseh.

They were enroute to Brooklyn, N.Y. to board ship Wednesday, Jan. 18, for the Panama Canal zone, where he has been assigned.

They arrived Sunday evening, Jan. 15, in all the sleet and left Tuesday morning, Jan. 17, on a nice spring day.

Your truly,
Mr. and Mrs. G. Williams

TO THE EDITORS:

Today's edition of your fine newspaper carries a story about Kuhlman Cement Co. I would like to bring to your attention that ours is a concrete business and not a cement business. Let me explain the difference.

Cement is made by intergrinding proportions of alumina, silica and lime. This mixture is burned until it approaches fusion.

A small amount (5%) of gypsum is added to this clinker which is then pulverized. The result, a gray powder as fine as face powder, is known as Portland cement.

It is called Portland cement because the powder is very similar in color to the limstone deposits found on the Isle of Portland, off the coast of England.

There are two cement producing companies in our area. They are the General Portland Cement Co. at Cement City, and the new Dundee Cement Co. at Dundee.

Concrete, on the other hand, is a plastic mix containing proportions of Portland cement, water, sand and gravel or stone. This combination of materials is mixed and delivered in transit mix trucks.

Driveways, sidewalks, basement floors, highways and bridges are made with this substance, concrete. Cement is but one of the ingredients of concrete.

Although it may not be of the utmost importance to you, it is so that the sidewalk in front of your house is a concrete sidewalk.

Yours truly,

KUHLMAN CONCRETE, INC.

Scout Cabin Seeks New Motor

Warren Filter explained the need for a new motor for the furnace to 15 members of the Tecumseh Scout Cabin Association Monday evening.

He attended the meeting of the Tecumseh Community Fund Foundation to request the extra funds for the Association.

Mrs. Donald Creger presided at the meeting and read a note from Neil DePuy, treasurer.

Mrs. Merrill Murphy read the cabin schedule.

Russell Cheever, Richard Witt and Don Creger volunteered to repair the ceiling and also to hang the blackboard.

Mrs. Creger appointed Mrs. Merrill Murphy, Mrs. Stanley Miller, Gerald Creger, Mr. Cheever, Mr. Witt, Mr. Filter and Elray Finnegan to the improvement committee. The committee will meet in March.

Mr. Filter was appointed to buy keys. Mr. Creger and Mr. Finnegan offered to provide wood for the fireplace.

Mr. Filter offered to care for the trash and garbage.

Mr. Murphy was appointed to keep the cabin supplied with cleaning equipment.

Mrs. Creger appointed Lowell Wise, Russell Cheever, Mrs. Edwin Bunge and Mrs. Edward Turk as nominating committee.

Merton Boss will check the roof for leaks and report his findings at the April meeting.

Blower Motor Starts Blaze

The fire department answered an alarm Monday evening at 5:10 p.m. at the home of Betty Feldkamp, 705 N. Union St.

The motor on the furnace blower started a blaze that caused about $25 damage.

New Officers Installed by Little Garden Club

Twenty-two members and one guest, Mrs. Richard Hammel witnessed the installation of the Little Garden Club's new officers Jan. 17 at the home of Mrs. Thomas Corkery.

Retiring president, Mrs. Donald Ketteman, symbolized the group to an iris and mum arrangement.

In her explanation the mums, making up the body of the arrangement, were the members, while the iris were the officers.

She ended by saying both were needed to make a good arrangement. It is hoped that it will become a traditional ceremony.

☆

THE NEW officers then took charge were:

President — Mrs. William Schroer

Vice-president — Mrs. Robert Murray

Secretary — Mrs. Carlton Cook

Treasurer—Mrs. Glenn Kohler

Membership Secretary — Mrs. William Macbeth

Mrs. Schroer announced the following committees for:

Program — Mrs. Robert Murray, chairman; Mrs. Donald Purkel, Mrs. Thomas Corkery, Mrs. Judson Miles, Mrs. Robert Bowers and Mrs. Douglas Dunn.

Press—Mrs. Paul Burns

Constitution—Mrs. Harry Richard, chairman; and Mrs. Vern Manwaring.

Exhibit — Mrs. Earl Baldwin, chairman; Mrs. Orrie Gilbert, Mrs. Richard Colson and Mrs. Fred Randall.

Civic—Mrs. Stanley Cook and Mrs. Byron Goodman.

☆

TWO NEW committees were formed. The Ways and Means with Mrs. D. Ketteman in charge and Landscape Design with Mrs. Carlton Cook.

The main objective for the year is more membership participation.

With this objective in mind, Mrs. Carlton Cook, who has taken landscape design work at Ann Arbor, ably presented the program on landscape design. She illustrated her talk with colored slides.

Another phase of this work will make up the program next month when Jim Smith, architect, will talk on civic planning.

The meeting will be Feb. 21 at Dr. and Mrs. Carlton Cook's home. Member's husbands will be invited guests.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Richard Colson and Mrs. Paul Burns.

The iris were bestowed by Mrs. Corkery to the old and new officers and the mums to the members as they left.

Ski Resort Looks Like Fairyland

Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Moore and their four children with Dr. and Mrs. Robert Bower enjoyed 10-day skiing vacation at Crystal Mountain Resort near Beulah, Mich. recently.

This new development is a wonderful place for families, located about 30 miles south of Traverse City, according to Mrs. Moore.

The children were thrilled with the fairyland appearance of the resort, enhanced with huge icicles hanging from the eaves.

Although it was the first time for two of the children, they loved the skiing.

Gal Keglers Really Hit the Maples

Keep an eye on these feminine bowlers.

Several individual performances of late in the Ladies House League at Airport Bowl have been really tremendous.

1. Mrs. B. B. Hannibal pitched a 267, believed the best line ever rolled by a woman at Airport Bowl.

2. Mrs. Gerald Griffin clipped a 621 series.

The series by Mrs. Hannibal is like hitting three home runs in a ball game out of four trip to the plate.

Mrs. Griffin's three lines of 202, 201, 218 would delight even the most talented male kegler.

While Mrs. Griffin was turning in her series, the Jerry's Market team was posting a 936 team series and a total team series for three lines of 2,511.

FARMER'S WEEK

Mrs. Bailey Will Model 2-Piece Suit

Mrs. Norman Bailey, 209 N. Maumee St., will model a two-piece red wool tweed suit, which she made at the fashion census of Michigan women at Farmer's Week at the Michigan State University Thursday, Feb. 2.

"Promenade in Color" is the name of the show beginning at 1:30 p.m. featuring clothes made by teenagers and homemakers who are affiliated with 4-H Club and home ec. extension programs of the Michigan Cooperative Extension Service.

Cagers Can't Hit, Fall to Grosse Ile

By JIM LINCOLN

Coach Doug Mordoch needs no excuse for the rather poor showing and playing of his Tecumseh cagers this year. They simply can't hit.

A dismal first quarter against visiting Grosse Ile last Friday night exhibited the reason why Tecumseh bowed, 63-51, and why the Indians are 2-6 for the season.

Nearly four minutes elapsed in the initial period before Murdoch's team scored from the floor—and they tallied only two field goals during the entire period.

Only one cager, John Britton, was able to hit with any consistency — and he prevented the game from turning into a rout with the game's top scoring of 24 points.

In the first few minutes, when GI rolled to a 8-0 lead, Tecumseh missed one short shot after another, including an easy lay-up.

The Indians bounced back somewhat in the second stanza, outscoring GI, 19-17, and pulled to within six points just before the half.

In the third period, GI stretched its lead by six points and at one time in the final stanza boasted a 15-point difference.

The Indians hustled and scrapped on even terms with the visitors, doing about just everything equal with the Huron League leaders except tossing the ball through the hoop. Unfortunately, for the 60-61 team, this is the important item.

Pete Kieunder paced the well-balanced GI attack with 21 points No other Red Devil hit the double-column in scoring. Larry Titley netted 10 points for Tecumseh.

Ticket committee for the March 24 presentation of the Michigan State University concert band met with Don Johnson at Tecumseh High School to work out distribution.

The Rotary Club sponsoring organization of the appearance, is making every effort to see that every interested person has an opportunity to hear the concert.

JVs Romp in Victory

The talented Tecumseh Jayvees continued their winning ways Friday night with an easy 54-34 victory over Grosse Ile.

Coach Jim Hoffman's team broke the game wide open in the third period.

Kent Lucas was top scorer with 16 points Clark Nichols had 12.

Tecumseh's mentor had praise also for Jerry Hebb and Eugene Martin. It was the best all-around game for the team.

VOICE of THE HERALD

Hail to the Chief

It will probably go down as one of the coldest inaugurations on record. But even with the chilly weather, there was warmth and deep sincerity in the traditional ceremonies.

The event was capped with a moving and forceful address by President Kennedy. We would like to hail, not only this message, but the way in which it was delivered.

We have gained great respect for the 42-year-old chief executive in the past few months.

He has carried himself like a pro at all times, in the campaign and since winning. He particularly shines when answering questions fired from all angles.

President Kennedy has a brilliant mind. There's no doubt about this. We imagine by now, that the folks who figured he would charge off half-cocked, like a scatter-brained sophomore, are agreed that our leader is a mature thinker.

There is nothing so disheartening in a human as the quality of indecision. No one can accuse President Kennedy of this. He may not be right every time, but he will always come up with a clear-cut response.

The Herald offers its official congratulations as President Kennedy takes up his cores as our chief executive.

No Major Cuts So Far

More and more attention is being focused on the local school situation.

Folks are becoming increasingly outspoken about trimming expenditures.

Last summer, voters turned down a two-mill tax proposal for operating expenses. In a record turnout, the issue was crushed, 917-354.

At the time, The Herald presented an editorial, which we feel well worth re-printing now because the probability of another request for funds is coming—and so far no major cuts have been made.

Here is our piece of July 14, 1960, entitled "Writing Is on the Wall."

The voice rang clear:

"We refuse to pay more taxes for schools. You'll have to find some other solution."

Speaking were the people of the Tecumseh District. The secret ballot carried their message.

The school board and its superintendent were their target.

There was absolutely no question about the reaction of the voters to the proposed two-mill levy. They said, "NO," and they meant it.

This throws the problem back into the collective lap of the board.

This newspaper had spoken wholeheartily in favor of the issue and advised people to OK it. We feel the sting of defeat, but not so harshly that we can't bounce back and review the matter from a new angle.

Folks don't want a new tax—because they can't afford to pay more. This is particularly true in rural areas, where school taxes go up almost $4 a thousand next year EVEN WITHOUT THE PROPOSED LEVY. If it would have passed, the jump would have been in the neighborhood of $8 more per thousand property valuation.

The school board now has its work well defined. It must-fine-tooth-comb the entire budget of $1,029,000 for next year, find out where it can be cut.

There is a $53,000 deficit to think about, which makes the situation even rougher.

But the writing is on the wall, bold and black. The board has no alternative, as far as we're concerned.

Citizens have said "NO" to more taxes at this time and they'll say "NO" in two months, six months and probably the next year.

This will be the long, hard road to travel, but businessmen, industries and households have been faced with the same problem from the Year One. It has been resolved before, it must be resolved now.

What's Going on at BOYSVILLE

By LOUIE CIAVONE

The Boysville marching band will be in Detroit on March 19 for the Cardinal Mercier Council's Passion Sunday Corporate Communion parade and Mass.

A trip to Bay City for a St. Patrick's Day parade had to be cancelled, as the parade was re-scheduled for the same day as the Detroit event.

√

Nearly 50 boys were invited to a dance at St. Joseph's Academy in Adrian on the night of Jan. 21.

√

The Boysville faculty basketball team is preparing for games against a few of the student teams.

Brother Austin Maley, CSC, is this year's captain of the team. Three of last year's members, Brother Aloysius, Brother Edward, and Brother Philip, and a newcomer to Boysville this year, Brother Charles Mack, CSC, make up the remainder of the team.

So far, the faculty has had a few scrimmages with the varsity and the freshmen.

√

Vern Young, president of the Class of 1957, visited the Boysville campus on Jan. 7. Mr. Young is working in Saginaw and is a member of the Knights of Columbus there.

Al Andreini and Fred Duzzie, two seniors at Boysville, have recently finished a model of the Shakespeare Globe Theater for a project in Senior English.

The theater stands about a foot high, and is about three feet in diameter.

Bill Dettman, one of Boysville's maintenance men, helped the two boys by cutting most of the wood for the project.

The theatre, a brilliant white, green, and brown in color, is presently on display in the front corridor of Boysville High School

√

The Fighting Knights of Boysville lost to the Adrian Catholic Central Irish in a thriller Friday, 46-45.

The Knights, playing without their pivot man, Bill Gager, couldn't keep pace with the Irish.

It wasn't till the last quarter that the Knights began to threaten Adrian.

Boysville came to within one point with 16 seconds remaining and had a couple of shots at the hoop, but couldn't sink the ball.

John McGeshick was high for the evening with 14 points. Al Andreini, Pete Mata and Ken Snooks deserve credit for their fine playing and spirit.

√

The Junior Knights bowed to the Irish JV, 40-34.

THROUGH MY WINDOW

"GERTIE'S DUCKS; ICE SKATERS"

Wouldn't you know, wouldn't you just know that as soon as I talked about what fun the kids were having ice skating on the creek wham, the temperatures started sky rocketing. 35, 40, 43, 45, they finally soared into the low fifties. The January thaw came on like gang-busters and the good skating was shot.

Actually, it was amazing with the temperatures so almost-spring like, how well the ice held up. It must have been very thick because after days of thawing it was still solid; only a few open spots showed. And my, the ice around the closest of these holes looked about 6 inches thick.

Yes, the creek remained frozen over, but the skating was ruined. Rotten ice, we used to call it.

In time, of course, the warm weather won, and that morning we looked out the west-facing window to see the ice at the bend right in back of Gertrude's dark and wet.

The water was coming up and flooding—in just a few hours we watched it come around the curve to Doctor's bridge, under the bridge, to the bend right below the wren-tree, and then — out of sight.

With perhaps two or three inches of water covering cracked and chipped ice we know that even the last attempt at skating was over for a while.

It seemed that no matter how bad it had been before, several of the more determined skaters, more probably they had just been the least particular ones, found tiny patches here and there, and upon these had tried to stretch the skating season.

The water ended their efforts, even the most stubborn of the die-hards could find no skating now.

By one o'clock that day we had already begun to miss the kids whom we knew would not appear after school.

Suddenly Gertie's ducks appeared. Now if the boys and girls had been happy with the frozen-over creek, the ducks had been definitely unhappy.

Water is their element and the freeflowing creek their domain. The mid-December plunge into the deep-freeze had robbed them of their 'home, sweet home' and unable to cope with the kids and dogs who invaded their territory, the two ducks retreated. When the little trickle of water covered the ice, back they came.

Gingerly at first, and then with a speed which clearly bespoke of happiness and joy almost too good to be true, into the water they splashed.

Brrrr — we shivered for them, that was cold, cold water they were cavorting in; the foolish things didn't seem to mind a bit.

For a while they merely walked around but that, as any of you know who have ever tried walking on ice covered with water, can be quite a job.

The footing was slick and so slippery that the ducks plodded along with almost exaggerated carefulness.

Lifting their big webbed feet high and putting them down with utmost caution, their progress was slow and hilariously funny to watch.

From walking they next progressed to bathing. As if to make up for a long time of having to do without, this was a lengthy job leisurely done.

Sitting in the cold water they ruffled their feathers, fluttered their wings and oh, how they preened. But the most satisfying act of all, and the most fun to watch, was the neck-stretching.

Still squatting in the water, their heads were held low, long necks stretched out as they would probably go and boom, bill first, into the water head and neck were dunked.

The water was not deep enough to come even near covering the ducks but after getting under as far as they could, bill first, up came the dripping head and neck.

It was almost a scooping motion and looked terribly chilling to me but was obviously very pleasing to them.

Every good icecapade ends with a grand finale, a whiz-bang super duper act.

The ducks know their show business and what a closing they worked up.

Planting their feet firmly on the ice they leaned back just a little, beat the air with their wings and went sliding across the creek. The ducks were ice-skating, marvelous fun!

So it is that when the warm weather spoiled the kid's skating, the ducks took over.

Now, of course, the creek has re-frozen but with the fickleness of our winter, who knows what will happen from one day to the next.

As the youngsters play on the ice they are most entertaining and when the ducks perform — well, what more can we say than that they are ducky skaters.

States Mrs. Karl Schneider

"Karl isn't a do-it-yourselfer" says Eileen Schneider. "He doesn't want to fool around softening the water and I don't blame him. Besides, Culligan does such a wonderful job there's not much percentage handling it otherwise. Our unit is located in the garage and the service man doesn't even have to come through the house to make the once-a-month tank change. There has never been a miss and we've always had plenty of soft water."

Due to a previous schedule, the next meeting will be Thursday, Feb. 23 at the home of Mrs. Wayne Dunbar at which itme suggestions will be made and a name chosen for the circle.

Pictures of the group were taken.

TOM RIORDAN'S Long AND Short

An era has ended. JM is dead.

Now officially closed is the chapter of my life which featured two vigorous self-made men, JM and BJ.

BJ was my dad, who passed away when I was overseas during World War II.

JM was his older brother, whose funeral I attended last week.

The two were always extremely close. Many years ago they founded the Riordan Machinery Co. in Detroit.

This may seem as an extremely personal story—and it is—but it's what I'd like to write about this week.

The brothers Riordan were from Boston, sons of Irish parentage. It was a large family, four sisters and another brother. I visited with the four who still are alive at Uncle John's funeral, along with their spouces.

They had come to Detroit from coast to coast, Massachusetts and California, to help bury JM. It was grand seeing and talking with them, but this is to be about the two boys who came to Michigan in search of fortune and success as the booming auto industry rolled into high gear.

BJ and JM—folks mostly called them by their initials—were salesmen. Their line: machine tools. And how they could sell.

After a dozen years working for others, they decided to strike out on their own in the early Thirties and formed their own company.

I'll never forget the story dad told about that beginning. Economically, things were looking mighty rough, but that didn't seem to frighten the brothers. They pooled all the resources they had and went to see a banker in the General Motors building.

Necessary papers were drawn up and then the firm's assets were shoved across the desk to be deposited.

Dad was quick with the quib and asked—with a straight face—if their money would be safe there.

"It certainly will," the banker retorted, dead serious.

Two weeks later Roosevelt declared a bank holiday. As it turned out, many years passed before the Riordan Machinery Co. saw their assets unfrozen.

☆

BUT THAT wasn't the worst part. Six months went by before the new firm could sign its first order.

Dad didn't complain in front of the family. The only thing I recall him saying was to Mom, "It's going to be a long winter." We had food on the table during that Great Depression, but it must have been a real struggle for the Riordan brothers.

However, ability and determination paid off and the little company grew and prospered. There are college educations and other niceties in both JM's and BJ's families to show for that.

However, that's not the point of this piece, rather it's the kind of men these two fellows were—honest, hard-working, devoted to their families and as strict as army first sergeants.

They each ran their households "by the numbers" and woe to the child who stepped out of line.

As youngsters we were pretty frightened of this Irish discipline, but as we grew into our late teens it became quite apparent that beneath those chests of iron beat hearts of gold.

There was nothing JM and BJ wouldn't do for their brood, if it was for their own good, no frills, no hot rods or extravagances.

The brothers loved sports and were happy whenever their boys participated, whether football or golf, basketball or hockey.

I learned this young and found that the only excuse I could use for turning up at 7 p.m. for 6 p.m. supper was to exclaim, "I was playing ball."

"All right, Tom, wash up and get your supper," would be dad's only comment.

One of my fondest memories of Uncle John was when we'd have Thanksgiving or Christmas dinner at the JM residence on Tuxedo Ave.

After serving everyone a heaping supply of turkey, mashed potatoes, et al, he'd fix his own plate and then not raise a fork.

HERALD BEGINS SERIES ON TECUMSEH SCHOOLS

Special Writer To Examine Entire System

(Editor's note: The Herald has hired a specialist in the reporting of educational affairs to prepare a series of articles on the Tecumseh School System. An extremely capable writer, she served on the staffs of daily papers in Royal Oak and Monroe for nearly six years. Additional details on this writer appear on the next page.)

By MARJORIE COMFORT

This series of articles on the Tecumseh School System will not try to tell you whether school taxes are too high or not high enough. It will just tell you what the taxes ARE.

It will not say whether school services are too fancy or not good enough. It will just tell you what the services ARE — and what they cost.

In short, it will try to clear up the questions you may have about what the schools cost and who pays for them.

Throughout the state, school districts are getting bigger. Many have suffered sérious growing pains. They cover more area, have more students, more teachers, more subjects. Tecumseh is no exception.

Desks and chairs which their parents used are too small for today's vitamin-fed pupils. The school budgets have grown, too.

★

BUT COMPARING ONE YEAR'S budget with that of several years before would be like trying to compare household budgets of the same years.

The family may have more children, as schools have more students. The cost of services both homeowners and schools use has gone up. The pupils' parents are getting higher wages — so are the pupils' teachers and others who work in the schools.

A comparison which may have more meaning for taxpayers and parents is the cost of instructing each child for one year. This will include teacher salaries and classroom supplies, administration, plant operation and maintenance, insurance and interest.

Ten years ago it cost $171.47 to instruct a Tecumseh District child for the school year. The cost for the 1959-'60 school year was $313.38. This year's budget calls for $306.92 per student.

As the school districts have grown, their operations have become more complicated.

Herald Again Cited

For the third time in the last four years, The Tecumseh Herald has been cited in the Michigan Press Association General Excellence contest.

This time it was judged second in the 2,000 to 4,000 circulation classification, finishing behind The Northville Record.

Grading of the state contest entries was done by the University of Alabama journalism department staff.

Winners were announced at the opening day of last weekend's annual state convention and certificates given the various publishers.

The Northville weekly received a perfect score of 10 points, getting an excellent mark in typography, photography, news coverage and community service.

The Herald scored nine, losing one point in typography and makeup, with perfect marks in the remaining catagories.

Third place in the division went to The Chelsea Standard and honorable mention to The Romeo Observer Press.

Here is the detailed report on The Herald, as noted by judges:

"A good, bright, interesting and readable newspaper. Effective use of multi-column, one-line heads on front page. Long & Short column interesting. Attention-getting stories, features, columns or pictures on each page excellent."

Watkins Shop Expanding

A bigger Watkins Shop is now planned for downtown Tecumseh

Mrs. Marvin Watkins, owner and business woman for over 25 years, announces the expansion which will double the first floor size of the present store.

Remodeling started Wednesday and is expected to take 10 days or more with completion scheduled late in the week of Feb. 12th when the public opening will be held.

The Tecumseh business woman, saying "we believe in Tecumseh progress and hope to progress with Tecumseh," has planned to develop and expand several clothing departments.

A larger children's center will be located at the front, as well as a sewing center, yard goods section and linen shop.

The two sections of the store will be connected by an archway near the front. Ladies apparel will be kept in the present side.

The Watkins Shop was moved to its present location at the corner of Chicago Blvd. and S. Evans St., three years ago last August. It was formerly located in what is now Eggleston's Jewelry.

Manager Admits $1,427 Shortage

Charged with embezzlement, Merle Hoag, former manager of the Country Markets, Inc. store in Tecumseh, has accepted responsibilities for shortages of $1,427.

Mr. Hoag, who resides at 610 Murray Dr., has waived preliminary examination, which was to have been Thursday.

He will be arraigned Feb. 10 before Judge Rex Martin in Lenawee County Circuit Court, entering either a plea of not guilty or guilty, or stand mute.

Trial, if required, will be sometime in March or April. Tecumseh attorney James McKenna is representing Mr. Hoag.

The former manager is specifically charged with taking $135, a felony. If found guilty, he would face up to 10 years in prison.

Owners of the food chain, Charles Carlton, Jr. and Joe Busch, told state police that recent audits showed total thefts of $18,500 in cash and merchandise from the Tecumseh store.

Private detectives, hired by them to survey the situation, reported:

There had been shop-lifting of small items by customers.

The manager and several employees were also helping themselves.

Mr. Hoag was questioned and at first denied any wrong-doing. He submitted to two lie detector tests.

Alex Gregory of Detroit, a criminologist for the Court of Last Resort, who gave the tests, said that the subject was not telling the truth.

Then the manager changed his story, admitting responsibility for $1,427 of the loses and signing a statement to this effect.

Later, when Detective Les Wykes of the Clinton post served a warrant on Mr. Hoag, the former manager affirmed the signed statement.

Other store employees, when questioned admitted taking such things as cigarettes, pop and luncheon meat. They said they knew Hoag was stealing and they felt at liberty to do so, too.

Mr. Busch said that some type of action will also be taken against them later.

☆

EVIDENCE OF losses first turned up in regular audits early last summer and the chain's management worked steadily trying to uncover the reason.

At first, customer pilfering was believed the major factor and a concerted effort was made to stamp out this practice. Prosecution of eight persons in December was the result.

Mr. Hoag, a trusted employee of the chain, was not suspected at the beginning, but later was brought into the picture.

As manager here, his salary was $125 per week. He also was eligible for a management bonus plan, in which he could have earned 5% of gross net profit.

However, he didn't collect on this, Mr. Busch explained, because the store never was able to show a profit. Other outlets in the chain have been making money.

☆

MR. HOAG has two small sons and his wife is now pregnant. He was a salesman for Proctor and Gambles when hired as manager in 1958 of the newly-opened outlet here.

He had been serving as chairman of the Chamber of Commerce's retail division executive board at the time of the embezzlement charge.

Ironically, in the Outstanding Young Man of the Year contest now being staged by the local Jaycees, he was to have been a candidate.

Temporarily, Norm Wallace, manager of the chain's Manchester store, is running the Tecumseh market.

Pipes Freeze at 2 Homes on Wenonah

Cold weather has taken its toll on Wenonah St. in the Indian Acres subdivision.

John Kopka, who is in charge of the city's water system, reports that service to two homes has frozen this week.

"And there will probably be more in the next few days," John predicts.

The trouble stems from the frost line—now at depths of 36 inches.

When constructed, Wenonah was graded down so that at present the water main is 27 inches under ground.

Service to the homes of Mrs. Donna Hewitt, 708 Wenonah, and Harold Collins, 702 Wenonah, was halted the first part of this week.

Mr. Kopka's crew is now busy getting things back in working order. A special electric thaw procedure with a welder, is being used. Wires are wrapped around the pipes and the heat applied.

This must be done at the trouble spot, meaning that first of all, the crew has to dig down through the frozen turf to the frozen pipe.

It used to be easier, before the advent of Transite pipe, which is a non-conductor. With cast iron pipes, the wires could be attached at the home and the heat would pass through the metal by simple conduction.

W. L. BERKHOF

Churchmen of Vicinity Will Dine

William E. Berkhof, superintendent of schools at Mt. Clemens, will speak on the subject, "Religion and the World of Work" at this year's Church Laymen's Banquet.

It will be held Thursday, Feb. 9, at 6:15 p.m. in the Youth House of the First Baptist Church.

Mr. Berkhof served Tecumseh schools as superintendent from 1935 to 1948 and has been with the Mt. Clemens system since that time.

Tickets for this annual get-together of Tecumseh area churchmen are available from laymen in each of the participating churches.

A roast beef dinner will be served by the ladies of the Baptist Church and the Madrigal Singers of Tecumseh High School will sing as a part of the program.

Off to Palmyra

Tipton Grange will take the gavel to Palmyra Friday, Feb. 3. Supper will be served at 6:30 p.m. Tipton Grange is to furnish dessert.

Exciting Reading

Some exciting reading is in store for Herald subscribers during the next four weeks. A series entitled, "Tecumseh's Part in the Civil War", is being prepared by Clara Waldron, the city's unofficial historian. It eventually will be part of the history of Tecumseh, which she is currently writing. The Herald would like to run some Civil War photographs with Miss Waldron's articles

SCHOOLS

Once the people of a community had a "bee" to raise the schoolhouse. They hired a teacher and supplemented her pay by supplying room and board. Most children lived within walking distance of the school. All the money came from the handful of families which organized the district.

Today, local taxes pay less than a third of school costs. The state government, through sales, utility and inheritance taxes, plus other minor levies, pays most of the cost. The federal government contributes a little, through subsidizing the hot lunch program.

With new state laws on the books, even the method used to figure tax bills has been changed.

Figures used in this series will come from school, city, township and county records, from officials of all levels of government and from public and private organizations which deal with school affairs.

All the figures will be cross-checked to eliminate any chance of error at the source.

The school program here will be compared with those of five or 10 years ago, with other school districts in the county and with districts throughout Michigan.

☆

WHAT WAS the Tecumseh School District like 10 years ago?

For one thing, the cost of sending a child through the school year was less from September, 1951, to June, 1952 than it has been any year since then.

The districts surrounding the city had not yet been annexed, and Tecumseh had only 1,351 students enrolled. They were taught in four buildings: the one-room Brownville School; West Branch School, built in 1886; Central School, built in 1918, and the then new Tecumseh High School.

School property was valued at $62,000, buildings at $555,000 and equipment at $50,000, for total assets of $667,000. That year the school budget was $276,126.22.

This year, Tecumseh District includes 17 annexed districts. It has 3,041 students, who fill 101 classrooms in nine buildings. School property is valued at $151,400, buildings at $3,488,904 and equipment at $289,800, for total assets of $3,930,104.

This year's budget is $1,315,799.90.

Of course, the school district would not have grown like this if the entire community had not been growing and changing. The taxable wealth of the district has grown by more than 400%. In 1951, the district's property value was assessed at $5,815,000. Today it is assessed at $25,199,402.

☆

WHERE DOES the school money go?

One way to show this is to compare the percentages paid in the two years — a decade apart —for various items in the school budget.

Most of the money went for instruction — for teachers and classroom supplies. This cost 65.1% of the budget 10 years ago, and 57.5% this year. Also now taking a smaller percentage are administration, plant operation, plant maintenance and auxiliary services, which include transportation, hot lunches, athletics, health services and recreation.

Those which take a larger bite now are the fixed charges, which include interest and insurance; capital outlay and supplemental costs, which have grown more than any other item.

Almost all the supplemental division goes for paying back the short-term loans — money borrowed to keep the schools operating.

☆

WHERE DID the money come from?

Here again there are some large changes. Ten years ago the state paid 57.9% of the school budget. Now it pays 51%. Ten years ago local taxes paid 18.9%, now they pay 27.4%.

Borrowing, which provided only 4.3% of the funds 10 years ago, now accounts for 25.3%. Miscellaneous income has dropped sharply and non-revenue receipts — including rentals, sale of property, interest and fund transfers — have dropped to zero.

The question asked most often, though, is, "What are my taxes?" This question will take more time to answer. It's one of the most complicated parts of the school program and will be discussed in future articles.

She'll Write School Series

Preparing a comprehensive and detailed report on the Tecumseh School System is an enormous job.

Countless hours are needed to research the needed material. Dozens and dozens of sources must be consulted.

The special reporter hired by The Herald to undertake this task is Mrs. Gordon Comfort, an ex-daily newspaper writer and a recent arrival in Tecumseh.

Since her graduation from Michigan State University, in 1954 as a journalism major, she has been a professional scribe, specializing in schools.

She was a staff member of the Daily Tribune in Royal Oak for one year and then joined the Monroe Evening News. Mrs. Comfort was with The News until October, 1960, when she resigned and moved here so that her husband would not have to commute from Monroe to his work in Tecumseh.

At Monroe she covered schools, governmental bodies, civic, labor and industrial news, did features. She also served as women's editor, food editor and also did news desk copy chores.

She is a member of Theta Sigma Phi, national honorary fraternity for women in journalism.

Mr. and Mrs. Comfort were married in December, 1958.

☆

THE FIRST article in Mrs. Comfort's series appears in this week's edition. Succeeding ones will run as material is gathered, sifted and distilled.

"This will be an extremely vital series for residents living within the Tecumseh School District," explains Tom Riordan, Herald co-publisher.

"Neither my partner, Jim Lincoln, who covers the school board, nor I, can devote the time to investigate and prepare such a series.

"We were delighted to find that right in Tecumseh was an extremely capable writer, who had specialized in reporting on educational affairs.

"Mrs. Comfort will work closely with Jim and me on this effort. Every step will be checked and cross-checked before it is printed.

"She is starting from scratch and will discuss schools here from every possible angle," Mr. Riordan concluded.

☆

SEVERAL LETTERS on file at The Evening News attest to Mrs. Comfort's capabilities.

From Herbert Ostrander, superintendent of the Mason Consolidated schools:

"This is a letter of thanks and appreciation on behalf of the Boards . . . for the fine articles published by your paper concerning our proposed high school.

"I would also like to take this opportunity to express my appreciation to your paper and staff, particularly Mrs. Comfort, who has aided us so ably in bringing the particulars of our problems before the electors of our district.

"Nowhere in the state have I seen such a genuine desire to assist schools in bringing their problems to the people as that exhibited by your staff."

Stan Wallace of the Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line wrote:

"While affecting every reader, this tax subject is one that oftentimes baffles some of the experts and it is certainly a compliment to you (Mrs. Comfort) to have sifted through the subject and come out with an accurate account of events."

LONG & SHORT

"Why aren't you eating?" someone would ask.

JM would grin a little and then reply, "No hurry. I just want to sit here and enjoy looking at the food for a while."

I find myself doing this now, almost every holiday when we have the full turkey menu.

☆

LAST THURSDAY, following the trip back from the cemetery, the Riordan clan gathered in JM's home for hot coffee and lunch and a long-overdue Irish gabfest.

It was easy to envision Uncle John among us, relaxing in his favorite easy chair, grinning that slow grin.

His thoughts were simple to read: "I just want to sit quietly and enjoy watching the gang chatter."

Injured Pheasant 'Missey Phea' Is Back in Fields

The pheasant, Missy Phea, which the Bob Hunt family had been caring for the past two weeks, was released Saturday.

She had fully recovered from her unforunate accident with a truck.

The Hunt side door was opened and the hen walked out, paused for a moment on the porch and took off, flying up into a pine tree in the front yard.

Checking on her whereabout an hour later, Mr. Hunt went outside and called to her. Hearing something, he turned and there she was peering over the eaves on the roofs edge.

This was the last time she was seen.

Karen Pennington Marries Don Oswald

Karen Louise Pennington became the bride of Donald Oswald in a lovely wedding ceremony Jan. 21 at the Grace Lutheran Church.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lavern Pennington of rural Britton and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vern Oswald, 135 W. Brown St.

The Rev. K. F. Koeplin performed the ceremony and Mrs. Hazel Coller presided at the organ.

Candelabra, white chrysanthemums and gladioli were used in decorating the sanctuary.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a street length gown of white brocade satin fashioned with sweetheart neckline, fitted bodice and a matching jacket with three quarter length sleeves.

Her veil was held in place by a jeweled tiara and she wore a single strand of pearls at her throat.

She carried a cascade arrangement of orchid feathered chrysanthemums centered with a detachable corsage of carnations.

☆

MRS. WARREN NAUGLE was the matron of honor wearing a lavendar knit suit and matching headband. She carried orchid and white chrysanthemums.

Warren Naugle was best man and the guests were seated by Larry Pennington and Leo Oswald.

A reception for 200 was held, immediately after the ceremony, in the church dining room which was enhanced with lavendar candles and streamers.

A three-tiered cake decorated in lavendar and white and topped with minature bridal couple made by Mrs. Jay Fisher was served.

Betty Marine registered the guests. Among others helping at the reception were Nancy Short of Britton, Mrs. Charles Burleson of Dearborn, Mrs. Merle Hammonds, Mary Lou Fairbanks, Barbara Blakely and Ruth Gautz.

The bride attended Britton-Macon High School and the groom graduated from Tecumseh High School in 1957.

Following a trip to Florida the couple will make their home in Tecumseh.

Editor of The Nation Speaks at Institute

The distinguished editor of America's oldest journal of political comment comes to Adrian Friday when Carey McWilliams, editor of The Nation, appears here under the auspices of Lenawee County Teachers' Institute.

Mr. McWilliams has devoted many years of study to problems of labor, agriculture and minority groups — problems upon which the spotlight of current thought has become increasingly focused.

He has authored about a dozen books, half of them on various phases of minority problems.

His "A Mask for Privilege" transcended minority-majority problems and was an analysis of anti-democratic practices which affect the whole fabric of American life.

More recently, he wrote "Witchhunt: The Revival of Heresy". When his book, "Prejudice," was published in 1944, Bernard De Voto called it a "public service of unquestionable value."

"Brothers Under the Skin" was translated into 17 languages and has been credited with having a marked effect on the development of local, state and federal policy toward minority groups.

Mr. McWilliams was born in a town in Colorado with the colorful name of Steamboat Springs He was graduated from the University of Southern California with a law degree in 1927 and admitted to the California bar the same year.

He practiced law in Los Angeles until 1938 at which time he became Commissioner of Immigration and Housing in the State of California, a post he held until 1942.

Twice awarded Guggenhein Fellowships, he has been on the staff of The Nation since 1945, becoming an associate editor in 1951, editorial director a year later and assuming his present post of editor in 1955.

Antiques Date Back to 1838

Seventy members and guests enjoyed the luncheon and mid-winter meeting of the Lenawee Historical Society at the Palmyra Community Church Thursday.

Mrs. Chester Corbett played chamber music during the afternoon when members viewed a collection of antiques, some dating back to 1838.

The theme of the meeting was "Palmyra's Heritage, Facts and Fiction." It was vividly brought to light when the history of the settlement was reviewed.

Mrs. Hawley Wooster, chairman of the day, said that the town was so named because the settlers came there from Palmyra, N. Y.

She told of one of the first settlers being George Crane in whose home the First Friends church was organized.

Edith Haviland reminisced on the settling of her ancestors and told of the family customs of the Haviland family.

The history of the Palmyra church was related by Mrs. John Dowling, who said it was organized 125 years ago today, Jan. 27, 1836, by 16 members.

In September, 1843, a new building was dedicated at the cost of $700. The oldest member, who is still active is Mrs. Hattie Lehman, age 93.

The engagement of Maxine Fouts to Robert C. Schneider is being announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Junior P. Fouts, 715 Adrian St. Mr. Schneider is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Domke of Adrian.

196 Youngsters Enjoy Christmas, Thanks to Many

Good, used clean clothing is needed by the Tecumseh Service Club including sweaters, sweat shirts, jackets, coats, boots, blankets and quilts.

This group of volunteer workers serve the needy of this community with emergency and temporary food and clothing throughout the year, not just at holiday time.

Funds are allocated from the Tecumseh Community Fund for emergency use and civic groups supplement items at Christmas time.

All through the year clean used clothing from generous donors is distributed.

Contributions may be left at the Tecumseh fire station, where it is stored.

At the annual meeting, a report of 575 articles of used clothing distributed was made.

Numerous items of new clothing also have been purchased during the year.

In other reports, it was revealed that 14 families were assisted with food at Thanksgiving and 60 families at Christmas time.

Christmas for 196 children was made possible through the efforts of the Service Club, assisted by other civic organizations.

New officers of the group were elected at a meeting held Jan. 27 at the home of Mrs. John Thompson. They are:

President—Mrs. B. J. Gillies

Vice-president—Mrs. Earldean Roe

Secretary — Mrs. Frederick Dickinson, Jr.

Treasurer—Mrs. P. G. Colgrove

Diagnostician Speaks to PTA of Herrick Park

Blanche Coogan, diagnostician for the Special Education Department of Lenawee County and of the Hudson area which she serves, presented the program for the Herrick Park PTA meeting Jan. 26.

She explained the purposes of the department and how it serves the handicapped child, whether his difficulty be emotional physical or intellectual.

An open discussion was held, following her talk.

Refreshments were served to 50 by Mrs. Steve Maples and Mrs. Ben Gillies.

You Told Us

BY DOROTHY GRIGG
Herald Society Editor

"Swing 'em high and swing 'em low,
Around and around and around you go.
Right to your honey, go right and left grand."

This is one of the current square dance calls used at Patterson School during physical education classes. The Patty Cake Polka was a favorite at the Herrick Park School this past semester.

Little ladies especially enjoy this time during classes because it gives them opportunity to beg Mom for a new dress with a full skirt that "whirls way out."

Carl Hale, Mrs. Doug Murdoch, Mr. and Mrs. James Kellar, Mrs. Charles Gross, Mrs. Don Hardcastle and Mrs. Virginia Zink are the teachers who have or are at present instructing the dancing.

Mr. and Mrs. James W. Dick of Mercer Island, Wash. are the parents of a baby girl, Laura Ann 7 lbs. 1 oz., born January 30. Mr. Dick is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Dick and Mrs. Dick is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Snyder.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Sebring entertained a family gathering with a buffet luncheon Sunday to honor the birthday anniversaries of C. O. Baily, Duaine Murphy and daughter, Nena 1 year old, and Ray Binns of Ypsilanti. Mr. and Mrs. Warren Puffer and family were also present as well as the family of Mr. Murphy and Mrs. Baily.

Margie Bidle, student at Mercy School of Nursing in Detroit, spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Valden Bidle.

Mr. and Mrs. Forest Abner were in Indianapolis and Lebanon, Indiana last week to attend the Stewart-Warner Convention. They toured the Engineering and Service Department and attended a banquet on Thursday evening when new products were displayed. Sid Collins, announcer for the 500 mile race, was the speaker of the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bamm, Mrs. Ernest Stauff, Mrs. Arthur Engersol, all of Jackson, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Spreeman. The group also called on Mrs. Bramm's sister, Mrs. Henry Filter, a patient at Herrick Memorial Hospital. Mrs. Everet Netcher of Onsted was a recent guest of the Spreemans.

Those attending the 2nd District meeting of the American Legion and Auxiliary Sunday in Brooklyn were Commander Don Woods, Donald Maves, President Mrs. Otto Baaske and Mrs. Baaske, Mrs. Louis S. Schneider, Mrs. Purnell Osburn and Mrs. Lavern Seizert.

Mrs. Carl Burch, the Rev. and Mrs. Herbert Burch of Ypsilanti and Mr. and Mrs. Vern Thomas of Ridgeway were in Lawton, Mich. recently for the funeral service of their cousin, Mrs. Earl French.

Church News

+ Witness for Christ Opens on Friday for Methodists

The Tecumseh Methodist Church will be participating in the Ann Arbor District program of the United States Witness for Christ.

The dates are Feb. 3-10, and there will be special services and visitation by laymen of the church on new people and persons not members of the church.

The Rev. James Bowker of Kalamazoo will be speaking and leading the local program.

Rev. Bowker will speak on Sunday, Feb. 5, at 10 a.m. and again that evening at 8 p.m.

Special preaching services will be Tuesday at 8 p.m. and Thursday at 8 p.m.

Friday, Feb. 3, a special Mission School for Primary and Junior Department children will be held from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. Those attending will bring a sack lunch.

+ 3-Day Assembly Will Open Friday for Witnesses

Jehovah's Witnesses open their three day assembly in Adrian Friday at the Adrian High School according to Mr. Kenneth Ball, presiding minister of the local congregation.

Mr. Ball indicated the program would include talks on the importance of worship in family life.

Other highlights of the program include a Baptismal talk followed by an immersion service Saturday afternoon and the principal discourse Sunday afternoon. "Is God Interested in the Affairs of Men" by Nicholas Kovakak, Jr., of Brooklyn, New York.

The operation of the gathering is handled by twenty-two departments supervised by experienced personel. All workers are unpaid volunteers, and are assigned wherever needed.

Many of the volunteers will work in a cafeteria set up to provide meals for all delegates at cost, and free for full-timee ministers.

+ Quiet Day Set for Episcopal Ladies of Area

A Quiet Day for the women of the parishes of this area was announced by Mrs. William Damon, president of the Episcopal Churchwomen of St. Peter's Church, at a recent meeting of the local chapter.

The Quiet Day will be held at St. Michael and All Angels Church, Cambridge Junction on Tuesday, Feb. 7, beginning at 10:30 a.m. with a celebration of the Holy Communion.

The Rev. Frank W. Hawthorne will be the celebrant at the Eucharist assisted by the Rev. Jack Warner, Deacon-in-charge of St. Michael's.

Deaconess Olive Robinson of the Parishfield Community at Brighton will conduct the meditations.

Deaconess Robinson is one of the outstanding leaders in women's work in the Diocese of Michigan.

The theme for the day will be "preparing for Lent."

+ Christ Told Us To Tell Gospel Around World

The Rev. William Pelly of the Holloway and Deerfield Presbyterian Churches will speak on the topic "World Missions" Sunday.

He answers the question, "What is the purpose of ecumenical missions?," by saying "To make Christ known in all of the countries so that men and women over the world may have the opportunity to accept Jesus Christ as their personal Savior and Lord and be saved."

As Jesus said, "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to everyone," moreover the purpose of world missions is to make men free all over the world.

+ Loyalty to God Was Week's Lesson at Seventh Day

"Loyalty to God" was the subject of the Sabbath School lesson being taught by Elder A. E. Bidell, who stressed the fact that man ought to obey God rather than man.

Following the Sabbath School, Walter Williams of Adrian spoke on the subject "Art Thou King, Then?".

He traced through the Bible from Nimrod, first king of Babylon, to beyond the present day "when the Lord shall be king over all the earth."

"And Pilate said Art thou a king then? And Jesus answered, Thou sayest that I am a king and to this end was I born and for this purpose came I into the world."

Four students from Springvale Academy were in attendance at the services and brought special music.

There will be services Saturday in the Pythian hall at ten o'clock in the morning.

+ Individual Growth

Why spiritualization of thought is necessary to individual growth and happiness will be brought out at Christian Science church services Sunday.

Bob Bonner Opens Talk with Humor

Robert Bonner was in charge of the program for the Exchange Club Monday evening when 28 members were present at the Eagle Hall.

FREE PRESS CHIEF PHOTOGRAPHER TONY SPINA

Tony Spina Will Speak in Tecumseh

Tony Spina, chief photographer of the Detroit Free Press, will show pictures he has taken in Rome at the Wednesday, Feb. 8 meeting of the St. Elizabeth Altar Society.

Regarded as one of the finest lensmen in America today, Mr. Spina was sent by his paper to cover the selection of Pope John XXIII, then later for the ceremonies of installation.

The results are breathtaking pictures, throughout St. Peters and the Vatican.

Husbands of Altar Society members have been invited.

Dundee Rally Wins, 62-45

Plagued by poor shooting, especially in the second half, Tecumseh's hopes vanished of upsetting visiting Dundee here last Friday night.

The Vikings' splurge in the final two periods overcame a seven-point halftime deficit to easily defeat Coach Doug Murdoch's cagers, 62-45. The loss gives Tecumseh a 2-7 record for the season.

The Indians travel to Blissfield Friday evening with hopes to revenge an early season defeat. The Royals, with a 5-3 record, are tied for second place in the Huron League.

All of Tecumseh's playing against Dundee came in the first half, when the Indians surprised the visitors with a 27-20 lead. In the next two quarters the Indians tossed in just 18 points, only eight in the third stanza.

John Britton, tops for the Indians in scoring for the season, again paced his teammates with 20 points.

Larry Titley flipped in eight points, and no other THS player tallied more than four.

Bert Wilkinson droped in 22 points to grab the game's scoring honors.

The Dundee reserves started the evening off right for the Vikings by sweeping past Coach Jim Hoffman's team, 54-38.

They'll Sing at Your Supper — or Meeting

A dream has come true for two Tecumseh High School seniors.

Linda Dean of Ridgeway and Dan Harvey of Tecumseh, have been accepted as members of the internationally known Michigan Chorale.

This group of 67 outstanding high school singers will be touring South American, Mexico and parts of the United States for two months next summer.

Linda and Dan have combined their vocal talents team in an effort to earn money for expenses by making appearances at public gatherings. Each of them has a balance of $600 to raise this spring.

A third member of this concert team is Dexter Bailey, their accompanist. A seventh grader in Tecumseh Junior High, Dexter has studied piano for six years, and organ for two years. He is presently studying piano with Tom Nixon in Adrian.

The trio will make its first public appearance next Monday afternoon for the Tecumseh Monday Club. The following Thursday, the young people will perform for the Laymen's Banquet at the Baptist Youth House.

☆

DURING THE recent presidential campaign and in the months since, the average citizen became more acutely aware of the importance of maintaining a free exchange of ideas between ourselves and our Latin American neighbors.

When these high school young people present a concert of great choral music, well performed, to an audience in Bogota, Montevideo, Rio De Janeiro or Mexico City, they become eloquent spokesmen for our schools and our young people.

Our State Department in Washington has thought so, since this is the second season that the Chorale has been directed to South America.

Linda and Dan would like to announce that the Chorale will be singing a concert in Ann Arbor, Feb. 5, at the Methodist Church at approximately 7:30 p.m. The Chorale will also appear in Adrian sometime in April. The exact date to be announced later.

For further information concerning these young people, contact Leslie Bennett, choral director at the High School, who is serving as their vocal coach.

'The Golden Fleecing' Is Next

The Tecumseh Players will present "The Golden Fleecing" on May 17 and 18.

The three-act comedy is comparable to a naval version of Sgt. Bilko.

A group of sailors is intent upon breaking the Bank of Monte Carlo by using the computer on the Fleet's Flag Ship.

"The Golden Fleecing" ran for 84 performances on Broadway. A cast of 11 men and two girls keep things lively.

Casting for this production will be April 7, 8, and 9 by the director, Albert M. Katz, who is finishing his doctorate in theatre and oral interpretation this year at the University of Michigan.

He was technical director for three years at Schnectady Civic Theatre and lighting director for three years with the Schnectady Light Opera Company.

He is a Teaching Fellow in a basic acting course, has played about 20 major roles, directed 22 shows including plays.

He expects to be married in a few weeks and will bring his bride with him for the rehearsals, which will start April 10 and continue six nights weekly until the show is presented at the Strand Theatre in Tecumseh.

Forty members of the Tecumseh Players enjoyed a spaghetti dinner-party Saturday night at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Murray.

Tables were decorated with red and white checkered tablecloths and candles in Chianti bottles. Authentic Italian music on records was played throughout dinner.

Mrs. Alton Snyder prepared and served the spaghetti and salads with the aid of her daughter, Mrs. Douglas Hoffman.

Dancing was enjoyed during the latter half of the evening.

Episcopal Bishop Heard in Detroit

The 128th annual convention of the Episcopal Diocese of Michigan closed Wednesday evening in Detroit with an address by the Most Rev. Arthur Lichtenberger, presiding Bishop of the Episcopal Church in the United States.

The convention was attended by delegates from St. Peter's Church.

Lawrence Blum, Charles Newell, and Mrs. Charles Monsing represented the local congregation, accompanied by the rector of St. Peter's, the Rev. Frank Hawthorne.

Graduates from U. of Michigan

Mrs. Theodore Templeton, 504 Stacy St., was among 1,900 students to graduate from the University of Michigan on Jan. 14.

Attending the commencement ceremonies at Hill Auditorium with Mrs. Templeton were her husband and two sons, Teddy, 10, and Bruce, 7.

In recognition of her accomplishment in earning her BA degree Mrs. Templeton will be presented a New Testament and the book of Psalms in services at the First Baptist Church Sunday.

Saturday's Dance To Benefit Boosters

A "Record Hop" for Tecumseh high school students and alumni will be held this Saturday evening, 8-12, at the gym.

Proceeds from the dance will be donated to the Tecumseh Boosters Club.

Firemen Busy

The fire department had two calls over the weekend.

One was to the home of Opal Armstrong, 415 W. Chicago Blvd., Friday when a clogged furnace was smoking up the inside of the house.

Sunday morning, the department assisted the Clinton department at 3:25 a.m. when the home of Robert Vogel on Kehoe Rd. burned. It was a total loss.

Emergency crew of the fire department was called to 703 S. Pearl St. Monday to administer oxygen to Mrs. Hilda De Mass daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bowen, who was having an asthmatic attack.

Animal Skins Shown Class

The Power Class of the Tecumseh Friends Church met Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clark Pearson.

Twenty-five members enjoyed the missionary speaker, Lawrence Ehinger, as he showed slides and skins of animals he got in hunting during his work in Africa.

He also showed spears that the natives use primarily for walking.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis Kilbourn assisted the Pearsons.

Lovely Lady Proves To Be Real Friend

Mrs. Lucille DeRyke of Milan has returned to her home after spending several weeks with Mrs. E. J. Aebersold, 109 S. Union St., who is recovering from eye surgery.

Mrs. DeRyke dropped into The Herald office before leaving Tecumseh to tour the plant and to once again smell printers ink.

She has been newspapering since 1912 when her father purchased The Milan Leader. She grew up in that environment.

Mrs. Aebersold and Mrs. DeRyke became acquainted when they both attended Eight and Forty meetings.

Being familiar with the type of surgery Mrs. Aebersold had and knowing of the long recuperation period, Mrs. DeRyke offered to stay in the Aebersold home following the operation.

Her kindness was much appreciated.

Many Residents Play Roles of Foster Parents

By DOROTHY GRIGG

Tecumseh people have a deep concern for the world's unfortunate children.

At least 10 couples, individuals or groups, are now supporting foster children overseas.

Most of these youngsters have been "adopted" through the Christian's Children's Fund, a modern miracle organization founded by Dr. J. Calvitt Clarke in Richmond, Va.

Incorporated in 1938, it is the largest Protestant orphanage organization in the world, assisting 34,000 children in 295 institutions located around the world in 36 different countries.

By sending $10 each month—cigarette money for many — a child is fed, clothed, educated and given spiritual training.

The foster parents receive pictures of their youngsters, as well as letters each month. Naturally, many have to go through an interpreter since the children are of various nationalities.

This is not a new venture, for several have been providing this support a number of years and others are just learning the thrill one gets from this new experience.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Boynton and their family at Christmas time decided to "adopt" a child and only recently received the history of Lee Siu Cheung, age 7, of Hong Kong.

Though this youngsters has parents, he is desperately in need, since Hong Kong became the mecca for three million refugees from Communist China, making work scarce and labor cheap.

☆

THE EDGAR R. JORDAN family "adopted" Colin Bentley, a poverty stricken 14-year-old boy of India, who now writes his own letters to them in English.

Bahk Mee Sook, five-year-old girl of Yeu Soo City, Korea, is the "adoptee" of the Donald Cobb family.

The junior department of the First Baptist Church School, where Mrs. Cobb is superintendent, is supporting a 10-year-old boy in Taiwan.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Cornell of Tipton visited the home offices of CCF at Richmond several summers ago, meeting Dr. and Mrs. Clarke.

The Cornells wanted to learn first hand about the functions of this international, inter-denominational missionary welfare organization.

They found it administers to the physical, mental and spiritual needs of children of all races and creeds around the world.

The Cornells provided for Park Hai Chul of Inchon, Korea until he reached 17 recently and left the orphanage.

The money for his support is now being used for a younger boy of Hai Chul's acquaintance in the same school.

The youngster wrote of his Christmas gifts, including clothing, razor blades, shoe laces, a belt and candies, all intended for Hai Chul, a much larger boy.

He said, "Since the clothes were a little big, I have them remade and now I became a young gentleman with them. I am going to be a good man and want to meet you personally some day."

Almost all letters contain words of gratitude and mention of God's goodness.

AMONG THE good people who provide so generously for their little friends is Nancy Day, a sophomore at Eastern Michigan University.

Wong Wing Hon in the Swatow Rooftop School in Hong Kong is the eleven-year-old boy she supports.

Mr. and Mrs. Wyman Service have been contributing to the support of a French boy, Alain Pierre, for the past seven years, through the Save The Children Federation.

Mrs. Service especially enjoys this arrangement because she is able to correspond with the boy and his mother in French.

Only once in all this time have the French family used an interpreter. The Services never have found it necessary.

An interesting development evolved from such an "adoption" made by the Robert Stone family through the Foster Parents plan.

After supporting a little girl overseas for some time, Mr. and Mrs. Stone were able to adopt and this time really adopt three sons, Louis, 13, Robert, 11 and Bill, 9, right here in Lenawee County.

The family live happily on Stone Road with the younger boys attending Ridgeway School and Louis the Junior High School here in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hamilton have an overseas "adoptee" through the Foster Parents Plan.

☆

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL of the Friends Church has been supporting a young lady from Chhatarpur, M. P., India for about 15 years. She will graduate from high school in June and expects to go into nurses training.

Ralph Comfort visited this girl, Shareen James, when he toured India a couple of years ago.

The church supported Shareen through its own American Friends Mission.

The Tri-Town Extension Club members support Constantine, age 9, who lives in Kentung, Burma at the Catholic Mission under the Foster Parents Plan.

The people interviewed in connection with this story are modest, but gave information in the hope that others in the Tecumseh area will see fit to contribute to this missionary work.

More details can be had by calling this writer at HA 3-2174.

BACK OF SUNSET by Jon Cleary — An unusual novel, filled with authentic medical detail, about a young doctor with a quarter of a million square miles of wilderness to serve. Makeshift operating rooms, bystanders pressed into service as anesthetists or nurses, long distance diagnosis on the wireless, all this is routine procedure for the flying doctors in Australia's bush country.

PURSUIT OF THE PRODIGAL by Louis Auchincloss — The author tells the story of a rebel, a mature man born to wealth, social position, and the influence they guarantee. He forsakes his wife and children, quits the comfortable world of Parmelee Cove, and the family estate on Long Island, spurns the family law firm, even the family money, to seek what love and glory life has for him with his wits and merit. He wants to prove himself a man and not an institution.

THE FLOWERS OF HIROSHIMA by Edita Morris — In Sam Willoughby's high school class in Seattle there had been a beautiful Japanese girl. Sam was half in love with her and when, years later, business took him to Japan he carried her picture in his mind. In Hiroshima that memory was startling revived. But shadows were there, and it wasn't before he began to realize what the aftermath of the Hiroshima holocaust had done to the Japanese family he was living with.

YESTERDAY by Maria Dermout — In this bewitching story-memoir, Maria Dermount recollects the moods, the colors, the emotions, the dramas of a childhood, more than half a century ago, in Java.

What's Going on at BOYSVILLE

By LOUIE CIAVONE

A new teacher has appeared on the Boysville scene. He is Brother James Reese, CSC, originally from Cleveland, Ohio.

He taught last at St. Edward's High School, Austin, Texas.

The students and faculty hope that Brother James enjoys his stay at Boysville.

√

The new school semester has started and Boysville is welcoming a few new students. These boys hail from many parts of the upper and lower peninsula.

√

The Annual Mardi Gras Dance has been changed to a Spring Frolic because of basketball tie-ups. In place of the February dance, the Junior Class is sponsoring its talent show.

√

The Boysville marching band will march in a St. Patrick's Day Parade in Detroit on March 12. Then, following this, they will march the following Sunday in the Cardinal Mercier Council Knights of Columbus Passion Sunday Parade.

The band will probably have sore feet after they finish these parades.

The seventh and eighth grade teams of St. Elizabeth's of Tecumseh and St. Joseph's of Sylvania, Ohio, battled it out in the Boysville Gym on Sunday, January 29th.

St. Elizabeth's won both basketball contests 11-0 and 35-5.

√

The Fighting Knights lost to their former League of the Lakes arch-rivals, the Manchester Dutchmen, on the Knight's home court, Jan. 24.

The Knights were hampered by poor shooting and fouls. The final score was 40-35, Manchester.

Boysville's J V won in a last-second victory, 36-35, over the Junior Dutchmen.

The Knights defeated the Summerfield Bulldogs, 82-71, in a fast-moving game on the Summerfield hardwood, Jan. 27.

It was a battle to the end, but the Knights put up a press in the second half that slowed the Bulldogs down.

All five of Boysville's starters hit in the double figures, with Ken Snooks being high-point man with 19. The Junior Varsity lost, 64-43.

Jim Smith Tells Club of Contest

Architect Jim Smith entertained the Rotary Club with slides pictures and comments based on his experiences as a crew member to the last International Soaring contest held in Germany.

These contests are staged every two years and attract the finest talent from the world.

The comments with the pictures were unusually interesting since he had the opportunity to associate with people having a vital interest in the future of a free Europe.

Over simplified, soaring could be said to consist of applying thermal conditions on a given day to an overgrown kite.

The truth is that many hours of study go into backgrounding the ability to soar, to say nothing of the knowledge that is necessary to produce a skyworthy ship.

Mrs. Updike Is Speaker

The Young Mothers Club met Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Russell Johnston.

Mrs. Bert Updike was the speaker on "Children beginning school."

A donation to the March of Dimes was voted on.

A "come as you are party" was held with prizes awarded to Mrs. Frank Geigler and Mrs. Larry Hart.

There were 21 members and guests present.

Refreshments were served by the hostess with Mrs. Roger Butler as co-hostess.

The next meeting will feature a guest speaker at the home of Mrs. Jerry Barton, Feb. 8.

FOR ALL WE HOLD SACRED
. . . ATTEND CHURCH !

It's easy to jump. Just leave the solid trail behind you and soar into space.

But before you jump—learn how to land! One man can alight gracefully and continue his course. Another will wrap his skis around his head and end up in the hospital.

There are important life-decisions we often describe as "taking the leap." Going to college, choosing a career, getting married—these are just a few. And these "leaps" lead to happiness for some—and tragedy for others.

The Church with its program of worship and religious education makes essential contributions to our life. For what happens after our major "leaps" depends on the character which has been instilled in us, and on the principles by which we live.

The Church prepares us for the leaps we are going to take by teaching us how to land happily, and to continue a right course throughout life.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake, (2) For his children's sake, (3) For the sake of his community and nation, (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

737 Given Skin Tests

During the summer of 1960 the Tecumseh Community Health Study included, along with the medical examinations then being done, a special study of tuberculosis and histoplasmosis.

This study was planned and supervised by Drs. H. J. Dodge and Millicent Payne.

Dr. Dodge has also been conducting a similar study, limited to school children, in Milan.

A report on this has just been made, which shows that the Milan children have had a much higher rate of exposure to histoplasmoisis than is usually found in this part of the country.

No other similar areas are known in Michigan at present, although many such are present in the Ohio and Mississippi River valleys.

There is no evidence of unusual prevalence of tuberculosis exposure in Milan.

☆

UNDER THE circumstances it appears useful to give a preliminary report on some of the results of the study done in Tecumseh last summer.

A sample of 737 persons were given skin tests for both infections. These included people of all ages, not just school children.

Of these 4.9% were sensitive to both tests, 14.2% were positive to the tuberculin test only and 11.5% were positive to the histoplasmin test alone. The remainder were negative to both tests.

Nearly all of the positive tests were in adults, particularly older adults, and were more common in men than in women.

These are low rates of infection which are similar to those found in other communities in this part of Michigan.

THE LEVEL of histoplasim sensitivity is thus much lower than in Milan, where rates in the school children increase from about 25% in the early grades to about 95% in the highest grades.

The results of tuberculin testing, on the other hand, are similar in the children of the two communities.

These positive skin tests do not indicate that the person has the disease. They only show that the individual has at some time in the past had the infection.

Only a small proportion of tuberculous or histoplasma infections result in any illness.

DOLLAR and SENSE FARMING.

PLAN YOUR SOW HERD around lower hog prices this fall and through 1962. Farrowings this winter are up about 8% in the Corn Belt and the total spring pig crop is expected to top year-ago levels by 5%. Farrow all sows which are now bred. But select only the better ones to rebred. Those which fail to farrow 6 pigs or more will not generally be profitable during the period ahead.

CHECK CATTLE FOR LICE. If treatment is necessary, use a dust unless a warm day should come along to permit spraying. Beef cattle can be treated with such materials as Co-Ral, malathion, toxaphene, lindane, methoxychlor and Korlan. Follow precautions on the can. Many of these materials cannot be used within one to two months of slaughter. Only Rotenone and pyrethrins are recommended for dairy cows.

TANDEM HOOK-UP OF SMALL TRACTORS can increase their pulling power by as much as 35%. Hooking smaller tractors in tandem will permit you to do the heavy work of plowing and disking while allowing you to keep your tractor investment down. Most economical hookup is attaching one tractor in front of another. This can be done for a cost of $150 to $200.

CONTROL WILD OATS IN SMALL GRAINS by using either Avadex or Carbyne. Both are commercially available for the first time this year. These chemicals have improved yields as much as 9 to 10 bushels where wild oats were a problem. Avadex is applied ahead of planting by disking it into the top one to two inches of soil. Carbyne is applied to grains when they reach the two-leaf stage.

VOICE of THE HERALD

Some Argue Our Opinion

Many have questioned The Herald as to its stand on the present school financial situation. And, why your community paper has taken this view.

Some of the people raising questions are unaware of the complicated financing that faces their superintendent and school board. It's difficult to explain, and this fact alone, has troubled many residents.

There's little doubt that your superintendent and board are managing and operating the schools and its program efficiently and economically with the money they receive.

Some unquestionably will argue that statement, but we don't feel that that is the problem or question. The question is:

How do we continue the best education program possible with the present school income?

Our belief — and it's shared by many — is the Tecumseh schools cannot expect more money from the taxpayers. We question if the school district electorate will approve two or three mills — the amount needed to continue the present program.

Therefore — and we feel this is the point — if you can't secure any more money and you're living beyond your means, there's only one course to take — cut expenses.

Reducing expenses, of course, would incur elimination of some or several portions of the present school program, portions which would have little or no effect on the youngsters' educational growth and development.

Dedicated education officials certainly would never want to cut a school program. They strive for improvement and we should be thankful that they do.

However, a floundering economy, increases in Social Security, strong possibility that City Council will need more money, increase in rural equalized evaluations last year (Tecumseh citizens were fortunate and enjoyed a drop in school taxes cut this winter, but not their rural neighbors), unemployment, higher monthly payments on mortgages due to gradual increase in taxes, etc., affect the vote at the polls.

On the other hand, there's also the belief that Tecumseh has the highest taxes in the state or county. This is not true. There are districts — and close by — where property owners are paying considerably more for the support of their schools.

Our schools are getting big, we'll soon have a Class A high school, and some day we will have to face up to the fact that the schools can't continue unless they receive more money.

We now feel a few cuts in the program, especially at this time, will be welcomed by the people. Perhaps, within the next 12 months or maybe even next fall, people in the district will approve more money. JCL

Really Please Us

One of the little things which thrills us to no end is the way Les Bennett teaches his Tecumseh High School Chorus the social niceties.

Following each public appearance of the group, we'll get a lovely note in the mail, "Thank you very much for the publicity you gave our program. Sincerely, Tecumseh High School Chorus."

We cherish this thoughtfulness, even more so the fact that our local vocal teacher is instructing his young charges not only to be fine singers, but also well rounded ladies and gentlemen.

We Like This Idea

The Herald particularly likes the idea advanced by Mrs. Richard Whelan in the adjoining Letters to the Editor column.

Mrs. Whelan suggests that the Talon, Inc. building, which will be vacated by that firm sometime before Sept. 1, would make an ideal community center.

Of course, there are many angles to such a project, the first being: if another industry can be induced into occupying the structure, this would probably take top priority.

Beyond that, we would imagine a community center arrangement could get the next consideration, assuming that some means of buying the property can be worked out.

The location is good, certainly the setting is beautiful. All sorts of remodeling and renovating ideas come to mind in connection with such a changeover.

We hope that Mrs. Whelan's thought will be given serious consideration by community leaders who eventually could assume the responsibilities for such a venture.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

TO THE EDITORS:

I have enclosed a check to renew my subscription to the Herald. I wouldn't miss it for anything. Congratulations to you and your staff, I think the coverage is great.

After reading last week's article about the Talon plant closing, an idea has crossed my mind again, as it has many times before. Perhaps other people have also had the same idea, but has anyone ever considered the possibility of purchasing the building and using it for a community center to be building, recreation or some other use beneficial to the community?

Actually there are many advantages. It is of some historical value, the location on the pond is beautiful and it would improve the view as one approaches the city from the east. I suppose there are disadvantages of which I am not aware, but it would be interesting to know if anyone else has considered my idea.

What do you think?

Marda Gene Duncan's

THROUGH MY WINDOW

A VISITOR FROM THE SOUTH

Quoting directly from Peterson's "Field Guide"—Carolina Wren. "Field marks: — 5½-6. The largest and reddest of the Wrens; as large as a Sparrow; rufous red above and buff below, with a conspicuous white stripe over the eye."

Well, for goodness sakes, that certainly seemed to fit, but no it just wasn't possible. What would a Carolina Wren be doing around here in the middle of January?

The bird I saw crawling around the top rail of the fence must be something else — but what? True, he did look and act like a member of the wren family.

His movements were quick and nervous, his thorough investigation of the fence showed much curiosity. His body was quite plump and his thin tail was cocked up, very perky.

His color was definitely on the reddish side and yes, even the size was right, he was about sparrow size.

☆

I STILL couldn't believe it though—I simply couldn't have seen a Carolina wren. I had been looking at sparrows so long that it was simply an overwhelming desire to see something different.

Imagination or its likes, I had just about convinced myself that my eyes were playing tricks because after all, a wren, in Michigan, in January—ridiculous.

By lunchtime, only the slightest of slight doubts remained and to dispel this, I asked that the Field Guide be put on my reading table.

While sipping a cup of tea I would again read what they had to say, study the picture carefully and surely the matter would be settled.

Well, it was, but not as I thought it would be. One look at the picture and all my serious talking to myself went right up in the air. The bird I had seen out on the fence did look like a Carolina Wren.

About this time, the bird itself took control of the situation. Had he known the inner-turmoil and frustration at not being able to decide for sure, he could not have arranged things better.

The book was right in front of me and I was looking at the picture when there on my feeder, as nice as could be, was the bird. I could hardly believe my eyes, never had a newcomer been so obliging before but there he was and there, for some time, he stayed.

☆

HIS VISIT was lengthy enough so that we checked point by point—sparorw size, reddish, unstriped back, white eye strip, light buff below and faint black bars on his tail.

He was much too big for a winter wren, there were no white tips on the outer tail feathers as with a Bewick wren, and his back lacked the stripes of the long-billed marsh-wren.

No doubt about it, we had a Carolina wren.

When the bird flew away, we flew into the bird-books and actually, they were quite disappointing. What little information they gave was not too satisfying.

The fact that the CW is most beneficial to southern farmers because he eats the destructive cotton boll-weevil is not too pertinent to us here in Tecumseh. The northern boundry of this habitual range was very indefinite.

Population pressure and the shortage of food will cause great wandering so perhaps that explains our visitor.

Fortunately, this has not been a one-stop performance. He has been back several times. The suet interests him greatly. In true wren-like fashion his curiosity is limitless. He flits here, there and everywhere, poking his long bill into everything. Lots of fun.

☆

OUR FIRST experience with a wren this time of year made us curious to know if anyone else has had similar "going-on."

I telephoned Ella Brown, the bird-watching pro of Tecumseh, as Clara Waldron once called her, and she reported several wren sightings. She had one in her yard, but had been unable to put the glasses on him for sure identification. The Snedecors in Brownville had told her they had a winter wren.

Wrens this time of year aren't as unheard of as I thought — good, let's hope we have lots of them.

So it is that we have hosted a Carolina wren. Believe me, you have no idea of what a relief it was to know that he was not just a sparrow with a henna rinse, but a real visitor from the South.

TOM RIORDAN'S Long AND Short

To be in business around these parts takes a pretty hard head.

There are two cases in point to substantiate this:

1. Jack Osburn, real estate man.

2. Harvey Wilson, auto dealer.

Last week, Jack was driving on M-23 when his car hit an icy spot and spun out of control.

Going backwards, it smashed into a tree. Jack realized he had no chance of doing anything and was starting to fall under the dashboard on the right side.

He didn't make it.

The impact of vehicle-hitting-tree pushed Jack's head right through the windshield.

At this point the lights went out, Jack mused later. He awoke in St. Joseph's Hospital in Ann Arbor.

Doctors sewed him up, taking about 70 stitches before they stopped counting.

In a day's time Jack was up and wanting to go home. The hospital officials finally said "OK" the fourth day although such injuries probably should have a week to 10 days of convalescence.

But Jack was getting so nervous, they figured more harm than good would come of a longer rest.

So Jack is home now, sporting a chic Yul Brunner haircut and a scar that would be the envy of any Heidelberg University dueling scholar.

☆

NOW, AS to Brother Wilson.

There was a fire Sunday afternoon in a barn-type building behind Harvey's agency, which is used for painting and bump shop work.

Harvey was talking with some folks about a car out in front when suddenly someone spied smoke.

There was a newly-painted car, some engines, agency records and other gear in the structure.

Harvey rushed to the locked door and tried to kick it open, in the excitement forgetting that the key was on a chain, dangling from the front door of the showroom, where he left it moments before.

He gave one tremendous boot and a wham! a window frame from the second floor jarred loose and broken glass showered his dome.

Harvey was cut on the head and had pulled muscles in his back. He was taken to the hospital for a check. In a short time, Harvey was back at the blaze.

See what I mean about being hard-skulled?

Next week's paper will contain the winners and honorable mention entries in our "If I Were Mayor of Tecumseh" contest.

City GOPs To Gather

Tecumseh Republicans will meet in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rheinhart, 812 Red Mill Dr., Thursday, Feb. 9 at 8 p.m. All interested GOPs are welcome.

Adrian Driver Crashes Head-On into Doctor's Car

An Adrian motorist crashed head-on into the car of Dr. Ralph Helzerman Sunday evening on Adrian St.

Mrs. Helzerman, riding with her husband, was injured and hospitalized.

The other driver, John W. Sexton, 39, of Adrian, was later charged with reckless operation, fined $50 and $4.30 costs in justice court.

A passenger in the Sexton car, Bobby Sexton, was hospitalized.

Mr. Sexton was seen crossing the yellow line several times before he hit the Helzerman vehicle.

It was also reported by Tecumseh police that Mr. Sexton was traveling at a high rate of speed, based on skid marks of his car.

Both Dr. and Mrs. Helzerman sustained bruises and Mrs. Helzerman is in Herrick Memorial Hospital awaiting the result of x-rays.

1,000 Books Displayed for Session

An exhibit of more than 1,000 books for kindergarten through twelfth grade were on display Friday at the Tecumseh Acres School for the county institute of librarians.

This workshop was held to assist librarians with ordering new books from the collection covering over 30 subject categories.

Teachers were invited to view the books for 1960 Thursday evening.

Zorita Davis, professor of education of the University of Michigan, was the speaker.

Complaints About Grill Told Council

By JIM LINCOLN

Complaints from residents about a local restaurant, parking meters and a discussion to discontinue spraying elm trees here highlighted the Council session Monday night.

Bud Morley of Bud's Grill questioned police action in enforcing the curfew for teenagers at his place and not at others.

Chief George Kilbourn said there had been numerous complaints received and reported infractions turned in at the police station.

The restaurant owner said that he was unable to prevent some of the occurrences and was attempting to run a clean place of business for the youngsters.

Council requested the chief and Mr. Morley get together first before taking any action in the future.

Installation of several penny meters in the off-street lots, setting a fixed charge of 25c per day for physically-handicapped business people, and installation of a five-hour parking meter in front of Dr. Ralph Helzerman's office were approved.

☆

COUNCIL DELAYED its decision on spraying in town until after a meeting with a state highway representative.

Spraying in the past apparently has been useless and Council has favored planting numerous new trees to replace the diseased elms.

In other action:

Council approved scheduling of curb-and-gutter for N. Pearl St., between Iroquois and Logan.

● Referred parking meter problem at the post office to parking committee.

● Deferred to next meeting any action on a proposed building code.

BUILDING BEHIND WILSON MOTOR SALES WAS RAVISHED BY FIRE SUNDAY

2 'Young' Ladies Honored by Club

An unusual program, presented by Mrs. Maynard Mulvaney, provided an interesting half-hour for friends of Mrs. Jennie Temple and Elizabeth Beamish last Sunday afternoon at the Methodist Church.

In music and song, Mrs. Mulvaney revealed incidents in the lives of the two honored guests — from babyhood to the present time.

The audience participated and Mrs. Wilfred Waldron accompanied at the piano.

"Braham's Lullabye" was composed the year Miss Beamish was born. "Onward Christian Soldiers" was a new hymn written a few months before Mrs. Temple's birth.

Guests were welcomed at the door by the class president, Mrs. George Green, and conducted to the guests books, where Mrs. Edward Leighton was in charge.

Pictures of the ladies were taken by Wilfred Waldron.

Beautifully trimmed cakes, flanked by pink candles, were served from a table covered with lace over a pink satin cloth, with Mrs. Green and Mrs. Viola Marks pouring beverages.

The class presented corsages to the honored guests.

Nearly 100 were served refreshments with Mrs. Enna Whaley, general chairman.

Greeting Card Sent by Group

Mrs. Henry Karl Smith was hostess to 22 members of the Harmony Homemakers Club Wednesday, Jan. 25.

After a co-operative dinner, a greeting card was signed and sent to Mrs. Roy Richard, 3076 Kathleen St., Riverside, Calif. Mrs. Richard was a former member of the club.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Roscoe Hewlett, Feb. 22.

Blaze Destroys Building

Fire destroyed a two-story structure behind Wilson Motor Sales Sunday.

It was owned by the agency and used for paint and body work.

Cause was not determined.

Consumed by the blaze were a used station wagon, newly-painted the day before, a new engine and three rebuilt engines.

There also were some new and used tires, as well as spray equipment.

Owner, Harvey Wilson said that the building was insured for $10,000 and the contents for $3,000. The actual contents were probably worth $5,000, he said.

School Article

Second in the The Herald's comprehensive series on Tecumseh Schools appears on the first page of the second section.

Water Pipes Continue to Freeze

Water service to six more Tecumseh patrons was frozen last week, reports John Kopka.

All are back in working order, thanks to the thawing operation by Mr. Kopka and his city crew.

However, these six and the two victims from the past week must keep a faucet running to maintain service.

Newest trouble spots:

● William Clark home, 704 Wenonah St.

● George Choske home, 707 Wenonah St.

● Lewis Goodwin home, 616 N. Evans St.

● Max L. Van Camp home, 204 E. Kilbuck St.

● Brookside Cemetery office, 500 N. Union St.

● Tecumseh Saw Shop, 414 N. Evans St.

Mr. Kopka states that this is the worst winter for freezing pipes since 1952.

He said that this spring, service lines to Wenonah St. homes will be lowered. At present the water main there is 27 inches below the surface. The frost line is now at depths up to 36 inches.

B&PW Club Dines, Goes to Circus

Thirty-six members of the Business and Professional Women's Club attended the Shrine Circus last week, following dinner at Dearborn Inn.

This was the annual trip of the group, highlighting the year's activities.

Several in the group had the opportunity to speak to Emmett Kelly, who responded with his "Sad Willie" act.

Mrs. Fred Randall, one of those attending, said, "The aerial acts were out of this world, the elephants are my favorite and the horses were beautiful."

Gale Fisher Drops Pontiac Franchise

The Sunoco service station and the service department are to be continued as before, and tentative plans include the selling of used cars.

TECUMSEH AND THE CIVIL WAR

The Underground Railroad

(Editor's note: One-hundred years ago this spring, the War Between the States began. Few of us probably realize the part that our community played in that conflict. Clara Waldron, who is preparing a history of Tecumseh, has kindly provided The Herald with the section of her work which deals with the Civil War. It will appear in serial form, the first portion beginning below.)

By CLARA WALDRON

Recruiting and equipping of the "Tecumseh Volunteers" was the first decisive Civil War act of the Tecumseh community, following the capture of Fort Sumpter.

This was a military unit, which was to become Company G of the Fourth Michigan Infantry. The fact that, on May 28, 1861 a little more than six weeks later, it was officially mustered in would seem to indicate that there had been some advance preparation.

As a matter of fact, of course, those years immediately before the war, with their growing resentment against the southern states, had been a gradual, though unconscious preparation for the coming conflict.

In the industrial east that resentment had been partly economic. In the agricultural west the reaction was different.

Although Tecumseh was selling wheat in 1859 for 75c a bushel it was not especially worried about its financial future. Rather the concern of most of its citizens was a growing anger at the threat to the Union and a growing revulsion against slavery.

Fiery editorials from the pen of Benjamin Baxter on the Dred Scott desicion and kindred topics were appearing in The Tecumseh Herald, while anti-slavery lectures and debates were frequent.

Probably Tecumseh was more conscious of slavery than most northern towns because of the convictions and activities of its Quaker citizens and its close proximity to the operations of the "Underground Railway", centered about Raisin Valley, a few miles south.

Much has been written about the underground and about its local moving spirits, Elizabeth Chandler and "Aunt Laura" Haviland.

Suffice it to say here that practically every Quaker home, and some of those of the "world's people'" were stations of that underground. How many were located in Tecumseh itself is a moot point.

Only the French underground of World War II was carried on more secretly.

Those taking part here during the Civil War were so impressed with the need for silence, that few of them talked even after that need was past.

There is no question that the Samuel Satterthwaite farm home—now located in the center of Tecumseh Acres at 905 Shady Lane and owned by Robert Wood—hid many escaping slaves.

So did the present Aaron Steele home, 6988 Green

A fox furpiece, coupled with the keen sense of humor of Mrs. John Surratt, better-known as Dode to her friends, were the ingredients for an amusing incident at the Surratt household last week.

When searching for curtains for son Paul's apartment at school, Dode came across the furpiece stored away in a chest.

No doubt it surprised her and she took the opportunity to use it for a bit of fun with a younger son, ten-year-old George.

Quietly she slipped into the room where he and a friend, Gussie Bishop, were sound asleep. She stuffed Mr. Fox into George's trouser leg leaving only his sharp little nose sticking out.

Next morning with eyes shining and rubbing one fist George said, "I knew I couldn't outrun the thing so I just started slugging."

It's no wonder that the Surratts, big and little, all wear happy smiles with a mom like Dode.

"We are grateful to you for this active cooperation. We are convinced that public efforts like this will get the safety message across to a lot of people who would not be reached otherwise."

This certificate is from the Auto Industry Highway Safety Committee of Washington, D.C.

MRS. BILL BEARDSLEY

Attend Session

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Walsh and Bill Wright of Tecumseh attended the annual mid-season meeting of the Michigan State Pharmaceutical Association in Saginaw last week.

Mr. Walsh was convention delegate from Lenawee-Hillsdale Counties.

Civil War

Rd., which is immediately south of Wolf Tire & Appliance.

Tradition also says that the Judge Stacy house, 710 W. Chicago Blvd. called the Turner house, and presently owned by Mel Wegner, played at least a minor part.

One former resident of Tecumseh, Mrs. Charles Slayton, could tell vivid and authentic stories of the fugitives hidden in her childhood home, but that home was the Laing farm in Raisin Valley, not her adult one in Tecumseh.

She could remember, and sing, the words of the spirituals that the black people sang in the evening when they dared to emerge from their hiding places.

She made it very real, illustrating how, although partly cloaked in secrecy, the plight of the slaves could sway local thinking.

☆

ANOTHER activity of Aunt Laura's also brought the community in closer contact with colored people and their problems.

This was her school, "The Raisin Institute", a day and boarding school, open to both white and colored boys and girls, which was located on what is now Wilmouth Highway, just south of Sutton School.

Although first intended for indigent children only, there were times during its 20 years of rather tempestuous existence when it had some excellent teachers and attracted many local young people.

There they learned to associate with colored students, most of whom had been former slaves.

To be sure not everyone in the community was in sympathy. We are prone now to suppose that all the north was anti-slavery, but there were many who considered Aunt Laura just a trouble maker, mixing with things that were none of her affair and literally trying to steal the property of the slave owners.

There was apparently also only a segment of the voters who agreed with the stirring words printed on the posters that appeared about town, early in 1854, inviting "all fellow citizens, without reference to former political associations, to assemble at a mass meeting in Jackson on July 6, to take measures to concentrate and organize against the slave power".

"A great wrong has been perpetrated" said the poster, "The Missouri Compromise, a solemn compact entered into by our fathers has been violated. This wrong must be righted or there is to be no longer a North in the councils of the nation."

☆

THOSE WERE fighting words and the "Union" or Republican party, which resulted, played an important role in the thought of the times.

Many Tecumseh men made the long drive to Jackson for that meeting "under the oaks". (The railroad would not be completed until the next year).

Chairman of the gatherings, Levi Baxter, had been one of the town's early citizens, but even so, Tecumseh did not at once become the Republican stronghold of later years.

It may come as a shock to this generation, reared in reverence of the Lincoln hero-image, to learn that Tecumseh did not even vote for him in 1860 and in 1864 elected him by the very narrow margin of 379 votes to 366.

To us that seems close to treason, to the voters then he was only another politician.

Anita Dickinson Marries Bill Beardsley

A wedding of interest to Tecumseh residents was solemnized Saturday at the First Presbyterian Church in Ann Arbor by the Rev. David Van Winkle, associate pastor.

Anita Dickinson, daughter of Mrs. Claire Dickinson and the late Mr. Dickinson of 211 W. Pottawatamie St., became the bride of William Beardsley, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Beardsley of 121 Maple St, and the late Mr. Beardsley.

The altar vases were filled with bouquets of white gladioli and pompons with emerald foliage.

Fred C. Dickinson sang "Because" and "The Wedding Prayer" and "The Lord's Prayer" following the benediction. He was accompanied by his wife.

☆

THE BRIDE, radiant in her Maude Bell gown of white mist taffeta, was given in marriage by her brother, Allen Dickinson.

The bodice of the gown featured bracelet length sleeves and a rounded neckline appliqued with re-embroidered Alencon lace medallions.

The box pleated dome skirt was street length and worn over ruffled net.

Her shoulder length veil was attached to a pearl crown. She carried a colonial bouquet of white and red roses.

Mrs. A. W. Allen, nee Elva Dickinson of New Jersey was her sister's matron of honor. She wore a gown of ruby red velveteen styled with rounded neckline and three quarter sleeves.

Her headpiece and shoes matched in color and she carried a colonial bouquet of red and dusty pink roses.

☆

JERRY BARRON served as best man and the guests were seated by Melvin Boltz and Robert Binns.

Following the wedding, breakfast was served to 30 at Weber's Supper Club, Ann Arbor where the tables were decorated with centerpieces of red carnations and white pompons and loose blossoms encircled the cake.

The couple will make their home at Pine Grove Terrace, Apt. K9, Ypsilanti, Mich.

The bride is a graduate of Tecumseh High School and the Mercy School of Nursing of Detroit, Ann Arbor Unit. She is presently employed by Dr. Reed O. Dingman of Ann Arbor.

The groom is a Tecumseh High School graduate and attends Eastern Michigan University where he is studying for a master's degree.

He has spent two years in the armed forces and is employed at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor.

+ Worship at 9 In Springville

Worship services are held each Sunday morning at 9 a.m. at the Springville Methodist Church with church school following at 10 a.m.

Special services were held Monday and Tuesday evening. Mrs. Gordon Gove was the soloist Tuesday evening singing the "Holy City."

+ Great Events Are Surrounded by Drudgery

The horizons and the past appeal to us in a special sort of way. We glamorize the past and romanticize the horizons.

At times this is all right. However, at other times, it creates a false picture and leads to distortion.

In understanding discipleship of a past day, it is well to look at it realistically that we may fully appreciate its meaning for our lives.

The sermon at the Presbyterian Church this Sunday, entitled "Greatness Without Glory" deals with great events of the past and reveals how they were surrounded by drudgery and the common place.

Beginning Wednesday, Feb. 15, the following Lenten Study Groups will be conducted by the Women of the Presbyterian Church.

Feb. 15 — Home of Mrs. Carlton Cook, 9:30 a.m.

Feb. 15 — Home of Mrs. Ben Gillies, 9:30 a.m.

Feb. 16 — Home of Mrs. Al Helzerman, 9 a.m.

These groups will meet each week during Lent.

Mrs. Cook will provide a nursery for those of her group with small children. All women of the church and community are invited to attend one of these groups.

Mrs. Cook suggests that those attending the studies read the Gospel of John, Chapters 1 through 18.

Session of the church will meet Thursday, Feb. 9, at 8 p.m. in the Fellowship Center.

The Women's Association gathers in the Fellowship Center of the Church on Wednesday, Feb. 15, at 2 p.m.

+ Youth Week Is Being Observed at Friends Church

Youth Week is being observed at the Tecumseh Friends Church with special meetings each night at 7:30 p.m.

The Rev. Miller Lydic of Washington, Pa. is the speaker.

The Rev. Mr. Lydic's messages are based upon the Bible's answers to young people's questions of today.

Mrs. Lee Spohr of Ridgeway is directing the music for the services, as well as the youth choir of 30 voices.

Thursday evening, the trumpet trio composed of Joyce Brugger, Steve Van Valkenburg and John Hayden will play.

Friday evening, Karen Kelly and Marilyn Johnson will play a flute duet.

Russell Rieve will present an accordion solo Saturday evening.

Bonnie Strahle and Linda Sinkey will be singing Sunday evening.

Youth Week is sponsored by the Senior Friends Youth Fellowship. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wiemer, Marjorie Martin and Carolyn Chase are the advisors for this group.

+ Revival Comes to Nazarene Church Here

Tecumseh Church of the Nazarene will be host for a Traveling Revival Feb. 9 at 7:30 p.m.

The Ann Arbor Zone is sponsoring the revival all week at the various churches each evening at 7:30 p.m.

Thursday evening here in Tecumseh, the Rev. Eldon Raymond of Flat Rock will be the speaker. Music will be furnished by the Temperance Church.

The Rev. Betty Wagner invites the public to attend.

+ Beauty Is Theme

Beauty is a theme of the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Soul" to be presented at Christian Science Services Sunday.

+ Boy Scouts To Be Honored Sunday Morning

Boy Scout Sunday will be observed this week at Tecumseh Methodist Church with Boy Scouts attending the 10 a.m. service.

God and Country Awards will be presented to Jerry Hale, Stephen Hunt, Charles Trickey and Roger Beal.

The Rev. Allen Wittrup has chosen for his sermon topic "My Most Precious Possession."

"Our sons and daughters are precious to us and they look to us for leadership and example," he states.

Church School meets at 11:15 a.m. with classes for all ages.

On Ash Wednesday, Feb. 15, at 7:30, the Lenten Mid-Week Services will begin.

The Rev. Paul Brantingham of the Friends Church will be the speaker. Everyone is invited.

The World Day of Prayer is Friday, Feb. 17, at 1:30 p.m. at the Presbyterian Church for all church women.

Starts Revival Series Feb. 15

Special revival services are scheduled Feb. 15 through 26 at 7:45 each evening in the Ridgeway Church of the Nazarene.

Rev. T. T. Liddell, evangelist, will be in charge of the services.

The Rev. Fred Belleville, pastor states, "A friendly welcome awaits you."

The Rev. Mr. Liddell, of Evergreen Park, Ill., is an outstanding minister in the Church of the Nazarene.

He has pastored 22 years, with good success in our leading churches in Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin, Michigan and Virginia. He has spent 12 years in the field of evangelism to which he is now devoting his full time.

Although the major interest of Mr. Liddell's ministry is preaching, he is a writer, gospel song writer and musician.

His articles have appeared in "Come Ye Apart" and the "Herald of Holiness," and he has music published in much-used song books for solos and duets.

2 from Whelan's Attend Sessions

Dick Whelan and Cecil Alderdyce of Whelan's Implements have returned from a two-week course at the John Deere Co. in Waterloo, Iowa.

110 Year Old Valentine Is Now on Display

An antique Valentine, 110 years old, is on display in the show window of Osborne Dept. Store.

The colorful card, still in excellent condition, was sent to a Dr. George Goodrich in 1851 from San Francisco.

The Clinton veterinarian was the first white child born in Lenawee County.

Roy Prichard, owner of the card, has a complete history of the Valentine.

Renovate St. Peter's Church

"Repair—restoration—improvement"

These are the key words behind a program planned for St. Peter's Episcopal Church, the oldest standing Episcopal Church building in Michigan and one of the oldest in continuous use in the entire midwest.

As time takes its toll of all material things, so age with decay has set in at St. Peter's Foundation and supporting timbers of the building need repair and replacement.

Due to the nature of the repair work, it is expected that a basement will be excavated, a new floor put in the church and a new addition built on the west end of the building.

This will provide a new Sanctuary and Sacristy and new church school rooms, for a school which has gained 76% in the last 10 years.

The character of the building, which has often been called "colonial" is actually a mixture of architectural styles.

Orin Bullock, Jr., Supervisor of Architectural Research at Colonial Williamsburg, Va., recently wrote of St. Peter's in Tecumseh:

"The period 1820 to 1860 is called the romantic period in American Architecture and your Church shows signs of the Gothic taste in its pointed windows and the Greek or Classical taste in its columned portico.

"It could probably be called, in the Greek Revival manner. I don't think that I would call it any kind of Colonial, it is more accurately pioneer architecture.

"It's date is a little later than that of similar buildings on the east coast, but it is certainly a fine example of the period."

University of Michigan professor-emeritus of architecture, Emil Lorch of Ann Arbor, an authority on historic buildings, pointed out in a visit to St. Peter's that the church is of simple classical design and this simplicity should be retained in any remodeling.

St. Peter's has undergone a number of changes since it was first built in 1833. Originally the altar was at the east end of the building and there were galleries on three sides.

The pews were equipped with doors, which have since been removed. In 1868, during the post Civil War expansion, the galleries were removed, the pews were turned around, and a small sanctuary addition was built on the west end.

In 1901 choir stalls were added and a platform was built out into the nave.

Exteriorly the church has altered little. The color was apparantly originally white, but then it was painted, according to the records, "apple green with white trim".

The interior walls were a dark brown and the pews were painted brown. The white interior with the contrasting walnut trim on the furnishings was restored in 1939.

PLAN RENOVATION—Phil Colgrove, Larry Blum and the Rev. Frank Hawthorne, rector of St. Peter's Church, study floorplan of the structure, which is going to be completely renovated. Mr. Colgrove holds a small piece of wood, taken from a rotting supporting beam under church

Corn Yield: 145 Bushels Per Acre

Tecumseh Future Farmers of America have just completed the records on their group projects for the past year.

This year the boys farmed 14 acres of corn.

The four acres at the sewage plant was on a high plant population experiment. The rows were spaced 38 inches apart and the final spacing in the row after cultivating was 6.7 inches, this gave a population of about 24,500 plants per acre.

The recommended population for this area is about 16,000 to 18,000 plants per acre.

To allow for this population the boys applied 500 pounds of 5-20-20 fertilizer per acre when planting, then side-dressed with 180 pounds of actual nitrogen, using urea then cultivating; and later adding 100 pounds additional nitrogen in the form of anhydrous ammonia.

The boys used insecticide and weed spray in the row when planting the corn. The field has been in continous corn for the past six years, the highest yield to date being 95 bushels per acre and the six year average 85 bushels per acre.

This year, the yield was 142 bushels per acre.

On the remaining 10 acres, the boys used 240 pounds of 5-20-20 fertilizer per acre when planting, then side dressed with 100 pounds of actual nitrogen.

The spacing was 10 inches apart in 38-inch rows, which gave a population of 16,500 plant per acre. The yield was 108 bushels per acre.

Exchange Ladies Night Is Monday

Clifford Rice, manager of the Adrian office of the Michigan Employment Commission, spoke to members of the Exchange Club Monday evening at the Eagle Hall.

Ladies Night will be observed at the meeting Feb. 13.

All past presidents are asked to submit summaries of projects undertaken when they were in office and photographs of same if possible.

This material is to be given to Doug Dunn as soon as possible.

Surprised Sunday

Mr. and Mrs. Theo Dowling were surprised Sunday evening when Mrs. Rena Bailey, La Vere Wooden and Mr. and Mrs. Fay Bilby all of Onsted and Mr. and Mrs. Don Bilby of Tecumseh called and spent the evening bringing two birthday cakes, cookies and jello. The two cakes were for Mr. and Mrs. Fay Dowling in honor of both of their birthdays.

Young Americans Hold Spotlight in Feature Film

"SHADOW OF THE BOOMERANG," a Billy Graham feature length film will premiere in Tecumseh, Wednesday, Feb. 15 in the Tecumseh Friends Church at 7:30 p.m.

This is an outdoor action picture with the setting in Australia's vast interior region, where some of the world's largest cattle stations are located.

Two young Americans, as brother and sister, perform in a turbulent story of homestead life.

This film seeks to underline the Godly reaction to human crisis and conflicts with Billy Graham as spokesman for the Christian position.

Mesdames Mrs. Carl Barnes and Mrs. Earl Wickwire Monday when the Wit and Wisdom Club met at the Wickwire home. Mr. and Mrs. John Thompson were guests.

A panel discussion by M. M. Halley, Fay Van Valkenburg, John Surratt and Fred Dickinson proved interesting.

Maria Kasno and Mrs. David Higgins attended the North American Beauty and Fashion Show at the Sheraton-Cadillac Hotel in Detroit Monday.

Affirmative Side Remains Undefeated

The Tecumseh High School debate team won its meet with Romulus Jan. 28.

This win sends the undefeated affirmative team, Fawn Choske and Nancy Nixon, to the district elimination.

The negative team, Arthur Collingsworth and Sue Fuller, have not been so fortunate. They have not yet experienced a win.

The subject of the debate was "Resolved: that the United Nations should be significantly strengthened."

The group will go to Ann Arbor High School Feb. 16 for the District One debate elimination.

Anthony Bronzo, advisor, said, "Since none of these young people have had previous experience before this year, I think they are doing fine work."

Young People Assist Pastor

Four young people assisted the pastor of the First Baptist Church Sunday during the opening of the worship service.

Helping were Karen Butler, David Grigg, Gary Honeycutt and Evelyn Beland.

The Young People's group meets each Sunday evening with the adults for the study of the Book of Revelation, preceding their own fellowship hour at 8 p.m.

"To the Churches With Love" is the name of the study book.

Children Honor the John Cooks

Mr. and Mrs. John Cook were honored Sunday when their children entertained for them at their home on Beebe Highway. The occasion being their 50th Wedding Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Cook were married Feb. 8, 1911 in Franklin Township and have lived their entire married life in Franklin Township.

They have 4 children, Dale and Dean of Tipton, Dorothy Lembrick of Britton and Donald at home and seven grandchildren.

A decorations were in keeping with the day. A lovely two tiered cake centered the table, with candles and small arrangements of violets encircling them at either end of the table. Plants and bouquets further decorated the house.

Series Opens

Sunday, Feb. 5, will be the date for the first of a series of fellowship meetings at the First Baptist Church.

The guidance book to be used, written on the Book of Revelations, is entitled, "To the Church's with Love."

The Rev. Blair Bashore will conduct the one-hour session, beginning promptly at 7 p.m. in the sanctuary.

Indian Quintet Faces Blissfield

The Tecumseh Indians dropped a squeaker Friday night at Flat Rock, 48-46, for their eighth loss in the Huron League against a lone victory.

After a dismal first quarter, Coach Doug Murdoch's cagers caught fire in the second period for 22 points and enough to hold a one-point lead at the half.

Both clubs collected just six points in the third stanza, but the Rams outscored the locals 14 to 11 in the final quarter for a two-point win.

John Britton and Larry Titley with 14 and 10 points respectively, paced Tecumseh. Larry Hehl, only FR player to tally in two figures, scored 15 points for top honors.

Coach Jim Hoffman's reserves also lost, 54-49.

Tecumseh takes to the road again this Friday night, playing the Blissfield Royals at Blissfield.

VOICE of THE HERALD

Your Opinion Is Welcome

Just about everyone enjoys opening and reading mail. Editors of this newspaper are no exception.

We especially like to find correspondence from readers, who have expressed their views on current issues, or just dropped a line with some news.

Whether reader opinion agrees with our thinking or not, we are happy to print it (as long as we know from whom the letter comes. Unsigned notes are deposited in the waste basket.)

The reason we want correspondence to appear in type is simple. It shows folks are interested in their community and are willing to sit down and put their thoughts on paper.

Unfortunately, there are some readers who are opposed to writing newspapers. They apparently figure a letter is a "beef" and they don't want to be labeled as malcontents.

We, of course, wish they would alter their thinking and express their views.

Of late, The Herald has printed some controversial material, which has drawn a series of vocal blasts. We ask that these folks put their opinions in writing. It's a healthy thing, good for the whole community to hear all sides of an issue.

The Herald doesn't claim to be infallible. We can take—and will always sincerely welcome—constructive criticism.

Remember to sign your name, but if you prefer that it not appear (as the lady did who dropped us the letter appearing in the next column), we will with hold it.

"BEN-HUR" COMES TO TECUMSEH—The famed MGM film starts its run in Tecumseh next Wednesday, featuring Haya Harareet, as Esther, shown here pleading with Charelton Heston, who plays Ben-Hur, to forget his hatred for the Romans. The movie was filmed in Italy.

Our Readers Write

February 7, 1961

TO THE EDITORS:

After all these years I'm finally getting smart. I never stopped to think before what I was doing to the merchants of Tecumseh when I went out of town buying.

Yet, when I wanted a donation for the United Fund, auction for the church, an ad in the school paper, a contribution for a benefit dance, or white elephant sale for Polio, or Teen Club, where did I go?

Not to the out-of-town merchants. I've never seen any of the downtown storemen refuse to give.

It's such a vicious circle when you stop to think about it. When we spend so much of our money out of town, the stores here have to cut down on their stock, and prices can't be lowered because not enough is being sold.

If we would look and shop in Tecumseh first, the merchants could afford to buy a larger variety of merchandise, and lower their prices. These discount houses, for example, may have lower prices, but what are they doing for our town?

They don't pay double taxes (home and business) like the merchants downtown do. These taxes are helping our hospitals, schools, repair streets, etc.

All of the men who work downtown, and women too, help on some part of Tecumseh's growth. They belong to service and Civic clubs, PTAs, churches, and work on benefit drives besides contributing. We want to help our town grow, not others.

I wish we all could get into the habit of looking in Tecumseh FIRST. Maybe this letter will help more people realize what they've been unconsciously doing to some of their friends and neighbors, and indirectly to themselves, by not staying home and shopping here.

From an Enlightened Shopper

TO THE EDITORS:

Would you kindly send me several copies of your paper which carried the story and picture of the two Boysville Boys who built a model Shakespearian Theatre. I believe it would have appeared in your paper of Jan. 15 or 18.

Thanking you, I am

Yours truly,

THROUGH MY WINDOW

"BUCK FEVER"

Sometimes things happen which are just too good to keep. So it is that, although the laugh is most definitely on me, I must share it with you. Without a doubt it is one of the worst, if not the worst, experiences I have ever had as far as bird-watching and photography go.

It was terrible, simply terrible.

Buck fever is, of course, a peculiar ailment, most prevalent in the fall, affecting a few hunters, who have taken to the out-of-doors in search of big game.

In the past I have smiled, probably even laughed, at the stories told, usually not by the person involved, but by a good friend, of perfect shots missed and superb specimen not brought down because of buck fever.

The victim of this strange affliction will have his gunsights trained on the biggest deer imaginable and suddenly finds himself unable to squeeze the trigger of his gun.

It sounds silly, why would anyone not be able to fire a gun — I can't answer why, but believe me, never again will I laugh at anyone in such a predicament. They have my complete and sincerest sympathy.

☆

A FEW days ago, just as I was getting ready to sort over some old bird slides, Ida asked what was on the feeder.

Surprised, well I most certainly was, because there, sitting on the near corner of the feeder, was a flicker. A truly handsome fellow.

Hardly ever do we have flickers on the feeders and although they occasionally do winter over in these parts, this was the first we had ever seen during cold weather.

In relation to how the camera was aimed at the feeder, the bird was in perfect position. Always a spectacular sight, to have a flicker so close, only three feet from the window, was so exciting.

He was big, much bigger than a blue jay, his bill looked huge and the red spot on the back of his head was ever so bright.

The bars and stripes on his back, the crescent on his upper breast and the mustache markings, all jet black, were most noticeable too. He was a beautiful bird.

☆

WHEN HE flew away, Ida turned to me and asked "Why didn't you take his picture?"

Why, indeed. The camera was all set, the switch was pinned to the bed, my hand was even up and ready — I needed only to move it about three inches.

The trouble?

I just couldn't move those three inches. Try as I might, the arm would simply not move. How awful, how perfectly awful.

An opportunity for a picture of a beautiful bird whom never before had we had a chance to photograph and what do I do—nothing. How terrible, how disgusting, how mad I was at myself.

So it was that although my weapon was a camera, not a gun, and the game a bird, not a deer, I had buck-fever. Now is the time to laugh at me.

☆

BUT DON'T laugh too hard, because a few days later, I had a second chance at the flicker and this time everything went smoothly. The bird flew up to the feeder, I pushed the remote control switch and the picture was taken.

There was nothing to it. How could something so impossible one time be so easy the next — who knows?

Since the picture taking and non-picture taking episodes we have had several flicker visits.

One Sunday morning he was especially obliging and as Mom, Dad and I were enjoying breakfast he flew to the feeder and "joined us." We had coffee cake and his preference was suet.

Needless to say, we hope that the flicker becomes a regular and patronizes the feeders often, but, please, no more buck fever.

Who Runs Tecumseh School System?

(Editor's note: This is the second in a series of articles regarding the entire Tecumseh School System, written by an expert educational writer, now living in Tecumseh. Any suggestions about future stories in this series should be directed to Mrs. Comfort in care of The Herald.)

By MARJORIE COMFORT

Ask any adult you meet on the street who runs the public schools, and chances are — don't make any wager on it — his answer will be mostly correct: The superintendent of schools and the board of education.

Ask him who decides how the school funds will be spent, and he probably will give the same answer. Again he will be right — mostly.

But ask him who decides how much money the schools will be able to spend. If he answers, "The local taxpayers," he will be only slightly correct.

A much better answer would be "The Michigan State Legislature and the County Tax Allocation Board."

☆

WHY?

Well, the state lawmakers decide how much money the state will give the schools, and the state pays more than half the total cost of running Michigan's schools.

The tax allocation board decides on the schools' share of non-voted taxes. It's these taxes which pay the entire local cost of operating the Tecumseh School District.

The questions of who runs the schools and who allots the money are puzzling many Tecumseh School District residents, judging from the questions they are asking this newspaper.

So here's a "Who's Who of the Tecumseh Schools."

THE SUPERINTENDENT — Since 1951, this has been James McDowell. He is the professional educator hired by the school board to be responsible for operating the schools, supervising the curriculum, hiring personnel, buying supplies and equipment, keeping financial and educational records.

Everything he does is subject to the approval of the school board, which hires him on a contract basis. His current three-year contract runs until July 1, 1962.

☆

THE BOARD OF EDUCATION — Elected by vote of district residents, the board bears the final responsibility for the entire school program.

It seeks the advice of its superintendent, but does not have to follow his recommendations.

It can hire or fire any person employed in the school district, although with the teachers on tenure status, it must show just cause for firing, if the teacher appeals a dismissal.

The board has seven members. Until last year, only five members were elected, and they served three-year terms. A 1960 state law required all districts operating full 12-grade school programs to have a seven-member board, with persons elected for four-year terms.

When the two new members were elected here, they ran for three-year terms, while two persons who sought reelection were named to four-year terms.

From now on, all elections will be to four-year terms, with the terms staggered so that no more than two persons are elected in any year.

☆

PRESENT members are:

● JENS K. TOUBORG, retired executive of Tecumseh Products Co. He was elected to his first term in 1941, and re-elected each three years since.

● RALPH F. HELZERMAN, M. D., who practices medicine and surgery here. He was first elected in 1946, after returning from military duty.

● ADEN MEAD, former teacher and now with Winter Seal, Inc., at Adrian. He was elected first in 1951, and re-elected in 1954, 1957 and 1960, the last to a four-year term.

● DWIGHT HODGES, co-owner of R. S. Moore Lumber Co. He was first elected in 1951, and re-elected with Mr. Mead.

● VIRGIL TUCKER, secretary of Tecumseh Products Co. He was elected in 1956, and re-elected in 1959.

● RICHARD DUSTIN, M. D., who practices here, elected for his first term in 1960.

● RALPH B. COMFORT, who operates Comfort Brick and Tile Co. in Raisin Township, also elected to his first term in 1960.

LENAWEE COUNTY TAX ALLOCATION BOARD — This group, set up under Michigan's Constitution, divides the taxes which can be levied against a piece of property without the owners' approval.

The state Constitution says the most which can be levied without a vote is 15 mills. A mill is one-tenth of a penny. Fifteen mills would be 1½ cents on every dollar of property value.

An easy way of figuring it, to avoid fractions, is to refer to this as $15 per $1,000 of valuation.

In other words, the money which can be taxed on your property without your approval is $15 for each $1,000 of your property value, as figured on the state equalized value. (This will be explained later in this story.)

The Constitution also says who is to be on the tax allocation board. They are the county clerk, county treasurer, county superintendent of schools and chairman of the financial committee of the county board of supervisors.

Appointed to the tax board, in addition to these officials, is one person to represent any city of more than 15,000 population, and one person to represent any school district in the county which operates a full 12-grade program.

These two appointments are made by the county probate judge, and are subject to change when a new probate judge is elected, as happened last November.

Current members are County Superintendent of Schools Milton Porter, Clerk Alice Welch, Treasurer Willis Moore and Supervisor George Kunze.

Men who were appointed on the last board were Dale Gardner, a member of the Adrian Board of Education, and Clarence Long.

To the tax allocation board are submitted the budgets of all local school districts in the county, all townships which seek operating taxes and the county itself.

The tax board looks over these budgets. It can cut the amount requested if the millage is not sufficient to raise that much money.

If the county is allowed more millage, a like amount must be cut from all the school districts in the county.

If a township is given millage, each school district which enters that township has its millage cut by the same amount.

The Lenawee County Board of Supervisors asked for, and received, 5½ mill in 1959, an increase of a mill from 1958. The money was to be used to repair roads and bridges.

Two years ago, the county board asked voters to approve a special half-mill tax for this purpose, but the voters rejected it. The county tax was three mills in 1956.

Only a few townships in Lenawee County do not collect some of this allocated millage. The amount collected varies, but usually is either one mill or one-half mill.

The school districts receive the remainder of the 15 mills. Tecumseh School District receives 9 mills. Other districts in the county vary from 8.5 to 9.44 mills.

☆

LENAWEE COUNTY BOARD OF EDUCATION — The board, including five members, is elected by vote of the members of local school boards throughout the county.

The county board can transfer property from one district to another, if the area transferred does not include more than 10% of the district's valuation.

The board takes into consideration petitions for transfer from district residents, and the opinions of the losing and gaining school boards.

The county board also operates the county-wide special education program, which voters approved recently, along with a one-half mill tax to finance it.

The county hires the county superintendent of schools and recently added another person to assist the superintendent and be responsible primarily for the special education program.

☆

TOWNSHIP SUPERVISORS — Contrary to an opinion which seems to be held by many Tecumseh area residents, the supervisors have no voice in operating the schools.

Their sole responsibility is in assessing property in the townships, which is taxed for school purposes. Their ability to assess fairly will determine the equality of the taxes their township residents will pay.

Because each township supervisor may use his own system of assessing property and because these systems vary so widely, a state organization has been formed the State Equalized Committee.

☆

STATE EQUALIZATION COMMITTEE — This group, which influences taxes throughout the state, last year said, "All property taxed in this state must be assessed at 50% of its true market value."

This decision last year was responsible for hiking Lenawee County's assessments by 13.6%, and thereby increasing taxes in townships throughout the county.

The same group cut personal property values in the City of Tecumseh by about $5 million, thereby cutting taxes in the city.

Local governmental and school officials had no part in this decision to cut or raise the assessments.

Tecumseh School District extends into seven townships, as well as the city of Tecumseh. If a house that would sell at $10,000 was assessed in various townships at $2,000, $3,000 or $4,000, the state equalization committee would make the various township supervisors multiply their assessments by a figure which in theory would have the final result of valuing each house at $5,000.

MICHIGAN STATE LEGISLATURE — This is the group which decides how much the state will pay to the schools to help them operate.

The money comes from the state sales tax, from taxes on utilities and banking institutions, inheritance taxes and some other minor sources.

It also can require school districts to add certain subjects to their curriculum, or to provide certain services.

Two of these requirements, for bus transportation and driver training classes for minor drivers, were paid for by the state when they were first started.

But the state gradually cut its funds for these, and now the school district must pay part from local funds.

The state Legislature for several years now has said "We will provide $205 in state funds for each child you have in school — with these provisions . . ." and the provisions serve to cut the money available. For instance, Tecumseh now receives only $184.31 for each child enrolled.

☆

MICHIGAN DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION — The department is headed by the state superintendent of public instruction, an official elected every other year in the spring.

The department has many professional consultants in the fields of education, school finance and such, who work with districts around the state.

The state superintendent also serves as the head school administrator in the state. Each year he submits recommendations on school legislation to the state lawmakers.

Other groups which have actual lobbies at Lansing or otherwise try to influence the legislators on school bills include the Michigan Education Association, the Michigan Association of School Boards, the Michigan Association of School Administrators, the American Federation of Teachers (AFL-CIO), the Michigan Congress of Parents and Teachers and other professional, public and civic groups.

Readers Comment on School Articles

This question, "How do you like the school series now appearing in 'The Herald?'" was asked of readers last Friday.

Here are their replies:

ROYAL WELCH, 704 River Acres Dr. — "It's a good start to bring the facts out into the open. This (first) article was very good and evidently the others will be too. School public relations have been very poor."

MRS. LAINE HOLDEN, 208 S. Union St. — "I was delighted to see that the editors are on the ball in getting an outsider to do this work. We, in Tecumseh, are so biased in our opinions. I shall look forward to reading future articles."

ART EATON, 5695 E. Monroe Rd. — "This is a most wonderful thing. Have you heard, is this series to take the place of the town hall meetings. These are wonderful.

"Let's have all the facts, both sides of the picture. They have to learn to trim that budget, all we have had is double talk.

"When the budget is properly trimmed I have no doubt that the voters will allow the increased millage.

"One thing that I would like to see in print is the promises made the various districts at the time of consolidation. Mr. McDowell has not told the whole story.

"He knew that the state equalization was going through, but he said that the millage was not going to go up. He knew that the state equalization was ready to break.

"There are lots of other things and that is where the antagonism has come from. Those things should be printed."

MRS. LEE PRETTYMAN, 113 N. Democrat St. — "Its OK I'm glad The Herald is doing this. Mrs. Comfort is impartial and doesn't know many people here, this is good."

MRS. JAMES HOWARD, 16301 Stalp Rd. — "Mrs. Comfort seems to be trying to be very objective about this work and she is doing a good service, trying to help people to understand where their taxes go. I think it's kind of nice that someone is doing it."

MRS. BETTY WING, 105½ W. Pottawatamie St. — "I have only had an opportunity to skim over it, but I was mostly interested in the cost of education 10 years ago as opposed to costs today."

MRS. ADEN MEAD, 128 W. Brown St. — "I enjoyed it. It's interesting. I thought it was all right."

MRS. RALPH DABE, 502 State St. — "Very good idea, it will help us to understand better both sides of the problem."

HUGH WALTER, 30113 Red Mill Dr. — "Excellent. I have asked several of our people down here (Tecumseh Products Co.) to read the articles. It certainly would be fine if more would read them.

"Added facilities to keep in step with population growth will have to reflect on the tax base. If we don't need them then we won't need an increase, but we can't let the dollar sign in front of our eyes keep us from clear thinking."

MRS. EARL BALDWIN, 9234 Murphy Rd. — "The article was quite informative. I'm looking forward to other issues. So many bad rumors about the school system and the way it is run have been going around. I hope this survey will clear it up.

"With little children, one soon to enter school, I am becoming vitally interested in the kind of an education my children may expect. The survey will spur people to action if they are not satisfied."

MILTON PORTER, county superintendent of schools — "I am very pleased with The Herald and enjoy reading it. The series will provide much valuable information."

JOHN POBUDA, 214 W. Chicago Blvd. — "It's a good thing, another source of telling the public what is happening in the schools. I don't think the public is against the schools, but there is a lack of information."

NEVILLE HART, 115 W. Brown St. — "I think the series is all right, but I certainly disagree with the editorials."

WAYNE REGANALL, 403 Herrick Park Dr. — "It is very good, very factual. Only an enlightened citizenry with all the facts, can really vote intelligently. The Tecumseh Herald is certainly doing a fine job in Mrs. Comfort' column."

MRS. HARRISON GONSER, 600 Murray Dr. — "It seems like a good idea. I certainly will be interested to learn more about the schools. Being a teacher's wife I probably hear more about it than some, but there is still much I would like to know."

DWIGHT HODGES, 312 S. Union St. — "Any and all information given to the public, either in the paper or from Board of Education members is valuable to parents and tax payers in the district."

What's Going on at Boysville

By LOUIS CIAVONE

The Fighting Knights bagged another hardwood victory, stopping the Sand Creek Aggies on Friday, 74-63.

The Knights took an early lead and kept possession of it for the duration of the game.

John McGeshick was high-point man with 28, followed by Ken Snooks with 19 and Pete Mata with 11.

Gunars Vilums, just recently moved up to Varsity from the JV squad, had eight and Gerry Klos seven.

Rich Michniak was strong under the boards for the Knights.

The Knights, having previously been defeated by the Aggies, played a determined game, hitting well on their field goal attempts, but literally killing the Sand Creek chances with their fine shooting at the foul line.

The Knights meshed 20 out of 27 free shots.

The Junior Knights bowed to the Sand Creek JV, 52-38. Stan Klos was high with 18 points; Tom Ryan followed with seven. Walt McManus, Ed Caball, Ron Wells, and John Taylor each had three.

St. Elizabeth's seventh and eighth grade teams played Sacred Heart of Hudson seventh and eighth grade squads in the Boysville gym on Sunday.

Sacred Heart won the seventh grade game in an overtime, 14-13.

St. Elizabeth took the eighth grade game, 19-8.

Church Doors Fashioned into Crosses

Prior to the regular order of worship Sunday, St. Peter's Episcopal Church dedicated new doors of the church with the Blessing of the Crosses, made from the original doors.

Walnut doors, exact replicas of the original doors, which were 127 years old, were presented as a memorial gift from Mr. and Mrs. Orville Farver in memory of their mothers, Mrs. William Farver and Mrs. J. Edward Wollum.

An appropriate plaque, acknowledging the gift, will be placed in the south vestibule.

Due to safety regulations, the hardware is modern, but the original latches were kept for what may be an exhibit type museum of the history of St. Peter's Church.

The crosses were made by Frederick Bush of Detroit and will be placed in the church school rooms.

The center pieces in the crosses, were taken from the old north transept door of St. Paul's Cathedral, Detroit and removed when the new Cathedral was built.

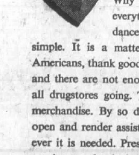
Always the heart of our business



Why do most drugstores sell everything from breakfast to dance wax . . .? The answer is simple. It is a matter of economic necessity. Americans, thank goodness, are generally healthy and there are not enough prescriptions to keep all drugstores going. Thus, we sell a variety of merchandise. By so doing we are able to stay open and render assistance whenever and wherever it is needed. Prescription service, however, continues to be the heart of our business and we are always pleased to assist you when medication is needed.

TOM RIORDAN'S Long AND Short

About midnight Monday, my partner Jim Lincoln was heading into Harvey's Grill for a welcome cup of coffee after covering the school board session.

A voice-with-a-grin asked "Will you be able to sit down OK?"

"Why?" was his tired rejoiner.

"Well, with all those barbs you caught tonight I was just wondering?" There was quiet laughter.

The questioner referred to some statements made about The Herald to Jim during the course of the evening.

Our weekly wasn't on the meeting agenda, but it got attention —practically all adverse — for stories about the schools we have printed, going way back to last summer.

I wasn't present at Monday's session in not an attempt to refute these comments. My feelings run much deeper about this whole matter.

I realize the current school crisis has rubbed a lot of nerves pretty raw.

Like many a similar situation, tart remarks are said in the heat of a discussion, which under calmer conditions would be broached in more diplomatic terms—and chatted about amiably.

First of all, Jim and I aren't angry with anyone. We like the folks of this area. We're for the best possible educational opportunities for the youngsters — ours included—in this area.

We're also for a balanced school budget.

We realized the schools are in a bind.

We know that a budget deficit well over $100,000 is a problem which affects every taxpayer in the district.

We know that a solution can be reached, because we have faith in America, which may seem like a strange utterance, but come on along and I'll explain.

This democracy of ours is a rare bird.

It calls for complete freedom of thought and expression.

A lot of times you and I would cheerfully throttle some uninformed character who blats out a statement based on hard-headiness, pride, perverseness — and pure stupidity.

Yet we don't.

He has a right to speak and we a right to refute him.

This workings of a democracy, although sometimes bitter to swallow, usually evolve into a good solution.

Although the guarantee of free speech also carries with it a responsibility to be honest and fair, this is often completely disregarded by many.

Freedom of the press also carries this responsibility, and I think you'll agree, it is seldom violated.

The newspaper of a community has the obligation to bring before its readers the things which affect them.

It must be truthful, informative and objective. This, Jim and I have and are doing.

In our VOICE of THE HERALD editorials and in this column; personal opinion has been expressed—and will continue to be spoken.

A newspaper is a sounding board. It actually can assist public bodies as they go about the vital function of charting a course for the future.

Giving possible plans and proposals a good public airing is healthy Americana.

This has been proven again and again over the 185-year history of our nation.

☆

Mrs. Burton Poucher of Tipton had two rugs to sell and decided to try a classified in The Herald.

That's when she ran into a problem.

Oh, not in selling the rugs. They went the day the paper came out, bringing her $35 on her 60c ad investment.

But the difficulty arose when more and more potential buyers kept calling.

Finally, Mrs. Poucher had her son Dave, 8, answer the calls with a simple, "They're gone."

So, you see, when you want to sell through our classifieds you're liable to have all sorts of folks contacting you.

School Budget Cuts Considered by Board

By JIM LINCOLN

Two proposals for balancing the 1961-'62 Tecumseh school budget featured Monday night's school board session, which attracted nearly 50 residents, including school principals and several teachers.

The large attendance, apparently due to interest in the school's financial situation, caused the meeting to be moved from Supt. James McDowell's office to the high school library.

The two proposals, presented by the superintendent, included elimination of expenditures of $93,367 in the first proposal and $91,259.50 in the second.

No action was taken on either proposal, and no decisions were reached on any discussions which were varied and covered many expenditures.

In regards to Proposal One, grades one-two-three would be on a three-hour day, cutting the school day by two and one-half hours. Grades four-five-six would have a five-hour day, one-half hour less.

Social studies, health, part of science program, art and music would be cut from grades one-two-three, leaving reading, arithmetic, spelling, writing and some language and science.

Grades four-five-six would have no vocal music or art and half of the physical education program.

The junior and senior high schools would not be affected.

TIME SCHEDULES proposed were:

City grades one-two-three—9 to 12.

Rural grades one-two-three — 1 to 4.

City grades four-five-six—10 to 12 and 1 to 4.

Rural grades four-five-six — 10 to 12 and 1 to 4.

Secondary school — 8 to 12 and 1 to 3.

☆

ANOTHER TIME schedule, reducing school days from six hours to five hours:

Elementary — 9 to 12 and 1 to 3.

City Secondary — 9 to 12 and 1 to 3.

Rural Secondary—8 to 12 and 1 to 2.

Another savings possibility projected into the general discussion was a reduction of the school year from 194 days to 184 days.

Supt. McDowell reported shorter year savings of $37,800 in teachers salaries (cutting each salary $300), but warned of losing many teachers and the near impossibility of replacing teachers on a lower salary schedule.

Faced with a deficit of approximately $95,000 now, the cumulative deficit is expected to reach $131,000 at the end of the present school year.

If there's no change, the 1961-'62 school year is discouraging:

Increments for Staff —$19,000
Deficit about the same as this year —	40,000
Five new teachers Needed —	23,750
Furniture, equipment—	2,100
Books —	2,040

State Aid for 150 additional children will be $27,646.50, reducing additional 1961-'62 costs from $86,890 to $59,243.50.

Thus, $59,000 is the amount needed to be cut from the school budget or raised from new millage to break even next year.

Many questions, including salaries, millage, cost per pupil, comparison of local millage to other district, accreditation by North Central Teachers Association, published accounts of previous board meetings and discussions, University of Michigan survey due here Feb. 20, school hours, change last year from a 9½-month school term to 10 months, etc., were asked and answered by the superintendent and board members.

The Herald was accused (see LONG & SHORT) as being unfair in reporting board discussions at their meetings and handling of the news, which the paper felt was newsworthy and of interest to its readers.

The local paper's education series by Mrs. Marjorie Comfort was praised.

☆

SUPT. McDOWELL thoroughly explained and brought up to date the school's financial picture from 1951, taxation, bond indebtedness, millage rates, etc.

He also denied stories that he made false statements several years ago when the schools were planning a building program.

He referred and defended his statements at meetings then to published articles in The Herald and to Milton Porter, county superintendent who attended the meetings.

Many residents at the meeting were appreciative of the chances given by the board and administrator to ask questions.

They also learned some of the complicated problems facing the board in handling a deficit of over $100,000.

☆

IN OTHER board action:

● Deferred spending $107 for a radio in connection with Civil Defense.

● Approved joining the Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce.

● Refused expenditure of $50 for furthering a three-county community college study.

● Authorized a high school diploma for Roger Partridge, who had left high school in his senior year for the service.

● Agreed that the board and administration should be represented at PTA meetings for discussion of the school's financial debt.

CITY POLICEMEN GEORGE KILBOURN, JIM CALLAHAN, GENE SKINNER EXAMINE 'LOOT'

Youths Confess

Eleven Tecumseh area teenage boys face serious juvenile court action for stealing from stores here and in Adrian.

Alert police work over the weekend broke up the shop-lifting ring, which was led by a 13-year-old. Others in the group ranged up to 16.

Each boy and his parents will be given a hearing with Juvenile Judge Maurice Spear.

Items stolen — mostly in the past month — include transistor radios, records, watches, BB guns, small models, wedding ring, padlock, gloves, dog chain, pens.

The boys have been voluntarily returning to police the things they have taken.

First knowledge of the "ring" came Friday evening when a youth attempted to sell a watch, given to him by a friend, to Milojko Sarvan, owner of the Top Hat restaurant at N. Evans St. and Herrick Park Dr.

Mr. Sarvan asked the boy if it had been stolen, said he would call the police to find out.

At this point, police Sgt. Gene Skinner walked into the Top Hat and the boy showed him the watch and asked if the department had received any calls regarding this type.

Sgt. Skinner asked a few questions himself, then took the youth to the police station for further questioning.

☆

ABOUT THE same time, Britton police brought two teenagers to the Tecumseh station. They had asked them about a breaking and entering in Britton. Police wondered about several items they carried.

The youths picked up in Britton soon confessed that the things had been stolen. The boy with Sgt. Skinner told the name of the youth who gave him the watch.

Gradually, the three implicated other youths until the total reached 11.

Police checked out each boy, who confessed. They also talked with parents. At every home they urged youngsters to return everything they had taken.

It wasn't long before the police had a cardboard corton full of merchandise, each carefully labeled with the name of youngster who admitted taking it and the store from which it was stolen.

☆

THE 13-YEAR-OLD BOY, who guided much of the stealing, is from a broken home, police discovered.

He admitted doing poorly in school work and said that his parents continually fought, until their recent separation. He said he was in the Western Auto store with his father once when the dad pocketed a piece of merchandise.

The youngsters explained to police the way the gang operated. Three boys would enter a store, either during the noon hour, or right after classes. One would pretend he wanted to buy something and would engage the storeman as the others stole.

One piece of the loot was a ball-point pen, taken from the Book & Bible House, 113 S. Maumee St. On it was printed: "The Lord They God is with thee withhersoever thou goest."

Al Bagshaw Purchases Laundry

Al Bagshaw, 618 W. Chicago Blvd., has purchased the Coin-Op Laundry at E. Pottawatamie St. and S. Ottawa St.

Mr. Bagshaw formerly owned and operated a tavern in Tecumseh 14 years, selling it to Joe Nykodym, 606 Center Dr. in December.

Before taking over his bar in 1946, Mr. Bagshaw was assistant master mechanic at Tecumseh Products Co. for three years and prior to that city engineer for nine years.

A resident of Tecumseh since 1929, he originally is from Massachusetts.

A verteran of World War I, he is a past commander of the Tecumseh American Legion Post.

He intends to maintain the same policies at Coin-Op that were established last fall at its opening for former owner, John Towsley of Dexter.

"Coin-Op appreciates past patronage of area folks," Mr. Bagshaw explains, "and we intend to maintain the same high class service."

Tenant House Is Damaged by Fire Thursday P.M.

Fire of undetermined origin, did damage in the amount of $600 to the tenant house on the Lester Baker farm, 837 Monroe Rd. Thursday afternoon.

The house was occupied by Carl Shook.

A fire, believed to have started around the water heater in the Sam Clough home, 510 W. Kilbuck St., Friday afternoon did a great deal of damage to the structure.

The family was in Ohio visiting at the time.

Burning rubbish started a garage fire at the home of Harry Spencer, 713 Red Mill Dr. Sunday afternoon.

Damage was estimated at approximately $750.

His Career: Adventure

Romain Wilhelmsen, cousin of Ward Perso, 409 W. Pottawatamie St., will present a travelogue on Bolivia here for the Tecumseh Band boosters Club Friday, Feb. 24.

The world traveler and explorer will speak at 8 p.m. in the High School gymnasium.

Formerly of Grosse Pointe, Mr. Wilhelmsen graduated from St. Ambrose School in Detroit. His home is now in Pasadena, Calif.

He is also a graduate of Pasadena Playhouse, a training school for the stage.

After enjoying two seasons on Broadway, Mr. Wilhelmsen left the theater to take up a life of adventure and exploration.

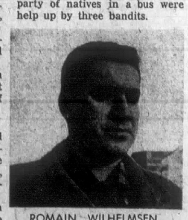
☆

HE WAS especially interested in the wild parts of Mexico, Central and South America and he studied their lost cities, missions, lost treasures and remote civilizations.

When he had gathered enough history on an area to determine where the old treasures might alone—to find and film them.

This legend hunting has not been done without great personal danger. In scores of fantastic adventures, he has always emerged alive and with his precious movie film.

Once last summer he almost didn't make it. In a remote section of Columbia he and a small party of natives in a bus were help up by three bandits.



ROMAIN WILHELMSEN

be located, he set out—always

While he was shot in the side, Wilhelmsen managed to kill one of the trio with a small .38 revolver hidden in the buckskin shirt he was wearing.

"Under pretense of getting the shirt off, I managed to get out the gun, cock it and fire," he wrote in a letter to his parents who live in California.

"I missed him twice before he could shoot, but when he did he shot me in my left side. My third shot hit him in the stomache and he fell down for good. The other man and his partner took off through the woods with $400 of my money."

Mr. Wilhelmsen has a library of adventure films unsurpassed by any living explorer and he produced them under almost impossible conditions.

His photography is excellent and so is his narration.

The films to be shown Friday evening are in color.

Religion, Business Do Mix, Guest Says

A total of 104 local churchmen attended the second annual Churchmen's Banquet last Thursday evening held in the Youth House of the First Baptist Church.

In his talk, entitled "Religion and the World of Work", Mr. Berkhof pointed out the need for a basic understanding of Christianity and its application to all areas of life.

He further indicated the need to eradicate the misconception that religion and business do not mix and that concern for others must be the guiding principle for all life's relationships.

At the conclusion of the talk, the benediction was given by Tom Rutherford.

A number of the men remained to greet Mr. Berkhof and to look over Tecumseh High School Annuals covering the period of his superintendency here.

Historian Predicts No Atomic War

Edward Boss, CPA by profession and historian extraordinary by hobby, told the Rotary Club last Tuesday night why he did not believe there would be an atomic war.

Ed reviewed briefly the reasons for each shift of power among major nations since 479 B. C.

In each case the struggle that resulted in a change was triggered by a relatively insignificant incident and that there is little reason to struggle for supremency if the winner could not survive.

Ed pointed out that an atomic war could be of nothing less than major proportions and would, without much doubt, amount to self as well as enemy annihilation.

The theory of history repeating itself would indicate that a future struggle will be triggered by some small insignificant situation if at all and no nation is going to wage a kind of war that is certain doom for all.

Cliff Knudson reported that plans for the Michigan State University Concert Band Night, March 24, were indicating a capacity crowd.

Mrs. Lyle Whelan and Mrs. Fay Luce attended the Farm Bureau Committee Womens building at Madison Center on meeting at the Farm Bureau Tuesday.

Perhaps the old "Roses are red, violets are blue" verse is the best one after all.

Well, we did it. The father-in-law's name appeared in the headline over the wedding story and the wrong names were printed under the right pictures.

We've Expanded

Tecumseh is growing and the Watkins Shop is, too. We've doubled our ground-level floor space, placing new emphasis on yard goods and little girls' dresses in the area immediately next to the present Watkins Shop. An opening has been cut between the two rooms, giving easy access from one to the other. By this enlargement program, we're casting a solid vote of confidence in the future of this community. I wish to thank all our friends for their patronage and cordially invite everyone to visit the "new" Watkins Shop.

Biggest Cost: Teacher Salaries

Editor's note: Teachers in the Tecumseh School System are discussed in this third article of Mrs. Comfort's series.

By MARJORIE COMFORT

Of all expenses in running a school district, the largest by far is that of paying teachers.

This is normal. It's the same for any business which offers a service to the public, whether the service is repairing an automobile or television set, cleaning clothes, putting out fires or teaching children.

Tecumseh School District has 108 full-time teachers, more employees than any business in the area except Tecumseh Products Co.

Their pay totaled $507,936.56 during the last school year.

This year, with the addition of two more weeks of teaching, the salaries will total an estimated $619,280. Money paid to substitute teachers is included in this, but is a comparatively small porportion.

Is this too much money?

According to figures prepared by the Michigan Education Association, which represents 56,000 teachers and school administrators in Michigan, Tecumseh pays its teachers an average salary of $5,782.

If you want to show that the teachers are far overpaid, you could compare their salary with those in Mississippi, who average $3,175 a year, lowest in the nation.

If you want to show the teachers are underpaid, compare them with those in California, who average $6,525 a year, highest in America.

This shows what can happen when you start comparing figures.

☆

THE FIGURES can't really be compared until you bring them closer to home.

This article will compare the salaries with those in school districts around Lenawee County, and in the entire state of Michigan. It also will show something of what Tecumseh area taxpayers are getting for their money.

Salaries paid to teachers generally are closely tied to the going rates for other jobs in the same states.

Michigan is tied with Connecticut for fifth place in the national teacher-salary scale, for an average pay last year of $5,700.

So Tecumseh teachers average $82 a year more than their fellow Michigan teachers.

Average salaries paid in other Lenawee County school districts are:

Addison—$4,966
Adrian—$5,908
Blissfield—$5,427
Britton-Macon—$4,458
Clinton—$4,716
Deerfield—$4,750
Hudson—$4,981
Madison—$5,819
Morenci—$5,039
Onsted—$4,596

The MEA did not have figures for Sand Creek.

Adding the totals of all salaries paid to these 11 school districts, including Tecumseh, and dividing by the total number of teachers will produce an average salary in the county of about $5,415.

LENAWEE COUNTY is $285 below the state average. It also is below the Monroe County average, and far below that of Wayne County, which produces the highest salaries in the state.

Detroit pays an average of $6,816, and Dearborn pays $7,877.

Probably the highest salaries in the state are paid at Gibraltar, in a heavy industrial area along the lower part of the Detroit River.

There teachers start at $4,700 the first year, rise to $4,900 the second year, $5,100 the third.

If they successfully pass this probationary period, they jump to salaries of $5,000 for teachers with bachelor degrees, $8,500 for those with master degrees and $9,500 for those who have earned doctorates.

☆

IN ALL of these school articles, we try to get down to the most basic fact of all: How much does any item cost per student?

Now the picture changes. Tecumseh drops below the state average.

Tecumseh has a high classroom load for its teachers, just over 28 pupils for each instructor. (This includes the two school librarians, both of whom hold teaching degrees.)

This makes the average cost per pupil this year for teacher's salaries $206.77.

The last state average figures available are for the 1958-'59 school year. This showed the salary cost at $203.62 per pupil.

The costs have jumped $8 or $9 a year for the last several years, so the state average now probably is close to $220 a pupil.

Tecumseh has heavier classroom loads than any other district in Lenawee County.

Other loads are:

Addison and Madison—26
Adrian and Morenci—24
Britton-Macon—22
Clinton and Onsted—25
Blissfield—27.3
Deerfield—25.5
Hudson—26.6.

This puts Adrian at costs of $246 per pupil and Morenci at $209. Britton-Macon, with $202, and Blissfield, with $199, are only a few dollars behind Tecumseh's $206.77.

☆

ANOTHER FACT to consider is the time teachers spend in their classrooms.

Tecumseh has one of the longest school days in the state, with teachers on duty 6½ hours a day.

They teach a total of five hours, and the remainder is spent in other in-school activities such as grading papers, keeping records and other duties.

Also, Tecumseh this year went to a 10-month school year, which means teachers are on duty two weeks longer than in other Lenawee County districts.

Michigan has more than 550 school districts, and only about 80 of them have 10-month school years.

The Tecumseh Board of Education made the extension in the belief that the 9½-month school year and the shorter school day did not allow time for all the school courses being offered, without neglecting the traditional "three R's."

Salaries for Tecumseh school teachers begin at $4,500 and grow to $6,300 in 15 years, for those with bachelor degrees. Teachers with master degrees receive $500 more at each step of the way.

The entire salary schedule was raised by $300 this year, when the school year was extended.

(Editor's note: This $300 has been at times referred to as a raise, and it is that much more pay per teacher, but most of it covers salary for the two additional weeks of work.)

Again, these salaries are above those in Lenawee County districts, except Adrian, and below the state averages.

Fifty per cent of Michigan's teachers are employed by districts where the bachelor-degree teacher starts at $4,570 or more and has a range of up to $6,888 or more.

Tecumseh's teachers also are more experienced than those in any other Lenawee County district, although Adrian and Blissfield run close behind.

The average Tecumseh teacher has the equivalent of 10½ years of teaching experience, compared with 9½ years in Adrian, 9½ years in Blissfield. Others range from Hudson's two years to Clinton's seven.

☆

TECUMSEH HAS 23 teachers and administrators who have been here 5 to 9 years, 23 here 10 to 14 years, 13 here 15 to 19 years and 18 here 20 years or more.

The teachers are given additional funds for special services performed. In the athletic field, this ranges from $75 a year to $825, depending on the experience of the coach and the time required for each sport.

The highest additional salary goes to the head football and basketball coaches.

Class sponsors for the seventh to ninth grades receive $50, as do sponsors of Varsity, Spanish, Future Nurses, Future Teachers, Future Home Makers Clubs, Declamation and Oration director and junior high school cheerleader supervisor.

The 11th grade sponsor receives $125, and the senior sponsor $250. Other special service pay ranges up to the $300 paid for band service in the community.

A teacher who accepts an extra class for a year is given $750, and an extra study hall is rewarded with $450. Noon supervision is figured at $2 an hour.

All these figures are published by the board in a handbook given to teachers.

☆

IN ADDITION to the money, teachers are allowed up to 10 days a year for sick leave, or leave because of serious illness or death in the family. This paid time may accumulate up to 30 days in three years.

Teachers also are paid for the days that they are absent on school business, or attending educational conferences.

This includes the annual County Institute Day, just held, and the annual two-day MEA conference. Attendance is taken at these sessions, and the teacher is not paid if his name is not included.

All schools are closed for these three days, but a teacher may not attend the MEA sessions unless he is a member of the MEA.

Civil War Series Gets Approval

Editor's note: Due to a crush of last minute stories, the second article in Clara Waldron's Civil War series is being held over until next week.

"How did you like our Civil War article on the Underground Railroad?" a variety of readers were asked. Here are their replies:

Ed Heilman, Gaston's Jewelry —"Very well written, very interesting. Tecumseh does have an entertaining history."

Mrs. Ron Harris, at Rosacran's Store—"We read everything on the Civil War. It's very interesting, but even now they don't tell which side they sympathize with."

Mike Hite, at Hite's Hardware "I haven't read it yet but I know I'll like it. Anything Clara writes, I like to read." (Editor's note. Many Tecumseh folks feel this same way)

Mrs. Celia LaBounty, 211 N. Van Buren St.—"I like it. I always did like her articles. I enjoyed it very much."

Eugene Skinner, 611 N. Union St.— "Pretty interesting. I always read The Herald from the beginning to the end.

Mrs. Albert Musch, 4372 Blood Road—"Very interesting. I like historic writings and more especially this one because it concerns events in our locality."

Mrs. Jerry O'Brien, 402 Seneca —"I thought it was very interesting and I'm going to clip them and put them in my scrapbook so that my children may read what happened in Tecumseh a long time ago."

Mrs. Duncan Oliphant, 412 N. Maiden Lane—"I think its very interesting. It will be most informative for newcomers to Tecumseh to read of the important parts that individuals took here in making our countries history. When one learns of these incidents it imparts a great pride and respect for our little town and community."

Mrs. Warren Naugle, 4631 Macon Road—"I'm always interested in reading stuff like that."

Mrs. Chet Beach Entertains Two Church Circles

Mrs. Chester Beach was hostess to 35 members and one guest at a joint meeting of Circles 1 and 2 of the Presbyterian Church on Feb. 7.

The Rev. Julian Gresham was the speaker.

Valentine dessert was served by Mrs. Beach assisted by Mrs. Leon Rosacrans, Mrs. Fred Oberlin, Mrs. Dale Bowen and Mrs. Al Merz.

Post Office Will Close on Feb. 22

The Tecumseh post office will be closed on George Washington's birthday anniversary, Feb. 22, but there will be a regular dispatch of outgoing mail.

Pick-up of mail in boxes located in front of Wright's Drug Store, at the corner of the United Savings Bank and the two boxes in front of the post office will be made at 6 a.m. again at 3 p.m. and 5 p.m.

It will be dispatched that day. All specials received at the office will be delivered but there will be no city or rural delivery service.

Two buses, filled with fans, went to the basketball game at Dundee last Friday.

These are the first buses to attend an away basketball game this year for lack of the minimum amount of passengers.

To encourage students to attend the game, the Student Council bought all the tickets from the office and resold them to the students at 10c a ticket.

Perhaps this will give the school a livelier spirit.

"Our Town" by Thornton Wilder was presented by the Clinton Senior Class Feb. 9.

Since there are few props in the play, the acting must compesate for lack of material objects.

HOMEOWNERS

Policies

Why have millions of families chosen the HOMEOWNERS way to insure their homes and property?

1. Convenience—One policy replaces four or five.

2. Better Protection—Homeowners Policies can insure 20 different perils, instead of only three or four.

3. Savings—You save money, often as much as 20%, by eliminating individual policies.

4. No Duplication—You don't waste money paying for duplicate coverages as so often happens with separate policies.

5. You have only one policy—one agent—one premium—one company to pay claims.

If you haven't a Homeowners Policy now, call or write for descriptive leaflet.

LET'S TALK ABOUT IT! Does your insurance provide for replacement cost on your dwelling? Does it provide for additional living expense if you have to move as result of a serious fire or other peril? Do you have adequate coverage for all your personal property both at home and away from home? ONE OF THE HOMES IN TOWN THAT BURNED THIS WINTER HAD NO INSURANCE AT ALL. Driving Indians Upset The Apples

A driving Tecumseh High five upset the apples here Tuesday night by winning its second league tilt and walloping the third-place Milan team, 75-61.

John Britton topped his previous prep records with 11 goals and nine free throws for 31 points.

The high scoring Indian was helped by three teammates scoring in double figures: Larry Titley, 13; Brad McCombs, 13; and Norman Tucker, 12.

McCombs tallied all but two of his points in the first half. Britton would have approached the 40-point mark except for a cool fourth stanza when he scored only four points.

Other Indian scorers were Tim Sisson with four, and Danny Greene, two points.

What's Going on at Boysville

By LOUIS CIAVONE

The Junior Talent Show, held on Saturday evening, turned out to be a great success.

Anthony Meyer acted as master of ceremonies, and in between acts, Brother Gregoire, CSC, Junior Class moderator, led the audience in community singing so there would be time for the stage hands to set up the equipment for the next act.

Roger Griffin, as the "Stratohawk," took first prize by singing two songs while accompanying himself on the guitar.

The Del-Knights, composed of Pete Mata, Mike Maher, Sal DeSanto, Dave Tucker and Dave Bowers, took second place, singing two songs written by Mata.

Third place was taken by last year's winners, the "Satan Chauffeurs," comprised of Pete Mata on drums, Charlie Kramer on the electric guitar, Jerry Seitz on sax and Ken Snooks and Joe Jaworski on trumpet.

The Chauffeurs played three numbers, two of which they worker out themselves.

Fourth prize was won by a singing group called the "Domineers," consisting of Bob Stuart, Ted Malinowski, Joe Laus, Joe Georgi and Mike Cousineau, accompanied on the guitar by Roger Griffin.

√

Seniors of St. Joseph Academy in Adrian sponsored a Valentine Day Dance Feb. 11.

Fifty-one Boysville students were invited to the dance, held on the Siena Heights campus.

The theme of the dance was "Song in My Heart", and the music was supplied by the Bob Ruskin quartet.

√

The first vacation since Christmas will begin on Feb. 17 at 3 p.m., and will end on Feb. 19 at 8 p.m.

This will be the last weekend vacation until Easter time, when the boys will go home for more than a week.

√

The Boysville yearbook, the PIONEER has been completed by Brother Philip, CSC, moderator, and the staff, and has been sent to the publisher's.

The books will be on sale on Open House Day at Boysville May 21.

√

The students of Boysville participated in their second Day of Recollection of the school year on Feb. 14. This Day of Recollection was conducted by the Rev. Stephen B. Latchford, CSP.

√

The Boysville Fighting Knights lost a hard-fought battle to the Deerfield Minute Men Friday at Deerfield, 56-44.

The Knights outscored Deerfield on field goals, but couldn't put the ball through on charity tosses.

√

The Junior Knights also met defeat at the hands of the Deerfield junior varsity.

Playing with a new pivot man replacing Gunars Vilums, who moved up to the varsity, the Junior Knights found difficulty in working the ball around.

Compromise Hurts Republican Cause

Annual Spring convention of Michigan's Republican Party was held in Detroit Cobo Hall Feb. 3 and 4.

There were over 1,500 delegates in attendance, plus numerous visitors and guests.

Del King and Wayne Reganall were the two elected delegates from the Tecumseh area.

Because several delegates from Lenawee County did not attend Mrs. Royal Welch and Charles Trickey were also seated as part of the Lenawee County delegation.

Mrs. Robert Murray from Raisin Township was also seated as a delegate to fill another vacancy.

Others in attendance at the convention from the Tecumseh area, were Mrs. Charles Howe, Mrs. Yale Kerby, Mrs. Richard Walker, Mrs. Fay Whelan and Mrs. Raymond Platt of Tipton.

A floor fight over election of a new state GOP chairman was avoided by the withdrawal of two candidates from the more liberal element of the party.

Jack Stiles and Robert McIntosh withdrew late in the convention in favor of George M. Van Peursem, a former legislative leader.

It was felt by the Republican hierarchy that a floor fight would result in disunity and the spliting of the party into various factions.

"For some time now the Republican party has been in the state of compromise, and as a result has compromised itself continually out of winning elections in Michigan," said an influential party member.

"By appeasing both factions of the party it has resulted," he continued, "in pleasing no one."

Mr. Van Peursem, although subscribing to a "middle-of-the road" philosophy received considerable support from the legislators.

It was hoped by a large number of delegates that in Mr. Van Peursem the Republicans could find the unifying force for the conservative and liberal "wings" of the party.

One Tecumseh observer, said the younger and more progressive element of the party suffered a slight set-back.

However, several young aggressive candidates were successful in capturing the nomination.

This year's platform, according to one delegate, appeared to lack the forsight and dynamic appeal that past platforms had.

Planks on labor and the Constitution Convention seemed retrogressive rather than progressive in nature.

The static positions, taken years ago, were permitted to obliterate the more progressive attitudes, which have developed in recent years.

Republicans Name Mrs. Welch Vice-Chairman

Mrs. Frank Reinhardt was hostess to a Thursday evening meeting of the Tecumseh Republicans.

Mrs. Royal Welch was selected as the Republican vice-chairman for the city of Tecumseh and Tecumseh Township.

Mrs. Charles Howe, Wayne Reganall and Arthur Eaton were elected to serve on a three-man executive committee.

Mrs. Reinhardt, James Beardsley and Mrs. Milburn Brooks were appointed to serve on the legislative committee.

Lincoln Day dinner tickets are available from any Tecumseh Republican.

The dinner is to be served family style, Feb. 25 at 7 p.m. at the Eagle Hall in Adrian.

George Van Peursem Republican State chairman, will be the guest speaker of the evening.

Chestnut Colt Is First Prize

Some lucky person will win a beautiful chestnut colt, riding equipment and a trip to Hollywood in an intriguing contest announced by Cameron Rexall Drug of Tecumseh.

Besides the grand prize winner, 1,000 other persons will win second-place prizes of Westinghouse portable seven-transistor radios.

Anyone may receive a free entry blank simply by asking at Cameron's.

Cathy Cox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Cox and Susan Platt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Platt, were among the students of Candy's Dance Studio who danced at Maple Lane Manor on Thursday night.

High among the special pleasures of Cadillac ownership is the car's remarkable handling ease. It seems almost to drive itself. In parking, traffic, or on the open road, a Cadillac maneuvers with scarcely more than your thoughts to prompt it. And contributing to this relaxing feeling of effortless driving is the superb silence of the Cadillac engine . . . the virtual absence of travel noise . . . and those deep and buoyant Cadillac seats. Your Cadillac dealer will be more than happy to let you see for yourself how deftly a 1961 Cadillac handles.

DOLLAR and SENSE FARMING.

BROADCAST SOIL INSECTICIDES within the next few weeks on your level fields to save you time when the spring rush begins. Since this is a new practice, you may want to try it on only a part of your acreage to compare results with spring application. North Central Illinois tests with winter applications have been as effective as band or row treatment using planter attachments. Application can be made with granule applications or applied in combination with fertilizer.

CHECK OATS FOR GERMINATION before planting time. Chance of germination is satisfactory but it's better to make sure than to come out with half a crop. There have been instances where germination has dropped below 50%. If your germination tests a little short you can increase your planting rate a bit.

CREEP FEEDING SPRING LAMBS. Many times the extra push of creep feeding can get lambs to market by early summer before markets normally start to slide off. Still further advantage to creep feeding can be obtained by pelleting the ration. Pellets containing 75% finely chopped high quality alfalfa, 15% ground grain and 10% molasses make it possible to have lambs ready for market in 90 to 110 days.

MIX SECOND CUTTING ALFALFA AND RED CLOVER with first or third cuttings if you have had problems with "slobber hay". For reasons unknown, second cutting alfalfa and red clover sometimes cause excess starvation among cattle. Generally when this occurs, cattle will refuse to eat the hay. You can save this hay by mixing it with other cuttings at the rate of about one-third slobber hay to two-thirds good hay.

Letter Brings Out Importance of Complete School Program

TO THE EDITORS:

For the past 25 years I have been engaged in a pleasant and most challenging occupation — teaching youth to take their places in society and to become producing and participating members of it.

For 10 of these years I have served the youth of Tecumseh as a teacher and athletic coach, and for the past 10 years as principal of Tecumseh High School.

During these 25 years I have seen the City of Tecumseh grow in population from a village of 2,500 to a city of about 7,000. I have also witnessed a phenomenal growth in the enrollment of our schools.

Such growth in enrollment has necessitated the increase of facilities, such as buildings, equipment, textbooks, library reference materials, and of course, an increased number of teachers.

These items cost money, and as the cost of living increases, so does the cost of operating our schools. However, if our income for operation does not increase in proportion to our enrollment increase, we are faced with a deficit. Such has been the case here.

We have attempted to give the children of Tecumseh the best possible educational opportunities, at the lowest possible cost.

Despite the sincere efforts of the Board of Education, the administration, and the faculty, we have been unable to furnish this educational service and still remain on a current cash basis.

To advocate elimination of items from the curriculum in an effort to reduce expenditures without determining what effect this will have upon the finished product—your child—seems foolhardy.

Critics of the schools have said that the frills must be eliminated. What is a frill? The general understanding of the term seems to mean an extra something intended to be purely ornamental.

In my opinion, there are no ornamental "somethings" in our curriculum. However, if music, art, physical education, athletics, driver education, remedial reading, and various types of exploratory courses are to be mislabeled as frills, then the critics are right and I am wrong.

As long as I can remember, these so called "frills" have been an important part of our curriculum. To say that these experiences do not have an important bearing upon the total educational growth of a child is a gross misstatement.

The American people, represented by the 1,800 delegates to the last White House Conference on Education, have given us their latest and probably their best list of what the people expect of their schools. I should like to quote from this report.

"It is agreed that the schools should continue to develop:

1. The fundamental skills of communication — reading, writing, spelling as well as other elements of effective oral and written expression; the arithmetical and mathematical skills, including problem solving.

2. Appreciation of our democratic heritage.

3. Civic rights and responsibilities and knowledge of American institutions.

4. Respect and appreciation for human values and for the belief of others.

5. Ability to think and evaluate constructively and creatively.

6. Effective work habits and self-discipline.

7. Social competency as a contributing member of his family and community.

8. Ethical behavior based on a sense of moral and spiritual values.

9. Intellectual curiosity and eagerness for life-long learning.

10. Esthetic appreciation and self-expression in the arts.

11. Physical and mental health.

12. Wise use of time, including constructive leisure pursuits.

13. Understanding of the physical world and man's relation to it as represented through basic knowledge of the sciences.

14. An awareness of our relationships with the world community."

As a citizen, a taxpayer, and a friend of youth, I implore you to study carefully the facts and then ask yourself this question: am I willing to see my child's educational development jeopardized to save a few dollars in taxes?

Yours very truly,

TO THE EDITORS:

Annually I have the pleasure of giving a sectional talk at the convention of the Scholastic Press at Columbia University.

Each year I like to have on display those papers which in some way were considered outstanding during the current year.

In the Feb. 4 issue of the Publishers' Auxiliary there is reported the names of winning newspapers. Yours is among them. My congratulations!

And may I ask if a copy of your paper might be made available to me to include with my talk-exhibit? I will be happy to pay whatever charges are involved.

Thank you.

Yours truly,

TO THE EDITORS:

On a recent visit to the Michigan Historical Collections at the University of Michigan I find that there is an incomplete file of Tecumseh newspapers in the collection.

As you know, the Michigan Historical Collections contain research material on phases of the History of Michigan, its people, and its institutions.

Would you have old copies of the Tecumseh Herald and its predecessors, which could be placed in this collection? It would be a great help to the scholars and the students of Michigan History if there were such materials available from our historic town.

The collection is housed in the Rackham Building and is ably handled by a trained staff.

This is only a suggestion which has occurred to me, because I have been doing a little work over there recently. I would be glad to find out exactly what in the way of Tecumseh newspapers is needed if you would be interested in helping out the collections.

Yours truly,
Frank W. Hawthorne

THROUGH MY WINDOW

"THE MUSKRATS ARE RAMBLING AGAIN"

Right down the middle of the frozen-over creek he came, his dark brown fur contrasting sharply with the white snow-covered ice. Although not moving at top speed there was no waddling along the way—this was a muskrat with a purpose.

His "straight-this-way course" continued until he was about half way between our bend in the creek and doctor's bridge and at this point, he made an abrupt 90° turn.

He hurried to the bottom of the bank and still showing not the slightest hesitation started climbing.

For a while he was lost to view, tree trunks, bushes, etc. were in the way, but all of a sudden, over the top of the bank he popped.

It was a bright sunny day and about four steps put the muskrat in the middle of a patch of sunshine. How soft and rich his coat looked. It was lovely!

After a short sunbath and a good look at things topside, back to his creek-level world went the muskrat.

We could not see his scramble down the bank, but once on the ice, he retraced the route he had taken a short time before.

A muskrat "going away" is a funny, funny sight—they have such an odd, well, it's neither a walk, nor a run, nor a trot. It's almost a waddle, but that doesn't quite describe it either. Graceful swimmers these little fellows are, but on land they move with most humorous awkwardness.

☆

IT WAS several days before we had more muskrat watching. Needless to say with all the north-pole cold weather we have had, the creek is almost completely frozen over, looking both ways only one open spot can we see and that is right opposite my window.

One morning just as I looked down there the "stick," which was sticking out of the hole, moved — more muskrat excitement.

We were to find that this was a favorite pastime. The muskrat would poke his head out of the water, put his two front paws on the ice and pull himself up and there, half in and half out, remain motionless for an amazingly long time.

Even knowing this trick we were fooled several times—he would remain is still, and, of course, his lovely fur when wet was exactly the same color as a tree limb.

Because the muskrat was so fond of playing in the open water and we had such fun watching his antics, it was quite important to keep the spot from freezing over.

When a fight snow ended the skating and there were no more boys and girls to do this—did you ever notice how kids simply have to keep working at an open spot in the ice either by pounding with their feet, chipping with their skates, prodding with sticks or throwing stones—well, when this stopped other means had to be found.

Dad took the ice spud down and kept the ice broken away. Isn't it amazing what we do in the interest of affording good window watching?

The muskrat appreciated the cold, wet work however and said thank you by performing almost daily.

ONE SATURDAY he was particularly obliging. As with his first appearance, it was a bright, sunshiny day but, oh, so very, very cold.

All day long he was busy, it was by far his best performance and, as it turned out, his last, too.

Between sessions of playing "stick" he put on terrific swimming and diving exhibitions. Brrrr we shivered as he splashed in the icy water, but obviously the cold bothered him not a whit.

Late in the afternoon all play abruptly stopped and as the muskrat engaged in the serious business of a Saturday bath, we had a much wished for chance to have a really good look at him through the binoculars.

Wow, they really brought him up close and one of the first things we saw was the reason for his odd running waddle.

His hind legs were much longer than the front ones, and his feet were enormous. No wonder he swam beautifully, but was so awkward on land.

But look, there are still many more muskrat rambling to tell and space is running out, may we continue with more of the same next week?

Next week—

"How about one of those wonder drugs?"

"I've got a cold," the man said, and he went on to ask for a "wonder drug." The pharmacist sold him some aspirin and advised him to see his physician. As it happened the aspirin fixed him up fine, but the point is this: Pharmacists are not physicians. We work with doctors, providing the drugs and medicines they prescribe. We have a professional knowledge of the powerful new "wonder drugs," so we know how important it is to use them correctly. Please do not feel offended when your pharmacist refuses to sell you a certain drug. It is for your protection and in the best interest of your good health. Always see your doctor when potent medication is required.

Farm Lads Can Find Good Jobs

What should a farm youth, faced with the fact of fewer jobs on farms today, plan for his future?
He might well plan for a non-farm agricultural job, young persons attending Michigan State University's 46th annual Farmers' Week were told says James Sprague, county agricultural agent for Lenawee County.
"While it's true that there are less farm jobs, there is a future, a great future in agriculture," Robert Kramer told his Farmers' Week audience.
"Added together there are 25 million jobs in modern agriculture. This number is rising and more than offsets the drop in farm jobs," he emphasized.
He estimated that there are seven million jobs alone in the area of the manufacture and distribution of farm supplies.
Another seven million are employed in the processing and distribution of farm and forest products.

Attend Gathering

Mrs. Lonnie Stalls, Mrs. Tom Maupin, Mrs. Edgar Owens and Mrs. Elmer House attended a work meeting at the Monroe Missionary Baptist Church Wednesday. Frances Brown, state WMU executive secretary, taught the Woman's Missionary yearbook, used as a guide for the mission work. A potluck dinner was served at noon at the parsonage.

Paper Brings Added Features on Coast Birth

Recently, The Herald carried an item telling of the birth of a baby girl, Laura Ann, to Mr. and Mrs. James Dick of Mercer Island, Wash.

That was the basic fact.

But there were other details, which made the front page of The Bellevue American, a paper published twice weekly near Mercer Island.

The headline read:
"Hospital's Hall is Impromptu OB Room."

The story:
"Overlake Memorial Hospital recorded its first unscheduled birth on Monday.

"Mr. and Mrs. James Dick, 9106 Fortuna Drive, Mercer Island hurried to the hospital as their baby's arrival seemed imminent.

"However, Mrs. Dick was just barely inside the hospital, according to Mrs. Wilson, the hospital's obstetrical supervisor, when their child's arrival became a fact.

"Her mother and Laura Ann are 'doing fine', hospital authorities report, in spite of the young lady's hasty debut."

Mrs. Dick in a 1952 Tecumseh High School graduate and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Snyder of 503 Nokomis St.

Mr. Dick is a 1951 Tecumseh High School graduate. He holds a master's degree from the University of Michigan, earned in 1960. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Dick of Dinius Road.

The couple moved to Washington, where he is employed by Boeing Aircraft Co. in Seattle as a research engineer.

"Neither Snow, Nor Rain . . ."
Herodotus, the Greek historian, said it in the 5th century, B.C., and you'll find it today inscribed on the main post office in New York City: "Neither snow, nor rain, nor heat, nor gloom of night stays these couriers from the swift completion of their appointed rounds." With the Christmas rush not far behind us, it's a good time to pay tribute to those who, day in, day out, in fair weather or foul, see that the mail gets through. Your postman deserves a pat on the back, but he'll settle for a smile . . . Incidentally, the motor truck plays a vital part in the distribution of the mail, serving the length and breadth of Michigan, from the most densely populated cities to the most remote rural areas.

800,000-Gallons-a-Day Water Main Leak Discovered Under Pond

By JIM LINCOLN

A 12-inch water main break, submerged in the north edge of Red Mill Pond, was reported to Council Monday night by city engineer Cal Zorn.

Zorn reported the break was not critical and will not affect the supply of water to residents in the north section of the city.

Tuesday, the city engineer said the break probably occurred sometime in September and was discovered last week when graphs showed increased consumption of water, when use should be declining during the winter months.

The break lies somewhere between the east and west banks of Raisin River. Until the break was discovered and the main closed, the leak allowed approximately 800,000 gallons of water a day to escape, according to Zorn.

Repairs will be made after the frost leaves the ground.

☆

A DECISION to spray or not spray elm trees here was delayed until the next meeting.

A representative of a spraying firm offered the city a contract to spray the city's approximate 1,200 elms twice a year for three years. At the end of three years, the firm would remove any dead elms at its own expense.

City Manager Ed Nelson says removal of the giant elms costs about $80 per tree.

The representative also stated —spraying would stop the elms from dying, and pointed out that the United States Department of Agriculture is now developing an inoculation for elm disease.

FOUR communications from the Chamber of Commerce were acted on favorably:

● Approved Chamber Parking Committee's recommendation that meters be left in in front of the post office.

● Approved holding a 9-week Practical Politics course on Wednesday nights at city hall providing different meeting arrangements can be reached with the Teen Club.

● Appointed the city manager and Don Murphy, Chamber sec-

TOM RIORDAN'S Long AND Short

Personal note: would N. D. Plume kindly contact me in person, either in The Herald office or at my home?

☆

Good news, right from the horse's mouth. A member of the board of the Chicago Federal Reserve Bank, who resides in Michigan, said last week, "We've turned the corner in the recession."

He made the remark after returning from a meeting of the board last week.

For Michigan, affects of the change won't be felt for another three months, he reflected.

☆

At last: winners and honorable mention entries in our "If I Were Mayor" contest get into print.

They're on the last page of the second section.

The three persons who took top honors are asked to drop in and we'll present you your awards — one-year subscriptions to The Herald.

Readers will note a picture entry, which we have listed under a special catagory. The folks here got a big bang out of it, as did Harold Easton when we showed him.

Incidentally, the photo used came from an issue of The Herald of July 1858.

The contest was judged by Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Reganall. He is a government teacher at Tecumseh High School.

It's being called the greatest film ever made — that's "Ben-Hur".

I haven't seen it yet, but will within the week.

Tecumseh's Strand Theatre is currently showing "Ben-Hur" and manager Walt Nichols reports that in the first week it established an all-time attendance record.

Walt is not only holding regular showings, but also is putting on morning performances for school groups.

Few viewers of "Ben-Hur" leave the theatre with dry eyes, Walt points out. It has a deeply religious theme, which one viewer told me, "Is done beautifully."

Another, who is a bug on electronics, said, "This is the most delicate handling of a sound track I have ever heard."

Adrian's Chamber of Commerce banquet Thursday evening has lost a little spark.

It was going to be sort of a "victory gathering" for Harvey Aluminum Co., although the session was specifically to honor Siena Height College.

But a bold, black headline in The Telegram tells the story, "PLANT BIDS BACK IN WASHINGTON", meaning that Harvey's effort to get the Bridgeport Brass factory has again fallen short.

Chances now appear slim that Harvey will ever get the building and start operations in Lenawee County with a 2,500-payroll.

But we're still hoping along with the folks in Adrian.

☆

One thing the Republicans better do at their Lincoln Day dinner Saturday is discuss the growing vigor of Democrats in these parts.

As the GOPs were busy in the past few months re-grouping and reorganizing in Lenawee, the Dems were also getting on the move, in some places for the first time in history.

Future elections around here should really develop into some battles.

Firemen Answer Pair of Alarms

The fire department was summoned to Paul's Trailer Park Saturday at 8:10 p.m.

A mattress in one of the trailers had ignited and been carried outside before the department arrived.

A fire in a motor on a furnace blower at the home of Floyd Rynberg, 208 Union St., brought out the department Wednesday. There was no damage.

School Report Arrives

These are busy times for Tecumseh school boardmen.

Monday evening, copies of long-awaited University of Michigan survey were given board members.

Running 159 pages, the report goes into minute study of the entire system.

It will take many reading hours to digest thoroughly.

A special board session has been set for March 2 when members will meet with Roland J. Lehker of the University, who'll answer questions about the survey.

But the Michigan report isn't the only thing occupying the board's time.

Three PTA gatherings will feature boardmen and Supt. James McDowell, who'll talk about the present "cash problem" and answer questions.

This Wednesday, there was to be the Herrick Park meeting, Thursday it's Tecumseh Acres and Monday in Tipton.

Most of the Michigan report will be printed in The Herald, beginning next week.

YOUNG MAN OF YEAR ROYAL WELCH

Political Course Will Be Offered

A non-partisan "Action Course in Practical Politics" is being offered to residents of the Tecumseh area.

Sponsored by the Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce, the first in a series of nine discussions will be held on Wednesday, March 8, in the city hall.

The sessions will be approximately two hours in length and will commence at 8 p.m.

In an effort to give citizens a better understanding of the course, its history, purpose and objectives the following resume is presented.

In the United States, the years since World War II have been marked by a tremendous increase in population and by business and industrial expansion.

This has been accompanied by rapid growth in existing cities and towns and by an emergency of many new communities.

One result of this dynamic growth is that more people feel they have a stake in affairs of government—local, state and national.

New laws, covering a wide range of conditions, has resulted in more and more individuals and groups attempting to influence the actions of government that affect them.

More individuals—conscious of the impact of government on their lives—are registering and voting.

More people are writing their congressmen or writing "letter to the editor."

It's logical to assume that the politicans—the lawmakers—will give serious consideration to the views of the people who worked actively to elect them and upon whom they must depend for re-election.

As a result, there is a growing recognition among many groups of the necessity for increased participation in politics.

This has been evidenced in recent years by the political activities of such groups as veterans, farmers, labor unions, business organizations, etc.

☆

AGAINST THIS background, the National Chamber of Commerce undertook the development of non-partisan course that would be equally helpful in all parts of the country.

Objective of the course, stated in the broadest terms, is:

"To enable individuals in local groups to learn more about how they can become active—and effective — in the political party of their choice in their own communities."

To accomplish this broad purpose, the course has been built around the following specific objectives:

● To explore the role of the individual in politics.

3 Ministers Will Speak

Three local pastors will speak on the theme, "Towards Christian Unity" Tuesday, Feb. 28, at the meeting of the Lyster League of the St. Peter's Episcopal Church.

The Rev. Laszlo Gero of Gloria Dei Lutheran Church, the Rev. Julian Gresham of the First Presbyterian and the Rev. Frank Hawthorne of the St. Peter's Church are scheduled to speak.

The Rev. Gresham's remarks will be heard from tape, since he has other commitments for that day.

Refreshments will be served following a question and answer period.

JCs Give Awards to Two

Two outstanding young men of this area were honored Thursday night at the annual Bosses Night meeting of the Tecumseh Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Royal E. Welch, Tecumseh Dry cleaning operator, was selected as the Outstanding Young Man of Tecumseh and received the 1961 distinguished service award plaque.

Russ Pilbeam, just north of Ridgeway on Ridge Rd., was honored as the area's Oustanding Young Farmer.

Mr. Pilbeam, 35, is married and has four children. He farms about 160 acres, raising wheat, corn, soybeans, sheep, cattle and hogs. A graduate of Ford High School (which is now Boysville) in 1943, he has farmed since the age of 11.

He was active in 4-H Club work for 12 years and once had a Michigan grand champion sheep. He won a blue ribbon at the State Fair for showmanship.

The Pilbeams attend the Congregational Christian Church at Britton.

☆

MR. WELCH has been particularly active in the past, winning a seat on city council, becoming a director and president of the Chamber of Commerce, holding positions on several committees, running for the State Legislature against Rollo Conlin.

He started his dry cleaning plant here six years ago and plans an expansion this summer to include a drive-in.

In January, he was re-elected to the State Board of Directors of the Michigan Institute of Dry Cleaning.

Mr. Welch graduated from Adrian High School and attended Wayne State University. He was in the army during World War II, receiving five battle stars and the Purple Heart.

He is a member of several service organizations and has been active in the Lenawee County Republican party.

Mr. Welch, his wife and son reside in River Acres.

☆

THE DISTINGUISHED service award is designed to recognize young men between the ages of 21 and 35 for their contributions to the community and for leadership ability.

Other candidates for this award were Merlyn Downing, Calvin Zorn and Ray B. Sommers.

Mr. Welch now automatically becomes a candidate for state recognition. Michigan's winner will participate in the national program at Kansas City next January.

The Young Farmer Award is for unusual progress in farming and contributions to the community. Other candidates were Richard Bruce and Richard Cox of Britton and Gordon Smith of Onsted.

Mr. Pilbeam is now a candidate for the state award. Winner will be announced at Owosso. Last year, the Tecumseh Jaycees were state hosts.

☆

ART MAUCH, from the department of agricultural economics at Michigan State University, was the meeting's principal speaker Dr. Robert Murray presided and welcomed guests.

John Comstock presented the award to Mr. Pilbeam, and Charles O'Neill to Mr. Welch.

The Rev. Frank Hawthorne, rector at St. Peter's Episcopal Church at which the meeting was held, gave the invocation. The dinner was prepared and served by the Jaycee Auxiliary and Teen Club.

Rotary Club Hits National Publication

The Tecumseh Rotary Club and member Carlos Jones receive publicity in March's issue of the service club's international magazine, The Rotarian.

Many members believe it's the first time Tecumseh has been recognized by the publication.

Reason for the space occurred after a local Rotary meeting revealed that persons over 65 can earn $1,200 a year without affecting their Social Security benefits; and, that the $1,200 limitation does not apply to persons over age 72.

Mr. Jones is now enjoying somewhat of a financial boom since he's over 72 and was unaware of the limitation.

Trial Date Is March 13

Merle L. Hoag, 32, of 610 Murray Dr., stood mute to a charge of converting $135 to his own use while manager of Country Markets, Inc. in Tecumseh.

Represented by James McKenna, the trial date has been slated for March 13.

The firm has reported total losses in the Tecumseh store have reached $18,500.

Gals Gym Class To Be Tuesday

Women's recreation class will be held Tuesday evenings from 7:30 to 9:30 in the Tecumseh High School gym.

Ladies interested in taking the class should call Peggy Pocklington at the junior high.

Weekend Visitor

Marilyn Whelan returned to Flint on Sunday evening after spending the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Whelan.

Five File for Council

Five councilmen, four of them incumbents, will vie for four council seats at the April election.

Members of Council entering the race again are Royal Welch, George McCombs, John Hamilton and Robert Bonner. Mr. Bonner was appointed last year to succeed the late H. H. Hanna.

Terry Mackin, manager of Kuhlman Concrete here and past president of the Tecumseh Junior Chamber of Commerce, is the fifth candidate and is seeking public office for the first time.

Steve Illeck originally planned to run but has withdrawn.

Exchange Student May Be Brought to Tecumseh

Student Council of Tecumseh High School is considering the idea of bringing a foreign exchange student here for one year.

Council members feel that such a step would better help promote understanding among today's youth, both here and abroad.

The Michigan Council of Churches has organized this program, whereby a European student, a senior in high school, would live with a local family and attend THS one school year.

The boys and girls sent to the United States through the Council of Churches are carefully selected.

Exchange students must be good students, active in school affairs and cooperative and willing to accept responsibility for their own conduct.

A reading, writing and speaking knowledge of English is required.

The biggest difficulty now is finding a family willing to have a foreign teenager live with them for a year.

The names of three possible host families must be given when the Student Council applies for a student.

A representative from the Michigan Council of Churches will visit the three homes to determine which is the best qualified to represent a typical American family.

The responsibility of the host family would be to accept the boy or girl as a member of the family and to furnish him or her room and board.

If you are interested in finding out more about the possibilities of "adopting" a foreign student for a year, please contact Mike Rohrer, Student Council president, HA 3-3433.

$131,000 Library Seen by Three from Tecumseh

Three Tecumseh residents spent a recent Sunday in Huntington Woods to inspect that community's new $131,000 library and cultural center.

"We liked what we saw," says Hugh Walter, "And recommend that others do likewise."

Mr. Walter was accompanied by Bill Damon and Milt Apple.

He points out that Huntington Woods and Tecumseh are similar in many ways. Population there is 8,500 and here, 7045.

Huntington Wood's new structure has:

● 10,000 square feet

● 27,000 books

● Exhibit room, which will seat 125.

● A 75-seat little theatre.

● Completely-equipped kitchen.

In the past 10 years, Tecumseh has experienced a 76% increase in population and Huntington 77%.

The budget for operating the new structure is $20,630. This is only for city residents.

Tecumseh now spends $24,000 on library operation, but this covers the entire school district of 78-square miles and provides services for more than 15,000.

An independent survey of Tecumseh's facilities recommends that floor space be increased from 3,088 to about 12,000 square feet and number of volumes upped from 15,000 to 45,000.

School Tax Formula Equalized Load

"There, that's it!"

By MARJORIE COMFORT

"Taxes equal mills times SEV."

Just like other formulas, this one is simple when you know what the symbols mean.

This article will explain what these words mean, and, it is hoped, make it easier for you to figure out what your taxes are, and what they are paying for.

ANOTHER ARTICLE IN SERIES ON SCHOOLS

A mill is the best example of "little things mean a lot." This is the smallest money unit in America.

The word "mill" is taken from a Latin word meaning "thousand," and it takes one thousand of these mills to total one dollar.

This is the word used whenever a very small amount of money is represented. If you have a trading stamp handy — the kind given by grocery stores and other retail businesses—it probably is printed "Cash value 1/10 mill."

If you could find a buyer, you could sell these bits of paper, but you'd receive only a penny for a hundred of them.

Taken just by themselves, these mites don't mean much. But when you start using them to figure taxes, they grow and grow.

For every mill your property is taxed, you pay 1/10 of a penny for every dollar your property is worth.

If your tax is 10 mills you pay one penny for every dollar your property is worth. In 100 years, you would have paid in taxes the total value of your property.

☆

BUT WHAT IS the tax value of your property?

According to the Michigan State Tax Commission, it's just one-half of what you would get if you sold your property today. This is what's meant when you hear "state equalized value," or SEV.

In the days before consolidated schools, figuring school taxes in most districts was easy. All you needed was the millage rate and the local assessment. Multiply these two figures together, and you had your tax figure.

This held true in the days when Tecumseh School District was entirely within the city boundaries.

Now the district is in not only the city, but in parts of seven townships.

Every one of these eight units of government has a different assessor, and every assessor pretty much uses his own method of figuring property values. The assessments appear to range from about 23% to about 40% of the real, market value of the property.

You can see what would happen if the same number of mills were levied against all these areas, using the local assessments.

The taxpayer in one town would be charged twice as much as a man in another township pays for property of equal value.

This is where "equalized values" come into being.

They are an attempt to make sure that no matter where a person lives in a school district, he pays the same amount of taxes for property which would bring the same price on the market.

Even though taxes are figured now on state equalized values, your tax bill still shows the local assessed value. This makes it look like each unit of the Tecumseh School District is paying a different tax rate.

It doesn't matter whether you multiply A times B times C, or C times B times A. The result is the same in either case.

So, it doesn't matter whether you apply the state equalization figure to the local assessment or to the millage rate. You end up paying the same taxes.

FOR INSTANCE, suppose your local assessment is $5,000 and the state equalized value is $8,000.

This means the assessor must multiply all his assessments by 1.6 to find the state equalized value. This is called the "state equalization factor."

Now suppose your school tax rate, FIGURED ON THE STATE EQUALIZED VALUE, is 16 mills. You would figure your tax as:

$8,000 times $.016 (remember, a mill equals one-thousanth of a dollar) equals $128 tax.

Using the assessment figures, and multiplying the millage rate by the state equalization factor, you would have:

$5,000 times $.0256 (16 mills times the 1.6 equalization factor) equals $128 tax.

Suppose your neighbor down the road, in another township, had a house just like yours. But his was assessed at $4,000. The state would say his equalized value, too, was $8,000, just like yours.

This means his "state equalization factor" is two, which means you have to multiply his assessment by two, to find the state equalized value.

If he reads only the face of his tax bill, he will say that his school tax rate is 32 mills. And it is — if the tax is figured on the local assessment. But he still is only paying $128 in taxes ($4,000 times $.032).

He pays the same tax for the same value in property as anyone else in the school district.

This is true anywhere in Michigan, including the Tecumseh School District.

☆

TECUMSEH'S total school tax, FIGURED ON STATE EQUALIZED VALUES, is 15.32 mills. To find out how many mills you pay on your local assessments, you have to multiply 15.32 mills by the state equalization factor.

For areas included in Tecumseh School District, rounded off to the nearest thousanth, these are:

City of Tecumseh — 1.272
Adrian Township — 2.168
Clinton Township — 1.625
Franklin Township — 2.171
Macon Township — 1.909
Raisin Township — 2.063
Ridgeway Township — 1.887
Tecumseh Township — 1.348

Aside from the confusion over all these figures, there is a serious hitch in the equalization plan.

The state tax commission does not say what the assessment should be for every piece of property. It gives what the total should be for the entire county. The equalization committee of the Board of Supervisors gives each township and city in the county a percentage of this county valuation.

So if there is a piece of property which is not on the tax rolls, every other piece of property in the city or township must pay part of the missing property's share.

If the value of a house is set by the assessor as too high, in comparison with the values given to land or personal property, then the homeowner is paying more than his share.

If the value of a house is set too low, compared with other tax properties, the landowner is forced to make up that share.

☆

TOWNSHIP supervisors, who are responsible for the assessments in their townships, are traveling their townships now, checking on any gains or losses for the tax statements.

Jan. 1 is used as the date for determining the assessment. If a man has added a garage to his home, or equipment or stock to his farm or machinery to his business, his assessment will rise.

If he has sold some of his holdings, or had a loss from theft or fire, his assessment will go down.

The township supervisors and city assessors have no control over whether the State Tax Commission raises or lowers the state equalized valuation.

Commission officials are changing valuations every year, but they can't visit each county in the state every year.

Last year they happened to visit Lenawee County. When they left, they increased the county's total valuation by 13.6%.

This is why taxes rose in the townships, although no new taxes had been voted.

Dear Readers:

Despite efforts to make sure all the information in this series is absolutely correct, from time to time a mistake may appear, because of incorrect information being given your reporter.

This newspaper and writer will appreciate being notified if any further errors are made, and wish to print the following corrections:

1—There is no connection between the increase in the Lenawee County budget and the defeat of a request for new taxes to pay for repair of the county's bridges. None of the county tax monies are spent for roads or bridges. When the county tax increased from five mills in 1958 to 5½ mills in 1959, it was to pay for increased expenses in operating the county government.

2—Annual conferences of the Michigan Education Association, for which public schools close, may be attended by anyone. If a teacher or other interested party cannot show an MEA membership card, he is directed to an office where he may ask for a pass to these sessions.

3—The information published in an MEA reference book about Madison School District's average teacher salary was incorrect, since it included all costs of school operation, not just the teacher salaries. The correct average is $4,913. This changes the average teacher salary paid in Lenawee County to $5,361, which is $339 below the state average of $5,700.

Sincerely,
Marjorie Comfort

READ THE HERALD IT PAYS

Letter from Scotland Tells of Lovely Land

A letter from Gerald L. Rucker in Scotland to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Rucker, is of general interest.

Dear Mom and Dad:

Here I am again, well and working hard.

You asked about the weather and countryside here.

Although I am farther north, the weather seems about the same as at home.

We've been having what you might call spring weather the last few days.

The air smells nice and fresh just like after a rain.

The base where I am is flat, but all the country around that I have seen so far is beautiful rolling hills.

Right now there's a skim of snow on top of some of them.

It's twice as beautiful as California, if you can imagine anything that beautiful. There are very few days that it isn't bright enough to take pictures.

One thing I like to do very much is walk down to the beach, which is close to good friend's home at which I spent my weekends.

It's beautiful and I love to watch the fishing boats out on the North Sea.

I travel by bus most of the time, but it's slow. Thumbing is good, especially when you are in uniform, but there's very little of that done.

The speed limit is 30 mph and gasoline is 75c per gallon. There are five qts. to the gallon, but even at that it is much more expensive than at home.

—o—

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Van Valkenburg were Sunday dinner guests of their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Lindsley. Craig Van Valkenburg of Ypsilanti is spending several days with his grandparents.

Stained-Glass Work on Display at Studio Angelico

Studio Angelico at Siena Heights College is featuring a one-man exhibit of the stained-glass work of Priscilla Manning Porter in the Little Gallery, Feb. 26 through April 2 from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Unique among the shows presented annually, this one demonstrates an entirely new approach to an old craft.

Rather than endanger her materials to the possibility of breakage en route to Studio Angelico the artist traveled by car from her Porter Plumb Hill Studio in Washington, Conn. driving through three and four feet of New England snow.

She assisted Sister Jeannine in setting up the show in the Little Gallery.

What's Going on at Boysville

By LOUIS CIAVONE

The model Globe Theater has been on display in the window of the Adrian Federal Savings Bank in Tecumseh for a week.

Those passing by the building on Chicago have had an opportunity to see the theater, built by Fred Duzzie and Al Andreini as a project for senior English class.

Surveyors have been making calculations recently for the new dining hall, soon to be built on the Boysville campus.

The construction work should begin sometime in March, and plans call for its being completed late next fall.

The Boysville faculty basketball team bowed to the Brooklyn High faculty in a close game at Boysville last Thursday night, 42-40.

The Brooklyn team repeatedly built up a substantial lead, only to have the gap closed by Boysville's faculty in a swift attack of scoring.

But the Boysville team couldn't close the final gap, as time ran out.

Coach Max Lee of Broklyn was high-point man for the game.

Brother Austin, CSC, was high scorer for Boysville's faculty.

Mr. Lee played on the Boysville faculty team two years ago when he was freshman coach at the Macon school.

The Boysville Varsity Fighting Knights were idle this week because of the postponement of the Whiteford game.

The contest, which was to have originally been played on Feb. 17, was re-scheduled for Feb. 28 at the Whiteford gym.

The Knights will carry a six-and-six record into the game.

Boysville defeated Whiteford in their first encounter on a last second basket by Ken Snooks.

INTRODUCING "PINKIE", THE PUPPET — Sharon Rowe, 3, shows one of the puppets that members of the Herrick Memorial Hospital Auxiliary now give to each youngster who becomes a patient. Sharon is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Rowe of 9990 Ridge Highway. The idea for the puppet project originated with Mrs. James D. Nixon. The pink puppets are made in workshop meetings the first Monday of each month at the Rohweder home on E. Logan St.

Britton, Tucker Star in Defeat

By JIM LINCOLN

A nip and tuck affair between the Indians and visiting Ypsilanti Lincoln Friday night exploded in the final two minutes with Ypsi winning, 75-64.

Tecumseh took an early first quarter lead, lost it, then battled back in the final stanza to knot the score at 60-60, with 4:54 left on the clock.

In the next two minutes the Indians hung on, trailing 66-64 with just over two minutes remaining. During the final two minutes, the Railsplitters collected nine points while blanking Coach Doug Murdoch's local five.

The loss was Tecumseh's 10th in 12 league outings.

The Indian's top scorer John Britton was helped in the tilt by sophomore Norm Tucker. Britton tallied 25 points with teammate Tucker netting 21.

Dave Sparrow paced both clubs with 29 points, 19 coming in the first half.

☆

BOTH BRITTON and Tucker put on an amazing free throw demonstration, Britton hitting on 13 of 14 attempts and Tucker sinking 11 of 11. As a team, Tecumseh sank 26 of 31 foul shots.

Coach Jim Hoffman's reserves fared far better than the varsity, walloping the Ypsi reserves, 65-37. A big 21-point fourth quarter salted away the game.

Jerry Hebb collected seven goals and six fouls for 20 points. Teammate Clark Nichols tallied 10.

Other scorers were Craig Rosacrans 8, Eugene Martin 2, Kent Lucas 8, Bill Bailey 9, Tom Smith 2, Phil Radant 4, and Mike Osburn 2.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

TO THE EDITORS:

Last month while visiting your city, I received a parking ticket. That was fine. I was a violater.

My gripe is the fact that a black foreign car sits in front of a sign which says "NO PARKING ANYTIME".

Please advise. Should I drive a dark foreign auto when I come to your city, or should your city change something?

The fine articles, photograph of Mr. Berkhof and the space given by your newspaper to this event contributed immeasurably in helping make it a success.

Wishing both of you continued good success,

How do you tell a drunk?

The man was acting strangely. You know what people thought. But the neighborhood pharmacist had a hunch, took a close look, gave the man sugar. Then he called a physician who found the man was in insulin shock. Too much insulin, not liquor. Without prompt treatment, he might have died. This story illustrates the potency of modern drugs. Before using powerful drugs you should see a physician and then follow directions to the letter when taking them. There's a happier moral. Without modern drugs, the diabetic in this story wouldn't have had a life to save.

Kindergarten Teacher Has Story Published in National Magazine

An article "Run, Run as Fast as You Can", written by Patterson School kindergarten teacher Mrs. Bertram Updike, 102 S. Adrian St., appears in the current issue of Grade Teacher magazine.

It tells of a classroom experience in which her 78 students—morning and afternoon sections—made Gingerbread Boy cookies.

The youngsters were so fascinated by the Gingerbread Boy story, as told them by Mrs. Updike, that she made an important decision.

"The Gingerbread Boy had been modeled in clay, painted, drawn—everything but quartered—I often told myself.

"There was only one thing that had not happened to him, and that was to eat him—so why not I asked myself one morning.

"I was tempted at first to settle for a prepared mix, but was deterred by the thought of the sifting, measuring, stirring and all the messy, gooey, five-year-old fun we would miss if we did not start from scratch."

So, the youngsters prepared the dough, then fashioned by hand their gingerbread boys. They were baked in the school kitchen oven.

The children loved the experience.

"It was a little strenuous, and by four that afternoon I was glad to be on my way home.

"However, the bubbling happiness of my children in making and eating their projects . . . made it a satisfying day's work and well worth it all," the story concludes.

The picture accompanying the story, showing two of Mrs. Updike's students busily fashioning their gingerbread boys, was taken by Tom Riordan of The Herald.

Grade Teacher magazine is the oldest national publication for the elementary school classroom and is read by more than half a million teachers.

Vaccinate All Pets

A Rabies Control Week will be held March 6 through 11, sponsored jointly by the Lenawee County Veterinary Society, Lenawee County Dog Warden and the Lenawee County Health Department.

During this week dogs will be vaccinated at a reduced price, at the office of your local veterinarian.

"If your dog gets rabies, he will die. If you get rabies, you will die. There are no known exceptions," states Charles Niggeman, County Health Director.

"Once the disease develops, it is always fatal. Prevention, therefore, is an absolute necessity. To prevent rabies in dogs, all pets should be vaccinated," he adds.

Rabies is caused by a virus that attacks the brain and spinal cord. Although all warm-blooded animals can get rabies, dogs are the chief source of the disease.

It is usually spread by the bite of an infected animal, the virus being present in the saliva.

Rabies may also develop if a broken skin surface has been exposed to infected saliva.

"Any time your dog acts strangely or is sick, consult a veterinarian," he said.

The first symptoms of rabies may be a slight change in behavior which can be noticed only by those well acquainted with the animal.

Later, the dog may become nervous, vicious and then paralyzed, or paralysis may set in without any stage of excitement.

If you are bitten by a dog, consult a physician immediately and be sure that your health department is notified. Any dog that has bitten another animal or a person, may have rabies.

The only way to find out is to have the dog confined under observation for 10 days.

This year rabies vaccination will be good for two years, due to a new type vaccine being used.

THIS IS A COPY OF ACTUAL MUSTER-IN FORM USED TO SIGN UP CIVIL WAR VOLUNTEERS FROM THE TECUMSEH AREA

TECUMSEH AND THE CIVIL WAR

Co. G Had Colorful Uniforms

(Editor's note: Here is Clara Waldron"s second article on the Civil War and how it effected the Tecumseh area.)

By CLARA WALDRON

Unfortunately, there are no copies of the local newspapers for the years 1861 and '62. These could have given us a clearer picture of Tecumseh's reaction to the fall of Sumter, but later events show it united—or nearly so—the diverse opinions.

The actual events that took place were probably much the same as those touched-off by later public crises.

It is safe to assume that there was a mass meeting, or War Rally as they were called. It is also safe to assume that there were speeches, part of them at least given by the men whose names "led all the rest"

These were the town's elder statesmen: Judge C. A. Stacy, Perley Bills, E. B. Wood, Peter R. Adams and Benjamin Baxter.

Probably there were many others and most certainly there were prophesies of a short war and promises of whole-hearted support to "our soldier boys and their families".

We know the last was true for those words came back to haunt them later.

They did more than make speeches, however, and among the practical plans was the establishment of a recruiting headquarters that resulted in the "Tecumseh Younteers", the Company G of the Fourth Michigan Infantry.

The Fourth was the first regiment to leave for the front from this part of Michigan and, as such, has received much of the historical spotlight.

It was recruited from the southern tiers of counties and was mustered in and camped, during its short period of training, on what is now the campus of Adrian College.

Its companies were made up of local groups, who had had some previous military training and who were known variously as "The Smith Guard of Monroe", the "Barry Guard of Ann Arbor", the "Dexter Union Guard" and several "volunteer" units of which the Tecumseh Volunteers was one.

That the completed regiment was ready for the field by the middle of June is attributed to the previous military knowledge of these groups.

☆

COMPANY G, although known as the Tecumseh Volunteers and although it had been recruited here and had drilled, for the short time allowed, in the town's Military Square, was not made up exclusively of Tecumseh men.

Its captain, David D. Marshall, was local as was 2nd. Lt. Jeptha Beers and the non-commissioned officers, Sergts. Jerome and Lemuel Allen, John Rodgers, Fred Deuel and John Allison and most of the eight corporals.

The original company roster, a worn and yellowed sheet, has been preserved and its offical heading reads as follows—

"The Muster-in Roll of Captain David D. Marshall, Co. G. in the Fourth Regiment of Infantry, Michigan Volunteers, commanded by Col. Dwight A. Woodbury; called into service of the United States by Arbaham Lincoln, President; at Adrian, Michigan (the place of rendezvous); on the twentieth day of June, 1861 to serve for the term of three years, unless sooner discharged; from the 16th day of May, 1861 (when enrolled).

"The company was organized by Captain Marshall at Tecumseh, Michigan in the month of May, 1861 and marched thence to Adrian, Mich., where it arrived on the 28th day of May a distance of 14 miles."

This original paper lends reality to history, but the two enlisted men who preserved it, have stated that in one respect it was not correct.

The men of Company G did not march those 14 miles to Adrian. They went by train and marched only from the station to the college campus.

Those two veterans, Henry Bissel and Harrison Daniels, lived to attend many a GAR reunion and they carefully kept the roster, handing it on into the keeping of Newton Satterthwaite, who has saved so much of the town's past from oblivion.

☆

IF ALL THE volunteer units who made up the Fourth Michigan were dressed like Company G, that college camping ground must have been a colorful sight. Tecumseh had bought uniforms for its boys and what uniforms!

They were of a type that seems to have been popular at that period, a modification of the outfits of the French Zouaves—blue jackets, red pants, red caps and black shoes.

At least they were spared the baggy trousers of the original models and they must have been more than able to hold their own against all comers on that Adrian parade grounds—but what targets they must have made!

A news clipping tells of the day of the regiment's departure, "for the scene of conflict at Washington."

Describing it as the hottest day of the season and telling of the huge crowd that had gathered, it goes on—

"At half past eight in the morning the regiment was formed upon the parade grounds and immediately marched to the city, where the fire department, in full uniform, was waiting to escort it to the cars.

"The train was drawn by one powerful locomotive and consisted of 28 cars of genuine patriotism, such as will never tarnish the fair fame of our state, but will strike terror to the heart of traitors."

Although the Fourth did not, as the writer inferred, win the war single-handed, it did give a good account of itself in such engagements as Gaines Mills, Hanover Court House, Malvern Hill (where its Colonel Woodbury was killed) Manassas, Gettysburg and the Wilderness.

At the end of its three year enlistment period, the men were mustered out at Detroit and at once was reorganized, with 129 of its members re-enlisting as veterans.

Tecumseh's Lt. Jeptha Beers, who had been advanced to first lieutenant, was wounded at Gaines Mills and died in June of 1862.

As the town's first casualty, he attained local immortality by having the GAR "Beers Post" named for him.

Another Tecumseh boy, Martin Pennock, was captured and imprisoned for a year in the notorious Belle Island prison at Richmond.

In 1864 he reached home only in time to die as a result of brutal treatment he received there.

New '61 Chevy with Jet-smooth ride!

Impala 4-Door Sedan—Jet-smooth traveler that rivals the luxury cars in everything but price

The '61 Chevy loves to go because it goes so well. Purrs along pavements like a happy tabby. Takes rough roads in stride and all roads in style.

Just why does a Jet-smooth Chevy treat riders as royally as the high-priced luxury cars? It all came about through a delightful blend of Full Coil suspension, precision-balanced wheels, unique chassis cushioning, and a superb Body by Fisher insulated to hush away road sounds. All this adds up to less sway, less jounce, less dip, less dive, less tilt, less noise, less . . . well you name it.

Now combine this Jet-smooth ride with conveniences to pamper you and roominess to relax in. Add a full measure of quiet good looks. Voilà, you've got Chevy's formula.

And the proof is in the riding. When you sample a Jet-smooth Chevy at your Chevrolet dealer's we think you'll find it just to your taste.

Ten seniors and 8 juniors are active members, with 14 sophomores as probationary members.

The National Honor Society, an organization for high school all over the United States, is sponsored by the National Association of Secondary Principals, which give recognition to outstanding students on the basis of scholarship, leadership, service and character.

(1)—It encourages the exploration and development of these qualities in students.

(2)—It identifies the potential leaders for school and community.

(3)—It creates an enthusiasm for scholarship throughout the school.

(4)—It encourages a desire on the part of students to render service to the school and to the community.

(5)—It causes the student to evaluate himself and to see if there are potential elements of leadership within him.

(6)—It encourages students to continue their learning and their education.

(7)—Its national scope gives it high significance and unusual prestige.

(8)—It depends more upon balance between intellectual and social growth than upon school marks in setting forth scholastic ability to be achieved by the student.

Candidates for membership are recommended by the high school principal and the faculty. These students must hold a straight B or better average and rate highly in leadership ability, service, and character.

These students have been elected to membership:

Partners Operating 200 Acres

Mr. and Mrs. Eiwyn Shea are co-partners with Mrs. C. J. Lewis on last week's mystery farm.

The farm is located on Tipton Hwy. and contains 80 acres.

Mrs. Shea, the former Lucille Lewis, has lived on the farm all her life, being away for about one and one-half years when she was first married.

Then they moved to the farm to help in the care of her mother, who will be 79 in April.

The Sheas work 120 acres in addition to the 80 acres on this farm.

They are the parents of a son, Larry, 15 who is a member of the Future Farmers of America and attends the Tecumseh High School.

Mrs. Shea states "they like to work and have all kinds of livestock including lambs, hogs, cows, steers, a horse, guineas and chickens."

Richard Kahle of River Acres Dr. was the recipient of two tickets to the Strand Theatre for indentifying the farm.

Wins His Degree

THROUGH MY WINDOW

THE MUSKRATS ARE RAMBLING AGAIN, PART II

Well, let's see, last week we left the muskrat busily engaged in his Saturday bath, didn't we? Using the one open spot in the creek as a bath tub, he was grooming himself in a manner which would make envious any mother whose small son has an aversion to soap and water.

Musky must have been preparing for a heavy date—using his little hand-like front paws he rubbed and rubbed, then his big webbed hind feet took up the task.

From our window we had a ring-side view, and by using the binoculars it was a wonderful close-up view, too.

The binoculars also solved a small type mystery. For several days we had noticed that in the snow around the open spot there were rings; they circled the hole and looked almost like the ripples caused by a stone thrown into a still pond.

The difference, of course, being that the markings in the snow didn't move. What were they—had perhaps the ice cracked in some way and caused the lines?

We thought not, but were at a loss for any other explanation until our close look at the bathing session.

The answer was simple enough. Maybe you have already guessed it. Whenever the muskrat moved, his long tail left a mark; his frequent trips to the open water and apparently his many walks around the spot, had made the fracings which puzzled us.

Not a 'losing sleep' mystery, but nice to know the answer, anyway.

The muskrat's actions were fun to watch, but his appearance was even more so.

His rich brown fur looked so soft and smooth, one just knew how nice it would feel.

Except for his fur Musky was not a very handsome fellow; a plump, round body, a small, sharp snouted head and a most unattractive long tail—I refuse to say, "r-a-t" like" although we all know that is exactly what it is.

Back from his bright button eyes swept a dark head stripe, very noticable through the binoculars but completely over-looked in our regular unaided watching.

The fast fading light of a cold winter afternoon, plus a stiff neck, the result of prolonged watching, put an end to the Saturday muskrat excitement.

Sunday morning we were saddened to learn that our furred friend was not as cautious as he was clean—altho' being very particular about his bath, he had not exercised the same painstaking care with his own safety and had, that morning, lost a fight with a dog.

How lonesome the creek seemed, but Nature's world is sometimes cruel and only the very fittest are allowed to survive.

Muskrats are not anti-social hermits and so maybe, just maybe, our friend had friends of his own. We hoped, so how we hoped, this was true.

Hurray—several days after the fateful Sunday we found that our muskrat watching was indeed not over for the season.

In the middle of the morning I looked out just in time to see something dark dive into the open spot.

We were in business again. By this time the fame of the water hole had spread, birds and squirrels were coming to it regularly and Gertie's ducks found it much to their liking.

The birds and squirrels did not make lengthy visits but the ducks were apt to come and stay all day.

How would this new muskrat feel about sharing?

It turned out that this was no problem at all. In fact, he almost seemed to enjoy having company.

At first, when the ducks were sitting close to the hole, Musky would crawl out and sit on the opposite side.

Gradually, as his courage increased, he kept working a little closer 'til finally he was crawling out of the water and curling up for a brief rest — where? Right between the ducks; what a sight—two ducks sitting on the ice and between them a muskrat.

The muskrat could, of course, move without disturbing the ducks and altho' he became amazingly friendly with them, one thing they did always caused him to panic.

Like anyone awaking from a deep sleep, the ducks, when they 'come to', stretch.

When the big white wings would start to unfold, stretch wide and flap, poor muskrat.

He would make a mad dash for the safety of the water hole and actually it's easy to see why.

The ducks all stretched out must have looked enormous to the little guy.

Once in the water, however, his fright disappeared and as soon as the ducks settled down, back he scrambled.

So it is that again this year the muskrats have rambled.

This is getting to be an every winter occurence and we couldn't be happier.

Hope they perform for us for many, many years to come.

'If I Were Mayor' Contest Winners Are Named

WINNER OVER 19

If I were Mayor of Tecumseh for one day I would eliminate the turning of hundreds of boys and girls onto the streets of this city during the noon hour. Not only are the business men and women faced with a nuisance problem, but this very thing encourages stealing and shoplifting.

Why can't the school gymnasiums be put into use during the lunch hour with intramural games, ping pong contests and other competition?

I'm certain my suggestion is made in the best interest of everyone concerned, for I am a mother who loves her children and young people in general and anything that can be done to alleviate an unhealthy situation should have the hearty support of all.

Yours very sincerely,
Betty Streky
Mrs. L. G. Streky

WINNER: UP TO 12

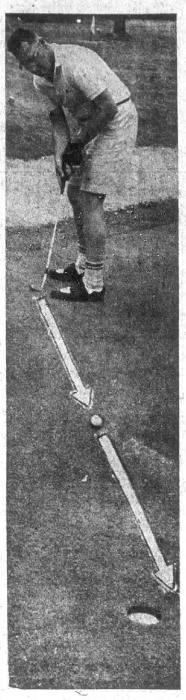
If I were Mayor of Tecumseh, I would have installed a younger boys' and girls' recreational center complete with games, craftshops, etc. similar to a "Y". I would have the road situation brought to a higher level, making them wider and smoother. In addition to this I would have more traffic signals and stoplights put in the more hazzardess sections and crossroads of the city and outskirts. Ah, yes, if I were mayor!

Michael Duffin, 12,
212 W. Chicago Blvd.

WINNER: 13 TO 18

If I were Mayor I would do what is best for the people and not for a few individuals. To give city aid to such projects as the Library and perhaps a Community Center would be my aim. Also, to appoint men who are not afraid to carry out justice.

Richard Duffin, 13,
212 W. Chicago Blvd.



This photo of Mayor Harold Easton appeared in The Herald almost two years ago. It came back to the paper as part of a mysterious entry in the contest. P.S. He missed the putt, the photog tells us.

SPECIAL AWARD

If I were Mayor — I'd practice my golf—as you can see in photo your present Mayor is missing this short putt. If he wants to practice today, he'd better get his long underwear on instead of his short underwear as in photo. I think this should appear in Herald to show what a poor golfer he is.

A Friend
(Over 19)

Maybe he can get some lessons from Ike.

HONORABLE MENTION: UP TO 12

If I were mayor of Tecumseh for one day I would suggest that all the five cent parking meters would be changed to one cent. I would have a health survey made, seeing that all foods in stores were covered and that all restaurants served clean food. I would make sure that the city water was pure. I would have litter bags given out and the streets cleaned.

Scott Edwards, 11
500 N. Maiden Lane

If I were mayor of Tecumseh for one day, I would take a ride through the town and make sure all alleys were clean and garbage dumped. I would check on grocery stores to see if the food was wraped. I would check the streets after dark for children under 15 years of age. I would see the skating ponds were cleaned off every week.

Sandy Keith, 11
2770 E. Monroe Rd.

If I were mayor of Tecumseh for one day, I would make the stores clean up. I would also drill the firemen and policeman about once every two weeks. I would have enough schools for all the children and enough places for all of them to play. I would also make sure that the town would have enough doctors, dentists, and lawyers, and I would also have any other man who doesn't have a job, get one at the Tecumseh Products or some other place.

Jim Goodman, 11
413 W. Brown St.

If I were mayor of Tecumseh for one day, you would only have to put one penny in the parking meters. You would get 25 minutes from one penny.

I would have the schools close down on real cold days so that the kids wouldn't freeze to death I would have only 9½ months of school. From September 1st to the 18th of December. Start again on January 5th and get out for summer on May 13.

Debbie Purkey, 11
N. Occidental Rd.

If I were mayor of Tecumseh for one day I would provide a parking space for the people that work in the stores.

I would check all the stores to make sure they were clean and see that the food is covered.

I would see that the streets are clean.

I would see that the garages were clean and nice.

Brenda Kelley, 11
117 South Evans St.

If I were mayor I would first of all organize a party to make the streets better. Then I would make better schools and get better teachers. Then I expand the city limits. I would also make bigger and better banks. I would try and get more stores.

William Whiting

If I were mayor, I would have the parking meters taken out in front of the Post Office, have a traffic light at the corner where the A&P Store is. I would supply more books for both the school and public libraries, and I would try to get jobs for the people that are unemployed. All these things and more for the people of Tecumseh.

Melissa Sage, 11
206 Park St.

If I were mayor of Tecumseh I would have lower taxes. Instead of having four cents increase I would lower the taxes to two cents over one dollar. I also would build bigger and better schools for children. We should have more communities with recreation rooms to make our children want to get acquainted with other children. We would have better streets and parks. I would build more factories for our men to work in and pay more wages. That is what I would do if I were mayor of Tecumseh.

Samuel Short, 12

If I were mayor I would first lower the taxes, then have houses made bigger.

I would have the library hours 12 hours long and more books put into it.

I would have a bigger hospital.

I would make a bigger city.

I would make another school and more books.

Renee Albough, 9

If I were mayor I would put three more churches in Tecumseh. I'd build more homes. I'd say that library books should not be blamed on children for not returning them. And I'd make more desks for schools and children, and in other schools. And more chalk for teacher's writing.

Gloria Nettro, 9

If I were mayor of Tecumseh every holiday I would give two days of school and I would give off two mounths of school. I would lower prizes and raise taxes and every year I would open the playgrounds for the children to play and all the people who do not have money and homes I would give money and give them a home and make more houses.

John Valdez,

I would lower the price on everything. And try raise the money of jobs. I would apply to make transportation and communications bigger. And I would allso get all stray cats and dogs and tame them and put them in a pet shop and give them to people who are petless. And try very hard to keep Tecumseh's "Capital Refrigeration of the World" and also to keep the air clean of Tecumseh. And help in all.

Danial Wykes

HONORABLE MENTION: UP TO 12

If I were mayor of Tecumseh I would first, have a recreations for boys and girls of all ages to go and play. I also would make sure snow plows were out every day cleaning siedwalks, and streets, to help prevent accidents. I would give the healthy town a new look.

Carol Keeler, 10
603 N. Union

If I were mayor of Tecumseh there would be more patrol boys. And there would be more room in all schools for more children. There would be more books for schools. And everybody would give at least 1c to the poor people far away across the sea, ocean. Everybody would be happy enough.

Charles Fitch

If I were mayor of Tecumseh for one day, I would suggest not to form so many committees and use less talk and more action. I would see where the money goes we pay for taxes and see if we could make it go towards something more useful. In Tecumseh we need more recreation area for the children, and some of our streets need something done with them.

Sandra Elliott, 11
501 Nokomis St.

If I were mayor of Tecumseh I would help make Tecumseh a good place to live and work. I would try to have recreation programs all year around for children of all ages, I would try to bring more factories to our city so that all men can have work.

Donald Dziachan, 9
400 Seneca Street

If I were mayor, I would see that all trees were beautifully trimmed. I would see that every car had a smooth roadway to travel on to prevent accidents. I would see that new stores would be put in such as the Penny Store, Clines Store and Lamsons. I would really try to make this a paradise for all of God's creatures.

Susan Ford, 10

If I were mayor of Tecumseh for one day, I would open a YMCA in the old Quaker Oats building. In the summer the pool would be open half a month before school is out. In winter I would have strategically planted ice rinks, a couple for just plain skating and a couple more for hockey. The rivers and pond would be open for ice fishing.

Philip Browne, 11
332 N. Union

If I were mayor of Tecumseh for one day, I would try to clean up the slum area and suggest that we drive a campane for the needy. I would suggest that we repair the streets. I would also suggest that we try to repair the burned houses and tear down the ones that are falling down.

Susan Gresham, 11
305 W. Logan

If I were mayor of Tecumseh for one day, I would suggest that the curfew be until 10:30 p.m. because the movie at the theater sometimes isn't over at 10 o'clock. I would have the band on BB guns enforsted and have the snowplows on the country roads sooner on school days so the buses can get through.

Tom Feight, 11
1521 Russell Road

If I were mayor of Tecumseh for one day, I would move the dump away from the hospital, and put it about one mile west of town. I would fix up the streets, and on every bad road I would put sewers, gutters, and curbes. I'd make a new Products Building, and have the streets cleaned at least three times for every two weeks.

Lu Lemerand, 9
413 W. Pott.

If I were mayor of Tecumseh for one day, I would have a clean-up day where everyone would mow their lawn and take all the trash out of it or shovel the sidewalks.

I would have a new dump made away from the hospital so that the smoke wouldn't get in the sick peoples lungs.

And for the rest of the town it would just go on like it does now.

Dean Hebb, 11
516 W. Chicago Blvd.

If I were mayor of Tecumseh for one day, I would have a regular garbage pickup three times a week. I would also have signs posted saying that there's a fifty dollar fine for throwing papers on the street. Twice every month I would have cleanup week. The police force would be on the job. Three times a year places that sell meat would be inspected.

Richard Klught, 11
308 E. Pottawatamie

If I were mayor of Tecumseh I would provide for free parking from three to six every Friday in the business district; also provide an ice skating arena for the children in town; enforce regulations for children not to be out on the streets alone after 9 p.m. unless accompanied by their parents.

Frederick Wilkins, 9
8946 Monroe Road
Onsted, Michigan

If I were the mayor of Tecumseh, I would try to do my job well. I would keep Tecumseh clean. I would try to get more men to work. I would make a bigger library and a spot for meetings and plays. This is what I would do.

Paul Burns, 8
905 River Acres

If I were mayor of Tecumseh I would try to improve Tecumseh's roads which are bumpy and which have holes. Then I would make some rules which the citizens would obey and keep. I would always be kind, considerate, and loyal. This would be my aim if I were mayor.

Ruth Ann Warner, 10
303 Herrick Park Dr.

If I were mayor,
I'd say a prayer,
For all the people
Under my care.

Joseph Gentner, 8

I would keep Tecumseh cleaner than any other town or state.

I would teach all people to believe in God and to be good.

I would make rules that on Sundays people would not work except certain people, like doctors.

David Moros, 8

I would keep the streets of Tecumseh clean and in good working order. I would have more parking places and less taxes. I would do everything in my power for the people of Tecumseh.

Marco Sobrado, 8

If I were mayor I would help the children who need help. I would give them money, I would give them my prayers.

Marilyn McKinney, 8

If I were mayor I would have special collections for improvements in the parks. I would put two parks on both sides of town and one in town. If there were an important officer in town I would give him only the best.

Christine Cote, 10

If I were mayor I would have all the shabby houses near the Products torn down and replaced by nice houses. I would erect a building where father and son could play basketball together one night a week, so they could get to know each other better.

Robert Murray, 10

I would make a new road on North Union. I would make a YMCA on the baseball field and I would have a new fire department, get a new fire truck and lots of firemen. I would build some new houses by Tecumseh Products because they are too small and all dirty.

Michael Hebert, 10

If I were mayor I would do my best as any mayor would. I would improve the city park by making it bigger and have a pool put in. All roads in Tecumseh would be plowed during winter to help prevent accidents for happier people.

Mary Burns, 10

If I were mayor I would raise the taxes to pay for the new library books for the new library, "which is going to be built." I also would have new roads made, and improve on the ones we have.

Paul Velandra, 9

HONORABLE MENTION: 13 TO 18

If I were mayor of Tecumseh for one day I would provide a good swimming recreation, I would form a club something like the YMCA and the YWCA. I would take the responsibily of helping someone who needed help that was in trouble. I would teach them to do right things and not the wrong. I would let everyone have free parking for the day that I was mayor.

Gary Kinsman, 13
1211½ South Ottawa St.

If I were mayor of Tecumseh for one day I would go through the city and have a look. I would have the school buses heated a lot warmer. The schools would have more books. They would have more equipment on the playgrounds. I would have more schools built, too.

Then I would have the stores all cleaned up if they weren't.

Linda Bailey, 13
1415 Ives Rd.

If I were mayor the first thing I would do is to build recreational fasilities for both children and adults. I would also improve the safity of every citizen by having better roads and more stoplights. I would try to educate all the children no matter who they are. That's what I would do if I were mayor.

Louis Valdes, 13
Newburg Rt. 1

As the head of the local government in this city I would allow the welfare of the people to be my greatest task. To improve the city will be my motto. A mall would be satisfactory to protect our people in the summer. My every action will be for Tecumseh.

Marilyn Willis, 13
Route 2, Brooklyn

As mayor of Tecumseh I would consider more children's activities and recreation centers. Hoodlums and their gangs resulted from the lack of these. More new and more useful projects would be established for the benefit of Tecumseh's citizens. Tecumseh's majority would uphold authority. This and more if I were mayor.

Kathleen Wykes, 13
505 Nokomis

If I were elected mayor of Tecumseh I would have all roads which are not suitable for driving repaired. The prices of food and clothing would be lowered. More men would have jobs for the support of their family. With the power of a mayor these things could be done.

Mary Kruger, 13
9816 Billmyer Road

If the civic duty of mayor were placed on me I would fence in all dangerous areas, keep roads in repair, better schools and public places. I would enforce laws. I would try to better job opportunities. Then with satisfaction I would try to improve necessary playgrounds and recreation areas.

Joseph Peters, 13
Rt. I Clinton, Mich.

If the power of chief magistrate were bestowed on me, I would among many important things, encourage an important factory to establish in Tecumseh. This would enable men of Tecumseh to have full time jobs, and large pay. This in turn would also help the merchants of our progressing city.

TOM RORDAN'S Long AND Short

A year and one-half ago the city asked for bids on a master plan for Tecumseh.

Jim Smith, local architect, was commissioned for the job when his $7,500 bid was low. Others ranged up to $15,000.

Ever since then, Jim has been toiling on the task, along with dozens of other architectural chores, which carry him all over the nation.

With the master plan, Jim is responsible to the city planning commission. The second Tuesday of each month he sits down with the group when progress of the plan is discussed.

Everything has rolled along with the plan, which covers residential, industrial, business, parks and recreation areas.

A big effort of the plan has been made to turn downtown Tecumseh into a compact, well-organized shopping center.

Among other items, it recomends that eventually downtown Chicago Blvd. — for four blocks — be converted into a mall and through traffic be routed one-way on Logan and Pottawatamie Sts.

This wouldn't be done tomorrow, in fact it would be a gradual change-over, taking many years.

The one-way traffic pattern for the major artery through Tecumseh is based on the fact that in the not-too-distant future the load is going to become almost unbearable.

Officials from the State Highway Dept. have approved the idea, but say that it probably won't happen for about six or seven years.

I realize that some home owners along Logan and Pottawatamie Sts, are unhappy about the proposal.

In the past few weeks, a number of merchants also haxe expressed opposition to the plan.

So a gathering of business folks was called for Monday morning, before the stores opened, at the Strand Theatre.

Mr. Smith presented the downtown portion of the plan to them.

As it turned out, the one-way street proposal only took a small part of the program.

Jim wanted the business people to see what they had now and what could be done.

He used color slides, taken in Tecumseh, to underline his comments, which had to sting a mite. But Jim isn't one to mince words and we admire him for it.

"There is a conglomeration of individual buildings," he pointed out, "and the areas behind them in most places are a mess."

He showed one side of a street where a mass of signs "fight with one another for attention." In the end none wins.

The customer's approach to the business places, Jim explained, is mainly from the stores' rear sides. His pictures displayed some pretty unappetizing sights.

Accident Has Happy Conclusion

A tiny dog ran under the wheels of a car last week and was killed.

The mishap broke the heart of its owner, little Bruno Florez, 9-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Isabel Florez, 611 S. Pearl St.

Bruno was a glum lad as he came to his third grade class at St. Elizabeth School that day.

But late in the afternoon, there was a tapping at the room door.

In came Linda Wilson, 17 - year old Tecumseh High School senior and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Wilson, 611 Outer Dr.

She was holding a tiny puppy.

Linda explained that it was her car which accidentally ran over "Chume", Bruno's dog. She had gone to the Lenawee County Humane Shelder and gotten a puppy for Bruno.

All dignity left the classroom as Bruno rushed forward and clasped the ball of fur.

Linda said she would take the dog to the Florez home and it would await Bruno on his arrival from school.

The newcomer has been called "Otelo."

Friends Give Retiree Watch

There was a soft click as the time clock stamped 3:26 p.m. onto the worker's card.

Officially, Herman Blohm, 67, had retired from Bruce Foundry after 15 years of service.

The date was Feb. 24, 1961.

A widower Herman, lives with his daughter, Betty, at 510 E. Logan St.

He had a reputation at Bruce as one of the top molders in the shop.

Herman could "put up more floors" in a day's time than men half his age. (In a foundry, the area is divided into "floors", onto which molders place their work.)

Mr. Blohm has poured as many as 215 molds in an eight-hour day.

Fellow employees had a little cermony for Herman before he clocked out the last time, presenting him with a gold wrist watch.

For Herman, retirement means the beginning of a new career. On Monday morning at 7, he was on deck in Adrian to assist his daughter, who runs the Mother Goose Nursery School. He'll serve as an all - round Man Friday.

The Blohm garden will also getting a lot more attention, now that Herman has some extra time.

Annual Ice Storm Hits Tecumseh Area

At least once each winter there's a bad ice storm in this part of Michigan.

It arrived Saturday afternoon and left a wake of distruction.

Utilities were hard hit. General Telephone Co. reported $100,000 in damage to its lines in Lenawee County.

Electric service to much of Tecumseh and the rural areas to the west of town was cut in mid-afternoon. In most places power was back in an hour, but many homes were dark until midnight.

The Strand Theatre had to give matinee patrons "rain checks" when electricity failed and the finals of the junior high basketball tournament postponed (details on back page.)

They were off for the annual District Choral, Solo and Ensemble Festival at Lansing Section High School.

Their mission: to compete for ratings of superior, excellent, good, fair, poor in a performance competition.

The chorus members were rewarded for arduous hours of rehearsal by receiving a rating of superior from three different judges.

The Madrigal Singers took part in the ensemble competition and they received a superior rating.

This group of selected chorus members is maintaining a rigorous schedule.

They have made 14 appearances already this year, and have several more on their spring schedule.

Their rehearsing is done outside of school time — from 7 to 7:30 on Thursday mornings. Occassionally they have additional rehearsal in the morning or at noon.

TWO SOLOISTS also sang in competition. Susan Day received a superior rating and Dennis Bryan was rated excellent.

They were accompanied by Mary Tilton at the piano.

When the last bus returned in the ice and high wind Saturday, the chorus members were tired, but they had performed well and had heard many outstanding performances by other groups.

To cap the busy day, the Madrigal Singers sang a program for the Lenawee County Republican Lincoln Day Dinner at the

'M' Report Is Delayed

Printing of the first installment of the University of Michigan report concerning Tecumseh's School System has been delayed a week due to mechanical difficulties in The Herald shop.

LONG & SHORT

Then he had flashed onto the screen a modern shopping center, which regularly attracts folks from Tecumseh and this entire area.

The various stores had conformity of architecture, the signs were small, subdued, but still showed the shopper the way. Walk ways were covered from rain and snow.

There were areas of green, benches, art work.

Jim told the 60 businessmen on hand that in the past 10 years 4,000 shopping centers have been created in the United States.

They came because the communities literally invited them by a lack of appeal to buyers along the existing business rows.

"The time is ripe for a shopping center in Tecumseh," he stated.

He added that a scientific survey of shopper's buying habits in Tecumseh, made by The Herald in 1959, shows that only in drugs and groceries — convenience items — do local stores get almost 100% of the business.

Most of the remainder of the local stores get about 50% of the shoppers' dollar.

What should Tecumseh business do?

Jim's plan advances five ideas, in order of importance:

1. Get a greater variety of inventory.

2. Make attractive entrances to stores from off-street parking lots.

3. Agree on an overall plan for style of store front, exteriors and signs so, that when a store is modernized, its looks will fit into general style.

4. Relocate from eight-block business area all industry, houses and other buildings which do not service the purpose of a shopping center.

5. Continue the development of off-street parking.

These are big orders, but ones which can be attacked gradually, over a period of years.

Round-the-Clock

The Round-the-Block Extension Club will meet Monday February 27 at the home of Mrs. Walter Geman. Mrs. Elwyn Green will be co-hostess. The meeting will start promptly at 8 P.M. Roll call will be baby pictures of each member.

You Told Us

BY DOROTHY GRIGG
Herald Society Editor

"They can't take it away from us now." This was Mrs. Neil Pearson's remark concerning the unusually mild month of February, when we called March 1.

An authority on the progress of "spring," Mrs. Pearson says that along with the robins, she has seen many little green noses peeking up through the grass, slightly turning green in color.

Then too, the maple syrup buckets have been on a number of trees for the past week and a half.

Taking time from the seed catalogues, Mrs. Pearson planted begonia bulbs Wednesday. This, too, is one of the signs of the eagerly awaited season of spring.

John Smith says he has snow drops blossoming on his lawn. Surely March won't spoil it all.

Music Club Discusses Bernstein

America's No. 1 music teacher, Leonard Bernstein, was the program topic of the Tecumseh Music Club Feb. 21.

As conductor of the New York Philharmonic Orchestra, Bernstein has earned this title through his presentation of educational concerts on television.

His "students" number over 75 million people, of all ages. He has a way with words, as well as music, and can speak the language of both "long hairs" and "crew cuts". In addition to his careers as conductor and teacher, he is an expert pianist, composer and Broadway showman.

Members of the Music Club listened to selections from his musical, "West Side Story," and part of an Omnibus TV show, "What is Jazz?" which he had recorded.

The program was presented by Mrs. Leslie Bennett. The business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Fred Oberlin, president. Refreshments with a George Washington theme, were served by the hostess, Mrs. Ray Sommers and co-hostess Nina Heath.

The next program on March 21, features a violinist from Jackson and a pipe organ demonstration by Mrs. Donald Bush.

Our Readers Write

Dear Marjorie Comfort:

I want to congratulate you on your fine explanatory articles in The Tecumseh Herald. I hope every subscriber has read and consumed them thoroughly.

Outside of the teachers salary scale and the school departmental budget costs, this is what we have to spend a great deal of time explaining to our constituents when we are assessing.

It looks to some people, when they see the variation in State Equalization between different townships and cities, that we as assessors are an incompetent crew.

Nevertheless most of us can come very close to the 50% cash value as recommended by the State Tax Commission. We would be very glad to assess values thus if we could be assured that the tax rates would be reduced in fair proportion and that the State Equalization Commission would not spread another 13.6% across the board.

The supervisors and assessors as a whole feel that they are the last ditch stand between Fair Taxation on one hand and Exorbitant Tax Rates on the other.

This Communication is not meant in anyway to criticise, but to praise you for a fine job well done.

Sincerely,
Mills Swick,
Macon Township Supervisor

TO THE EDITORS:

Do we believe in decency? In kindness? In mercy? In doing unto others as we would that they should do unto us?

If we do, and I'm sure that there are very few of us who do not, here is a golden opportunity to put our beliefs into practice. And at no cost to us beyond a few minutes of our time and a couple of postage stamps.

So, PLEASE, won't you readers take a few minutes from your busy schedules and write to Senator Elmer Porter, Capitol Building, Lansing, and ask him to support Senate Bill No. 1015 on your behalf?

And if you are REALLY sincere in your sympathy, write also to the Senate Agriculture Commttee, same address. AND DO IT NOW!

Sincerely,

TO THE EDITORS:

It has come to my attention that in our town we have a problem which threatens the security of the United States. You may agree with my feeling fully, or you may think I am trying to over do the whole thing.

But if you as the public are not interested enough in the future of this town and of the United States then there is no need for you to read one sentence further.

In our town recently a well organized gang was caught. Not just two or three boys but a gang, a gang with a leader! We all know what they were doing, are we proud of these kids?

Some of them are my class mates here att Tecumseh High. I am not proud of them, the teachers aren't proud of them. But when ever anything happens the town always turns to the school and asks what they are doing, why are these kids getting out of hand? "Do something about it."

I'll tell you this much it's not the schools fault that we have teenage drunks, and what have you.

It's your fault as citizens of this town. If you would stop talking about all the troubles and get out and do something, you could clean this town up!

You could find out who is selling the teenagers beer, whisky and cigarettes.

I have done about all that I can do to help this situation in this town by writing this letter. But if you as adults and citizens of this town will stop talking and start acting you can stop this trouble!

Your Friend,
Larry McClain, 17,

Republicans Brave Fog, Ice Storm

Lenawee County Republicans were warned to fear the nationwide trend toward socialism and welfare-state philosophy at their annual Lincoln Day banquet in Adrian.

George VanPeursom new state GOP chairman, was the speaker.

His audience of almost 200, including a contingent from Tecumseh, braved fog, sleet and ice to make the junket.

Mr. VanPeursom urged the guests to take a firm stand in the coming spring elections, especially in voting for officials who will help run the state's major educational institutions.

He said that the University of Michigan, Michigan State and Wayne State boards could be almost entirely controlled by the Democrats if GOPs failed to get out and vote.

Charlie Tricky of Tecumseh was banquet chairman, assisted by Del King, Wayne Reganall and Mrs. Bob Murray of this area.

300 Attend Blue and Gold

The Products Union Hall was a place of gayety Feb. 15 as Cubs from Pack 73, parents, brothers, sisters and leaders held the annual Blue and Gold potluck supper.

Before nearly 300 persons were seated at tables artistically decorated by den mothers and Cubs, Duncan Oliphant gave the invocation.

The meeting was opened with the Pledge of Allegiance to the flag conducted by Steve Maples, Chuck Gillis, Terry Bolden and Steve Dalton.

Committeemen entertained the Cubs and den mothers with a comedy skit narrated by Mr. Oliphant.

The skit concerned Egbert, the boy genius, and proved to be most entertaining.

IT WAS announced that a denmother's meeting will be held at 10 a.m. Feb. 20 at Mrs. Milton Meyers on River Acres Dr. and also that the District Pow Wow (leaders training session) will be held Feb. 25 at the Petersburg High School.

TECUMSEH AND THE CIVIL WAR

Volunteers Join Up

(Editor's note: This is the third in a series of Civil War stories as prepared by Clara Waldron, Tecumseh's unofficial historian.)

By CLARA WALDRON

Although the Fourth regiment has received the lion's share of publicity, there were probably twice as many Tecumseh boys in the 18th Michigan, which left from Hillsdale in August 1862.

That infantry unit was recruited from Hillsdale, Lenawee and Monroe counties in answer to President Lincoln's call of July 2, 1861 for 300,000 men.

It was a depressing period of the war, following Union defeats, but in spite of, or perhaps because of that fact, the ranks were filled by the last of August.

Most of the volunteers from Tecumseh were in Company E and, apparently the town sponsored that unit.

At least Lucius Lilley stated, long after, that he took their first pay checks to Hillsdale and that the town had purchased their uniforms. There is no record this time of red pants.

The officers of Co. E were Capt. Charles Stevens, First Lt. William Weatherhead and Second Lt. Edward Hoag, who were all of Tecumseh as was also the captain of Company L, David A. Dodge.

Of the more than 100 boys from this community in the ranks of the 18th, several names stand out because of the prominence of their families in town affairs.

Among them were Charles Hewitt, Deloss LeBaron, Samuel Kneeland, William Waring and two members of Tecumseh's master-carpenter family, Theodore and Eugene Crane.

ENLISTING in the ranks, all these men received commissions before the end of the war, Hewitt being chosen aide to Gen. Doubtle.

Another member of this regiment, who although he enlisted from Adrian, lived in Tecumseh much of his life, was James M. Ingersoll. Probably he would be best known now as the father of Edith Ingersoll.

A week before the 18th left Hillsdale, a romantic episode took place in Tecumseh. Five of the young volunteers were married to five local girls, all on August 14.

Three of the couples were married by the Rev. Wishart, pastor of the Presbyterian church and two by his retired predecessor, the Rev. E. N. Nichols.

The young people were Lt. Edward Hoag and Delia Ellen McConnell; Samuel M. Kneeland and Mary Augusta Nicholson; William B. Hendryx and Delia E. Conkling; William Waring and G. Florine LeBaron and Harvey Wheeler and Catherine Tindall.

War records show the young men served the cause well and all returned safely to their brides.

☆

ANOTHER Tecumseh lass did not marry her sweetheart before he left, but she kept his memory in her heart for all the rest of a long, useful and lonely life.

Lucy Train, still affectionately remembered for her many helpful years on Main Street — and for her gray curls — promised her soldier boy to keep her hair in curls until he came back.

She did, but he never returned and she never changed that "water-fall" of curls, wearing them proudly and with dignity through the years.

☆

THE 18th Michigan was engaged for the first part of its service in driving the enemy out of Kentucky and Alabama and holding those states for the north.

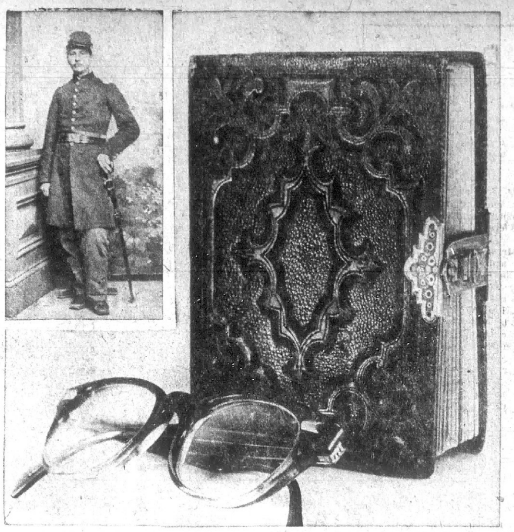
Their most severe losses came when a task force of 200 men was cut off and surrounded by nearly 5,000 troops. The group was captured, with many killed and wounded. In all, 26 of the men from Tecumseh were either killed or died of disease.

Six of that number were among 63 casualties suffered by the 18th in the terrible tragedy of the steamboat "Sultana."

A Mississippi steamer, the Sultana, was loaded (or overloaded) with men, just released from southern prisons and on its way north and home, when her boilers exploded, killing more than 1000 of those on board.

It was one of those calamities which seem to be part of war and was investigated, but never explained.

June 30, 1864, the 18th returned to Jackson where it encamped and was mustered out. The next week Tecumseh celebrated the Fourth of July as it had never been celebrated before. The boys of the 18th were home.



PICTURE ALBUM — This tiny album (note its comparison to regular eye glasses) was discovered in the attic of the home at 401 E. Chicago Blvd., recently purchased by Jim Beardsley. It contains pictures of many local lads who served from here, like the young man shown in insert (above left).

A few members of the class are working on projects having to do with live animals.

√

The basketball Fighting Knights made the Ida Blue-streaks yield a hard-fought game, 54-42, on the Ida court Friday.

The Knights took an early lead of 13-2 in the first quarter, held a 24-19 score margin at intermission.

Boysville at present has a 7-6 overall record, with two more games to play.

√

The Junior Knight also upended their Ida opponents, 40-29.

Stan Klos and John Taylor were the high-point men for the evening with 18 and 11.

√

The Boysville seventh (smaller eighth graders) and eight graders defeated both the seventh and eight grade teams of St. Elizabeth of Tecumseh on Sunday.

Neffs Will Tell About Africa

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Neff, recently-returned missionaries from Nigeria, will speak at Tecumseh Friends Church Sunday at 10 a.m. and 7:30 p.m.

Mrs. Neff is the former Marion Comfort, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Comfort of Rogers Hwy.

Dale Neff had his first exposure to missionary service as a young crusader in Japan after World War II, where he captained a team of Japanese nationals in a national house-to-house Gospel distribution campaign.

Strangely enough, he felt impelled to offer himself for service in a co-operative missionary program between The Oriental Missionary Society and the United Missionary Church in Nigeria.

After his two years in Japan and further preparation in the United States, the Neffs sailed for Nigeria where they have spent four years in that burgeoning new country which is now the largest of the African nations.

The current African crisis makes such a missionary message most vital to a correct understanding of world affairs.

Mr. Neff is prepared to discuss these events in the light of his experiences. The public is cordially invited according to the Rev. Paul Brantingham, pastor.

Why all the red tape?

You can understand why we don't sell narcotics without a physician's prescription. But maybe you've wondered why we're so fussy about other things . . . like penicillin, sleeping pills, the new tranquilizers. These potent medications are called "legend drugs" and you have to have a prescription to get them. Reason: Uncontrolled use may do more harm than good. Only your physician knows whether you should use them or not—and, if so, just how much. So we require a prescription. It's a matter of professional ethics and the law. Always it's common sense.

Church Notes

+ Different Form of Communication Sermon Feature

This Sunday's sermon at the Presbyterian Church, entitled "Steps to New Understanding," will include a different form of communication and will be concerned with the practical side of Christianity and individual involvement in the life of the church.

"Talk, talk, talk." This is what we usually think of when we think about sermons. Words, words, and more words descending from the pulpit. Sometimes we wonder. "Is there no other way to communicate the Christian faith, than through words?"

Traditionally, the Christian faith has been communicated through words and through lives. From time to time, other means have been used to convey the message of the church, but by and large it has been done by the spoken word.

√

The Youth Choir, which has been participating in the worship service every other Sunday, will present an anthem again Sunday. It is entitled "Gentle Jesus".

The adult choir will also sing an anthem entiled "Who Crucified My Lord?"

+ Beatitudes Are Challenging Principles

The Beatitudes, known as the Sermon on the Mount, contains many challanging principles and teachings.

Jesus adds to the teachings of the Law in the Old Testament, a new quality based on the character, personality, and participation of the individual.

The Rev. Allen Wittrup of the Tecumseh Methodist Church, is preaching a series of sermons during Lent on the Beatitudes.

His subject for Sunday at 10 a.m. will be "The Mystery of Mercy."

THS Draws Royals in Tourney Opener

By JIM LINCOLN

As usual, the pairings for the district tournament find the Tecumseh Indians battling the favorites — this time its Blissfield.

The Indians and Royals open the Class B section of the tourney next Tuesday evening at 8:30 on the Blissfield court.

Winner of the tilt will vie for the championship the following Saturday night, against either Monroe CC or Bedford.

Both have losing seasons and are probably the weakest teams in the Class B section.

Coach Doug Murdoch's five lost twice to the Royals Tuesday.

during the regular season and will be underdogs next

Probable local starters will be high scoring John Britton, Norm Tucker, Larry Titley, Tim Sisson and Jerry Breitenwisher.

The squad was jolted Tuesday when Coach Murdoch dropped one varsity starter and four junior varsity players for breaking training.

Grade Squads in Title Tilts

Saturday's sleet storm temporarily halted the championship games in Tecumseh's junior high basketball tournament.

Finals had to be re-scheduled for Wednesday of this week.

Both of Tecumseh's squads, the seventh and eighth, reached the championship round, facing Dundee in each bracket.

The meet opened Feb. 23 with Tecumseh seventh graders stopping Airport, 36-18.

Gordon Gibson hit for 12, Dick Moon had eight and Ed Brazee seven. Doug Hall contributed four.

Tecumseh's eighth graders had an equally easy time against airport's eighth grade cagers winning, 39-20.

Don Baird's 15 markers topped both squads. Greg Allen got nine, Jeff Osburn and Dick Johnson both had four.

The next night, the Tecumseh seventh beat Blissfield's seventh, 22-16, with Gibson netting six and Brazee five.

In the eight-grade battle, Tecumseh nosed out Blissfield, 20-10. Jim Lawson and Doug apiece, berry had five tallies apiece, Allen and Baird notched four each.

Other school taking part was Milan, eliminated by Dundee squads in the first round.

John Britton Hits for 33; Floor Record

Last Friday night, the Tecumseh Indians nearly pulled the upset of the season before bowing to Huron League champions, Grosse Ile, 65-60, on the winner's floor.

Tecumseh, trailing once in the third period by 13 points, knotted the count at 58-58 with two minutes to go.

John Britton turned in his flashiest game of the season, scoring 23 points in the first half (all of Tecumseh's 17 points in the second quarter) and ending the game with 33, a GI floor record.

The loss eliminated any Tecumseh hopes of climbing out of the league's basement spot. The Indians end regular play this Friday night against Airport in local gym.

TO THE AMERICAN PEOPLE

MEN MUST CHOOSE

"I KNOW NOT WHAT COURSE others may take; but as for me, give me liberty or give me death." Patrick Henry said that. As men of courage chose to stand, a free nation was born.

Today the life of nations is breaking down. Riot and rebellion, hell and holocaust are in our midst. An ideology born in frustration and hatred challenges the world. A period of danger unparalleled in human history confronts us. America must stand and give the answer.

There is an answer. It lies in Americans accepting the challenge to live by absolute moral standards and the guidance of God. An extreme of evil can only be met by an extreme of good. A fanatical following of evil by a passionate pursuit of good.

William Penn put it straight: "Men must choose to be governed by God or they condemn themselves to be ruled by tyrants."

We cannot live crooked and think straight. We cannot keep our mistresses, our dishonest deals, our comforts — and still keep our liberty. Our immorality is Communism's greatest asset. Chou En-lai of Red China says: "We can slip our Communist ideology in through the weak spots in men's characters."

Lip service to the faith of our fathers cannot counter an all-out devotion to an evil ideology. Human brilliance that does not obey the guidance of God cannot answer human brilliance dedicated to destroy God.

Abraham Lincoln knew the secret of God-control. He wrote, "If it were not for my firm belief in an over-ruling Providence, it would be difficult for me in the midst of such complications of affairs to keep my reason in its seat. I am satisfied that when the Almighty wants me to do or not to do any particular thing, He finds a way of letting me know it."

This is the missing factor in the planning and the statesmanship of the world today — a God-centered ideology for democracy.

Moral Re-Armament offers America and the whole world the superior armament of an ideology without which armies are out-fought and statesmen out-thought. America's great, immediate, positive task is to live and give Moral Re-Armament to the world. Then empty hands will be filled with work, empty stomachs with food, and empty hearts with an idea that really satisfies.

Robert Schuman, as Foreign Minister of France, in his foreword to the collected speeches of Dr. Frank Buchman, Remaking the World, wrote: "Moral Re-Armament brings us a philosophy of life applied in action. It is the beginning of a vast transformation of human society which has already begun. It is not a question of a change of policy; it is a question of changing men. Democracy and her freedoms can be saved only by the quality of the men who speak in her name."

"A vast transformation of human society." That is Moral Re-Armament. Millions are turning to it, leaders and led in Africa, Asia, Europe and the Americas. Across the free world an army of men and women is growing, united in their commitment to live under God's direction. They present an impregnable barrier to evil men and evil ideas and give a sure hope to despairing millions on both sides of the Iron Curtain.

As men choose and change, they turn the course of history.

A STEELWORKERS' LEADER

"The roughest, toughest man in the Steelworkers — he could lick any six men," was a colleague's description of John Riffe, who rose to be the last Executive Vice-President of the CIO.

Born in the Kentucky mountains in 1906 the son of a poor farmer, Riffe became a coal miner at 14. Years of poverty and persecution convinced him that the employer was the mortal enemy of the workers. Beaten up and left for dead by goons in South Carolina, he recovered to become "one of the five giants of American labor."

But his biggest fight was the battle for the thinking of America. The Communists offered class war. They were out to foment division in industry. Riffe gave the workers a much greater challenge: "Labor led by God can lead the world."

He was a friend of Philip Murray, God-fearing President of the Steelworkers, who recognized in Moral Re-Armament "a call to action against the divisive materialism which is our unseen enemy." Philip Murray once said to Riffe, "John, we will never have a sound union in the mills unless we have union in the homes."

When John Riffe met Frank Buchman he found an answer for his own life and home, for labor and for America. He saw that hate-filled men cannot build a hate-free society, nor selfish men an unselfish society. He saw changed men change other men and bring inspired answers to unemployment, deadlock and selfish interest. John chose this ideology. He changed, and set a pattern for the age.

Of course he met opposition. They tried to smear him. But he stood firm. Speaking to the Executive of the CIO in 1953, he said, "You men know me. You have seen me sitting around all night in poker games, and then turning up next morning bleary-eyed when I should have been backing up Phil Murray. MRA has made a union man like me quit whiskey and poker and a lot of other things I shouldn't have been doing. It's made me honest and decent and given me a happy home. It's made me do my job with greater responsibility."

After this statement John Riffe was elected by acclamation to the post of Executive Vice-President which he held till the AFL-CIO merger in 1955.

"MRA is answering Communism by changing Communists," said Riffe. He was speaking from experience.

One day the leader of an anti-Communist union asked him for a talk. He found he could trust John. He got honest about drinking and trouble in the home. Then he told John, "I am publicized as an anti-Communist, but I am still secretly in the Party. What should I do?"

Riffe told him about his own change and how in quiet thought God can show a man what to do. The local leader decided to get honest with his wife, quit the drinking and tell his colleagues about his Communist affiliation.

Today this man, no longer Communist, says, "Moral Re-Armament is the way up and the way out for humanity."

Riffe knew that the revolution which had happened in his own life could take place equally in men of management. "It can begin at the bottom and go up, or it can begin at the top and go down," he said. "The important thing is that it begins."

Years later, from his deathbed John Riffe told a United States Senator, "You must tell America that when Frank Buchman changed John Riffe he saved the country 500 million dollars."

When he died the leaders of six million Japanese workers said of him, "In John Riffe we have seen the new America."

AMERICAN SURGEON IN THE CONGO

A group of Africans were talking animatedly in a train near Johannesburg. They were speaking about an American surgeon who had stayed on in the Congo with a Moral Re-Armament force after the outbreak of the crisis and won the trust of the Congolese and their leaders.

The American is Dr. William T. Close of Greenwich, Connecticut, formerly the chief resident surgeon at Roosevelt Hospital, New York. Prime Minister Ileo said to him and the force of Moral Re-Armament: "My wish is that you stay long enough in this country. If not, Communism will come in when you go out."

The MRA force has been in the Congo since May 1960 at the invitation of the Congolese, hungry for an answer to civil war and Communist takeover.

Dr. Close has no economic aid or military assistance to offer but he has a militant commitment to an ideology so powerful that he wins and changes Communist and non-Communist alike. When the trouble broke out and the Europeans fled, Dr. Close offered his services, without pay, in the 1800-bed East Leopoldville Hospital.

The hospital was threatened by a strike. One morning Close was operating on a Congolese soldier. His Congolese medical assistant was a ringleader of the strike, a bitter man. The atmosphere was tense. Close paused for a moment, turned to the technician and said, "I was thinking of you early this morning." The technician was on his guard. The doctor continued, "It is the arrogance and superiority in white men like me that have created the bitterness in men like you. I am really sorry." There was a long silence. "I have never heard a white man admit he was wrong," said the Congolese. Close won the technician and brought a new spirit to the hospital.

Dr. Close works 14 to 18 hours a day. He fights for the Congolese leaders to deal as drastically with the evils in their nation as a doctor does with his patients; he shows the MRA ideological films to the UN and Congolese troops or speaks over the national radio on the MRA program, "The Answer to Crisis," which is broadcast twice daily.

One day a Congolese leader was secretly offered a high position in a new government. It was a clever trick to divide the democratic forces. At dinner that night Dr. Close told this man how he had changed and put things right with his wife and his boss at the New York hospital. The Congolese leader, moved by Close's honesty, admitted his ambition was being used to split the government. He decided to refuse the offer and exposed the whole plot to the acting Prime Minister.

Dr. Close writes from the Congo, "The Congo does not want Communism. America must not choose to compromise with the Communists. She must be blind to her own danger if she follows a line that will force Communism on to another country. In the words of an African leader, 'Moral Re-Armament is doing for Africa what Abraham Lincoln did for America. It is binding up the nation's wounds and setting the people free.' Either we Americans accept to fight the moral battle in our own country and give a moral ideology to other nations, or we condemn Africa and the world to a bloody holocaust."

FRENCH RESISTANCE FIGHTER

"We forgive! We forgive!"

The wounded Congolese soldiers shouted from their beds to the woman who had just spoken to them in the Leopoldville hospital ward. She was a grey-haired French woman who had taken on her heart to apologize to these Africans for all that Europeans had done to their country and continent. She asked their forgiveness and this was the reply.

During the war Irene Laure was a leading figure of the French Resistance. She hid fugitives. She diverted trains.

When the occupying forces cut down the food in Marseilles so that children went hungry, she mobilized 4,000 women and marched them in silence like avenging angels through the streets until the rations were restored.

Her son was tortured to force her to disclose secrets of the Resistance. She refused. But her heart broke and hate took its place. "I had only one wish — to destroy all Germans," she said.

After the war the people of Marseilles elected her overwhelmingly to the National Assembly. She became Secretary-General of the three and a half million Socialist women of France.

She came to the Moral Re-Armament World Assembly at Caux, Switzerland. The first people she heard speak from the platform there were Germans. She wanted to leave but in spite of herself, she listened.

These were Germans with an ideology. They honestly faced the mistakes of the past. Humbly they declared their own nation's need for change. For days she wrestled with it in her spirit. Then she made her choice. She mounted the platform and in brief sentences she, who had been so wronged, asked forgiveness of the Germans for her hatred.

Barriers of years melted. Irene's husband Victor — 47 years a Marxist, trained by Marcel Cachin, dean of French Communists — returned to the Catholic Church of his fathers, which for nearly half a century he had attacked.

Together the Laures, grandparents now, were married in church which at the time of their civil marriage they had refused to do.

They decided to go to Germany and begin to cure the division between the two countries. They spoke to ten out of the eleven West German parliaments.

Over the radio and in hundreds of meetings and interviews they healed the hatred which they had once shared.

Chancellor Adenauer of Germany has said of Madame Laure that she has done more than any other living individual to bring reconciliation between France and Germany. "Unless the work of Moral Re-Armament is carried forward," he says, "peace in the world cannot be maintained."

JAPANESE STUDENT RIOTERS

"An audience of 3,000 rose in a sustained standing ovation last night to the challenge of a force of Japanese students in Carnegie Hall," wrote the New York Journal-American on February 21.

The students had taken part in the Tokyo riots last June which prevented President Eisenhower's visit to Japan. They had just given the premiere performance of their play The Tiger, a drama of the Tokyo riots.

The New York Times, February 24, reported what happened after the performance of The Tiger at White Plains, New York:

"Four Japanese students apologized to James C. Hagerty tonight for the Tokyo riots against him last June. Mr. Hagerty was President Eisenhower's press secretary. He replied to the apologies, delivered on stage, that the drama and its message was 'all the apology I or the people of the United States could want.'"

It was a moment of history, uniting Japan and America. "This is democracy in action, demonstrated by Moral Re-Armament," said Edwin Michaelian, Chief Executive of Westchester County.

The dramatic change in these students took place at the Moral Re-Armament World Assembly at Caux, Switzerland, last summer. There they found an idea more satisfying and challenging than riots and rebellion.

They had given their passion to destroy the alliance between Japan and America. Now they decided to live to save a crumbling civilization.

Shoei Omote, former President of the students of Meiji University, says, "I fought as a leader of the riots because I felt that Communism alone could answer the corruption of Japan. But the harder we fought, the more bitterness there was in the country. Through another student leader I heard about MRA. I saw that as I am so is my nation. I put right what was wrong in my life and family and got completely honest. The choice is Moral Re-Armament or Communism."

Chancellor Adenauer invited The Tiger to Germany and officially sponsored the showings.

French leaders including former Prime Minister Robert Schuman, Gaston Monnerville, President of the French Senate, and Gabriel Marcel, the well-known Catholic philosopher, invited them to Paris.

Now they will take their play across America.

Through the press, radio and television these students have reached millions. Their fight is answering the Communist strategy of mobilizing for rebellion the youth of all nations.

Former Prime Minister Kishi of Japan refers to men like these when he says, "But for Moral Re-Armament, Japan would be under Communist control today."

AFRICAN REVOLUTIONARY

The Communist aim in South Africa is to produce a bloodbath by inflaming the hate between black and white. But a mighty answer is at work.

P. Q. Vundla is a great African revolutionary. He led the biggest strike of the African gold mineworkers. The police called him the most dangerous man in South Africa. He could set 12,000 men marching in less than two hours.

Vundla changed. The man who helped him change was Nico Ferreira, an Afrikaner who had led the white nationalist Youth League at Pretoria University. Ferreira accepted the challenge of Moral Re-Armament. He went to Vundla and said, "I am sorry for the pride and domination in people like me and for the pain and suffering we have caused." He told Vundla of his decision to lay down his life to bring South Africa under God's control.

In men like Ferreira, Vundla saw a revolution far more dynamic than his own struggle. Here was an ideology that changed men of all races.

When Vundla committed his life to fight for this uniting answer he drew the enmity of some of his own people who were determined not to give up the race war. He was stabbed and left for dead. When he came out of the hospital he called a mass meeting of his people, told them of his decision to be a selfless, incorruptible man, and to fight without hatred, and won them. Today he has his people's support more than ever before.

They have just elected him to represent 600,000 Africans in Johannesburg for talks with the Minister of Native Affairs.

Men like Vundla and Ferreira, black and white, are building the new South Africa — hate-free, fear-free, greed-free. They have already held 27 assemblies where all races have met to plan an answer for the country. Because of their commitment unprecedented events are now taking place.

By unanimous decision the South African Film Censor Board passed the film The Crowning Experience, which stars the distinguished Negro artist Muriel Smith, for release to all races. When the film had its Cape Town premiere this month the run had to be extended because of exceptional crowds.

The South African Broadcasting Corporation in a historic step has requested Vundla to speak on the national commercial radio.

"Nothing less than an ideology with a world-remaking strategy could have united men like Ferreira and myself," says Vundla. "It is our only hope. My one job is to change men."

Dr. Buchman sent a message to a friend telling him of Vundla. He said, "This is a man in possession of fundamental truth. This one thing I do, forgetting those things which are behind I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling that is in Christ Jesus. Make this reality in the life of a man and he will carry it to the nation. Make it a reality in the life of America, and Russia and China will respond and the course of history will be changed."

THE DECISION LIES IN YOUR HANDS

Riffe, Close, Vundla, Irene Laure, the men of The Tiger — these are in the vanguard of the fight to save a crumbling civilization. Anyone who reads this page can immediately take his or her place in the same front line.

Frank Buchman puts it this way:

"Now make no mistake. I do not say that this message will be wholly popular. It stirs the conscience. That is uncomfortable. It will always be open to misinterpretation by those who wish to escape it. But it comes as illumination to those who are ready.

"Let me tell how it came to me. Just forty years ago I was divided. Just as nations today are divided. Materialism was winning its battle in my heart. I went to Europe to try to escape. But my battle came with me.

"One day, in England, God showed me the cost of my pride and my materialism. I admitted it. That is the first step. Get honest.

"I said, 'Sorry' — first to God, then to those I had wronged. That is the second step.

"I learned to listen to God. I accepted His commission to bring an answer to men and nations. That is the third step.

"God is calling men everywhere to be the instruments of union. It comes not by conferences, not by laws, not by resolutions and pious hopes, but by change.

"Change is the heart of the superior ideology.

"As individuals change, a new climate comes to the nation's life. As leaders change, policies become inspired and the nation's life-blood flows again. As statesmen change, the fear of war and chaos will lift. The most difficult will respond to the firm, united but humble voice of reborn democracy.

"Why should there be catastrophe again when, with God, renaissance is inevitable?

"This is the new pattern of freedom for all nations. Shall it be a new Dark Age for the world? Or shall it be world-wide Renaissance of the moral and spiritual forces everywhere, bursting into life and bringing at the last moment a miracle to mankind?

"Which shall it be? The decision lies in your hands."

On January 15 a call to the American people, "The Hour is Late", appeared in 130 metropolitan daily newspapers across America. There has been a great national response. Thousands wrote letters from every corner of the country. They responded wholeheartedly to the straight challenge of the page and made financial contributions to further the advance. The same page was published in hundreds of papers in Europe, Asia, South America and Canada. These pages, like all the action of Moral Re-Armament, are financed by the sacrificial gifts of men and women from all walks of life, determined to bring this answer to America and the world. Contributions, which are tax deductible, and requests for information, may be sent to Moral Re-Armament, 640 Fifth Ave., New York 19; 833 So. Flower St., Los Angeles 17; Cedar Point, Mackinac Island, Mich.

Friars Prove Popular Group at Concerts

Featured as a part of the program of The University of Michigan Men's Glee Club is the ever-popular octet known as The Friars.

Those who have seen them perform in the past will no doubt remember them for the spark of wit and humor they always seem to add to the performance of the Glee Club.

Some may remember the times when The Friars have sung their beautiful arrangements of some of the better-known tunes. For indeed they excel at this type of singing as well.

This year, The Friars have taken on five new members, one of them Ralph Helzerman, Jr. of Tecumseh.

Many believe that their blend is perhaps the best ever. One listening to The Friars is immediately impressed by the fact that here are eight boys who really enjoy singing.

Vic Calceterra of Grosse Pointe is the "granddaddy" of the group in that this marks his fourth year as a Frair.

County Reaches 84.4% of Quota

Combined purchases of series E and H United States savings bonds by residents of Lenawee County were $1,603,293 in 1960, equivalent to 84.4% of the Treasury-assigned quota.

The 1960 total compared with $1,754,818 in 1959.

Dwarf Fruit Trees Are in Favor

Mrs. Stanley Cook was hostess to members of the Little Garden Club Feb. 21.

Mrs. William Schroer, president, conducted the business meeting when a review of the year's planned activities was made from attractive Irish green covered program booklets.

Of special interest to area Garden Clubs is the announcement of Mrs. Ester Wheeler of New York, author and lecturer, as speaker at the annual district meeting to be held in Tecumseh.

On other activities, the exhibit committee initiated discussion on a Flower Show.

Jack Mowat of Mowat and Son Orchards was guest speaker. He talked and demonstrated on "Planting and Pruning a Small Orchard".

He spoke on all types of dwarf trees, which are ideal for the small backyard. These are also being used more and more in large orchards to save on labor costs.

THE NEXT program will be "Civic Planning" by A. J. Smith, architect.

As the program is one of general interest members are invited to bring their husbands or other guests.

Members who bring a guest are asked to notify one of the hostesses, Mrs. Carlton Cook, Mrs. Wilbur Andrews or Mrs. William Macbeth.

The meeting will be held March 21 at 7:45 p.m. at Mrs. Cook's home.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Stanley Cook, Mrs. Richard Colson and Mrs. Byron Goodman. Charming tea cups were used.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Zick, Mrs. Herbert Gilmore, Mrs. Clarence Twork and Mrs. Hamilton Moore Jr. were among those who attended the Polio supper Monday evening held in the Elks dining room.

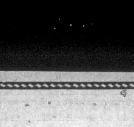
THROUGH MY WINDOW



Remember Friday, Feb. 17? What a dark, wet day it was? Rain and fog, then more rain and more fog.

Early in the morning — and anything that happens at these hours I know about only from hearsay — but I do understand that there was some ice early that morning.

However, by the time I came to enough to know what was going on, a heavy downpour had taken care of the slippery stuff.

By mid-morning the rain was still beating down in torrents and the temperature had started a dizzy sky-rocketing climb.

The rain, plus the warm weather, brought the frost out of the ground and when this started we, of course, had fog. A delightful day — ugh!

Actually, I don't really mind a foggy day. The attitude is selfish, but from my cozy room I can look out at a fog-bound world and quite enjoy it.

All that is familiar becomes just a little strange, a little unreal; sounds are muffled and everything looks soft. Foggy days are moody days, peaceful days, good for day-dreaming and thought-wandering.

☆

FOGGY DAYS are also quiet days, we expect to see nor hear many birds and so it was most surprising, in fact, it was actually shocking, when a blue jay started screaming.

Although we couldn't see the blue jay, there was no mistaking that loud shrill voice.

Nearby was a blue jay and he was angry about something. Hardly had we time to wonder what his trouble was, when flitting down to the feeder came a tiny chick-a-dee. What a day, rain

VOICE of THE HERALD

Library: Fact and Fiction

A civic leader in town, interested in seeing a new library here, was a little disturbed by anti-library propaganda which has cropped up in the past three weeks.

He wanted to know what we thought and if we felt that facts — and facts alone — should speak on this important issue. We readily agreed.

This is too vital an undertaking to have off-hand comments passing as truth.

Let's dissect several of the statements.

FICTION: The library is used only by a few people.

FACT: More than 4,000 area residents have active library cards. The library not only provides for people in the city, but also for the entire 78-square-mile Tecumseh School District, students and adults alike.

FICTION: A new library would have to cost $300,000.

FACT: It happened that this amount has been mentioned, but it need not be the final figure. As was pointed out in an article last week, Huntington Woods, a city of about the same size as this, built one for $131,000. (It doesn't serve an entire school district and thus this figure would probably be a trifle low for Tecumseh.)

FICTION: We really don't need a bigger library.

FACT: The present building has been badly outgrown. Much more space is needed to provide for school patrons using the library for reference and study, also for adults who wish to read there. Our library was constructed at the turn of the Century when the city had about 2,500 residents.

Those folks, who have heard these ficticious comments and possibly others, should spend a little time learning about the local library situation.

As The Herald has stated before, we can think of no finer project with which the Tecumseh Community Fund Foundation can begin its building program for the community.

We sincerely hope nothing deters the Foundation board in its plans.

A Time for Improvements

Pictures don't lie.

They proved a good point Monday morning when 60 merchants met with city master plan architect Jim Smith to consider what lies ahead for Tecumseh downtown business.

Some of the color shots flashed upon the screen of the Strand Theatre weren't pretty to look at. And they were all taken from behind the four downtown blocks, the areas many shoppers see upon arriving here to do their buying.

It's apparent that a concentrated improvement program should be gotten underway this spring. It would have to be a cooperative effort, involving city, Chamber of Commerce and just plain citizens.

Every time something like this comes up, someone is bound to say, "But that will cost a lot of money." We don't mean a full-blown renovation, rather beautification.

The Herald building can well stand just that and we've decided to do some work on it. First of all, there'll be a good coat of paint — and this in itself should do wonders.

We're going to make some improvements in the lot behind, too, clearing out debris and fixing up our parking area.

Many places have long ago done these things and they're to be complimented.

Those who have been delaying improvements might now think more seriously about starting something, dove-tailing the various projects with efforts of fellow merchants.

As Mr. Smith remarked Monday, "We can beef up each other if we work together."

Deficit Has Long History

By MARJORIE COMFORT

Tecumseh School District's budget is in a hole, and the hole is getting deeper.

Although income for the school district has shown great growth over the last several years, the spending has grown even faster.

By the end of this school year, June 30, the district will be an estimated $130,792 in the red.

How did this happen?

1—The school board has spent $307,830.06 from general fund money for school construction, furniture and equipment.

2—The school year was extended this year, costing about $36,000 over last year's budget.

3—The school enrollment has grown faster than the taxes paid to run the schools.

4—State aid not only has decreased in some fields, it has been late coming, requiring the schools to borrow money.

The schools have had a balance at the end of the school year only three times since 1949. The end-of-year statements have been:

1950 — Deficit — $ 4,578.59
1951 — Deficit — 37,781.17
1952 — Deficit — 13,142.60
1953 — Balance — 4,578.53
1954 — Deficit — 26,278.53
1955 — Deficit — 26,883.61
1956 — Balance — 16,682.96
1957 — Balance — 12,131.77
1958 — Deficit — 24,763.90
1959 — Deficit — 33,486.39
1960 — Deficit — 93,866.10

In each of the years where a large deficit showed, large expenditures were made for school furniture and equipment.

This year is the only time when the actual cost of operating the schools has not been well within the income.

Let's take the reasons for the deficit one at a time.

1—CAPITAL OUTLAY.

Since the first post - World War II construction began in Tecumseh School district, $3,510,642.39 has been spent on buildings, grounds, furniture and equipment.

All of this money COULD have come from bonds sold for the specific purpose. Instead, much of it came from donations and from general operating funds.

The figures are:

Sale of property	$ 55,686.64
Building & site fund	65,846.34
Bond Sales	2,743,429.35
Donations	337,850.00
General Operating Funds	307,830.06
Total	$3,510,642.39

Superintendent James McDowell reports that the amount of the general fund spent for capital outlay usually is figured at 1% of all operating expenses.

Tecumseh's figure currently is 2.3% and has averaged 8.7% over the past 10 years.

If none of the $307,830.06 from the general fund had not been used for the building program, the school district would not have a deficit now.

Instead, it would have a balance of $177,038.06.

Even taking off that 1%—the "rule of thumb" for capital improvement out of operating funds in school disticts — the balance still would be well over $100,000.

Several reasons have been given for this practice of spending general fund money for capital improvements.

One thought expressed is that the district's taxpayers saved money by not having to pay interest on the bond money. Even at the low interest rates at which school bonds are sold, the interest over the life of the bonds amounts to a considerable sum.

It's just like buying built-in kitchen equipment in your home, and adding the cost to your home mortgage.

By the time you pay the interest over a 20 to 30 - year period, you in effect have paid twice as much as the built - in appliances would have cost if you'd paid cash.

Some of this savings realized by the schools in not buying school furniture on "time payments" is being eaten up by the interest charges on the budget deficit, but the schools still are ahead.

The longer the debt remains, the more interest must be subtracted from the "profit."

Another reason given for not buying furniture and equipment from bond money is that the board was advised to keep the 1957 bond issue below $2 million to give more assurance that the voters would approve it.

This is the same psychology used when stores mark an item $9.95 instead of $10. That nickel, they feel, can make a big difference.

2—Ten-month school year.

Michigan requires public schools to meet a minimum of 180 days a year. From these 180 "membership days" are allowed to be subtracted one day for each for Thanksgiving, Christmas, New Year's Day and Memorial Day, provided school is in session the day before or the day after the holiday.

Also subtracted are the State Teachers Institute, County Institute Day and any days lost for "acts of God," which would include ice or snow storms making bus travel hazardous, floods.

The school district may not subtract days the school is closed for mechanical trouble, such as an inoperative furnace.

So the board of education, which sets the annual school calendar, normally allows an extra few days to cover emergencies.

State school aid is cut if the district does not meet the minimum required days.

A few districts in Lenawee County only meet the minumum days required. Most, including 9½ months.

This year, Tecumseh joined about 80 other Michigan school districts in establishing a 10 - month school year.

This action was taken a year ago, before teacher contracts were issued in February. It was done on the assumption that the voters would approve the millage request in the July election.

The millage was rejected, but the contracts already had been signed.

All teachers not already at the maximum salary allowed receive $120 a year for each year they teach in the Tecumseh school district. It takes 15 years to go from the minumum starting salary to the maximum.

But contracts for the 1960-'61 school year also included an extra $300. Some refer to this as a raise, others as pay for extra services.

If the teacher already was earning $150 a week, or $5,700 for the 38 week school year this was not a raise. If the teacher was close to or at the maximum salary, the average weekly salary was cut. If the teacher was earning less than $150 a week at the time, it could be called a raise.

The board of education also has stated that raising the salary schedule from a beginning mark of 4,200 to $4,500 has made it easier to hire new teachers.

Since the state aid is based on 180 days of school the state doesn't bear any of the cost of the added schhol days, except for the bus transportation required.

3—MORE STUDENTS, LESS TAX BASE.

Six years ago, Tecumseh School District had 1,661 students and assessments of $31,000,000. This figures out to $18,863 in tax base behind each pupil.

Today Tecumseh has 3,041 students and assessments of $33,973,892. This is $11,171 for each student.

Today's 9-mill tax brings in $100.54 for educating each child. The same 9-mill tax six years ago would have brought in $167.97 for each child.

That is why taxes could be lower then, and still bring in a greater amount of money for each pupil enrolled.

In this space of time, Tecumseh has gone from a "rich" district to a "poor" district, from a tax base above state average to a base below the average.

One of the most dramatic examples of how having a high per - pupil tax base helps can be found in Dearborn, home of the Ford Motor Co. Rouge plant and other large industries. Dearborn has a tax base of $29,302 behind each child.

Tecumseh's 9 mills would raise $263.72 for each child with Dearborn's tax base. Dearborn, however, has an operating tax of 15.9 mills, and so has $465.90 of local money to spend for each child, compared with Tecumseh's $100.54.

There are, however, poorer districts than Tecumseh. The poorest in this area is Bedford School District, at Temperance in Monroe County.

Bedford has a tax base of $6,483 behind each child. So 9 mills there would raise only $58.35 for each child.

4—STATE AID CUTS

In 1955, state aid paid 77% of Tecumseh's school costs. By 1959 this had been cut to 49%. Because Tecumseh's tax base has dropped, the state aid now is back to 51%.

State aid also has been late in coming, ever since the state itself got into financial difficulties. At the end of the 1959-'60 school year the state was owing Tecumseh $60,857.58.

This amount was entered on the audited school records as being owed to the district, so is not figured as part of the school deficit of $93,866.10.

However, while the money is owed, it must be made up so bills can be paid. And so the school district must pay interest on the money borrowed to make up for the late payments.

In these days of slow money and high costs, Michigan school districts count themselves lucky if they are able to get through a school year without having to borrow money.

Most usual time is at the beginning of the school year, when salaries and bills must be paid and the current state aid and local taxes have not yet arrived.

Most school districts have to borrow money.

Tecumseh School District has had to borrow more than most, and for a longer period of time.

TOM RIORDAN'S Long AND Short

Kenny Notheis, of Toledo, hard-working cafeteria manager at Tecumseh Products, is always promoting.

At the drop of a holiday he'll have a special meal for employees.

With St. Patrick's drawing near, Kenny decided on a gala "Jigg's dinner" for March 16, advertised appropriately in the current "TP Broadcast," the plant paper.

The first item on Ken's menu gave us a quick chuckle. It's: "Kosher Corn Beef and Cabbage."

☆

Big things are probably in store for Tecumseh High School basketball teams of the next four or five years.

Both our junior high teams won championships in their divisions in last week's tournament.

Each of the squads—seventh and eighth grades—have some excellent talent, bringing a grin of happy anticipation to the lips of varsity mentor Doug Murdock.

Junior high coaches, Don Berkley and Demont Poley, are to be congratulated on two counts:

1. For their title victories.
2. The way their boys behave and dress—even the managers wear suits and ties to the games.

☆

Jim Smith's words of warning last week — about backs of many downtown stores being a mess — didn't fall on deaf ears.

Jim brought out this unhappy note strictly in the line of duty.

As he goes about the job of framing a Master Plan for Tecumseh, he runs into many situations.

One of his major efforts has been to help form downtown business places into a complete shopping center.

He looked at the area through the eyes of people coming here to shop. Some of the things he saw weren't too appealing.

With candor and frankness he passed on his findings to downtown businessmen.

Now, the word comes that the storemen are going to act. In fact, one block has already been getting organized. To these foresighted merchants, our congratulations.

All downtown store owners are going to be called to a session to map priliminary renovation and improvement plans.

Full speed ahead, gentlemen.

Boy, 13, Vanishes from City on Sunday

MISSING LAD — John Paul Marsh is the 13-year-old Patterson School student who vanished Sunday. He is 4-feet tall with sandy hair, was wearing a light-brown jacket and blue jeans. Anyone having seen the youth should contact Tecumseh police, HA 3-7494.

A 13-year-old Tecumseh boy has been missing since Sunday.

John Paul Marsh, whose stepfather and mother are Mr. and Mrs. Alex Glenn, of 311 S. Maumee St., is a sixth-grade pupil at Patterson School.

He was last seen standing in the lobby of the Strand Theatre, Sunday at 4 p.m. by Diane Clark, 5590 Raisin Center Rd.

Levi Wirntan, who lives in the trailer park on S. Maumee directly across from the Glenn home, told police he also saw John sometime Sunday at Country Markets, Inc. store here, but he wasn't certain of the time.

When the youth failed to come home Sunday night, the parents notified Tecumseh police about 10:30 p.m. They started a search of abandoned homes in the city, the Scout Cabin and other possible hiding places for a youngster.

State police detective Leslie Wykes of Tecumseh is now assisting full-time on the case.

Police say that John probably is a run-away, although they have not discounted the theory of foul play or kidnaping.

Another aspect of the case is that a brown and white springer spaniel, owned by John's uncle, Ronald Marsh, 5561 Green Hwy., also turned up missing about the same time.

The dog was a particular favorite of John and would follow him.

All known relatives and friends of the youth have been checked by police. A state-wide alert has been broadcast by the state police. Departments in both Monroe and Detroit have been alerted.

☆

THE BOY'S STEPFATHER said that when he left their home Sunday, he was wearing a light brown jacket, with a zipper on the collar for a hood. John had left the hood at home.

He also wore blue jeans, black shoes and black shirt. John is about 4-feet tall, has sandy-colored hair.

He had sold some bottles Sunday and his stepfather said he had given the youth 50c to attend the show.

Mr. Glenn, currently laid-off from his job at Detroit Transmission of Willow Run, said he could think of only one reason for John's leaving home.

During a spat with his older brother, James, 16, John threatened to hurl a piece of lead pipe at him. In swinging it, he smashed the glass covering on the electric meter on the home.

He left shortly after this happened for the theatre.

☆

PATTERSON PRINCIPAL R. T. GILLAM said that the missing youngster is a good average student, with primarily C grades on his first semester report card.

This was a vast improvement over the previous year, the principal stated, when John was frequently absent.

2 City Taverns May Lose Beer Licenses

By JIM LINCOLN

Council unanimously approved a resolution for the State Liquor Commission Monday night that would recommend suspension of the beer licenses for two downtown beer parlors, the Tecumseh Tavern and Rocket Tavern.

The two establishments were asked last fall to improve their business places. Both have been cited for unsanitary conditions at past council meetings.

According to reports, little or nothing has been done towards improvements.

A state liquor agent reportedly told several councilmen that the commission would heed their recommendation and suspend the licenses.

☆

KEN CONWAY, local General Telephone manager, told Council that his company had filed with the Michigan Public Utilities Commission for an increase in state rates, which would raise a total of $4 million.

He was unable to say how much each local subscriber's rates would be affected and increased, probably six months to two years hence.

The company also plans for extended service in the area, allowing Tecumseh and Clinton subscribers to dial without toll charges.

This service proposal will be put before the Clinton voters.

☆

COUNCIL approved spraying the city's elm trees this spring and authorize City Manager Ed Nelson to seek bids.

The spraying will be done before the middle of April.

Dr. R. G. B. Marsh and Raymond Puffer questioned Council on the status of the Master Plan and how the plan will function and affect different areas.

Several other residents also attended the meeting in regards to the Master Plan, which will probably come before the Council within the next month or two for adoption.

IN OTHER action:

● Accepted Paul Clauda's recommendation that state plumbing regulations be adopted for the local building code.

● Approved purchase of radio equipment for the police and fire departments, not to exceed $3,500.

● Instructed Clerk Naomi Sallows to write letters to the school board and Community Chest for appointments to the Parks and Recreation Board.

● Approved changing April's first meeting from Monday to Tuesday night, April 4, due to spring election on Monday.

Former Tipton Man Given High Boston Medical Post

By DOROTHY GRIGG

Dr. J. Herbert Fisher, formerly of Tipton, who now resides in Hingham, Mass., was recently named pediatric surgeon-in-chief of the Boston Floating Hospital.

Dr. Fisher, 39, was born at Tipton and graduated from Tecumseh High School.

He attended the University of Michigan before entering Harvard Medical School.

He has been the senior surgeon at the Boston hospital since 1958, also assistant professor of surgery at Tufts University School of Medicine.

As pediatric surgeon-in-chief, Dr. Fisher will be in charge of children's surgery and will also continue his work in research in surgery.

☆

IT WAS at Harvard that his interest in his specialty was first stimulated by Dr. Orvar Swenson, his teacher.

Dr. Fisher said, "I was attracted by the personalities of many of the surgeons, one of whom was Dr. Swenson. He was at the Children's Hospital then, and I had worked with him as a third-year medical student."

Dr. Swenson has achieved world fame for elucidating the cause of Hirschsprung's Disease and for developing a surgical technique for curing patient's of this malady. Hirschsprung's Disease is a disorder of the large bowel.

During his years of residency training and staff association with Dr. Swenson, Dr. Fisher did research work leading to an easier diagnosis of Hirschsprung's Disease.

Working on cadavers, the two surgeons with a pathologist were able to take pieces of the bowel and make pre-operative diagnoses based on miscroscopic study of this tissue.

Through their research, other surgeons around the world are now able to make accurate diagnoses before making surgical correction of the disease.

☆

DR. FISHER also did research work on another similar disease known as megaloureter, a congenital disorder in which the ureters (tubes which carry urine from the kidney to the bladder) are abnormally large, causing functional impairment of the urinary system.

By developing a technique of substituting a piece of small intestine for the ureter, Dr. Fisher and Dr. Swenson have been able to restore good function in patients afflicted with this malady.

Furthermore Dr. Fisher has been responsible for the open heart and other cardiovascular surgery at the Boston Floating Hospital.

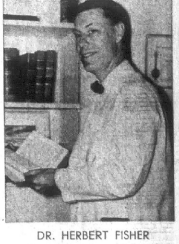
His heart program is allied with that of the New England Center Hospital.

☆

HE IS a member of the American College of Surgeons, the American Academy of Pediatricians, the New England Pediatric Society, the Massachusetts Medical Society and the Boston Surgical Society.

Well-remembered in Lenawee County for his talent as a violinist, Dr. Fisher plays in the Hingham Civic Orchestra and both he and his wife, Virginia, are members of the orchestra's administrative board.

The Fishers have four children: Carol, 11; Martha, 8; Beth, 7 and Brewster, 5.



DR. HERBERT FISHER

Dr. Fisher's promotion became possible when Dr. Swenson resigned last year to become surgeon-in-chief of the Children Memorial Hospital and professor of pediatric surgery at Northwestern University in Chicago.

Organ Recital Sunday

More than 130 years ago, the handy-man of a Catholic parish in Montreal was asked to finish a job started by a priest.

The padre had begun building a pipe organ for the church, then abandoned the project.

LODE VANDESSEL

The handy-man went to work and thus the first Casavant organ was built.

From that modest start, the Casavant firm has grown into one of the world's leading organ builders.

The Casavant Freres company now employs 250 skilled laborers who fashion pipe organs from raw zinc, lead, tin and other metals, ivory, and a variety of woods.

This company was contracted to build an organ for St. Elizabeth in Tecumseh for the present church on N. Union St., which was opened in 1950.

The instrument, with 372 pipes, is valued at $12,000.

☆

SUNDAY afternoon at 4, an unusual organ recital will be held at St. Elizabeth.

The general public is invited.

An extremely-talented artist, Lode VanDessel of Detroit, will perform works of Bach, Couperin, Mendelssohn, Widor and some of his own compositions in a one-hour program.

Mr. VanDessel, organist and choir master at Detroit St. Aloysius Church, came to America from Belgium in 1947.

He was a pupil of an internationally-known master, Flor Peters, and taught at Turnhout, Belgium.

Mr. VanDessell now instructs at the Palestrina Institute of Ecclesiastical Music at Detroit.

☆

PROCEEDS from Sunday's event will go into the St. Elizabeth School athletic fund.

Tickets are $1 for adults and 50c for children. They can be obtained in advance from Paul Clauda, Ted Golat, Dr. Bob Murray, Bob Sage, Tim Neil, Harvey Wilson, Terrance Wagner or Tom Corkery.

They also will be on sale at the door.

Dunc Oliphant Says 1,465 Boys in Scout Program

Dunc Oliphant, member of the Executive Board of the Boy Scout Wolverine Council presented a program on the organization and work of Scouts at a recent session of the Tecumseh Kiwanis.

He explained the continuing need for financial support of the Boy Scouts, both by individuals and organizations.

He stressed the need for increasing numbers of dedicated leaders within this expanding youth program.

He said that there are currently 1,465 boys in the Scouting organization within Lenawee County, but that this is only a fraction of the number of young fellows that could and should be reached.

He concluded his talk with the quoted remark, "A man never stands so tall as when he stoops to help a boy."

'M' Report Lists Strong Point

INTRODUCTION

This survey of the Tecumseh Public Schools by The University of Michigan was conducted at the request of the Tecumseh Board of Education.

The Bureau of School Services has served as the co-ordinating agency for the study, and consultants were selected from several units of The University of Michigan, the State Department of Public Instruction, Eastern Michigan University and the Ann Arbor Public Schools.

School surveys may prove beneficial to school systems in at least two ways, explains Roland J. Lehker, its coordinator.

1. They serve as a means for evaluating the effectiveness of a school district's educational program. By using outside consultants, who are specialists in a given subject matter area and who are acquainted with educational programs throughout the state and nation, an objective appraisal of the school program can be made. No other means of evaluation has been devised to do this more effectively.

2. Surveys of this type enable schools to plan betters programs in the future. A survey should not be viewed as an end in itself but instead as an instrument for the community and staff to use to plan a more effective school program.

☆

PRIMARY CONCERN of the survey was that of evaluation of the instructional program.

Although various business, administrative and building aspects were analyzed, they were viewed primarily in order to discover the impact they make on the total instructional program.

In this evaluation 31 consultants spent a minimum of 65 days observing classroom procedures, analyzing teaching materials and interviewing teachers, students and administrators.

"University personnel have looked at the Tecumseh schools with critical eyes, feeling that the citizens of the community were interested in comparing their schools with a standard for education which would give their children every educational advantage possible," Mr. Lehker stated.

As might be expected, no one statement can summarize the results of the survey. The Tecumseh schools have areas of strength and areas of weakness.

The overall impression of the consultants is that the basic framework and ingredients for an adequate educational program are present in the Tecumseh schools.

The school program is inadequate in several areas and lacks overall excellence, however, because of the limited number of staff members, equipment shortages and physical inadequacies of the buildings.

"The full impact of the study can only be realized as the comments of the individual consultants are analyzed and evaluated by the community and local staff. Then the process of improvement and refinement can take place," the speaker added.

Proposal No. 3

Another proposal for economy within the Tecumseh School System has been formed—this time by a citizens group.

With the Rev. B. O. Bashore as moderator, about 25 area residents met last week at Tecumseh High School to discuss the school deficit.

Their plan for cutting the budget is shown below. It will be considered by the board at its Monday meeting.

STRENGTHS OF THE PROGRAM

Effectiveness of the present program stems from a competent, industrious staff.

Most of the consultants commented favorably in their reports on the preparation and ability of teachers, the good pupil-teacher relationship, the good attitude, enthusiasm and diligence, of teachers, their interest in their work and their loyalty to the school program.

In most areas of instruction, the program is described as the traditional, basic sequence of courses found in many comprehensive schools.

Elementary language arts is described as a well-balanced program which provides a good foundation for high school work.

Cited particularly as praiseworthy at the elementary level are the libraries, physical education program, provision for science instruction, organized social studies instruction, the developing special education program, the organized mathematics program and the general atmosphere in the elementary schools.

Particularly praiseworthy are the elementary school buildings. These well-planned, functional buildings provide a fine setting for a complete elementary program.

Providing a junior high school program, separate and distinct from the senior high school, is commendable. At the secondary level good basic programs exist in home economics, English, business education, physical science, social studies, instrumental music, physical education, speech and mathematics.

Basic course outlines are provided, yet consultants feel that sufficient freedom is provided for teachers to exercise their own initiative and work to meet the needs of individual students.

Active high school clubs indicate the interest and enthusiasm of students.

The extensive testing program provides a basis for assessing growth of students in basic skills and for general guidance purposes. A start has been made toward building a complete counseling staff. Adequate vocational material is available.

The provision of special sections at the junior high school level for remedial work makes it possible for teachers to provide instruction at the level of the students in the class.

The successful operation of a school district depends on co-ordination by an administrative staff. Consultants were impressed that school policies have been prepared for school operation and were being administered by an industrious, conscientious group of administrators who are knowledgeable in the fields assigned to them.

Outstanding Musician Conducts

Leonard V. Falcone, who enjoys a national reputation as a director, guest conductor and soloist, will be on the podium when the Michigan State University Concert Band performs at Tecumseh High School on Friday, March 24.

Director Falcone has been developing the Spartan band to national prominence since he became the director in 1927.

The 100-piece band, scheduled here for one of its concerts this season, is much in demand during the winter and spring for school and community concerts.

Professor Falcone, born April 5, 1899, in Roseta Valfortore, Italy, began his career in music playing there in his hometown band.

He studied instruments and conducting under the late Donato Donatelli, famous Neapolitan bandmaster.

Coming to the United States in 1915, Mr. Falcone later was graduated from the University of Michigan school of music, and became director of the MSU band in 1927.

He was on leave in 1943 when he organized bands for the U.S. Air Force.

A soloist on the euphonium, he has been a guest teacher at the National Music Camp at Interlochen and at the University of Wisconsin.

'M' Singers Scored High in Europe

In the summer of 1959 the University of Michigan Men's Glee Club climaxed its Centennial celebrations with its second concert tour of Europe.

Leaving Montreal in early July, a five-week tour took forty members of the Club to England, Wales, Scotland, Belgium, France the Netherlands, Germany, Denmark, Norway and Sweden.

This group will sing in Tecumseh, Wednesday, March 22 at the Strand Theatre.

Among the highlights of the trip was a concert given at the Free University in West Berlin.

This performance necessitated a bus trip of several hours through Communist-held East Germany, which, along with a tour of East Berlin, gave the singers a close look at life behind the Iron Curtain.

The group also sang at the University of Oslo and in the medieval walled village of Visby, Sweden.

Here the Club performed in the majestic cathedral where the audience, out of reverance for the sacred building, expressed their appreciation in silence by waving hankerchiefs and concert programs.

☆

IN THE TINY Welsh village of Llangollen, Wales, after only four hours of sleep, the tired singers went on stage and walked away with first prize for male choirs at the Welsh International Musical Eisteddfod.

Competing with eighteen choirs from ten countries, the Michigan Club scored 271 out of a possible 300 points to carry off the coveted International Trophy and a purse of 100 pounds ($280)

SHE'LL PLAY HERE—Lillian Kaiser of Adrian, a fluteist, will perform with the MSU concert band, when it plays in Tecumseh under the baton of Leonard Falcone (right) on March 24.

7th, 8th Grade Clubs Win Titles

Tecumseh's two entries swept all honors in the annual Junior High basketball tournament staged on the local high school floor.

Eighth-grade squad of Coach Don Berkely wrapped up the title in its division with a 26-16 win over Dundee.

This was the team's 11th straight victory of the season against no defeats.

In the seventh-grade championship tilt, Tecumseh stopped Dundee, 18-11.

Tecumseh seventh-grade mentor, Dermont Poley, got considerable satisfaction from his crew's victory, because of the two games his Little Indians lost this winter, both had been to Dundee.

In the eighth-grade win, Tecumseh overcame an early Dundee margin of 5-3 and rolled to its title.

Greg Allen pumped in 10 points and Don Baird had nine. This gave Don a season total of 101 tallies.

Don received the tournament's most valuable player trophy. Bob Busz got the award for Dundee.

The seventh-grade trailed Dundee for three quarters before taking control and icing the victory.

Gordon Gibson was chosen the most valuable seventh grader for Tecumseh, while Tod Karner was given the award for Dundee.

Tournament Trail Ended for THS 5

Blissfield tumbled Tecumseh from the Class B sectional tourney Tuesday night, 78-60 on the Royals floor.

A poor third period, when Blissfield outscored Coach Doug Murdoch's young team, 21 to 10, turned the tilt into a route.

John Britton was Tecumseh's top scorer with 21 points. Norm Tucker tallied 16 and Tim Sisson 10.

Jerry Hebb, star Jayvee player brought up for tournament play, hit for two buckets in the fourth quarter.

The game marked the end of prep careers for Larry Titley and Jerry Breitenwischer.

At this time awards will be presented for the most valuable players in football and basketball, for the most valuable lineman, the best backfield man, and the best sportsman.

The Rev. Joseph Barry, CSC, chaplain of the athletic teams for the University of Notre Dame, will be principal speaker.

Father Barry was stationed at Boysville during the summer of 1959. Alfred Lyons, State Deputy for the Knight of Columbus, will be the toastmaster.

√

Nicholas Somma has been named valedictorian for the Class of 1961, edging out Richard Michniak, the salutatorian.

Somma has been a student at Boysville for five years. Michniak has been here four years.

√

The Photo Club is back in business again after moving its quarters to the second floor of Neri Rec Hall.

Brother Aloysius Glombowski, CSC, Photo Club moderator, has arranged for a contest among the club members.

Each month the Brothers on the faculty will judge pictures taken by the club members to find the clearest and most original picture.

This should prove interesting, for most members are good photographers.

√

The Boysville Alumni Association is sponsoring a dance on April 29, to be held at the Knights of Columbus Council 305 on Woodward in Detroit.

Music for the "Spring Frolic" will be supplied by Carlos Rivera's group.

A donation of $4 per couple is asked, and this fee will include refreshments.

√

Brother Philip Armstrong, CSC, band director at Boysville, has composed a march for the Boysville band to use in its forthcoming parades.

The number, entitled "March Eroica," is based on themes from Beethoven's Third, or Eroica, Symphony.

√

The Hobby Club has opened up a new line — shoemaking.

Brother Austin Maley, CSC, club moderator, has purchased some leather, and members of the club are making and selling moccasins.

The work done by Larry Reich and Nick Somma seems to be about the best, for everyone is rushing to these two boys to have their moccasins made, including yours truly.

The boys do a fine job, and one feels like he's walking on a cloud while wearing them.

√

The Whiteford Bobcats beat the Fighting Knights of Boysville last week, 62-58, in the Bobcat's home lair.

Ken Snooks and Pete Mata contributed 28 and 14 respectively.

The Junior Knights also suffered a defeat at the hands of the Whiteford JV, 37-29.

Stan Klos kept high honors for the Junior Knights with 11 points and Ron Wells and Ed Caball were next in line with six each.

√

The varsity Knights took a victory away from the Adrian Catholic Central Irish Friday night, 54-39, on the Knights' home court.

Boysville took a small lead, closing the first half with a low 20-13 score.

But the Boysville five started moving hard and fast in the first quarter, principally on the ball-stealing and shooting of John McGeshick, and closed the period with a 40-20 score.

The victory over the Irish gave the Knights an 8-7 record for the year.

John McGeshick took high honors with 18 points, followed by Ken Snooks with 14 and Pete Mata with 11.

√

The Junior Knights also had a prosperous evening, as they defeated the Junior Irish in a fast and close game, 51-50.

Although Stan Klos was high-point man with 24, it was Ed Caball who put the Knights in the winning column by pushing in the winning basket with just a few seconds remaining in the game.

Boysville was losing 50-47 when Bill Bonnell took to the foul line and put in two free throws, shortly after John Taylor stole the ball from the Irish, who were freezing it, and passed it to Caball, who put in the winning basket.

The JV ended its season with a 5-10 record.

The Boysville faculty basketball team beat the Tecumseh JC team on March 1 in the Boysville gym, 39-18.

Brother Austin was high-point man for both sides with 13.

The Boysville Frosh defeated the Clinton freshmen Feb. 27 by a 42-41 count.

Ted Malinowski put in the winning basket with just a few seconds left in the game.

Roger Jozwiak took top honors with 26 points.

Jerry Grady Marries in California

LOS ANGELES, Calif. — The Lutheran Church of Our Redeemer here was the setting for the recent wedding of Sharon Jo Ekstrum and Jerry A. Grady.

The new Mrs. Grady is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Ekstrum of Inglewood, Calif.

Jerry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Grady of Britton, Mich.

A Valentine theme of hearts and red and white was carried out in the wedding and reception.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown designed and made by her mother. It was floor-length with a chapel train. The skirt was embroidered organza over satin with a scalloped plain organza overskirt accented with bows.

She carried a bouquet of white orchids and stephanoitis on a Lutheran prayer book. She wore a fingertip veil with a crown of pearls and crystals.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Colleen Nicks of Torrance, a long-time friend of the bride. She was attired in a red velvet sheath with a red organza overskirt.

Bridesmaids were Beverly Samuelson, friend of the bride, and Marilyn Ekstrum, sister-in-law of the bride, both of Inglewood.

Flower girl was Deborah Sue Nicks, daughter of the matron-of-honor.

The best man was Russ Shefchik, friend of the groom's from Miramar Naval Air Station. The ushers were Norman Ekstrum, brother of the bride, of Inglewood, and Alan Johnson, of Los Angeles.

Music was furnished by Dave Samuelson of Inglewood.

A reception followed the ceremony in the church parlors. The new Mr. and Mrs. Grady received their guests under a white archway covered with ivy and red and white carnations.

The grooms mother, who flew to the coast for the ceremony wore a blue satin brocade dress with blue accessories.

☆

BEFORE LEAVING on their honeymoon, Mrs. Grady changed to a light blue satin brocade dress with white accessories. After their honeymoon trip the couple will be making their home at 1014 S. Flower St., Inglewood.

The bride is a 1955 graduate of Inglewood High School. She graduated from Augustana College in Rock Island, Ill. and Children's Hospital School of Physical Therapy in Los Angeles.

She is now employed at Daniel Freemen Hospital as a register physical therapist.

The groom is a graduate of Britton-Macon High School and is now stationed at the Miramar Naval Air Station in San Diego.

Freedom Conference

More tha 250 farmers from all parts of Michigan gathered at the Lansing YMCA for the third annual "Freedom Conference" the fore part of February.

Dr. Russell Kirk Of Long Island University and Dr. Richard Staar of Emory University at Alanta, Ga. were the principal speakers.

Kirk built his talk around the idea of American freedom as reflected through the church into daily living.

He indicated that Christian churches in America have been weak in effective resistance to Communism.

Dr. Staar scoffed at hopes for peaceful co-existence with Russia.

In urging a stepped up "truth campaign", he made it plain that a soft attitude toward Russia is a one-way street.

"We cannot agree to stop telling the truth," he said, "if the other side agrees to stop telling lies."

T. C. Peterson of the American Farm Bureau, an evening speaker, told the farm peaple that Americans are "far too willing" to compare theselves to Russia to see if we are "equal with Communists."

He enumerated tremendous cut backs in production of steel, petroleum, electric motors and reductions in many things such as natural gas consumption by 90 percent and the removal of nine out of ten telephones, 40 million television sets and numerous other facilities if America would be equal with Russia.

In concluding Mr. Peterson compared national freedom to a "freedom train, which requires a special ticket."

The ticket has two halves, he said. "The one stamped 'Freedom,' and the other 'Christianity.' Nether half is good, if detached from the other".

General Delivery Is Special Service

"Efficient general delivery service can be given by post offices only if the public clearly understands the limitations of such service," Postmaster Jack G. Metcalf explained today.

General delivery service is designed primarily for the use of patrons at offices not having carrier delivery service. Mail bearing as a part of its address "Transient," "To Be Called For," "General Delivery," or other similar words, is placed in the general delivery case to be delivered to the addressee upon his application and presentation of proper identification.

ANSWER WRONG, HOUSE FLAMES

House Bursts into Flames

A push-button fire safety quiz with a "house" that "bursts into flames" when people being tested show a lack of knowledge about fire safety practices, will be open to the public Saturday and Sunday at the V.F.W. Merchants and Manufacturers Show, in the Products Union Hall.

The two-minute, 10-question quiz is being presented here by Elmer W. Eberhardt insurance agency in cooperation with Aetna Casualty and Surety Company.

Aetna, developed the test in an effort to call attention to fundamental fire safety rules.

Participants push one of two buttons in response to true-false questions automatically flashed on a panel before them.

The device will light up the word "safe" if the answer is correct, shoot flames from the house if it's wrong.

The questions deal with home fire prevention practices as well as with emergency procedures during a house fire. In addition, score cards explaining the correct answers will be given those taking the test.

Larry Robison Completes Course in Electronics

Larry is employed at Burroughs Corp. as an electronic technician. He plans to enter the armed services soon.

Liquor by Glass

For the first time in over 40 years, liquor by the glass is being sold in Lenawee County at a tavern.

Harold L. Clark, owner of Shamrock Bar on US-112 in the Irish Hills, started serving liquor by the glass Feb. 2.

The entire county was voted dry at the end of World War 1, Mr. Clark reports, except for beer and wine. A recent Cambridge Township vote has OKed sale of liquor.

ANOTHER IN SCHOOL SERIES

$1 Million-a-Year Business

By MARJORIE COMFORT

Operating a school district is big business. In fact, it's the second-biggest business in the Tecumseh area.

Money to operate the schools comes from more than a dozen sources, goes to scores of places, from salaries to election costs.

The total budget runs to more than $1 million a year.

Here again we will bring the costs down to the final level: How much does it cost for each pupil? How does Tecumseh compare with neighboring school districts?

"Operating expenses" as used here, include administration, instruction, plant operation and plant maintenance costs, and fixed charges (rent, insurance, interest on short-term loans).

These are the basic "overhead" of running a school district.

There are other expenses, such as transportation, cafeteria, athletics, capital outlay and loan payments.

Many of these are strictly bookkeeping entries, since the programs are designed to be self-supporting (such as athletics and cafeteria) and are not a drain on school funds.

☆

THE OTHERS will vary so widely among school districts that they put costs out of proportion.

For instance one district may provide buses for all its students, while another district has no buses at all.

Loans made and paid can't be counted as operating expenses either.

It's just like taking hold of the money with your left hand, passing it to your right hand and giving it back to the doner again.

You've held onto the money for a while, and thereby used it, but it went right back to the source. All you can count as expense is the interest paid on the money.

Tecumseh has three items which make its TOTAL operating budget high, compared with the number of students served.

These are:

1—Running a bus system over a 95-square-mile district, largest in Lenawee County. About 80% of this is paid back by the state.

2—Paying for capital improvements to its grounds and buildings from general fund monies, rather than from bonded debt funds.

3—Borrowing large sums of money for operating expenses. This totaled $400,000 paid back in the 1959-'60 school year, more than a quarter of the total school budget.

☆

FIGURING JUST the basic operating costs (administration, instruction, plant maintenance, plant operating, fixed charges), this is how much Lenawee County's large school districts spend for each student in the 1959-'60 school year:

Adrian City	$396.63
Deerfield Public	$320.19
TECUMSEH PUBLIC	$289.02
Britton-Macon	$288.94
Blissfield Community	$287.86
Morenci Area	$277.53
Hudson Area	$273.55
Addison Community	$263.85
Madison	$263.80
Clinton Community	$262.27
Sand Creek Community	$259.58

These figures were prepared by Milton Porter, Lenawee County superintendent of schools.

It is interesting to note that Adrian leads the second-place school by $66.50 and tops Tecumseh by $97.61.

Tecumseh, Britton-Macon and Blissfield are only $1.16 apart, while Addison, Madison and Clinton are only 58c apart.

Using these budget categories, plus the auxiliary services (transportation, cafeteria, recreation and health expenses), Tecumseh's per-pupil costs in the 1959-'60 school year totaled $313.88.

The following list of Monroe County's school district costs includes these auxiliary services. The figures were prepared by Isaac Grove, Monroe County superintendent of schools.

Mason Consolidated	$392
Monroe Public	$391
Custer Consolidated	$348
Jefferson	$332
TECUMSEH	$314
Whiteford	$286
Dundee	$279
Airport	$268
Summerfield	$265
Ida	$254
Bedford	$222

In most cases, the place on this list is about the same as it would be on a list of pupil-teacher ratios. The fewer students a teacher has, the higher the cost of educating each child.

Teacher salaries take between 65% and 75% of the total school budgets.

☆

HOW DOES Tecumseh compare with other districts in Michigan?

The latest figures available, from the Michigan Education Association are for the 1958-'59 school year.

	Tec.	State Average
Administration	$ 13.51	$ 12.75
Instruction	$229.16	$243.85
Plant Operation	$ 42.45	$ 41.25
Plant Maintenance	$ 5.31	$ 10.97
Fixed Charges	$ 3.37	$ 5.43
Auxiliary Services	$ 21.79	$ 15.70
TOTAL	$315.59	$329.93

Since the 1958-'59 school year, which these figures represent, the Tecumseh average dropped slightly to 1959-'60.

It took a large jump to about $325.83 this year, with the extension of the school year by two weeks and the accompanying increase in instruction costs.

Instruction costs were $649,904 in the 1958-'59 school year. This year they rose to $756,850.

School operating costs across Michigan have increased an average of about $15 a year for the last 10 years. So while Tecumseh's costs have increased $10.24 in the past two years, the state averages likely have increased about $30 in the same period of time.

This would leave Tecumseh about $34 below the state average in operating costs for each child.

City of 4,100 Nearly Cut Off

How many know that in this area there is a city of 4,100 people almost completely shut off from the surrounding community?

Except through the efforts of a few volunteers, who give of their time or money in helping the inhabitants, the 4,100 would be "lost souls".
